—In their track and field meet with the Indians at Carlisle last Saturday State lost by two points, the score being 58 to 56 in favor of the Indians. Lee Talbot, State's heavy-weight, broke the intercollegiate record in the hammer throw by putting it a distance of one hundred and seventy-six feet three inches. On the same day State's baseball team defeated the Navy at Annapolis by the score of 4 to 1.

—In writing to have the address on her paper changed Mrs. A. G. Riley, of Plainfield, N. J., who before her marriage was Miss Lucetta Brew, of this place, states that she don't want to miss the WATCHMAN even one week. That it is like a letter from home and if it is one day late in arriving she becomes literally homesick. Such appreciation makes the editor feel that all his efforts to put out a good, readable newspaper are worth while.

MRS. YEARICK ARRESTED ON CHARGE OF POISONING HUSBAND.—Mrs. Harry Yearick was arrested last Saturday evening by county detective S. H. Meyers, of Lock Haven, on the charge of poisoning her husband, and is now in the Clinton county jail awaiting the action of the authorities in developing the case, though she stoutly maintains her innocence.

Last week's WATCHMAN contained an account of the death of Mr. Yearick, which occurred at the home of his brother John, at Hecla, at 7.30 o'clock on Wednesday evening, and that there were symptoms of arsenical poisoning. For sometime past Mr. Yearick worked at the limestone quarries at Salona and lived in a small house with a man named Walker. Mrs. Yearick did not live with them as the pair had been estranged for some time. Four days before the man was taken ill he induced his wife to return and live with him which she did. On Friday, April 29th, Mrs. Yearick cooked the dinner and among the vegetables were potatoes and canned tomatoes. Shortly after dinner both Yearick and Walker became ill and as the symptoms were those of poisoning Walker drank milk as an antidote, it is alleged, and recovered. Yearick grew worse and Dr. Fisher was sent for. While the doctor has never stated that Yearick was poisoned he said the symptoms were like those of arsenical poisoning.

The next day Yearick was brought to the home of his brother John, at Hecla, where he was apparently getting along all right until Wednesday afternoon of last week when he was suddenly taken worse and died the same evening. The circumstances surrounding the man's illness and death were suspicious enough to warrant an inquiry and an autopsy and inquest was held on Friday, a portion of the contents of the dead man's stomach being removed and sent to State College for analysis.

Funeral services were held on Saturday morning after which the remains were taken to Centre Hall for burial. Mrs. Yearick attended the funeral and upon her return to the John Yearick home at Hecla about seven o'clock on Saturday evening she was confronted by county detective Meyers, of Lock Haven, with a warrant for her arrest. Mrs. Yearick declared she was innocent but as she was unable to give bail she was taken to Lock Haven on the late train over the Central Railroad of Pennsylvania and confined in jail.

There are various rumors afloat in regard to the woman, one being that she is enamored of another man and wanted to get rid of her husband so that she could marry him, but so far there has been nothing definite brought out against her. And even if Mr. Yearick's death was the result of poisoning there is so far nothing to show that it was administered by Mrs. Yearick, and it depends entirely on future developments as to whether the authorities have any case against her. Before her marriage Mrs. Yearick was a Miss Donahue, of Rote.

ROAD LAW DECLARED UNCONSTITUTIONAL.—At the election in February four townships in the county voted on the question of substituting a work tax for a cash road tax, in accordance with a provision of the road law passed in 1905. The question was defeated in two of the townships and in Benner township the election was set aside by the court because of the ambiguity of the ballots.

Howard township people voted in favor of a work tax but the result of the vote was not the sentiment of the farmers and largest tax payers of the township and to have the matter settled aright Jacob Robb, R. P. Confer and others brought a test case against the township on the question of the constitutionality of the law. Judge Orvis on Monday handed down an opinion in which he declared the law unconstitutional, and cited as reasons that there was nothing in the text relating to the provision for taxpayers to vote on the question of a work tax or a cash tax, and that there was nothing in the provision as to what per cent. of the tax should be paid in cash and what per cent. worked out. That it was in conflict with the special law of 1905 and the general law of 1887 and hence would cause no end of confusion if it were constitutional.

THAT HOME CULTURE CLUB.—A month or so ago Rev. Crittenden advocated the organization of a Home Culture club in this place, along the lines laid down by plans published in the March number of the Ladies' Home Journal. The idea is to encourage children, the boys and girls of the town to cultivate gardens and flowers. Free seeds were distributed to all who were willing to be enrolled as members of the club and would assume the task of cultivating the small patch of ground, generally about a yard or two square, necessary to grow the vegetables or flowers given them. As an evidence of the interest of the children of the town have taken in the proposition is the fact that two hundred and fifty-six young boys and girls compose the club at Coleville. So that Rev. Crittenden has good cause to feel gratified at the success of his scheme.

AN EARNEST PLEA.—If the women of Bellefonte could but realize what a mighty factor they—as a well organized club—could become in the uplifting and beautifying of their own home town we would be sure of their hearty cooperation in helping to swell the present membership of the newly organized Woman's club, to a hundred earnest, willing workers.

—Architect Robert Cole has completed the plans and the contract has been awarded to Isaac Miller for the rebuilding of the A. M. E. church. It will be erected on the site of the burned edifice and will be somewhat larger, 32x49 feet in size and three feet higher. The building will be of cased brick.

—William T. Schreffler, the carpenter who a month or more ago fell from a scaffold while working in Clearfield and broke his ankle and was in the Altoona hospital for treatment, has recovered sufficiently to be discharged from that institution and returned home last Friday, though he will be compelled to use crutches for some time to come.

—On Monday morning the law library of J. A. B. Miller was sold at sheriff's sale to satisfy the landlord's claim for rent and a large account for law books and stationery. It was bought in by C. W. Dixon, of Philadelphia, representing George T. Bisel & Co., for $1,085. This amount being sufficient to satisfy the claims none of the office furniture or fixings were put under the hammer. The library was shipped to Philadelphia the same afternoon.

—The old saw that it is impossible to keep a good man down is again exemplified in the fact that our good friend, Harry D. Rumberger, of Philipsburg, last Friday purchased the Munson residence on the corner of Beaver and South Centin streets, in that place, and will make it his home in the future, after it has been thoroughly overhauled. The Munson property is one of the best in Philipsburg and the fact that Harry has purchased it shows that he must be prospering financially.

—The second annual convention of the engineers of Pennsylvania will be held in Harrisburg June 1st to 4th inclusive. These annual conventions were inaugurated in 1909 and are essentially meetings of Pennsylvania engineers, arranged and directed by the Engineers Society of Pennsylvania for the benefit of all the engineers of the State. All members of the profession, whether affiliated with engineering societies or not, are invited to attend. A list of the speakers and their subjects will be given in later announcements.

—On Sunday evening the electric light on East Curtin street got out of fix and J. Mac Heine attempted to put matters right. He climbed a pole near the McCurdy residence and just as he was in the act of cutting a wire his safety strap slipped and he fell to the ground, a distance of thirty feet. He was taken to the hospital and fortunately it was found that he struck the ground with his shoulder and that no bones were broken. He was given treatment and by Monday afternoon his condition was such that he was able to be taken home and in a few days will likely be around in as good shape as ever.

—Nothing in Centre county is confined to a great extent to residents of the various towns but the farmers in different sections are not only looking with more favor on the automobile but a number of them are now considering very favorably the purchase of a machine for their own use. In fact one agent in Bellefonte states that he now has five, or more farmers as prospective purchasers and expects to make a deal with some of the number anyway in the near future. If the automobile is once introduced on the farm as the conveyance for the farmer and his family and he finds out just how much of a convenience it may prove to him, it will doubtless mean a new field for the automobile manufacturer.

—There are lots of moving picture shows in the country but there are none better, and very few as good, as the scenic in this place. It is one place in Bellefonte where you can go and spend an hour every evening and be most delightfully and interestingly entertained. Manager Brown sees to it that there is always good order, the place is clean, wholesome and well ventilated, and is attended by the best people of the town. The pictures are always new, and are never shown the second time. That is one reason why you should not miss an evening, because if you do you are sure to miss something worth seeing. The price is always the same, only five cents, and you get double your money's worth every time. If you are not now a regular patron it is high time you begin.

—"How is the Old Home week movement getting along?" is a question the writer is asked quite frequently, and it must be confessed that so far it consists only in the agitation for one. So far no definite action has been taken but the reason for this probably lies in the fact that as yet there is too much uncertainty just when the court house and new High school house will be completed; and as it is the suggestion to dedicate both these buildings, as well as the new hospital, during an Old Home week it will first have to be known when they will be completed before any date can be set for an Old Home week. Then the State road is to be built through Bellefonte, Diamond and a portion of Allegheny street paved with brick and it is naturally desired that this work also be completed before an Old Home week is held. But the matter has not been forgotten and the WATCHMAN will champion the holding of such a celebration at the earliest possible date, which will probably be some time in the fall.

BELLEFONTE ELKS HOLD RECEPTION.—The Bellefonte Lodge of Elks held a public reception on Wednesday afternoon and evening, from three until nine o'clock, as a formal opening of their new home (the old Curtin mansion on High street,) and it proved not only a success but quite a gay social affair. Though no account was kept of the number of Bellefonte ladies and gentlemen who took advantage of the occasion to inspect the beautiful home of the Elks the committee estimates the number at one thousand or over. This is based on the fact that during the afternoon refreshments were served to one hundred and fifty and during the evening six hundred were served. In addition to their handsome furnishings the interior of the house was rendered even more pleasant by a profuse decoration of potted plants and flowers, while Christy Smith's orchestra furnished music during the entire reception. Every visitor was courteously received and shown through the building from the first floor to the hall on the third floor, and all were much surprised to find what a pleasant and comfortable home the Elks have made for themselves. One room, especially, which attracted attention was the historical or memorial room, containing the chair, desk and other relics used by Governor Curtin when he was the chief executive in Harrisburg.

Though not all of them took advantage of it every person who attended was invited into the grill room and ladies' dining room and served with light refreshments, which consisted of ice cream and cake, coffee and lemonade. Those who had charge of the reception were the house committee, namely: John J. Bower, Henry Kline, Orin Kline, D. G. Stewart, W. H. Brown, J. Linn Harris, W. C. Cassidy, D. Paul Fortney and James H. Corl.

STUDENTS IN FLAG SCRAP.—Early last Friday morning the annual flag scrap between the Sophomores and Freshmen took place at State College and it was one of the fiercest in years. The Sophs imported several barrels of graphite and stripping themselves to the waistline smeared their bodies and arms with the grease with the result that they were like seals in the hands of the lower classmen. For two hours the battle waged each side surging around the pole but in the end the Sophomores were victorious.

A number of the Freshmen were not present at the scrap, among them being Edmund Joseph, of this place, who came home the night before, and to get even with them the members of their own class rounded up ten of them the next night and gave them a good hazing. The boys were stripped and instead of a coat of tar and feathers molasses was applied instead of tar. By the time they reached young Joseph they had run out of molasses so they gave him a coat of mud then threw him in the duck pond. He scrambled out and eluding the hazers started on a run for the hotel but missed his bearings and got mixed up in a barbed wire fence with the result that the flesh on one of his legs was badly torn and scratched. He came home on the first train and since he has been under the care of a physician and confined to bed to avoid as much as possible the dangers of blood poisoning setting in.

ANOTHER CLEAN-UP HUNCH.—Two weeks ago the WATCHMAN published the sentiment of a gentleman in high standing in Bellefonte on the deplorable condition of south Water street, and since then the sentiment has been endorsed by a number of people. By the above it is not meant that the street is bad but that the buildings and scenery along it are an eye-sore and a disgrace. With probably two or three exceptions the buildings are old, weather-beaten and apparently almost ready to tumble down. Piles of stone and dirt, broken vehicles, and rubbish of various kinds are piled along the street forming a heterogeneous mass that is anything but pleasing to the eye. The steep hillside overlooking the street is also a dumping ground for refuse and presents anything but a sightly appearance. While it is not within the province of council to change the appearance of the buildings it is right up to them to see that the street is not kept as a dumping ground for stone, dirt and lumber, and these should be cleaned off. On the other hand civic pride should induce the property owners to fix up their properties and clean up the surroundings as much as possible. While south Water street is the only street to which the attention of the writer was called there are other thoroughfares which will bear cleaning up as well.

WARD HOUSE AT TYRONE CHANGES HANDS.—At a forced sale last Friday C. M. Waple, of Philipsburg, bought the furniture and fixtures of the Ward house, at Tyrone, had the lease transferred to him and took possession at once. It is his intention to have the place very much remodeled and put in up-to-date condition and will run it in the future as a first-class hotel. Mr. Waple is an old resident of Tyrone but for some years past has been landlord of the Potter house, Philipsburg, and still retains his interest there which will be looked after by his son, Walter Waple, while he devotes his time to putting the Ward house in better shape.

In the latter he was eminently successful but as to how he made out in buying a horse we are not informed, but it seemed like carrying coals to Newcastle to come to Bellefonte to buy a horse when Bellefonters go to the country for animals they want and pay extremely high prices to get them. But horses are horses these days notwithstanding the advent and constantly increasing number of automobiles in use all over the country.
