On Wednesday evening of last week while Mrs. C. B. McCormick was out at the barn doing the evening milking her home was invaded by her neighbors and friends to the number of seventyfive, and she was all unaware of the fact until she entered the house after completing her work. She was taken completely by surprise, but she rose to the occasion gracefully and enjoyed to the full the celebration of her own birthday, which was the occasion of the gathering.

A housefull of young people gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Mayes last Saturday evening to help their daughter, Miss May, cele-brated her twenty-second birthday anniversary. The gathering was especially pleasing to the young lady because of the fact that it was a eomplete surprise to her. She had been invited to a neighbors to spend the early hours of the evening and when she returned home at 8.30 o'clock it was to find the house filled with her young friends. Refreshments were served during the evening and there was plenty of amusement to make the time pass very quickly. The affair was planned by Mrs. Mayes and daughter Mabel.

BIG CROWD PAYS HOMAGE TO KING.

All Classes of People Kept Night Long Vigil to Pay Tribute to Dead Sov-

London, May 19. - The greatest crowd ever formed in line in this city waited patiently under oppressive atmospheric conditions to pay a last tribute to the memory of King Edward, whose body lies in state in Westminster hall.

The "queue," six and eight abreast, extended nearly seven miles from the entrance to the hall through the adjacent streets.

Many persons, men as well as women, fainted from exhaustion, and ambulance attendants were busy all along the stream of humanity.

The doors of the hall were opened at 6 o'clock. Many thousands were already in line, and by noon the total number who had passed the bier, including those who had obtained entrance the day before, exceeded 100,-000. Some 3000 moved silently through the hall every hour, but the waiting lines grew more rapidly.

Still another form of tribute was shown in the arrival of a score of royal personages with their suites, held prisoners in the house against which made the West End the scene of unusual animation

Buckingham palace, where most of the members of royalty are staying; Marlborough house, still the residence of King George and Queen Mary, and other royal homes opened their doors again and again throughout the day as calls of courtesy were exchanged.

Colonel Roosevelt, the special American ambassador to the king's funeral, was among the many callers at Marlborough house. From 6 o'clock in the morning, when the doors of Westminster hall opened for the first full day of lying in state throughout the day, the mourning-clad multitude in four deep formation filed past the bier.

The police, with some tact and considerable patience, maintained order and kept the thousands moving steadily. The mourners entered at one end of the hall, double rows passing on either side of the catafalque and his life at Raritan with his widowed emerging at the opposite end of the mother, who is well to do. He was a building.

When the doors were closed between 50,000 and 60,000 persons had viewed the casket, while perhaps half that number were still waiting in the adfacent streets. At 11 o'clock a new "queue" was formed, and midnight found the waiting throng swollen by many thousands.

The spectacle of the immense, silent, patient throng of humble Londoners, men; women and children, shuffling along, its head slowly disap pearing into the hall, was an impressive tribute to the dead sovereign. Among the floral tokens received was a wonderful wreath from the kaiser and kaiserin. It is at least five feet in diameter. It required six men to carry it. It is composed of lilies and orchids and the fragrance is over-

White Slaves Accuse Women.

Mary Owens was held under $3000 bail by Recorder Martin Keffer, at Atlantic City, N. J., upon the grave charge of trafficking in young girls. The accusation is drawn under the "white slave" law, enacted by the last legislature

It was the first arrest, it is believed. in the state under the new statute. The specific charge is made that Mary Owens took money from Mezella Layton, who swears she is but fourteen years old, without bona fide consideration, and that she transported Mezella Layton and Laura Voorhees, ninetecn years old, from their homes in Camden across the state of New Jersey for immoral purposes.

Complaints reached Chief of Police Woodruff of the presence of young girls in the residence of the Owens woman, and detectives for over three months have been engaged in an endeavor to secure direct evidence of white slavery."

Both girls supplied the police with sworn statements that they were brought here under promise of employment and that when they entered the house their street clothing was taken from them. They were allowed to leave the house, they say, only when accompanied by a guard, being their will.

THIRTY KILLED IN EXPLOSION

Arms, Legs and Parts of Bodies Were Strewn About the Neighborhood and a Body Was Hurled Through House.

Scores were killed and injured in a boiler explosion at the plant of the American Sheet and Tin Plate company, at Canton, Ohio. Howard Rex, assistant superintendent, said that twenty-five or thirty men were dead. Over 100 men were in the mill at the time of the explosion, and it is not believed that more than a dozen escaped injury. A large number of the men are fatally injured. Seven boilers of 1200-horsepower each exploded simultaneously in an L-shaped addition near the middle of the main mill. All employes connected with that department were blown to The injured were hurried to the hospitals in ambulances or automobiles. The dead bodies, strewn where they were thrown by the force of the explosion presented a ghastly spectacle. Many are thought to be buried in the debris, which caught fire immediately after the explosion. The fire department was called to put out the flames. Body Hurled Through House. A body was thrown by the force of the explosion through the side of the home of Henry Ruke, a square and a half away from the wrecked plant. The body passed through the house and came out on the other side. It landed on a fence and knocked it over. Another body was picked up at the plant of the Timken Roller Bearing Axle company, a balf mile away from the scene of the explosion. A human hand crashed through the window of the office, seventy-five feet away.

The torso of a man was found in the garden of a yard about 500 feet west of the scene. Arms, legs and parts of bodies were strewn about the neighborhood.

The bodies of seven men, mutilated beyond recognition, were found in the force escaped injury. Women and children whose husbands and fathers are among the dead or injured gathered about the wrecked plant, weeping and wringing their hands. The whole of the plant is blown out by the explosion. Windows are broken in all houses within a radius of a quarter of a mile. The whole section in the vicinity of the plant is strewn with debris from the mill."

Louis Hughes, a fireman, and A. W. Kaufman, a storekeeper, were standing in the storehouse, 300 feet away from the main plant at the time of the explosion. The storehouse was demol ished, but both men escaped death Kaufman had only a few cuts and bruises, while Hughes sustained : broken legt.

Summer Vacations.

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD BULLETIN.

SUMMER VACATIONS.

The time is coming for summer outings. Have you thought about yours yet?

No country on the face of the globe contains so many delightful summer resorts as the United States, with its near neighbor, Canada.

The Pennsylvania Railroad will issue its popular Summer Excursion Book on June 1, and you will find it a wonderful help in plotting out your summer trip.

It contains descriptions of about eight hundred of the leading resorts of North America, lists of hotels and boarding houses at these various places, a map, routes and rates from the principal stations on the Pennsylvania Railroad, and other valuable information.

If you have grown tired of the resort you have visited for years, you may make a selection from this book for a stay of a day, a week, a month, or the whole summer.

You may plot out an extended tour covering mountain and seashore, or a fishing trip, or a hunting jaunt, by rail or boat or a combination of both.

Any Ticket Agent of the Pennsylvania Railroad will be glad to furnish a copy of this valuable book for Ten Cents, or it will be mailed you postpaid, on receipt of Twenty-five Cents, by Geo. W. Boyd, General Passenger Agent, Philadelphia, Pa.
