

Miss Drexel Married.

Brilliant Wedding of Philadelphia Girl and Young English Nobleman, Heir to Earldom, Season's Social Event in London.

London, June 9.—The marriage of Viscount Maidstone, elder son of the Earl of Winchelsea and Nottingham, and Miss Margaret Armstrong Drexel, daughter of Anthony Drexel, of Philadelphia, the first of three Anglo-American weddings to take place in London this month, was celebrated at St. Margaret's, Westminster.

But for the death of the king placing many people in mourning this was to have been one of the big social events of the season. As it was, there was a large attendance both at the church and at the reception held afterward at Mr. Drexel's residence in Grosvenor square.

The service was fully choral, the bishop of London and Canon Henson, of Westminster Abbey, rector of St. Margaret's, officiating, the interior of the little church had been decorated with white flowers, chiefly marguerites.

The bridal procession was unusually long. The bride, accompanied by her father, who gave her away, wore a handsome dress of soft cream satin, with a long train of white and gold brocade. Her face well and the lace on her gown had been worn by her mother, grandmother and great-aunt at their weddings.

There were ten bridesmaids in soft white satin, and instead of hats they wore bandeaux of marguerites with long tulle veils. They were Lady Gladys Finch-Hatten, sister of the bridegroom; Miss Hilda Chichester and Miss Essex Vere Gunning, cousins of the bridegroom; Miss Rhoda Astley, daughter of Dowager Lady Hastings; Lady Violet Manners, Miss Sybil Fellowes, daughter of Lord de Ramsey; Miss Constance Combe, the daughter of Lady Combe; Miss Edith Wayne, of Philadelphia, and two American brides-elect, Miss Mildred Carter, who is to be married to Lord Acheson on June 21, and Miss Helen Post, to be married three days later to Montagu Elliot. Charles Mills, son of Lord Hillingdon, was the best man.

The two received many presents. The bride's father gave her a diamond tiara and a metallon of diamonds attached to a jeweled chain, as well as an automobile, in which Lord and Lady Maidstone are to tour the continent on their honeymoon. Mrs. Drexel's gift to her daughter was a rope of pearls.

The value of the presents has been estimated at more than a quarter of a million dollars. J. P. Morgan sent a diamond cable two yards long, and the George J. Goulds a twelve-carat gem set in a ring.

Explosion Kills Eight.

Eight quarrymen were instantly killed and four were injured by the premature explosion of a blast in the quarry of the Lehigh Portland Cement company at their mill B. West Coplay, near Allentown, Pa.

Among the dead is Daniel Cannon, foreman, of Allentown, a widower, who leaves ten children. The four injured were foreigners and were able to go home.

The men were preparing three holes sixty feet deep, and had put in 600 sticks of dynamite when the explosion occurred. No one knows the cause, but it is believed something fell into the hole, causing the cap to explode. The force of the dynamite was exerted upward and 2000 tons of rock were dislodged.

Exhume Bodies For Hair.

Women in the United States who purchase switches of black hair will be interested to learn that a crusade has been begun by the Chinese government against Chinese who supply human hair for shipment to America, according to reports brought to Victoria, B. C., by the Empress of India.

It seems that a charitable institution of Canton, which buries large numbers of paupers, found the hair dealers exhume bodies to recover hair, and when this action was reported action was taken against the hair dealers.

Instances have been reported of the hair exporters cutting hair in crowds and the officials are prosecuting all apprehended.

Student and Co-Ed Drowned.

Considerable mystery surrounds the finding of the bodies of two students of Ursinus college in the Perkiomen creek, near the boat landing of the college, which is at Collegeville, about twenty-five miles from Philadelphia.

The dead students, who were last seen alive when they entered a boat for a row on the creek, were Edna Thomas, seventeen years old, of Roycroft, this state, and Frederick L. Fogelmann, of Munhall, which is near Pittsburgh. The girl was a sophomore and the young man a senior.

How they came to their death is puzzling the authorities, though the fact that the water about the college landing is deep and that the young man could not swim lead to the belief that in the darkness the girl may have fallen overboard while trying to step from the boat to the landing. This being true, the authorities think Fogelmann may have been drowned in trying to rescue his companion.

Man's Body Found In Bushes.

Mysteriously murdered a week ago, when he was last seen alive, the body of John Lisikinsky, of Plymouth, near Wilkes-Barre, Pa., was found hidden behind a clump of bushes at a desolate and little frequented place along the bank of the Susquehanna river.

The police, who have been looking for him since his disappearance, owing to the fact that threats had been made against him by some men, are convinced that he was murdered some distance from the spot where the body was found and that it was then carried along the banks and thrown behind the bushes. The head had been crushed in by heavy blows, causing apparently instant death.

In Memory of Lincoln.

The Lincoln Memorial Road association, formed in New York to promote the construction by the federal government of a memorial road to Abraham Lincoln from Washington to Gettysburg, Pa., was organized in this city.

These officers were elected: President, Truman Newberry, of Detroit, former secretary of the navy; vice president, Samuel Hill, of Seattle; secretary, James T. McCleary, of Manhattan, Minn.; treasurer, Robert A. C. Smith, of New York city.

The association does not intend to ask for public subscriptions of any kind. Whatever expenses are connected with the work of the association will be met by the officers personally. Those forming the association believe that the national memorial to Lincoln should be paid for entirely by the national government. The road, as planned, is to be about seventy-two miles long and about 200 feet wide. The estimated cost is $2,500,000.

To Democrats.

It is generally believed that the next House of Representatives at Washington will be Democratic if there is united and harmonious effort on the part of Democrats everywhere.

The National Democratic Congressional Committee is charged with much responsibility in furnishing a campaign book and other literature, directing speakers, and doing the general work of organization. We need your active support especially in a financial way. Please send to the National Democratic Congressional Committee, Washington, D. C., a check at once as we are greatly in need of funds to push our work, and must depend upon Democrats to furnish them. Our committee is sustained by voluntary contributions. We are reliably informed that the Republican Committee is already generously supplied with money. Will you not aid us at once?

Life.

The poet's exclamation: "O Life! I feel thee bounding in my veins," is a joyous one. Persons that can rarely or never make it, in honesty to themselves, are among the most unfortunate. They do not live, but exist; for to live implies more than to be. To live is to be well and strong—to arise feeling equal to the ordinary duties of the day, and to retire not overcome by them—to feel life bounding in the veins. A medicine that has made thousands of people, men and women, well and strong, has accomplished a great work, bestowing the richest blessings, and that medicine is Hood's Sarsaparilla. The weak, run-down, or debilitated, from any cause, should not fail to take it. It builds up the whole system, changes existence into life, and makes life more abundant. We are glad to say these words in its favor to the readers of our columns.

BOOKS, MAGAZINES, ETC.

A NEW MAGAZINE FREE.—A real magazine, not only in quality and character of matter, but in makeup and appearance, will be ready for distribution next Sunday. Its writers and artists are the very men whose work has made famous such periodicals as Scribner's Collier's McClure's the Saturday Evening Post and publications of that class. It is to be issued monthly and to be absolutely free. In size and appearance it will resemble the Saturday Evening Post. The contributions—chiefly fiction—will be by the very ablest writers known—O. Henry, James Hopper, Montague Glass and other stars. Each number will have a handsome cover in colors, and the stories will be illustrated by the best artists in the country. And it is to be free to the public.

The first issue will appear Sunday, June 12, and on the second Sunday of the month thereafter. The distribution of the new magazine will be made by The Pittsburg Dispatch, and great emphasis is placed on the fact that this magazine will be an addition to the present newspaper and magazine sections, with all their specialized news features and colored illustrations. Not only will it be an extra section, but its contents will be different and will consist chiefly of high-class fiction. It is free to all readers of The Sunday Dispatch. If you are not regular reader now notify your newspaper dealer or agent next Sunday, June 12, and be sure to get the new monthly magazine free.

NEW MAGAZINE TO BE DEVOTED TO STORIES.—One of the most notable advances in the history of American publications is to be taken on June 12. On that date the Philadelphia North American will begin the publication of a genuine, high-class monthly magazine to be issued without cost to its patrons.

The contents will be mainly fiction—stories of love and adventure, pathos, humor, character, action and sentiment. They will be written by authors famous in the magazine field. So large will be the demand for the North American of Sunday, June 12, that thousands are placing special orders with newsdealers to make certain of receiving the first number of the new magazine.

THE PHILADELPHIA RECORD.—When a daily newspaper numbers among its readers tens of thousands who dwell in communities remote from the place of its publication there is prima facie evidence that narrow local interests play but a comparatively small part in the scheme of its existence. The strong following of "The Philadelphia Record" outside of Philadelphia, in Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware and Maryland, is a case in point.

"The Record" makes a fetish of reliability. One consequence of this is that its daily market quotations have become the standard, officially recognized in the Courts, by which transactions in produce are governed. Another is that its sporting department is the recognized authority on all matters in its province, including horse news.

As a family newspaper "The Record" pays as much attention to utility as to entertainment. It publishes a great fund of information helpful to the farmer. It carries an irresistible appeal to womanhood in its departments devoted to fashions and household affairs. It prints more store news—a matter of life interest to women—than any other Philadelphia newspaper. Its daily patterns are thoroughly up-to-date and in great demand. It is, in brief, for a dozen reasons indispensable in the family circle, and clean enough to be entitled to the honored place it has won there.

HUMAN LIFE FOR JUNE, 1910—"Bar the one who died on Calvary and Abraham Lincoln, there has been more ink and paper given to Mr. Roosevelt than to any other man," declared Alfred Henry Lewis in his editorial announcement of his forthcoming "Story of Roosevelt." The opening chapters of this great serial appear in the June issue of Human Life, and this masterly story is be-

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD BULLETIN.

JUNE ON THE GREAT LAKES.

Restful, delightful, interesting and instructive, there is no trip like that on the Great Lakes, those inland seas which form the border line between the United States and Canada. And June is one of the most charming months in the year in which to take the trip.

For comfort the fine passenger steamships of the Anchor Line have no superiors. As well-appointed as the palatial ocean greyhounds which plow the Atlantic, their schedule allows sufficient time at all stopping places to enable the traveler to see something of the great lake cities and to view in daylight the most distinctive sights of the lakes, and the scenery which frames them.

The trip through the Detroit River, and through Lake St. Clair, with its great ship canal in the middle of the lake, thence through Lake Huron, the locking of the steamer through the great locks at the Soo, and the passage of the Portage Entry, lake and canal, across the upper end of Michigan are novel and interesting features.

The voyage from Buffalo to Duluth covers over eleven hundred miles in the five days' journey. Leaving Buffalo, the steamships Junia, Tionesta and Octorara, make stops at Erie, Cleveland, Detroit, Mackinac Island, the Soo, Marquette, Houghton and Hancock, and Duluth.

The 1910 season opened on May 31, when the Steamer Tionesta made her first sailing from Buffalo.

The Anchor Line is the Great Lake Annex of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and the service measures up to the high standard set by the "Standard Railroad of America."

An illustrated folder, giving sailing dates of steamers, rates of fare, and other information is in course of preparation, and may be obtained when ready from any Pennsylvania Railroad Ticket Agent, who is also prepared to book passengers who may desire to take this trip through the Great Lakes and back.

you'd all doubt the greatest and most intimate, accurate, and fascinating consecutive history yet written of America's "Man of Destiny."

Searching the political horizon for 1912 Presidential possibilities, not a few telescopes in the West are now being leveled at the rising star of Governor Harmon of Ohio, and James B. Morrow's story in this issue of his rise from obscurity to fame shows him to be one of the most interesting and impressive personalities in the country today.

There are a number of articles of special interest to feminine readers, including "Saint Sophie of New Orleans," "Actresses of Today," "A Woman's Commercial Club," and sketches of the clever women who figure in the "Celebrity" columns.

In "My first Job" Hugh C. Weir humorously tells how David Belasco, Frank A. Munsey, Thomas A. Edison and other noted men got their start; and Anne Hathaway, in "The Man in the Switch Tower," tells how an author and philosopher writes his books and prepares his lectures between trains.

A dozen more articles and departments mirror others of the world's thinkers and workers in various lines. Human Life Publishing Co., Boston.
