Didn't Like Publicity.

In St. Louis the street numbers run 100 to the block, but the north and south streets have names instead of numbers. So when a street car is running east and west and crosses the north and south streets the conductor says. "Jefferson-Twentysix." or "Grand-Thirty-six." as the case may be.

A birthday party was riding on one of these cars a short time ago. When the car reached Sarah street and the conductor announced. "Sarah-Fortyone," a large woman in the party began beating a small man on the head with an umbrella.

After the conductor had quieted the disturbance he asked the woman what the row was about.

"Why," she said indignantly. "just because I had my forty-first birthday party today in a nice, quiet, lady-like way there was no need of him telling you how old I am. so you could bawl it out to the whole car."-Saturday Evening Post.

Bill Took Precautions.

In a Scottish village a farm laborer named Bill Brown lost his wife. While on her deathbed she implored him to never marry again after she was gone. Furthermore, should he do so she would scratch through the ground and come back to punish him. The threat apparently had due effects for some months, the widower rejecting many tempting offers. After a time. however, the village got to whispering about Bill being seen walking with a certain lass. Met one day by a relative of the wife, he was asked if there was any truth in the rumor that was about the village, to which he replied in the affirmative.

"Are ye no afraid of poor Mary's threat?" queried the relative.

"Nae fear o' that, my lad. I took good care to hae her berrit face doonwards, so the mair she scratches the farther she'll gang doon.

He Watched Them. The following is one of the stories.

A COUNT'S PRANK.

Delighted the Revelers, but Worried the Police of Stockholm.

All Europe is laughing at the latest escapade of Count Gasta Hamiltor. known as "Le comte des chata-the cat count," and a member of the English ducal house of Hamilton. The story of his latest prank is told in European newspapers.

Count Gasta and some of his cronies had honored Rosenbad, a popular resort in Stockholm, with their patron age, and as a result some of the furniture had been broken. in particular, the covering of a tine sofa had been ripped and damaged. The manager of the resort remonstrated with the count and suggested the advisability of the latter paying for the damage. This the count agreed to do and virtually purchased the piece of furniture. receiving a receipt from the manager.

In a short time a singular procession was seen by night revelers in the park wending its way from the main restaurant to the public road. Four sturdy messengers carried a sofa, on which reclined the count and his companions provided with napkins tied to their canes. Amid cheers the procession left the grounds. It had not proceeded far before a night policeman

The People of Guatemala Like to Take Constitutional Amendments Things Easy.

Just as Spain is the and of "manana." Guatemala has been called the land of "no bay." These words mean "there is none." and one hears them wherever one goes. If the people do not want to bother. declares N. O. Winter in "Guatemala and Her People of Today." that will be their invariable answer.

You might go up to a house where the yard was full of chickens, the woman engaged in making tortillas and fruit trees loaded with fruit in the yard and yet have a conversation about like the following:

"Have you any meat?" "No hay" (pronounced eye). "Have you any eggs?" "No hay."

"Have you a house?"

"No hay." In such a case the best way to do is to enter the house and bunt round for yourself and blandly order the woman to prepare whatever you chance to find. Then, if you leave a small sum of money with her on departing, she will not take any offense, but will politely thank you.

Time is the only thing with which they seem to be well supplied. It is equally hard to get anything done. for unless the party is willing to do the work requested he will find some plausible excuse. An American traveling across the country a few years ago found it necessary to have his horse shod at one of the small towns. There were three blacksmiths in the town. Of these one was sick, but had supplies, a second had no nails and the third no charcoal. As there was no lending among the craft the borse could not be shod.

told about Eugene Field:

There were visitors in prospect one afternoon in the Field household and a strike in the culinary department. Mischief was at flood tide, and Mrs. Field was vainly endeavoring to be everywhere at once when the man of "sharps and flats" appeared in the kitchen doorway with a folio in his hand.

"Oh. won't you watch those pies for me while I run upstairs for an instant?" his wife exclaimed. "Be sure not to let the meringues scorch. It the madhouse when he had a brilliant would ruin them. You'd better give idea. Four officers were ordered to me that book or they'll be burned to a march with the count, the sofa and the crisp." With mock meekness Mr. Field allowed her to carry off his treasure. On returning she was horrified to find the oven door wide open and the rich, fluffy meringue flat, tough and leatherlike.

"Keep the door shut!" Mr. Field re- lice station. peated in very genuine amazement. "Why, you told me to watch them every instant, and I'd like to know how I could do that with the oven door shut!"

Not Risking Speed Laws.

A well known amateur yachtsman of New York tells this joke on himself: With a few friends he started on a cruise by way of Long Island sound. They kept close to the shore, and, owing to the lack of wind and to the slowness of their boat, they were still I'm afraid I really must be off." drifting by familiar country a week or so after they left Gotham.

At one point of land they passed a solemn individual sat fishing. For some hours the boat made virtually no progress, and after awhile the fisherman roused himself sufficiently to ask:

"Where are ye folks from?" "New York.' "How long out?" "Since June 1."

Then after a pause the man asked: "What year?"-Lippincott's.

He Called Her.

A charming young lady who glories in the possession of a wealth of bright auburn colored hair is the teacher of a Sunday school class. On a recent Sabbath the rector made the announcement of a hymn to be sung and, rising, waved his hands, and the organ pealed forth.

"Now," said he, "ready-sing!" A small and precocious youth in the young woman's class said:

"Why don't you sing, Miss Frisbee?" "Me? Oh, I never sing," replied the teacher, smiling her prettiest. "But," exclaimed the boy, "the minister says you must. Didn't he just say 'Now, Reddy. sing?" Smelling salts and numerous other ## Caught the Train.

General Botha, first premier of United South Africa, has a sense of humor.

One of the flashes of comedy that lit up the tragic pages of the war occurred toward the end, when Kitchener and the Boer commander in chief were discussing terms of peace. There were several fruitless interviews before a working basis was agreed upon. At the end of one of these discussions Botha got up and remarked: "Well. "There's no hurry," Kitchener an-swered pleasantly. "You haven't a train to catch, you know." "But that's just what I have." was Botha's reply. Next morning the chief of staff report-only a few miles off. Botha had caught that train!

He Got Square.

It is questionable if there is a bette known character connected with base ball than Napoleon Lajoie of the Cleveland team. Fans all over th circuit like to see Lajoie play. He is a big drawing card. A number o years ago, while a member of the Philadelphia Nationals, he asked couple of friends to see a game in Nev York. At the pass gate he was in formed that Andy Freedman had is sued an order that no player had a right to bring in any friends. Larry argued, but in vain. The only thing he could do was to purchase regular tickets. All this happened in the days before the inauguration of the foul strike rule. The very first time at bat Larry fouled fourteen balls over the fence. Mr. Freedman got $1.50 of his money at the gate, but Larry burned up about $20 of Mr. Freedman's money restoratives had to be used to bring in fouling balls over the fence that never returned.
