THINGS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY.

October 4th, 5th, 6th and 7th are the dates set for the Great Centre County Fair. Make your plans accordingly.

Mrs. John McNeil, of Haddonfield, N. J., was Mrs. John Hewitt's honor guest at her afternoon card party, Thursday.

The ladies of the Lutheran church held a festival at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Musser, on east Lamb street, last evening.

H. C. Quigley entertained with cards at his home on Linn street, Tuesday night, in honor of Mrs. Arnold and Mrs. Harvey.

Mrs. J. Green Irvin will make sale of her household goods next week and go to Washington, Pa., to make her home with her daughter.

Mrs. John L. Knisely, who has been laid up for weeks with rheumatism, much of which time she was confined to bed, has recovered so that she is able to be down stairs again.

Dr. G. G. Green, of Lock Haven, who recently underwent an operation for appendicitis, has so far recovered that he is able to attend to his office practice, though not yet sufficiently strong enough to make calls on patients.

Last week Mrs. W. Galer Morrison purchased from John Sebring Jr., the Franklin runabout recently owned by Dr. J. J. Kilpatrick, and Trood Parker is already handling the wheel and throttle with the confidence of an old driver.

No call has yet been made for the ten dollar gold piece the Bellefonte baseball association has been trying to give away and it has been decided that if it is not called for by ten o'clock on Saturday night to consider the offer off and place it to the credit of the association.

One of the big features at the rummage sale which the Ladies Auxiliary of the Bellefonte hospital will hold week after next will be a genuine (?) fortune teller from India. This will be the big opportunity of your life to find out what is in store for you in the future.

Mrs. William Rhoads, of Coleville; Mrs. Millie Jodon and C. E. Eckley, of this place; Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Eckley, of Snow Shoce, and Mrs. Annie Quick, of Moshannon, were among the fifty guests at a dinner given by Mrs. Charity Rhoads, at her home in Lock Haven, last Sunday, in honor of her seventy-third birthday anniversary.

This is the day for the formal dedication of the new high school room and everybody in Bellefonte and surrounding community is invited to attend. There will be exercises both this afternoon and evening and the building will be open all the afternoon for inspection. Teachers and others will be there to show the visitors around.

Dr. J. J. Kilpatrick's new Hudson car, a runabout with two small rumble seats, arrived in Bellefonte on Monday and was delivered to the doctor the same evening by John Sebring, Jr. It is a nice looking car for the money and the whole thing now depends upon whether it will have the power and durability to stand the Centre county roads.

The many Centre county friends of Miss M. Eloise Schuyler, daughter of Dr. W. H. Schuyler, of Centre Hall, will be gratified to learn that she has been elected principal of the schools at Cape May, N. J., where she has been a teacher in the high school the past four or five years. Her new position, of course, carries with it a very substantial increase in salary.

On Sunday Will Speer, of Pittsburgh, went to Corry to see his father, W. T. Speer of this place, who is under treatment in a private sanitarium in that place, and in a letter home this week he stated that Mr. Speer's condition was immensely improved. That he suffered very little pain, was able to eat and drink with a certain degree of comfort and that the doctor gave him assurance of a complete cure, although he will have to remain there several weeks longer.

Nothing in which there is no progress thrives. Accordingly the managers of the Great Centre County Fair try to make each year's exposition a little better than the preceding one. Next month you will see the 1910 result and be surprised because the people are interested, the exhibitor finds it quite worth while and the variety and class of the exhibits is showing a most healthy growth. If pushed a little now the Centre County Fair will be come a great and permanent institution.

Old Neptune has certainly been worked overtime the last few weeks in keeping up the supply for the numerous rains we have had. There is nothing in Centre county suffering this year because of dry weather and the only problem confronting the farmers now is the question of too much rain, as the continued wet weather may start the potatoes rotting, or maybe second growth. And it is yet too early for the equinox, though that event will occur on Wednesday of next week when Summer will end and Autumn begin.

GRANGERS HAVE BIG GATHERING AT CENTRE HALL.—The weather man certainly favored the Grangers this week and the result is they have had a very successful gathering at their thirty-seventh annual encampment at Centre Hall this week. After the rain of last Saturday night they have had continued dry weather, the hard showers of Monday and Tuesday which passed over this place, not reaching there. In the matter of tentholders the list is about equal to that in former years while the exhibits outside the fruit and produce exhibit are also about the average.

The fruit and produce exhibit, however, is one of the finest ever seen at Grange park, and this can very likely be accounted for because of the very good growing season, as everything raised on the farm is of the very best this year. The large building is filled with agricultural products of all kinds and overflows to a tent nearby. The Pennsylvania State College has its usual exhibit which fills to overflowing their own building. There is also a fair sized stock exhibit.

The most numerous things on the grounds seem to be the fairs. There are more there than ever this year and some of the games are decidedly "raw." In fact we have not seen so many gambling devices at Grange park since the year they had to call in the police to close up the joints. We fancy the Grangers themselves have had nothing to do with it, but their concession man has certainly sold very nearly on the wide open plan.

So much for the exhibits. In the matter of talk and action the grangers have been quite active. On Tuesday a conference was held at which the oleomargarine question was thoroughly gone over. They expressed themselves as dissatisfied with the present law and are strong in their demand that a law be passed making it a misdemeanor to sell oleo that is not pure white, so that it will have no resemblance to butter.

On Tuesday morning the encampment was officially opened with a meeting in the auditorium at which the county grange officers were the speakers. The balance of the day was given over to the Centre County Veteran Club for their annual reunion, an account of which will be found in another column.

Wednesday was a day marked by two things. In the morning the executive committee of the State Grange held a meeting and passed a resolution in which they expressed their utmost confidence in and allegiance to "Farmer" W. T. Creasy and denounced W. F. Hill as endeavoring to manipulate the fringe in the interests of the Republican machine. They even went so far as to depose the latter from his position as associate editor of the Grange News and appoint a lady from Chester county in his stead.

The other big (?) feature of Wednesday was that it was Republican day and candidates John K. Tener and John M. Reynolds were the conspicuous figures at the meeting held in the auditorium in the afternoon. Of course there also were present Charles E. Patton, candidate for Congress, on the Republican ticket; Joseph W. Alexander, candidate for State Senate; county chairman Harry Keller, Henry C. Quigley and a number of other local politicians as well as the new City band. All told between four and five thousand people were on the grounds while in the auditorium were not over two hundred people to hear the speakers. Both Tener and Reynolds addressed the crowd, but neither said anything remarkable enough to chronicle.

After the Republican meeting broke up a brief grange meeting was held at which members of that order very emphatically maintained that the Grange was non-political and is not being used in any way to further the aims of any political party.

Yesterday was the big day of the picnic when over eight thousand people were on the ground. It was also Keystone party day and D. Clarence Gibboney, of Philadelphia, pleaded the cause of William H. Berry and himself as candidates for Governor and Lieutenant Governor respectively.

The auditorium was full to overflowing to hear both Mr. Gibboney and Mr. Scully speak. The former confined himself principally to recounting his trials in trying to oust the rotten Republican ring in Philadelphia. Conspicuous on the platform with the Keystone candidates were a number of well known Democrats and Republicans of the county.

Today the encampment will come to a close and those in charge can feel considerable satisfaction in the fact that they have had a successful week in every way.

John Perry Wood Esq., of Pasadena, Cal., eldest son of Rev. and Mrs. John A. Wood, was recently nominated for judge of the Superior court of Los Angeles county, California. He went to California in 1892 and has risen rapidly in his profession as he now holds the office of city attorney. His father, Rev. Wood, was pastor of the Methodist church in this place a few years ago and moved from here to California so as to be near their son and other relatives.

Miss Jennie Morgan has on display at her shop on Spring street, a complete line of most attractive art needlework for Christmas, including scarfs, squares, pillow covers and a great variety of novelties, both finished for those who have not the time for this work, and the materials for those who care to do for themselves. The prices from twenty-five cents to five dollars are within every one's means.

Mrs. Woodcock's party Thursday morning was in honor of her cousin, Miss Mary Sloan, of McConnellsburg.

State Veterinarian S. H. Gilliland, of Marietta, a Centre county boy, who was born and raised on the farm at Oak Hall, where his father, James C. Gilliland still lives, has returned from a trip to Germany, having taken his vacation across the ocean. Dr. Gilliland spent the greater part of his vacation studying the German methods of meat and milk inspection, especially those in the cities of the Prussian kingdom, and the results of his observations will be valuable to this State because of the constant rise of problems connected with the supervision of the food supply.

A regular meeting of the Bellefonte Motor club was held on Monday evening but the several committees appointed at a special meeting held two weeks ago were not able to make a complete report, and it was decided to hold another meeting in the near future when some important action will likely be taken in one or two matters of special interest to automobilists. The advisability of the club making a sociability run to some adjoining town or city was discussed and while the project was favored by most of those present it was not definitely decided, and this is another matter that will be finally disposed of at the special meeting.

W. P. Knight, of the China Inland Mission, will be in Bellefonte during the coming week and give a series of bible readings and missionary addresses. On Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock he will speak in the Presbyterian church and in the afternoon at 3:30 in the Y. M. C. A. In the evening he will be the speaker at a union meeting of all the Milesburg churches to be held in the Baptist church at Milesburg. On Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week meetings will be held each afternoon and evening in the Y. M. C. A., to which the public is invited. On Wednesday evening at 7:30 he will also address a meeting in the Methodist church.

Several weeks ago the WATCHMAN published an item relative to the exhibit of Miss Mary McGarvey at the National Photographer's association convention last year, when her character study pictures attracted unusual attention from some of the best photographic artists in the country. Her exhibitions this year were study pictures of Miss Louisa Maitland, of Williamsport, and the work in every detail was considered so good that her picture was one of a half dozen reproduced and published in the magazine section of Sunday's North American, with the following comment: "Mary E. McGarvey, of Bellefonte, Pa., is accomplishing an inland town work of such admirable standard that the old reproach that the average American could neither produce nor appreciate art seems destined to speedy oblivion." That this tribute to Miss McGarvey's ability is justly deserved is fully proven by the fact that she has been requested to send five prints for entry in an exhibition of American art photography to be held at Berlin, Germany, in the near future.

FATS AND LEANS TO PLAY BASEBALL.—As a benefit for the Bellefonte baseball association, in an endeavor to raise money to liquidate the indebtedness of the association, the Fats and Leans of Bellefonte have arranged to play a series of three games for the local championship. Though the teams have not yet been entirely made up, so far as signing players are concerned, the fact can be announced that Frank Nagney will be manager of the Fats with John Curtin and J. Mac Heine as the battery, while the Leans will have for their manager Harry Otto and as a battery have Dr. David Dale and Rash Irvin. Frank P. Blair has been selected as the official umpire for the series.

The first game will be played on Hughes field this (Friday) afternoon at 2:30 o'clock; the second game will be played next Tuesday and the third game on Friday of next week. Any fat or lean man in Bellefonte is eligible for a position on the team if he can play ball, and if he is good at the latter it will not make any difference how fat or how lean he is. Don't miss these games because they will be worth seeing.

MIRACULOUS ESCAPE.—Yesterday morning Dr. David Dale was summoned to see a sick person living on the hill above the Bellefonte furnace stone quarries. He was going up the road which is steep and rough, in his automobile when in some way he stalled his engine. The machine started backwards down the hill and when the doctor attempted to apply the brakes they failed to hold the car. The car gained speed and being unable to guide it accurately it left the road and backed over the edge of a high embankment. Fortunately the machine passed under a tree one limb of which hung very low and the doctor grabbed this and swung free of the car expecting the same instant to hear it go crashing to the bottom. Instead it moved a foot or two further and stopped, having run against a small sapling. It was a miraculous escape, for had the doctor remained in the car his extra weight would undoubtedly have torn the sapling from the hillside and he and the car would have been precipitated to the bottom of the cliff. With a rope and tackle and the assistance of several men the machine was gotten back on the road without suffering any damage.

WHO FIXED (?) THE CLOCK.—The question of who tampered with the clock in the new high school house last Sunday night is still a mooted one, as the school board, at their regular meeting on Monday evening, were not able to secure sufficient evidence to clearly solve the problem. The inquiry on Monday evening was more in the nature of a hearing in the case of Edmund Hayes, who last week admitted entering the school house and stopping the clock, but denied all responsibility for any damage done thereto.

So far as the board could learn on Monday evening the bells began to ring about ten o'clock. They were heard by various persons living in that neighborhood and their ringing attracted the attention of almost everyone who passed by the building. It was probably about 10:30 o'clock when Edmund Hayes went out the street on his way home and found a small crowd collected in front of the school house talking about the ringing of the bells and it seemed to be the general opinion that something ought to be done to stop the noise.

It was finally decided to remove the big ring in front and Hayes being the tallest man in the crowd, was the only one able to reach it. He removed the gong, but there still being a buzzing noise he tore one of the wires loose. This stopped the front gong, but the one in the rear kept ringing as usual. An investigation showed that it was too high up to get at, so Hayes decided to stop the clock and it was then entered the building through the boys' toilet and making his way to the superintendent's room stopped the clock by stopping the pendulum. This he admits and there was no evidence to show anything different. In fact it is quite certain that the tape was broken or removed from the program clock at ten o'clock, and there is a belief among the directors that the damp weather effected the tape and that it broke of its own accord, which accounted for the ringing of the bells.

After all the evidence or information on the subject that could be obtained was heard, Dr. Locke, president of the school board, suggested that some action be taken to either hold Hayes responsible or exonerate him of all blame and Mr. Fortney introduced a resolution that he be exonerated. There were eight members of the board present and four voted in favor of the resolution and four against it, so that it was laid on the table, and the question of who fixed (?) the clock is as much a mystery as ever.

A GOOD PASTORAL YEAR.—On Sunday Rev. C. W. Winey, of the United Brethren church, will close his pastoral year in this place and next Tuesday will leave for the annual conference which will be held in Braddock. The past year has been one of the most successful in the history of the church in this place, all due to Rev. Winey's indefatigable labors, and his congregation, as well as many friends outside of his church, hope he will be returned for the ensuing year, which he undoubtedly will. The first thing the reverend undertook when he came here was to improve his immediate surroundings and this he did by digging out the weeds and making a nice lawn around the parsonage and the congregation joined with him to help along the improvements and as a result a new walk was put down in front of the parsonage and cement steps built to the church. A bathroom outfit was installed in the parsonage and electric light introduced. In addition to his regular work during the year Rev. Winey had forty baptisms, ten marriages and twenty funerals. In addition to raising money to pay his own salary and the incidental expenses of the church and Sunday school as well as benevolent contributions he succeeded in liquidating a debt of $912.94 for the entire year on the parsonage. But last Sunday was perhaps the Red Letter day of the year. There was a debt of $730 on the church and this he undertook to liquidate. Through his untiring efforts he raised enough money to do so and on Sunday evening the mortgage was burned in the presence of the congregation, so that the new year will begin with everything free of any encumbrance.

ORCHARD INSPECTIONS.—Following out the line of work in the model orchard inspections, spraying, etc., Prof. H. A. Surface has outlined another month's campaign throughout the State for the purpose of ascertaining how much good, if any, has been done in the orchards in which spraying was done under the advice and directions of experts from the division of zoology, department of agriculture. In the month following September 15th seventy-five orchards in various counties of the State will be visited and inspected, and of this number three are located in Centre county. They, with the dates on which they will be inspected, are as follows:

Friday, September 23rd, on the farm of Benjamin Lambert, near Madisonburg.

Saturday, September 24th, on the farm of Col. W. Fred Reynolds, in Benner township.

Monday, September 26th, on the farm of George R. Mock, near Philipsburg.

On these occasions at least two or more experts will be present to make the inspection and one line of the work will be to make a comparison between the fruit grown in orchards where spraying has been systematically done and that in adjacent orchards in the same vicinity where no spraying was done. Fruit growers, farmers and everybody interested are invited to be present at these inspections, which will be held in the afternoons of the days above named.

Mr. Shupe, of Runville, one of Boggs township's thrifty farmers, was an early visitor in Bellefonte on Monday morning and a caller at this office. He stated that his potato crop this year was not only a good one but that the tubers were large and of an excellent quality.

John S. Henderson, formerly of Buffalo Run but now of Philadelphia, has been spending this week with friends in Bellefonte. After studying medicine for several years he gave it up, as he does not exactly like calling, and now has a very good position with the Provident Life and Trust company, as there is more money in it than in a doctor's office.

Joseph W. Alexander, of Madera, Clearfield county, the Republican candidate for State Senator in this district, was in Bellefonte on Monday on his way over to Grange park to attend the Grange picnic. He stopped in town long enough to interview some of the leaders on his chances of success this fall and shake hands with a few old friends outside the political arena.

Among the WATCHMAN office callers on Wednesday were Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Leyman. They are originally from Boggs township but for several years have been living at Machias, N. Y. D. J. Gingerich, of the firm of Gingerich Bros., lumbermen of Marthas, was a Bellefonte visitor yesterday on his way over to the Grange picnic. T. B. Budinger, of Snow Shoce, recently returned from Chicago where he went to meet his father, William Budinger, and accompany him back to this place. Dr. and Mrs. Thomas R. Hayes expect to leave Bellefonte the latter part of this month for Atlantic City. While Dr. and Mrs. Hayes have spent only the summer months in Bellefonte for some years past they have always been regarded as belonging to Bellefonte and their decision to leave the town for good is cause for deep regret by all their friends.

WIAN—HOY.—A pretty wedding took place at noon on Monday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Hoy, at Hublersburg, when their daughter, Miss Pearl Oneida Hoy, was united in marriage to George Harry Wian, formerly of Spring township, but now of Wilkingsburg. The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. I. Crow in the presence of a small party of invited guests.

The bride is one of the most popular young ladies of Hublersburg as well as a successful school teacher for several years. LAYING OF CORNER STONE.—The corner stone of the new St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal church at State College will be laid on Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock with appropriate ceremonies. The event will be one of unusual interest, as the church is more than local in character. Prof. F. L. Pattee, who has lately returned from a year's sojourn in Europe, will deliver a short address, while there will be music by the College quartette. The entire hour's program which has been arranged will be interesting and profitable. The walls of the new church, by the way, are going up rapidly and it is expected that the edifice will be under roof in the early fall.
