

Grim Will Not Withdraw.

Is Firm in Purpose of Fulfilling Party Obligations.

Nine very estimable and influential gentlemen, citizens of Philadelphia, have addressed an open letter to Webster Grim, the Democratic nominee for governor, and William H. Berry, the candidate of the Keystone Party for the same office, asking them to withdraw "in favor of a candidate whom both parties could concentrate upon."

The day the letter was in Harrisburg and privately stated to his friends that "under no circumstances would he withdraw." That evening, at a session of the executive committee of his party, held in the Bellevue-Stratford hotel, Philadelphia, a letter was read by the chairman of the committee, signed by Mr. Berry, in which he practically said that he is willing to withdraw if the executive committee of his party favored that course and Mr. Grim would follow his example.

Senator Grim, upon hearing of the letter, promptly and emphatically declared that he will not withdraw. "Nothing is further from my heart and purpose," he said. "I never entertained such an idea."

Subsequently he received hundreds of telegrams and letters urging him to remain on the ticket. He was fairly nominated and is justly entitled to the support of his party. No well informed citizen can set up the excuse that he doesn't know the Democratic nominee. He has served eight years in the senate and been a leader in every movement for legislative reform.

Any man who doesn't know Mr. Grim is unfamiliar with the public life of the commonwealth, for he has been an ornament in it. Besides, Webster Grim is the nominee of the Democratic party and that party was not organized and isn't maintained to "beat" anybody. It represents principles and its purpose is to give force and effect to those principles. A political organization with no higher mission than to beat some individual or group of individuals would not be worth preserving and certainly wouldn't endure as the Democratic party has endured from the foundation of the government.

The party has commissioned Mr. Grim to represent it in this crucial period in the political life of the state, and to fall of the fulfillment of that obligation would be recreancy, and Webster Grim is not a recreant.

William H. Berry, on the other hand, is the nominee of no party, though he is the candidate of a contingent of uncertain quantity. He was named by half a dozen persons, two of whom, John O. Sheatz and J. Heber Clarke, have already abandoned him. Raising Mr. Berry to the level of a real candidate, under such circumstances, would be a real distinction. But he has no intention of thus immolating himself. He is running for governor in obedience to his insatiable thirst for office, and he would accept the nomination of any party or combination of men. If the Keystone Party had not nominated him he probably would not have supported the party. He cares less for principle than for patronage.

If the nine estimable gentlemen are really anxious to prevent a division of the reform vote at the coming election they can contribute to that result in a much more practical way than that suggested in their letter to Senator Grim and Mr. Berry. They can simply vote for Mr. Grim themselves and persuade all their friends, and others who think and feel as they do, to pursue the same course. They cannot doubt that the interests of the people would be as safe in the hands of Webster Grim as in those of any other man that might be named. His public record is an open book and a radiant page of achievement in the interest of good government. Why should such a man be humiliated or aspersed?

LOCAL CASE IN POINT

Williamsport Sun Proves Accuracy of Senator Grim's Criticism.

Senator Grim, Democratic candidate for governor, in his speech at Meyersdale the other evening, pointed out an iniquitous feature of the present method of state road building that has a pertinent illustration of fact in the Milfin township road, in this county. Mr. Grim said:

"The method of allowing contractors extras for changed plans and specifications on roads should be abolished. Last year over a quarter of a million dollars, or one-twelfth of the whole amount appropriated, was paid to contractors for extras upon the decree of one man, and the counties and townships were obliged to bear their share of expense without any recourse."

The attempt made by the same highway department to ignore the contract specifications for the Milfin township road is still fresh in the public mind, as is also the fact that the change in construction upon that road has increased the price nearly $3000, this, too, in the face of the luxuriant price that is being paid for the roadway built even according to the original specifications. The high handed methods of the state highway department—against which is charged the game of politics—was shown in the fact that the people were not consulted in the change made in the road's construction and when public attention was drawn to the radical departure from specifications the reason was given that the department desired to "experiment" with new material.

The faults and failures of the state highway department have been of so long standing, and so egregious a nature, that the Republican administration has no ground for excuse for not having long since directed its course in both a more economical and a more effective channel, and the grilling given it by Senator Grim is none too vigorous nor are his criticisms undeserved. It is right that the political machine governing the affairs of Pennsylvania should be held responsible for the shortcomings of the highway department, and the Milfin township incident in our own community serves as an illuminating case in point as tending to show the things at which Senator Grim was striking.

THREATS IN BUCKS COUNTY

Penrose Machine Tried a Bugaboo Which Failed.

Fearing that the popularity of Senator Webster Grim in his home district will result not only in giving the Democratic gubernatorial nominee a record-breaking vote, but also in sending a Democrat to the senate to succeed Mr. Grim, the Penrose machine leaders are using threats to intimidate the citizens of Bucks county. The voters have been notified that unless a Republican is chosen to succeed Grim in the senate, a reapportionment of senatorial lines will be made by the next legislature and the district made Republican. This they propose to do by joining Bucks with some Republican county adjoining.

The threat, which was carried to the people of Bucks county by Congressman Wanger in the interests of the Penrose machine, has already reacted against the Republican gang. Bucks county has been stirred from end to end by this cowardly attempt at intimidation and the voters have served notice on the corrupt Republican combination that every man proposes now to take his coat off for Senator Grim and the whole Democratic ticket. At the same time they defy Penrose to carry out his threat.

Bucks county was originally a Republican district, but the candidacy of Mr. Grim for the state senate eight years ago brought it into the Democratic column. Republicans and Democrats joined in his support and sent him to the senate for two terms. He served his constituents so well that Bucks county has been swinging to the Democratic column to the chagrin of Republican leaders. In the reapportionment of 1906 the Penrose gang endeavored to eliminate Bucks county as a senatorial district, but through the splendid fight put up by Senator Grim they were defeated.

Be of Good Cheer, Democrats. [From the Doylestown Democrat.] Unmistakably Senator Grim has gained ground during the past week in the gubernatorial fight, and just as unmistakably Mr. Berry and Mr. Tener have both lost ground. The Keystone Party last week lost the active cooperation of two of its leading supporters, Charles Heber Clarke and former State Treasurer John O. Sheatz. Both were organizers of the party they have now deserted. Mr. Clark gives a special reason for his withdrawal. Mr. Sheatz gives no reasons, and it can safely be assumed that his retirement is caused by general disgust over the movement. In fact he states that it had been his intention to withdraw soon after the nominations were made.

The time for beginning preparations to get out the vote on election day is now here and every Democrat should give the matter attention. The last day for the payment of taxes is next Saturday, October 8, and when that day closes there ought not to be a Democratic delinquent in the entire state. After that the matter of getting the voters to the polls is to be considered and every Democratic voter ought to be got to the polls. If preparations for the election are made on those lines Webster Grim will be the next governor of Pennsylvania no matter how many votes are cast for other candidates.

The Dear Old Frauds.

Those old, pleasant, innocent frauds of the circus are not practiced now—the imposing five barred gates that as the horse approached them were sloped into insignificant wattles and the rings through which the signorina ported to leap, but which in reality were insinuated over her by compliant attendants. And then there was that venerable jockey performance, the culmination of which was a leap from the ring to a standing position, albeit at an angle of thirty degrees, on the horse's back. In the old circuses it was the custom of the horseman to miss the crowning jump two or three times in order that a fiercer flame of interest might be kindled in the audience. After two failures the band would stop (always the presage of a moment of strain supreme), the horse's head would be loosed, he would be urged to a greater pace, and the feat would gloriously succeed. Then what a crash of brass and outburst of delight in the building, involving even the staff and ringmaster in the expression of ecstasy! Those old, simple days!—Cornhill Magazine.

Remarkable Instinct. "Every time I go shopping I thank heaven that I have a good business head," said the woman who boasts that her quick wit always saves her from financial loss. "A saleswoman came very near getting into trouble today over a belt I bought. The only thing that saved her was my business instinct. First I bought a belt for $1.25 and paid with a two dollar bill. In handling my change the girl dropped a quarter into the paper and boxes that strewn the floor back of the counter and could not find it. Of course I could have held her accountable, but she looked so tired and worried that I hadn't the heart to do that, so how do you think we settled it?" Her husband gave it up. "Why," said she triumphantly, "I just exchanged my $1.25 belt for a dollar one, and neither of us lost anything."

Reaping Benefit

FROM THE EXPERIENCE OF BELLEFONTE PEOPLE.

We are fortunate indeed to be able to profit by the experience of our neighbors. The public utterances of Bellefonte residents on the following subjects will interest and benefit thousands of our readers. Read this statement. No better proof can be had. Mrs. L. Ingram, 382 E. Bishop Street, Bellefonte, Pa., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills have done me a world of good, and I feel that I cannot speak too highly of them. I suffered intensely from backache and my kidneys gave me a great deal of annoyance. Nothing helped me until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at Green's Pharmacy Co. In return for the improvement they made I publicly recommended them in October, 1907, and at this time I can say that I have had no further trouble from my kidneys. You are at liberty to use my name as one who recommends Doan's Kidney Pills highly from personal experience."

A Money Saver. "But you are taking considerable risk in letting your young men owe two or three weeks' board." "Yes, there is some risk," answered the boarding house keeper. "But then, you see, they worry over it so that they lose their appetites, so I save money in the long run."

Diplomatic. "I believe our boy is a born diplomat." "Has he shown extraordinary ability as a procreator?" "Well, no, not that exactly, but he can cheat other boys in trades and make them think they are getting all the best of it."

Napoleon and Woman. Napoleon I, who was a great admirer of female talent when in his own day, not like Mme. de Stael, direct it against himself, used to say, "There are women who have only one fault—viz, that they are not men."

Man and Woman. When a man gets into trouble the first thing he thinks of is, "How shall I get out of this fix?" When a woman gets into trouble her first thought is, "How shall I best bear this misery?"—Winifred Black.
