WHO WILL BE BELLEFONTE'S POST-MASTER?-The one question that is exciting the interest of the people of Bellefonte at the present time is who will be Bellefonte's next postmaster? Mr. Harter's term of four years expired on Tuesday and the contention for the position for the ensuing term has been between himself and Samuel H. Williams. The latter has had the backing of the Republican organization in this place and many of the patrons of the office. In fact it was claimed that he had the support of Bellefonte, and before returning home will visit Congressman Barclay, Congressmanelect Patton and Senator Penrose, but the one stumbling block to his appointment was first assistant postmaster general Hitchcock, who is opposed to removing a postmaster, or rather making a change, except for cause.

However, on last Thursday President Taft sent Mr. Williams' name to the Senate as postmaster at Bellefonte and nat- sylvania. urally his friends considered the fight —Mr. and Mrs. Adam Crossmyer, Mr. and Mrs. won. Whether Mr. Williams will be able to finally land the appointment is the question of great concern to his friends at the present time, but in the meantime Harter is going ahead as postmaster with the utmost serenity and confidence, and claims that there will be no change made.

BOLD, BAD TRAMPS.—Last Saturday morning a tramp made his appearance at the home of Ira Benner near Rock and on learning from one of the Benner children that there were no men around attempted to force an entrance into the house after he was told by Mrs. Benner Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Quigley's bridge party to stay out. Fortunately the Benners Monday evening and Mrs. R. S. Brouse's own a dog and Mrs. Benner turned him loose on the tramp. In the meantime she went to the stairway aud secured a bridge Tuesday night with the dance in shot gun and used it as a club with such good effect that between the woman's beating and the dog's vicious attacks the man took to his heels and ran away.

> On Tuesday morning when a young son of D. A. Grove, near Lemont, was feeding the horses he prodded a tramp who was asleep under a pile of hay. The tramp jumped up and hit the boy with such force as to knock him over a feed box then made off as fast as he could before the men made their appearance.

DELIGE'S DEATH WARRANT RECEIVED .-Sheriff W. E. Hurley on Wednesday noon received the death warrant for Bert Delige and the same was read to him after he had finished his noonday meal. The only man with the sheriff when he read the warrant was deputy sheriff Fred W. Rees. Delige was more or less affected when he heard his doom read to him, at times trembling very visibly, but had not a word to say one way or the other. He has less than two months of life before him and this he will likely spend in the same unperturbed way he has lived ever since his arrest. As Centre county has a gallows stored in the jail the final preparations for Delige's execution will until the week prior to the fatal date.
