Bellefonte friends of John Rankin will regret to learn that he is quite ill in a private hospital in San Francisco, Cal., although the latest news from him is that he is slightly improved. The young man is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Rankin and he has been in California less than a year, in the employ of the Santa Fe railroad company.

The recent heavy rain storms washed the roads in Pennsylvan and other portions of the county so that they are now rougher and in a worse condition than they have been for some time. This, however, cannot be blamed upon the supervisors, as most of them are doing faithful work and they are now engaged in repairing the washed out roads as fast as possible.

There is more or less complaint throughout the county over the short hay crop. It is true the clover is not as tall as it has been the past few years, but in most places it has a very heavy set and will give a fair yield in hay. The timothy is not yet done growing and with enough rain will also yield a fair crop, so that there is no probability of a hay famine in Centre county.

Rev. Richard Mallalieu, of Williamsport, preached a very interesting sermon for the Methodist congregation in Petriken hall last Sunday evening. Next Sunday morning it is expected that Rev. Yocum will be able to officiate and at the morning service will administer the rites of baptism to children. Children's day services will be held in the evening and a most interesting program has been arranged.

Another chapter was added to the famous Miss Ray Miller case last Friday when sheriff W. E. Hurley went to Millheim and replevined a horse bought from the young lady by P. F. Confer and a buggy bought by Samuel Weiser. The owner, liveryman Slagle, of Bloomsburg, sold the outfit to Miss Miller on a lease and as there was still considerable due on same Confer and Weiser made good the deficiency.

Mr. and Mrs. John Beezer and little daughter are at present sojourning at The Willows. When they left Bellefonte a number of years ago they went to Tyrone where Mr. Beezer conducted a meat market but the past few years he has been in DuBois, though he is now considering another change in location. Of course they have been renewing old acquaintances during their sojourn up Spring creek.

A session of juvenile court was held on Tuesday to dispose of the case against the nine year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward McCullough, of Verona hill, who was charged with being an incorrigible. ATHERTON.—Frank Peabody Atherton, eldest son of the late George W. Atherton, former president of The Pennsylvania State College, died in Dr. Flick's private sanatorium at Bryn Mawr, last Saturday, of tuberculosis. About eighteen months ago he moved from Cleveland, Ohio, to Philadelphia where he was but a short time when his health began to fail and in the spring of 1910 he came to State College and was for three months at the home of his mother. At the expiration of that time he felt so much improved that he returned to the Quaker city and resumed his work with Presser & Co., large music publishers and dealers. About three months ago he was compelled to quit work and went to Dr. Flick's sanatorium for treatment. He was apparently improving and just last week wrote his mother that he expected to be able to go back to work in the near future but a hemorrhage on Saturday ended his life.

Deceased was born at New Brunswick, N. J., about forty years ago, his father at the time filling the chair of history, political economy and constitutional law in Rutgers college. The family moved to State College in 1882, and several years later Frank began his course in college, graduating in the class of 1889. Though he took the general scientific course he was always passionately fond of music and all his spare hours were given to its study so that he developed into a musician of high standing, being not only a remarkable performer but a composer of considerable merit and ability. Several years after his graduation from college he located in Cleveland, Ohio, where he became leader of a band and orchestra, and where he lived until less than two years ago when he accepted a position with Presser & Co., of Philadelphia. While residing in Cleveland he was married to a young lady of that place who survives with his mother, living at State College, two sisters and one brother, namely: Mrs. Albert Buckhout, of Holyoke, Mass.; Charles, and Helen, recently married to Prof. Govier, of State College.

The remains, accompanied by his wife, her sister and husband were brought to Bellefonte on Sunday evening and taken to the Atherton home at the College from where the funeral was held Tuesday morning. Rev. Father O'Hanlon said mass for the departed and the remains were buried in Pine Hall cemetery. For the present, at least, the widow will remain at the Atherton home at the College.

MCKELVEY.—Mrs. Sarah C. McKelvey, widow of the late John McKelvey, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Clyde Sylvus, in Sunbury, on Tuesday morning. She had been ailing more or less the past year and since the death of her husband in March had failed steadily. Her maiden name was Sarah C. Brown and she was born in Blair county about sixty-nine years ago. In 1867 she was united in marriage to John McKelvey and their early married life was spent in Blair county. Later they lived for a number of years at Port Matilda and two years ago last spring moved to Bellefonte where she lived until the death of her husband in March when she went to Sunbury to live with her daughter. She was a member of the Methodist church and a good, faithful woman.

Surviving her are the following children: Rev. H. A. McKelvey, of Port Matilda; M. T. McKelvey, of Altoona; Mrs. H. M. Kobel and Mrs. Lillie Peters, of Tyrone, and Mrs. Clyde Sylvus, of Sunbury. Funeral services were held at her late home on Wednesday evening and yesterday the remains were taken to Martha, this county, for burial in the Williams cemetery.

KLINGER.—Mr. and Mrs. John Klinger, of Lemont, are mourning the death of their only daughter, Edith Klinger, aged seventeen years, which occurred on Tuesday afternoon. Several weeks ago she underwent an operation for bowel trouble but at the time her condition was so serious that her physician could hold out very little hope of her recovery. She was a bright and lovely girl and her death is a severe blow to her parents and two surviving brothers, William and Harry. She was a member of the Lutheran church of Boalsburg and also of the Sunday school. Rev. J. L. Stonecypher will officiate at the funeral which will be held this (Friday) morning at ten o'clock, burial to be made in the Boalsburg cemetery.

To the parents whose happy home has since saddened the WATCHMAN extends sincere sympathy.

TAYLOR.—The death at 8:15 o'clock on Tuesday evening of Mrs. Margaret Taylor, wife of R. B. Taylor, was particularly distressing because of the four young children left motherless in addition to the bereaved husband. Mrs. Taylor had been a sufferer with diabetes the past two or three years and of late had been afflicted with a number of carbuncles. Last week one of the latter appeared under her chin and on Thursday morning she felt so ill she decided to stay in bed. Instead of getting better she grew worse and by Monday was unable to talk so as to be understood and was delirious part of the time. Late Monday afternoon her attending physician lanced the carbuncle and that gave her some relief so that she was able to talk, but it was apparent then that she could not recover as blood poisoning had set in.

Deceased's maiden name was Miss Margaret Cunningham, and she was born in this place about thirty-six years ago, her parents being Mr. and Mrs. Mertie Cunningham. She was united in marriage to Mr. Taylor about fifteen years ago, and she survives with four children, namely: Anna, Eleanor, Elizabeth and Robert, the eldest being about fourteen years old. She also leaves the following brothers: Frank, in the western part of the State; Edward of Linden Hall; William H., of Beaver Falls; Mertie, of New York, and J. Mitchell and George, of Bellefonte.

She was a devout member of the Catholic church, a woman of sweet and gentle disposition and one immeasurably devoted to her family and friends. The funeral will be held from the Catholic church at ten o'clock tomorrow (Saturday) morning.

She was a daughter of John and Elizabeth Bloom and was born at Earlstown seventy-five years ago, though her parents moved to Bloomsdorf when she was but a child. Forty-eight years ago she was united in marriage to David L. Dennis, who survives, with no children. She also leaves three sisters, namely: Mrs. David Fye, of Pine Grove Mills; Mrs. Jefferson Gates, of Curwensville, and Mrs. Mary Gates, of Lock Haven. She was a lifelong member of the Lutheran church and Rev. J. S. Shultz officiated at the funeral which was held at ten o'clock on Monday morning, burial being made in the new cemetery at Pine Grove Mills.

GRIMES.—Charles Grimes died last Friday at his home in Miles township, of general debility. He was born in Berks county, March 24th, 1824, hence was 87 years, 2 months and 22 days old. He came to Centre county when a young man and ever since had been a resident of Miles township. In 1853 he was united in marriage to Miss Priscilla Crouse who died twenty-three years ago. Of their six children three survive, namely: Sarah, now Mrs. Snavelly, of Spring Mills; Annie, of Millifinburg, and Elizabeth at home. He was a member of the Lutheran church, a good neighbor and kind husband and father. His occupation was that of a carpenter and he was a faithful, industrious workman. The funeral was held from his late home on Monday afternoon. Rev. N. A. Whitman, of the Lutheran church, officiated and burial was made in Rebersburg cemetery.

BAILEY.—Word was received at Pine Grove Mills on Saturday of the death of Joseph Bailey at his home in Fort Scott, Kan. He had been an invalid for years as the result of paralysis and his death followed another stroke. He was a son of John and Nancy Gohene Bailey and was born at Baileyville seventy-three years ago. He served during the Civil war as a member of Company E, 45th regiment and after the war was over west and located in Kansas. The only time he was back to visit his old home was in 1880. He is survived by a wife and two sons and the following brothers and sisters: Armstrong Bailey, of Colesburg, Oregon; G. W., of Downs, Kan.; Mrs. John Hewitt, of Kansas City, Mo.; Mrs. Ross Gregory, of Neff's Mills; S. H., of Boalsburg; W. Scott, of State College, and Warren, of Freeport, Ill. Burial was made at Fort Scott on Wednesday.

GRAY.—John W. Gray, one of the oldest residents of Halfmoon township, died at his farm home about a mile west of Stormstown on Wednesday morning, from a general breaking down of the system. He was born in Halfmoon valley and was about eighty years of age. He followed farming all his life until advancing years compelled his retirement. His wife died many years ago but surviving him are two sons and two daughters, namely: Pierce, of Ferguson township; John J., on the old homestead, Mrs. Catharine Stover, in Sinking valley, and Miss Annie at home. The funeral will be held from his late home at 10:30 o'clock tomorrow (Saturday) morning.

SEIDLER.—Mrs. Mary E. Seidler, of Milton, died at the Bellefonte hospital on Wednesday as the result of surgical shock following an operation. She was twenty-four years of age. The body was prepared for burial and shipped to Milton the same evening.

TWO BEAR STORIES.—Samuel Bechdel, a son of Mr. and Mrs. David Bechdel, of Liberty township, was one of the graduates at State College last week and when he went home Wednesday evening was accompanied by his fiancée, a young lady from Martinsburg. Thursday morning the two young people decided to take a trip to Penn Cave. They crossed from Howard to Jacksonville and Hecla and started on their journey across the Nittany mountain by way of Hecla gap. After passing through the gap of the first mountain and just before starting up the second mountain a black bear walked out of the bushes right in front of the horse. The sudden appearance of bruin so frightened the animal that he made a bolt to one side and upset the buggy, throwing both occupants out. The young lady sustained several cuts and bruises but no serious injuries while young Bechdel was uninjured. The horse was so frightened that he ran up the mountain and could not be found. The only thing for the young people to do was to walk back to Hecla a distance of several miles where they took the afternoon train for Mill Hill and went home on the Bald Eagle Valley railroad. Friday morning Clarence and Fred Bechdel and Mr. Zimmerman, of Walker township, went into the mountain to hunt the horse and finally found him after several hours search. The animal was stripped clean of the harness, which could not be found. The buggy was badly damaged but can be repaired.

On Sunday Mr. and Mrs. William McClellan, of this place, took a drive to Snow Shoe. They were going up the mountain at a leisurely pace when a monster bear lumbered out onto the road in front of their horse and stood up on its haunches as if defying further progress to the horse and rig. The horse was badly frightened and it was all Mr. McClellan could do to control him, though he managed to keep him from running away. The bear surveyed the party briefly then got down on all fours and shambled off into the bushes. Of course neither Mr. nor Mrs. McClellan will admit being badly frightened but they do confess that they were glad it wasn't winter, when the bear might have been hungry.

DORWORTH.—CATOR.—A wedding of interest to many people in Bellefonte was that on Wednesday evening of William Jenkins Dorworth, youngest son of Dr. and Mrs. E. S. Dorworth, of this place, and Miss Mary Louise Cator, of Greensboro, North Carolina. The ceremony took place at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Annie S. Cator, at 7:30 o'clock in the evening, and was performed by Rev. Milton D. Clark, of the Greensboro Presbyterian church.

The bride is a member of one of the well-known families of Greensboro and is an accomplished young lady. The bridegroom is well-known by everybody in Bellefonte. He was born and raised here, graduated from the High school and later took a course in electrical engineering at The Pennsylvania State College. After his graduation from college he accepted a position with the General Electric company at Schenectady, N. Y., and while in their employ was assigned to install a large electric power and lighting plant for the Proximity cotton mills at Greensboro. When the job was completed he was retained as chief electrician, a position he still holds.

BOTTORF.—GARNER.—A very quiet wedding at the home of Mrs. John I. Olewine, on Spring street, Tuesday morning, was that of Willis Marion Bottorf and Miss Margaret Catharine Garner. The ceremony took place at eleven o'clock and was performed by Rev. Fred W. Barry, of the Lutheran church, in the presence of only a few intimate friends. After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served the bridal party and later they were driven to Milesburg where they took the train for a wedding trip to Atlantic City and other places. Upon their return they will be at home at the Olewine residence on Spring street.

The bride is a graduate nurse of the Bellefonte hospital and during the past year or two has been located in this place engaged in private work. She is a pleasant and accomplished woman and has hosts of warm friends wherever known. Mr. Bottorf is a son of the late Jacob Bottorf, of College township, and for a number of years has been employed in the Olewine hardware store in this place, being manager of the same since the death of Mr. Olewine.

MCCLOSKEY.—MUSSEY.—At the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Mussey, of Millheim, and in the presence of the family and immediate friends, J. C. McCloskey, of Downy, Idaho, and Miss Lydia A. Mussey were united in marriage by Rev. W. J. Dice, June 19th, at one p. m. The young couple will make their home in Downy, Idaho, where the bridegroom is a telegraph operator. The bride was formerly a nurse in the Bellefonte hospital.

The committee having in charge the movement for the improvement of the road between Bellefonte and State College held another meeting at the Elks home on Wednesday evening, which was also attended by a number of residents of Bellefonte and State College as well as College and Benner townships. The reports show the work of repairs progressing about as fast as can be expected and the committee felt justified in appropriating four hundred dollars of the fund so far raised to the work in Benner and College townships.

BIG CLASSIFICATION YARDS ALMOST COMPLETED.—By the first of September it is expected that the big classification yards of the Pennsylvania railroad at Northumberland will be completed and opened for use. When finished these yards will cost approximately four million dollars, but the outlay is well justified by the great advantage they will be to the company. While not particularly benefited by the new yards Bellefonters feel a certain interest in them from the fact that the work was done by the Eyre-Shoemaker Construction company and that upwards of twelve thousand cars of furnace slag were transported from here to be used as filling in leveling up the ground. When the new yards are first opened it is estimated they will give work to from two to three thousand men, which number it is expected will gradually be increased until a maximum of fifteen thousand is reached. A Harrisburg Patriot correspondent gives the following very interesting description of the new yards:

Over 700 acres of ground have been utilized, stretching along the Susquehanna river for three and two-tenths miles. Contractors have completed their task of lowering the hills and filling the depressions, until now the once fertile farm land is covered with 180 miles of tracks and a round-house, machine shops, power plant, boiler house and other equipment for what is said to be the most modern and economic freight classification yard in the world.

Ten distinct yards, all operated by gravity and electric controlled switches, comprise the trackage, which has a capacity of 5,500 cars. The round-house will accommodate 32 locomotives; the coal station has a capacity of elevating 250 tons of coal an hour, while the repair shops and power plant are of equally large proportion. A sand dryer, a freight transfer shed, 30 by 600 feet, storage for 130 cabins and a cattle transfer are other mammoth components of the great operation.

Hardly a baker's dozen remain of the 3,000 foreign laborers, employed in grading the yard and doing the other rough work of construction. In their stead Northumbrians now harbor hundreds of skilled mechanics, busy installing the machinery in the shops and plants of the yard. Many railroad men have also anticipated their transfers and located there, where their trains will be made up.

Concrete telephone poles are among the novelties of the yard. They were recently tested by attaching a locomotive to several of them, and in each instance railroad men stated that they find a concrete pole has one and one-half times the strength of a like-sized pine pole.

In anticipation of the heavy traffic, the Pennsylvania railroad has let a contract for $40,000 for the building of a subway under the borough extremity of the yard, and the work is now well under way.

The Pennsylvania Railroad company will utilize the beautiful dwelling, Red Gables, a part of their real estate purchase of the yard, as a Y. M. C. A. and rest house for the employees. The building will be fully equipped by the company, and operated by them.

Drinking water for the employees has been piped throughout the yard from the Molly Bulton spring, a little distance to the northern extremity of the yard.

Upon the arrival of a train at either of the receiving yards the road engine will be cut off and the train will be taken in tow by a yard shifter with its crew of cutters and riders, and the string of cars will be pushed over the "hump." Each car will be identified as to its destination, and when cut loose will be gravity traversed the incline. An operator in the nearby tower, learning the destination of the car by the card, will, by merely pushing an electric button, set in operation machinery to turn the switches and guide the car to the train track, where it is desired.

A TRIBUTE TO FATHER FISHER.—The parishioners of St. John's Roman Catholic church, Philadelphia, are planning a grand testimonial for their beloved rector Rt. Rev. Nevin F. Fisher, who on Monday celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of his ordination as a priest. Father Fisher is a native of Centre county, having been born at Boalsburg, and is a brother of Dr. Philip S. Fisher, of Zion. Monday's Philadelphia Inquirer has the following to say regarding the testimonial referred to above:

Father Fisher is at present on his way to Rome, where he will celebrate mass on his anniversary day in the church where he was elevated to the priesthood. He knows nothing of the testimonial which is to be given him. The movement was started several Sundays ago, the first announcement of it being made by Rev. John J. Wheeler, the acting rector, at the early mass. Thereafter a similar announcement was made at each succeeding mass and the enthusiasm with which the plan was received speaks well for its successful consummation.

The testimonial planned is that of the establishment and maintenance of a day nursery for children, a project which Father Fisher has long had in mind and which he launched only a short time before leaving Philadelphia. The plan calls for the immediate collection of at least $5000, so that when Father Fisher returns he will be surprised to find that all is in readiness to carry his ideas into effect.

A building will be obtained in the central section of the city and will be converted into a nursery, where poor mothers, who are forced to work for a living, will be enabled to place their children with the knowledge that they are being properly cared for and provided with good nourishment. Father Fisher has long known the need for such an institution in the heart of Philadelphia and it has been one of his ambitions to have a nursery of this character affiliated with St. John's church.

Friends of the rector, appreciating the splendid work he has done since taking charge of St. John's and knowing Father Fisher's desires, thought of this nursery as the best kind of testimonial for his silver jubilee and between now and the latter part of August, when he is due to arrive home, they will make every effort to raise the fund.

Charles B. Steel, of Ambridge, Pa., and Miss Anna May Daugherty, of State College, were married at the latter place last Thursday.

A Great Opportunity.

EDITOR WATCHMAN.—I am not a Democrat, therefore no one will think that I am influenced by party ties in what I am about to say.

There was never a better or brighter opportunity for the Democratic party to win in a national contest for supremacy than at the present time. The citizens of the United States have been ignored by those who were sent to Washington to represent them, and to legislate for the interest of all the people, until they are disgusted with the leaders of the Republican party and are now looking for some way of escape from the iron heel of tyranny and boss rule for "special privileges." We believe it is possible for the Democratic party to deliver the nation from the hands of the oppressors if they will, but we confess the hope is somewhat dim by reason of the factions in the party.

The real Democracy as it has been showing itself in Washington by the Progressives has lit up the political skies with a star of hope in the midst of the gloom of political corruption. But the standpatter's wing of the party who care more for "Special Privileges" than they do for the common people, or even for their own party, may defeat themselves and leave the control of the government in the hands of corruptionists. If the Democrats would show a disposition to favor the people instead of bolstering trusts and corporations they have an opportunity that they have not had for many years, and one that may not come to them again in a score of years. And the people may be constrained to turn to the Socialists for relief.

We are evidently passing through a crisis now that will tell on the future of our country. And whether for better or worse depends upon how we use the present opportunity. The Republican party grows more corrupt as the years go by. All hope of relief was cut off long ago from that source.

We are not sitting in judgment upon them, but "by their fruits ye shall know them." Upon this principle we form our estimate of those who are trying to keep in the Senate the man who gained his seat through corrupt means. "Birds of a feather flock together." Some of them by condemning him would condemn themselves, for doubtless their election was secured in the same way. Therefore if Lorimer should be ousted why not they? Such men will of course fight against popular election of United States Senators. It would cost too much to try to buy all the people. They do not need to approach so many with our present method. Pennsylvania has two Senators who would not be re-elected if the people had their say. When will deliverance come? And from whence shall it arise? Oh ye Democrats, are ye yet blind to your opportunity? Be wise now and do the right thing by the people, and see what will happen.

A BIRTHDAY PARTY.—Mrs. Alexander Chaney, of Port Matilda, reached the seventy-eighth milestone in her earthly pilgrimage last Saturday, but the fact was not generally known by her neighbors until too late to celebrate the affair that day, so they gave her a surprise party on Tuesday. She was invited to spend the day with a neighbor and was gotten away from home as early in the morning as possible. During her absence her friends gathered at her home and spread the table with an abundance of good things to eat, which they themselves supplied. When everything was in readiness a messenger was sent after Mrs. Chaney who took her home in a buggy. Of course she was very much surprised and the enjoyment was shared alike by herself and those who took part in giving the party. The good lady received the best wishes of all for her continued good health and happiness.

HOUSE BURNED.—Shortly after six o'clock on Wednesday evening the frame tenap house on the Armor farm in the Gap caught fire and burned to the ground in less than an hour. The house was occupied by Nathan Bachman and family and they lost everything except the clothing on their backs. How the fire originated is a mystery. The house was insured for five hundred dollars.

John Curtin and James C. Furst have opened their fishing camp on Fishing creek and have been having rather exceptional luck. Tomorrow Chas. M. McCurdy, Henry C. Quigley and Dr. Kilpatrick, with J. E. Quigley, of Pittsburg, will go down to the same stream for their annual fishing encampment for a week.
