

First Flying Ambulances.
A valued servant and friend of the great Napoleon, Dominique Larrey, first established that system of "flying ambulances," which carried the wounded to the rear almost as soon as disabled. The staff numbered about 340 men with four heavy and twelve light two and four wheeled ambulances to each division. Napoleon reviewed this arm of the service with the greatest interest and once exclaimed to Larrey: "Your work is one of the most important conceptions of our age. It will suffice for your reputation." For the Egyptian campaign Larrey secured the services of 800 qualified surgeons in addition to the regular force. At Alexandria General Fiquieres was severely wounded, and on his recovery wished to present Napoleon with a splendid Damascus saber. "Yes," said the emperor, "I accept in order to give the surgeon in chief, by whose exertions your life has been spared." This saber, engraved with the words "Aboukir" and "Larrey," was taken from the great surgeon by the Prussians at Waterloo.—Charles Winslow Hall in National Magazine.

The Horrors of Thirst.
In the oasis of Mogara, says L. Dow Covington in the Wide World Magazine, we had a first experience of the desert traveler's great enemy—thirst. We were seated in front of a Bedouin chief's tent, our two baby camels enjoying their first drink of water since they had left Cairo, when, from across a sand dune, a Bedouin came staggering and tottering toward us. His eyes were bloodshot, his lips twice their natural size, while his tongue, blue and dry, hung out of his mouth. Evidently he had lost himself, had wandered around for days in search of water and had stumbled upon the oasis in the very nick of time. To allow him to drink would have been his death. In spite of his frantic struggles, he was held by four men, while a fifth allowed a few drops of water to trickle down his throat. It was as though he were a red-hot boiler which would have to be allowed to cool off before being filled if an accident was to be avoided.

Objected to Publicity.
Old Brother Brown had been approached several times by the colored deacons of his church and asked to pay his church dues. He had promised to "pay up" just as soon as he sold a calf which he owned. Several months later he sold the calf. The next Sunday morning at service the congregation sang the old familiar hymn: "The half has never been told of life so full and free."
Brother Brown, somewhat deaf and conscious of his failure to pay his dues, understood the words to be: "The calf has never been sold, but when it's sold he'll pay."
When the hymn was finished the old colored man, very indignant, arose and said:
"Bredren and sistahs, I has sold dat calf and heh's yo' ten dollahs! But I didn't cut about de whole church singin' about it."—National Monthly.

A Costly Tuft of Feathers.
On the apex of the crown worn by the Prince of Wales on special occasions is a curious feather, or, rather, tuft of feathers, the top of which is adorned with a gold thread. The value of this feather is estimated at $50,000, and it has the distinction of being the only one of its kind in human possession. Twenty years passed after the first hunter set out to procure the feather before it was attained, and during that period more than a dozen hunters had lost their lives in the quest. The costly tuft is of periwak feathers, and the extraordinary danger incurred in procuring it was due to the fact that the periwak, for some unknown reason, is to be found only in dense jungles in which tigers make their lair.—Chicago Tribune.

Turning the Turtle.
Turtle hunting is not without excitement. The method of capture consists of the simple act of turning the turtle on its back. Once in this position it is quite helpless. Its only defense is to cover its cap with sand thrown up by the powerful front legs or flippers. These are brought into action in an instant, and woe betide the captor who has his eyes and mouth open at the moment, for the sand is hurled with great force. When turned over the captive is dragged up the beach to some high water mark, and this is no easy task, for it weighs about four hundredweight.

Premeditated.
"And why do you claim that it was with malice aforethought that the automobile defendant ran down the complainant?"
"On the morning it happened, your honor, I heard him say that he was going to take out his new auto and see if he could not run across a few people he knew."—Houston Post.

A Giddy Girl.
"Is your daughter of a practical turn of mind?"
"No; she is very frivolous. Wants to take cooking lessons instead of perfecting her game of bridge."—Exchange.

His Honest Face.
"Anyway, he has an honest face."
"Honest? You surprise me."
"Yes; it's the only honest thing about him. It shows how dishonest he really is."—Life.

GOOD RECORDS OF TWO GOVERNORS

JUDSON HARMON AND WOODROW WILSON HAVE MANY PROGRESSIVE LAWS TO THEIR CREDIT.

Harmon Worked Under Much Greater Obstacles

Ohio Legislature Enacted as Many Reform Bills as Any in the United States—Has Record of Progressiveness.

Columbus, O., June.—Governor Judson Harmon, of Ohio, and Governor Woodrow Wilson, of New Jersey, both considered Democratic presidential timber from coast to coast, have impressive records of legislation to their credit.
Both met with opposition in their party ranks when they championed pending measures and both made fights to obtain legislation they believed the people wanted and needed. Governor Harmon won out over greater obstacles, for an investigation resulted in bribery charges being filed against several legislators, who had been opposing his bills. Most of the important legislation in Ohio came after the bribery charges were filed. By persistent pounding and hammering, Governor Wilson succeeded in getting his reform bills through the New Jersey legislature.

Hon. Judson Harmon, Governor of Ohio.

Governor Wilson's legislative achievements are better known outside his native state than are Governor Harmon's, for the reason the latter has been tied down in Columbus by a long session which ended only last Wednesday. The New Jersey law-makers finished their work two months ago, and their accomplishments have been advertised throughout the United States.

The Harmon Bills.
The big bills on the Harmon program are:
The Oregon plan of nominating and electing United States senators by direct vote of the people.
Placing the Ohio judiciary beyond the clutches of party bosses by electing all judges on non-partisan ballots.
An employers' liability act making provisions for all injured workmen from a fund made up by contributions by employers and employees.
A public utility commission with authority to regulate issues of stock, rates, mergers and service.
A corrupt practices act that will make vote buying in primaries and elections a dangerous undertaking.
A limited initiative and referendum for Ohio cities.
A central board of control for 19 state institutions to take the place of 19 separate boards of trustees with their corps of employees. This bill places subordinate employees in the institutions under civil service.
A shorter ballot by abolishing boards of infirm directors of three members each, in every county of the state and turning their duties over to the county commissioners making a large saving. A reform of Ohio election laws to prevent corruption and fraud, also a strict system of registration to prevent voters voting.
To have delegates to the 1912 Ohio constitutional convention nominated by petition only and elected on non-partisan ballots.

A back-to-the-farm movement by requiring agriculture to be taught in all Ohio village and country schools.
Ratification of the proposed income tax amendment to the federal constitution.
Memorializing congress to call a convention to provide for the direct election of United States senators.
Insuring the honest handling of all state money by depositing in banks under the competitive bidding plan.
A complete reformation of tax laws that will put tax dodgers out of business and will compel corporations and owners of intangible property that have been dodging taxes to place their holdings on the duplicate the same as small property owners. Included in this is a maximum one per cent tax levy limit bill.
Providing for the construction of a women's reformatory and placing all girls in the state correctional institutions under the control of women.

The Wilson Bills.
The big bills in the legislative program of Governor Wilson, as set forth by one close to that executive include:
A corrupt practices act.
Public utilities bill.
Employers' liability bill.
The commission form of government in cities desiring it by a 30 per cent majority vote, including the initiative, referendum and recall.
An election reform bill providing for personal registration and an identification system in addition to the non-partisan blanket ballot of the Massachusetts type.
Civil service for election of officers.
A primary bill providing for direct nomination and election of all officials, including delegates to the national convention and United States senators—a more drastic measure than the Oregon plan.
A law placing New Jersey on record as ready to aid in building a ship canal that will serve as a connecting link between the two most populous districts of the American continent.
A law that will protect the New Jersey public from the abuses of the cold storage companies.
A set of laws that will reorganize the schools of the state along economic and progressive lines.
When Democratic legislators jumped the party traces and refused to stand for any of these bills, both Governor Wilson and Governor Harmon disregarded party ties and went over to the Republican side and got sufficient votes to have them enacted.
In his message to the Ohio general assembly demanding the enactment of pending measures, Governor Harmon, in addition to the bills in his legislative program enumerated above, advocated the abolition of the party emblem in purely municipal elections, smaller city councils, with a large part of whom elected at large; the nomination by state wide primary elections of all who are in any way to act for or represent the state officially or politically and the non-partisan nomination of judges. The general assembly, however, disregarded Governor Harmon's suggestion with respect to the last four bills.

A Record of Progressiveness.
Judson Harmon has been called a conservative and this is true if conservatism means one who does not suddenly rip up governmental machinery without first constructing a new and better driving power to succeed the old. If progressive Democracy means constructive Democracy then Mr. Harmon is a progressive. In Ohio the people are claiming that the reform measures Judson Harmon put through the Ohio general assembly are as progressive as any legislative program of any executive in the United States. Mr. Harmon is a strong, sober, sensible, well-balanced and well-equipped man, of the real Jackson and Jeffersonian school—the constructive Democracy. In discharging his duties, he selects his course with great care and then proceeds with constitutional exactness. In one hand he has held the support and confidence of the man who works, and in the other he has the approval of the business interests.

A non-partisan judiciary bill which will place all judges beyond the domain of politics, a working men's compensation act and a public utilities bill are among the big measures on the Harmon legislative program that Ohioans claim are far in advance of any such legislation in the United States.

The workmen's compensation act has been endorsed by both employers and employees. Injured workmen will be compensated from a fund made up by contributions from both employers and employees. Employers who do not avail themselves of the law can not set forth the legal defenses of fellow servant rule, assumed risk and contributory negligence in personal injury cases. In no other commonwealth will the people have so strong a rein over public utilities as the people of Ohio. In no other state is the public so well protected from over capitalization and the excessive rates that that brings, as the people of the Buckeye state.

The commission is given absolute control over rates, service and issues of stocks and bonds. Under a series of referendums which are authorized the people are enabled to pass upon rates authorized. A valuation of property is to be made to determine rates and it is provided that no franchise or monopoly which the people grant shall be used as an asset to authorize a high rate.

After the Ohio general assembly ad-

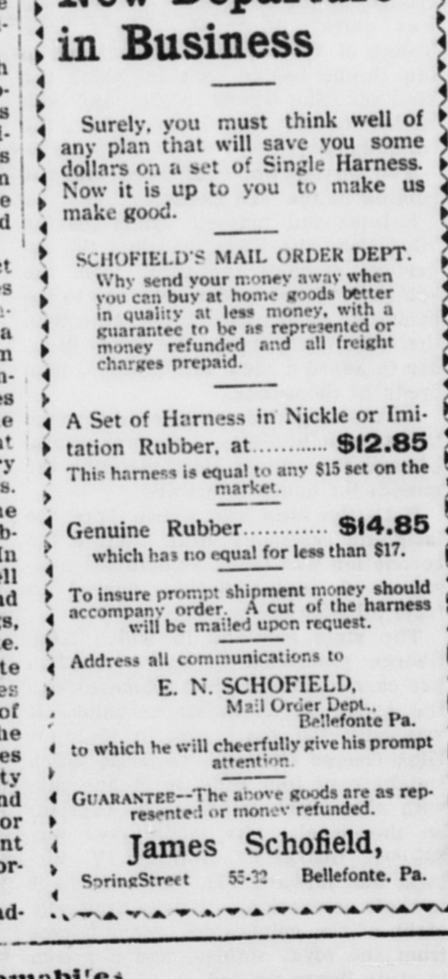

Journal Lieutenant Governor Nichols issued a statement in which he said: "It is an undeniable fact that the present general assembly has a legislative record to its credit, of a legislative nature unequalled by any legislature that has convened since the adoption of our present constitution in 1851."
"The enactment of these several laws is the work of accomplishment of Governor Harmon, secured by persistent and tireless effort without anything of the spectacular or theatrical. Obstacles of a seemingly insurmountable nature were encountered—only to be finally overcome—and the fruits of victory cannot be withheld from Governor Harmon."
"In his work thus set forth and accomplished he was obstructed at every turn by a strong and powerful minority—whose constant efforts seemed to be to prevent the passage of these various laws."
