

Our Correspondent's Opinions.

This column is at the service of those of our people who desire to express their views on any subject of general or local interest.

Annent the Pleasant Gap Water Company.

PLEASANT GAP, PA., JULY 11, To the Editor Democratic Watchman:

The progressive people of Pleasant Gap are jubilant over the prospect of having a full fledged water Co., and an abundant supply of cool, refreshing mountain water almost in sight.

On this occasion like almost all undertakings similar in character, our people became quite uneasy and restless. They thought it should require only a month or two from the start until they would have the pleasure of paying water tax.

He was ably assisted by William and Charles Bilger. It is now up to the people of Pleasant Gap to show their appreciation toward this laudable enterprise.

MANY CHILDREN ENJOY AUTOMOBILE RIDE.—Bellefonte children did not have the noise and excitement of dangerous fireworks on the Fourth of July but a lot of them had what was better and more enjoyable, an automobile ride.

Machine owners who turned out were Robert F. Hunter, George A. Beezer, W. W. Keichline, John Sebring, T. H. Harter, Col. W. Fred Reynolds, Sidney Kiefer, Dr. R. G. H. Hayes, Robert Cole, M. I. Gardner, John S. Walker, J. Harris Olewine, A. C. Mingle, Charles R. Kurtz, D. G. Stewart, Hugh N. Crider, T. Clayton Brown, Frank O'Brien, and Lloyd Kerick, of Niagara Falls.

Machine owners who turned out were Robert F. Hunter, George A. Beezer, W. W. Keichline, John Sebring, T. H. Harter, Col. W. Fred Reynolds, Sidney Kiefer, Dr. R. G. H. Hayes, Robert Cole, M. I. Gardner, John S. Walker, J. Harris Olewine, A. C. Mingle, Charles R. Kurtz, D. G. Stewart, Hugh N. Crider, T. Clayton Brown, Frank O'Brien, and Lloyd Kerick, of Niagara Falls.

KILLED IN RUNAWAY.—Miss Mary Jacobs, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Jacobs, of near Pine Grove Mills, was almost instantly killed in a runaway in Clearfield county last Saturday evening.

For some time past she had been living at Osceola Mills and on Saturday evening in company with a young man went for a drive. Their horse frightened and ran away. Miss Jacobs was thrown from the buggy and so badly injured that she died in a few minutes.

EXPLODING LIME BURNS CHILDREN.—A peculiar accident happened at Snow Shoe about a week ago when the six small children of Mr. and Mrs. James Smoyer were seriously burned by exploding lime. Mr. Smoyer was slacking less than a half peck of lime in a bucket for the purpose of making whitewash.

One evening last week William Saylor and Mrs. Catharine Shawley, who live beyond Nitany furnace, became embroiled in an argument which waxed hotter and hotter until the man called the woman a name that generally means fight.

The committee upon farmers' institutes in Centre county held a meeting in the office of Col. W. Fred Reynolds on Thursday morning of last week and selected as the places for holding the institutes next winter Blanchard, Centre Hall and Stormstown.

Invitations have been issued for the wedding of Miss Mary Showers, a daughter of Cyrus Showers, of east Beaver street, and David Barlett, an employee at the freight station of the P. R. R., in Bellefonte; the wedding to take place Tuesday, July 18th.

Rural letter carriers in Centre county are very much pleased over an Act of Congress increasing their salaries $100 a year.

During the past fiscal year the receipts of the State College postoffice exceeded those of the Bellefonte office $700.

SMULLTON.

Many of our farmers are through making hay. Elias Breon is building a large addition to his barn.

Eugene Smull, of Madisonburg, spent Sunday at home. Black Charlie was seen out at Bressler's some time ago.

Maggie Harry, of State College, is spending some time at home. George H. Smull, after making a business trip to Minneapolis, Minn., and other western points, returned home last week.

A very interesting game of ball was played between Rebersburg and Millheim on Saturday with a score of 6 to 5 in favor of Rebersburg.

Sun Hatched Eggs.

Gilbert Wright, of Chelmsford, a suburb of Lowell, Mass., reports that a setting of eggs which the hen had abandoned when almost ready to hatch hatched out without the assistance of the hen at the finish.

The heat had been so intense that it drove the hen off the nest, but it was warm enough for the atmosphere to take the place of the hen. Ten eggs have already hatched and others are expected to.

Gave His Life For His Dog. George Clark gave up his life in a vain effort to save his dog from death beneath the wheels of a Southern railway train at Danville, Va.

The inspiration to give the children a ride was a happy thought and came from the Civic committee of the Woman's club, and not from the D. A. R., as published at the time of the announcement. These good women made the suggestion to G. R. Spigelmyer and he in turn enlisted the aid of Robert F. Hunter, president of the Bellefonte Motor club, and although it took considerable hard work and much persuasiveness to induce enough owners of machines to turn out (some positively refusing to do so) there were enough to gratify all the children, even if some drivers had to take out two and three loads.

Machine owners who turned out were Robert F. Hunter, George A. Beezer, W. W. Keichline, John Sebring, T. H. Harter, Col. W. Fred Reynolds, Sidney Kiefer, Dr. R. G. H. Hayes, Robert Cole, M. I. Gardner, John S. Walker, J. Harris Olewine, A. C. Mingle, Charles R. Kurtz, D. G. Stewart, Hugh N. Crider, T. Clayton Brown, Frank O'Brien, and Lloyd Kerick, of Niagara Falls.

Machine owners who turned out were Robert F. Hunter, George A. Beezer, W. W. Keichline, John Sebring, T. H. Harter, Col. W. Fred Reynolds, Sidney Kiefer, Dr. R. G. H. Hayes, Robert Cole, M. I. Gardner, John S. Walker, J. Harris Olewine, A. C. Mingle, Charles R. Kurtz, D. G. Stewart, Hugh N. Crider, T. Clayton Brown, Frank O'Brien, and Lloyd Kerick, of Niagara Falls.

Machine owners who turned out were Robert F. Hunter, George A. Beezer, W. W. Keichline, John Sebring, T. H. Harter, Col. W. Fred Reynolds, Sidney Kiefer, Dr. R. G. H. Hayes, Robert Cole, M. I. Gardner, John S. Walker, J. Harris Olewine, A. C. Mingle, Charles R. Kurtz, D. G. Stewart, Hugh N. Crider, T. Clayton Brown, Frank O'Brien, and Lloyd Kerick, of Niagara Falls.

PINE GROVE MENTION.

This week will see most of the wheat in the barn. Earle Smith joined his family here for the Fourth.

Fred R. Fry went to Dixon, Ill., to take charge of a large dairy herd. Mrs. Mary Shearer, of Pittsburg, is visiting friends at State College.

Chas. Cronmiller and mother left last week to visit friends in Minnesota. Mrs. Sadie Heberling and daughter Mary spent the week at State College.

Wilson Ghaner spent the Fourth in Phillipsburg and helped to make the eagle scream. Harry Loner and family came down from Altoona for a week's outing at grandpa Loner's home.

John Eiters and Ed. Williams have both been very ill the past week, suffering with an attack of gall stones. Rev. C. T. Aiken, pastor at the Susquehanna University, spent last week among his old parishioners here.

John and Joe Griffin came down from Tyrone and spent Sunday at the old family home at Stormstown. Chas. Harrison, of Altoona, is visiting Centre county friends with a view of again becoming one of our citizens.

D. J. Williams, of Station Island, N. Y., with his family, spent the Fourth among their Centre county friends. Stewart Rocky, of Altoona, a fireman on the Pennsy., was home and got a good tan on in his father's harvest field.

Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Henderson, of Spruce Creek, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Gramling, of Indiana, were visitors here over Sunday. Clarence Aiken, of Selinsgrove, came up in his new Overland car for a week's outing among his boyhood associates before going to Yale to round up his education.

Mrs. R. M. Illingsworth and family came up from Marietta and are trying to keep cool at the grandpa Snyder home at White Hall. The reverend will join them later.

The stork was quite busy during independence week, leaving a little boy at Charley Musser's and another at Harry Sunday's, while a little girl was left at E. T. Kellerman's.

Rev. J. O. C. McCracken and family, of Johnstown, are making their mid-summer visit at the elder McCracken home, where the reverend is making himself useful harvesting the crops and getting a good healthy color.

Rev. W. C. Dunlap and family visited friends in this section last week before leaving for their new home in Pittsburg, where the reverend preached his first sermon on his new charge last Sunday; having resigned his pastorate at Muncy, where he preached eleven years.

Dr. Shoop and wife and Mrs. McGinley return, from the Buckeye State to be here for the Fourth. The day was remarkably quiet except for the small boy and his tin horn, with the mercury gliding near the 104th degree mark. Many folks struck for old Tussey to get and keep cool.

Adam Bucher and Rev. Ralph Bergstresser, of Altoona; James Stover and wife, of Pittsburg; Jas. D. Hess, of Williamsport; W. H. Musser, of Bellefonte; D. B. Allen, of Milesburg; J. R. Pheasant, of Mt. Eagle; J. W. Stewart, Hiram Thompson, A. H. Hartwick and Geo. Graham, of State College, were here from a distance to attend the Heberling funeral.

The Ward family celebrated the Fourth by holding a basket picnic on the shady side of old Tussey mountain and representatives of the clan were present from Pittsburg, Altoona, Bellefonte and other places. Dr. J. E. Ward, of Bellefonte, was the speaker at the party and told of the Wards as being among the early settlers in this section of the county. His grandfather, Simon Ward, was the first tailor in Pine Grove Mills, and strange as it may appear not one of his descendants learned to handle the scissors and ply the needle. Though the Wards are now scattered over a wide territory, they all cherish a loving memory of the good old days when they were boys and roamed the neighborhood of this locality.

Ward family celebrated the Fourth by holding a basket picnic on the shady side of old Tussey mountain and representatives of the clan were present from Pittsburg, Altoona, Bellefonte and other places. Dr. J. E. Ward, of Bellefonte, was the speaker at the party and told of the Wards as being among the early settlers in this section of the county. His grandfather, Simon Ward, was the first tailor in Pine Grove Mills, and strange as it may appear not one of his descendants learned to handle the scissors and ply the needle. Though the Wards are now scattered over a wide territory, they all cherish a loving memory of the good old days when they were boys and roamed the neighborhood of this locality.

Ward family celebrated the Fourth by holding a basket picnic on the shady side of old Tussey mountain and representatives of the clan were present from Pittsburg, Altoona, Bellefonte and other places. Dr. J. E. Ward, of Bellefonte, was the speaker at the party and told of the Wards as being among the early settlers in this section of the county. His grandfather, Simon Ward, was the first tailor in Pine Grove Mills, and strange as it may appear not one of his descendants learned to handle the scissors and ply the needle. Though the Wards are now scattered over a wide territory, they all cherish a loving memory of the good old days when they were boys and roamed the neighborhood of this locality.

Ward family celebrated the Fourth by holding a basket picnic on the shady side of old Tussey mountain and representatives of the clan were present from Pittsburg, Altoona, Bellefonte and other places. Dr. J. E. Ward, of Bellefonte, was the speaker at the party and told of the Wards as being among the early settlers in this section of the county. His grandfather, Simon Ward, was the first tailor in Pine Grove Mills, and strange as it may appear not one of his descendants learned to handle the scissors and ply the needle. Though the Wards are now scattered over a wide territory, they all cherish a loving memory of the good old days when they were boys and roamed the neighborhood of this locality.

Ward family celebrated the Fourth by holding a basket picnic on the shady side of old Tussey mountain and representatives of the clan were present from Pittsburg, Altoona, Bellefonte and other places. Dr. J. E. Ward, of Bellefonte, was the speaker at the party and told of the Wards as being among the early settlers in this section of the county. His grandfather, Simon Ward, was the first tailor in Pine Grove Mills, and strange as it may appear not one of his descendants learned to handle the scissors and ply the needle. Though the Wards are now scattered over a wide territory, they all cherish a loving memory of the good old days when they were boys and roamed the neighborhood of this locality.

Ward family celebrated the Fourth by holding a basket picnic on the shady side of old Tussey mountain and representatives of the clan were present from Pittsburg, Altoona, Bellefonte and other places. Dr. J. E. Ward, of Bellefonte, was the speaker at the party and told of the Wards as being among the early settlers in this section of the county. His grandfather, Simon Ward, was the first tailor in Pine Grove Mills, and strange as it may appear not one of his descendants learned to handle the scissors and ply the needle. Though the Wards are now scattered over a wide territory, they all cherish a loving memory of the good old days when they were boys and roamed the neighborhood of this locality.

Ward family celebrated the Fourth by holding a basket picnic on the shady side of old Tussey mountain and representatives of the clan were present from Pittsburg, Altoona, Bellefonte and other places. Dr. J. E. Ward, of Bellefonte, was the speaker at the party and told of the Wards as being among the early settlers in this section of the county. His grandfather, Simon Ward, was the first tailor in Pine Grove Mills, and strange as it may appear not one of his descendants learned to handle the scissors and ply the needle. Though the Wards are now scattered over a wide territory, they all cherish a loving memory of the good old days when they were boys and roamed the neighborhood of this locality.

Ward family celebrated the Fourth by holding a basket picnic on the shady side of old Tussey mountain and representatives of the clan were present from Pittsburg, Altoona, Bellefonte and other places. Dr. J. E. Ward, of Bellefonte, was the speaker at the party and told of the Wards as being among the early settlers in this section of the county. His grandfather, Simon Ward, was the first tailor in Pine Grove Mills, and strange as it may appear not one of his descendants learned to handle the scissors and ply the needle. Though the Wards are now scattered over a wide territory, they all cherish a loving memory of the good old days when they were boys and roamed the neighborhood of this locality.

Ward family celebrated the Fourth by holding a basket picnic on the shady side of old Tussey mountain and representatives of the clan were present from Pittsburg, Altoona, Bellefonte and other places. Dr. J. E. Ward, of Bellefonte, was the speaker at the party and told of the Wards as being among the early settlers in this section of the county. His grandfather, Simon Ward, was the first tailor in Pine Grove Mills, and strange as it may appear not one of his descendants learned to handle the scissors and ply the needle. Though the Wards are now scattered over a wide territory, they all cherish a loving memory of the good old days when they were boys and roamed the neighborhood of this locality.

Ward family celebrated the Fourth by holding a basket picnic on the shady side of old Tussey mountain and representatives of the clan were present from Pittsburg, Altoona, Bellefonte and other places. Dr. J. E. Ward, of Bellefonte, was the speaker at the party and told of the Wards as being among the early settlers in this section of the county. His grandfather, Simon Ward, was the first tailor in Pine Grove Mills, and strange as it may appear not one of his descendants learned to handle the scissors and ply the needle. Though the Wards are now scattered over a wide territory, they all cherish a loving memory of the good old days when they were boys and roamed the neighborhood of this locality.

Ward family celebrated the Fourth by holding a basket picnic on the shady side of old Tussey mountain and representatives of the clan were present from Pittsburg, Altoona, Bellefonte and other places. Dr. J. E. Ward, of Bellefonte, was the speaker at the party and told of the Wards as being among the early settlers in this section of the county. His grandfather, Simon Ward, was the first tailor in Pine Grove Mills, and strange as it may appear not one of his descendants learned to handle the scissors and ply the needle. Though the Wards are now scattered over a wide territory, they all cherish a loving memory of the good old days when they were boys and roamed the neighborhood of this locality.

Ward family celebrated the Fourth by holding a basket picnic on the shady side of old Tussey mountain and representatives of the clan were present from Pittsburg, Altoona, Bellefonte and other places. Dr. J. E. Ward, of Bellefonte, was the speaker at the party and told of the Wards as being among the early settlers in this section of the county. His grandfather, Simon Ward, was the first tailor in Pine Grove Mills, and strange as it may appear not one of his descendants learned to handle the scissors and ply the needle. Though the Wards are now scattered over a wide territory, they all cherish a loving memory of the good old days when they were boys and roamed the neighborhood of this locality.

Ward family celebrated the Fourth by holding a basket picnic on the shady side of old Tussey mountain and representatives of the clan were present from Pittsburg, Altoona, Bellefonte and other places. Dr. J. E. Ward, of Bellefonte, was the speaker at the party and told of the Wards as being among the early settlers in this section of the county. His grandfather, Simon Ward, was the first tailor in Pine Grove Mills, and strange as it may appear not one of his descendants learned to handle the scissors and ply the needle. Though the Wards are now scattered over a wide territory, they all cherish a loving memory of the good old days when they were boys and roamed the neighborhood of this locality.

Ward family celebrated the Fourth by holding a basket picnic on the shady side of old Tussey mountain and representatives of the clan were present from Pittsburg, Altoona, Bellefonte and other places. Dr. J. E. Ward, of Bellefonte, was the speaker at the party and told of the Wards as being among the early settlers in this section of the county. His grandfather, Simon Ward, was the first tailor in Pine Grove Mills, and strange as it may appear not one of his descendants learned to handle the scissors and ply the needle. Though the Wards are now scattered over a wide territory, they all cherish a loving memory of the good old days when they were boys and roamed the neighborhood of this locality.

Ward family celebrated the Fourth by holding a basket picnic on the shady side of old Tussey mountain and representatives of the clan were present from Pittsburg, Altoona, Bellefonte and other places. Dr. J. E. Ward, of Bellefonte, was the speaker at the party and told of the Wards as being among the early settlers in this section of the county. His grandfather, Simon Ward, was the first tailor in Pine Grove Mills, and strange as it may appear not one of his descendants learned to handle the scissors and ply the needle. Though the Wards are now scattered over a wide territory, they all cherish a loving memory of the good old days when they were boys and roamed the neighborhood of this locality.

Ward family celebrated the Fourth by holding a basket picnic on the shady side of old Tussey mountain and representatives of the clan were present from Pittsburg, Altoona, Bellefonte and other places. Dr. J. E. Ward, of Bellefonte, was the speaker at the party and told of the Wards as being among the early settlers in this section of the county. His grandfather, Simon Ward, was the first tailor in Pine Grove Mills, and strange as it may appear not one of his descendants learned to handle the scissors and ply the needle. Though the Wards are now scattered over a wide territory, they all cherish a loving memory of the good old days when they were boys and roamed the neighborhood of this locality.

Ward family celebrated the Fourth by holding a basket picnic on the shady side of old Tussey mountain and representatives of the clan were present from Pittsburg, Altoona, Bellefonte and other places. Dr. J. E. Ward, of Bellefonte, was the speaker at the party and told of the Wards as being among the early settlers in this section of the county. His grandfather, Simon Ward, was the first tailor in Pine Grove Mills, and strange as it may appear not one of his descendants learned to handle the scissors and ply the needle. Though the Wards are now scattered over a wide territory, they all cherish a loving memory of the good old days when they were boys and roamed the neighborhood of this locality.

Ward family celebrated the Fourth by holding a basket picnic on the shady side of old Tussey mountain and representatives of the clan were present from Pittsburg, Altoona, Bellefonte and other places. Dr. J. E. Ward, of Bellefonte, was the speaker at the party and told of the Wards as being among the early settlers in this section of the county. His grandfather, Simon Ward, was the first tailor in Pine Grove Mills, and strange as it may appear not one of his descendants learned to handle the scissors and ply the needle. Though the Wards are now scattered over a wide territory, they all cherish a loving memory of the good old days when they were boys and roamed the neighborhood of this locality.

Ward family celebrated the Fourth by holding a basket picnic on the shady side of old Tussey mountain and representatives of the clan were present from Pittsburg, Altoona, Bellefonte and other places. Dr. J. E. Ward, of Bellefonte, was the speaker at the party and told of the Wards as being among the early settlers in this section of the county. His grandfather, Simon Ward, was the first tailor in Pine Grove Mills, and strange as it may appear not one of his descendants learned to handle the scissors and ply the needle. Though the Wards are now scattered over a wide territory, they all cherish a loving memory of the good old days when they were boys and roamed the neighborhood of this locality.

Ward family celebrated the Fourth by holding a basket picnic on the shady side of old Tussey mountain and representatives of the clan were present from Pittsburg, Altoona, Bellefonte and other places. Dr. J. E. Ward, of Bellefonte, was the speaker at the party and told of the Wards as being among the early settlers in this section of the county. His grandfather, Simon Ward, was the first tailor in Pine Grove Mills, and strange as it may appear not one of his descendants learned to handle the scissors and ply the needle. Though the Wards are now scattered over a wide territory, they all cherish a loving memory of the good old days when they were boys and roamed the neighborhood of this locality.

Ward family celebrated the Fourth by holding a basket picnic on the shady side of old Tussey mountain and representatives of the clan were present from Pittsburg, Altoona, Bellefonte and other places. Dr. J. E. Ward, of Bellefonte, was the speaker at the party and told of the Wards as being among the early settlers in this section of the county. His grandfather, Simon Ward, was the first tailor in Pine Grove Mills, and strange as it may appear not one of his descendants learned to handle the scissors and ply the needle. Though the Wards are now scattered over a wide territory, they all cherish a loving memory of the good old days when they were boys and roamed the neighborhood of this locality.

Ward family celebrated the Fourth by holding a basket picnic on the shady side of old Tussey mountain and representatives of the clan were present from Pittsburg, Altoona, Bellefonte and other places. Dr. J. E. Ward, of Bellefonte, was the speaker at the party and told of the Wards as being among the early settlers in this section of the county. His grandfather, Simon Ward, was the first tailor in Pine Grove Mills, and strange as it may appear not one of his descendants learned to handle the scissors and ply the needle. Though the Wards are now scattered over a wide territory, they all cherish a loving memory of the good old days when they were boys and roamed the neighborhood of this locality.

Ward family celebrated the Fourth by holding a basket picnic on the shady side of old Tussey mountain and representatives of the clan were present from Pittsburg, Altoona, Bellefonte and other places. Dr. J. E. Ward, of Bellefonte, was the speaker at the party and told of the Wards as being among the early settlers in this section of the county. His grandfather, Simon Ward, was the first tailor in Pine Grove Mills, and strange as it may appear not one of his descendants learned to handle the scissors and ply the needle. Though the Wards are now scattered over a wide territory, they all cherish a loving memory of the good old days when they were boys and roamed the neighborhood of this locality.

Feb. 17, 1909, tract of land in Phillipsburg; $175. Harvey Mann et al to John Schaeckler, July 28, 1874, tract of land in Benner Twp.; $1529.95.

G. W. Hockenberry to David R. Thomas, April 25, 1911, tract of land in Snow Shoe; $40. Harriet J. Alkey et bar to G. F. Musser et al, July 1, 1911, tract of land in Howard Twp.; $1.

Moshannon Coal Mining Co to Cambria & Clearfield Railway Co., April 27, 1911, tract of land in Rush Twp.; $1. John Haine's heirs to Kline S. Haines, July 1, 1911, tract of land in Liberty Twp.; $650.

Mary G. Saul to John M. Bullock, June 29, 1911, tract of land in Bellefonte; $3000. Ellen H. Gephart to Wallace H. Gephart, July 3, 1911, tract of land in Bellefonte; $3250.

Alice R. Inhoof et bar to Gertrude Fetzer, June 26, 1911, tract of land in Boggs Twp.; $200. A Sustaining Diet.

These are the enervating days, when, as somebody has said, men drop by the sunstroke as if the Day of Fire had dawned. They are fraught with danger to people whose systems are poorly sustained; and this leads us to say, in the interest of the less robust of our readers, that the full effect of Hood's Sarsaparilla is such as to suggest the propriety of calling this medicine something besides a blood purifier and tonic,—say, a sustaining diet. It makes it much easier to bear the heat, assures refreshing sleep, and will without any doubt avert much sickness at this time of year.

These are the enervating days, when, as somebody has said, men drop by the sunstroke as if the Day of Fire had dawned. They are fraught with danger to people whose systems are poorly sustained; and this leads us to say, in the interest of the less robust of our readers, that the full effect of Hood's Sarsaparilla is such as to suggest the propriety of calling this medicine something besides a blood purifier and tonic,—say, a sustaining diet. It makes it much easier to bear the heat, assures refreshing sleep, and will without any doubt avert much sickness at this time of year.

These are the enervating days, when, as somebody has said, men drop by the sunstroke as if the Day of Fire had dawned. They are fraught with danger to people whose systems are poorly sustained; and this leads us to say, in the interest of the less robust of our readers, that the full effect of Hood's Sarsaparilla is such as to suggest the propriety of calling this medicine something besides a blood purifier and tonic,—say, a sustaining diet. It makes it much easier to bear the heat, assures refreshing sleep, and will without any doubt avert much sickness at this time of year.

These are the enervating days, when, as somebody has said, men drop by the sunstroke as if the Day of Fire had dawned. They are fraught with danger to people whose systems are poorly sustained; and this leads us to say, in the interest of the less robust of our readers, that the full effect of Hood's Sarsaparilla is such as to suggest the propriety of calling this medicine something besides a blood purifier and tonic,—say, a sustaining diet. It makes it much easier to bear the heat, assures refreshing sleep, and will without any doubt avert much sickness at this time of year.

These are the enervating days, when, as somebody has said, men drop by the sunstroke as if the Day of Fire had dawned. They are fraught with danger to people whose systems are poorly sustained; and this leads us to say, in the interest of the less robust of our readers, that the full effect of Hood's Sarsaparilla is such as to suggest the propriety of calling this medicine something besides a blood purifier and tonic,—say, a sustaining diet. It makes it much easier to bear the heat, assures refreshing sleep, and will without any doubt avert much sickness at this time of year.

These are the enervating days, when, as somebody has said, men drop by the sunstroke as if the Day of Fire had dawned. They are fraught with danger to people whose systems are poorly sustained; and this leads us to say, in the interest of the less robust of our readers, that the full effect of Hood's Sarsaparilla is such as to suggest the propriety of calling this medicine something besides a blood purifier and tonic,—say, a sustaining diet. It makes it much easier to bear the heat, assures refreshing sleep, and will without any doubt avert much sickness at this time of year.

These are the enervating days, when, as somebody has said, men drop by the sunstroke as if the Day of Fire had dawned. They are fraught with danger to people whose systems are poorly sustained; and this leads us to say, in the interest of the less robust of our readers, that the full effect of Hood's Sarsaparilla is such as to suggest the propriety of calling this medicine something besides a blood purifier and tonic,—say, a sustaining diet. It makes it much easier to bear the heat, assures refreshing sleep, and will without any doubt avert much sickness at this time of year.

These are the enervating days, when, as somebody has said, men drop by the sunstroke as if the Day of Fire had dawned. They are fraught with danger to people whose systems are poorly sustained; and this leads us to say, in the interest of the less robust of our readers, that the full effect of Hood's Sarsaparilla is such as to suggest the propriety of calling this medicine something besides a blood purifier and tonic,—say, a sustaining diet. It makes it much easier to bear the heat, assures refreshing sleep, and will without any doubt avert much sickness at this time of year.

These are the enervating days, when, as somebody has said, men drop by the sunstroke as if the Day of Fire had dawned. They are fraught with danger to people whose systems are poorly sustained; and this leads us to say, in the interest of the less robust of our readers, that the full effect of Hood's Sarsaparilla is such as to suggest the propriety of calling this medicine something besides a blood purifier and tonic,—say, a sustaining diet. It makes it much easier to bear the heat, assures refreshing sleep, and will without any doubt avert much sickness at this time of year.

These are the enervating days, when, as somebody has said, men drop by the sunstroke as if the Day of Fire had dawned. They are fraught with danger to people whose systems are poorly sustained; and this leads us to say, in the interest of the less robust of our readers, that the full effect of Hood's Sarsaparilla is such as to suggest the propriety of calling this medicine something besides a blood purifier and tonic,—say, a sustaining diet. It makes it much easier to bear the heat, assures refreshing sleep, and will without any doubt avert much sickness at this time of year.

These are the enervating days, when, as somebody has said, men drop by the sunstroke as if the Day of Fire had dawned. They are fraught with danger to people whose systems are poorly sustained; and this leads us to say, in the interest of the less robust of our readers, that the full effect of Hood's Sarsaparilla is such as to suggest the propriety of calling this medicine something besides a blood purifier and tonic,—say, a sustaining diet. It makes it much easier to bear the heat, assures refreshing sleep, and will without any doubt avert much sickness at this time of year.

These are the enervating days, when, as somebody has said, men drop by the sunstroke as if the Day of Fire had dawned. They are fraught with danger to people whose systems are poorly sustained; and this leads us to say, in the interest of the less robust of our readers, that the full effect of Hood's Sarsaparilla is such as to suggest the propriety of calling this medicine something besides a blood purifier and tonic,—say, a sustaining diet. It makes it much easier to bear the heat, assures refreshing sleep, and will without any doubt avert much sickness at this time of year.

These are the enervating days, when, as somebody has said, men drop by the sunstroke as if the Day of Fire had dawned. They are fraught with danger to people whose systems are poorly sustained; and this leads us to say, in the interest of the less robust of our readers, that the full effect of Hood's Sarsaparilla is such as to suggest the propriety of calling this medicine something besides a blood purifier and tonic,—say, a sustaining diet. It makes it much easier to bear the heat, assures refreshing sleep, and will without any doubt avert much sickness at this time of year.

These are the enervating days, when, as somebody has said, men drop by the sunstroke as if the Day of Fire had dawned. They are fraught with danger to people whose systems are poorly sustained; and this leads us to say, in the interest of the less robust of our readers, that the full effect of Hood's Sarsaparilla is such as to suggest the propriety of calling this medicine something besides a blood purifier and tonic,—say, a sustaining diet. It makes it much easier to bear the heat, assures refreshing sleep, and will without any doubt avert much sickness at this time of year.

These are the enervating days, when, as somebody has said, men drop by the sunstroke as if the Day of Fire had dawned. They are fraught with danger to people whose systems are poorly sustained; and this leads us to say, in the interest of the less robust of our readers, that the full effect of Hood's Sarsaparilla is such as to suggest the propriety of calling this medicine something besides a blood purifier and tonic,—say, a sustaining diet. It makes it much easier to bear the heat, assures refreshing sleep, and will without any doubt avert much sickness at this time of year.

These are the enervating days, when, as somebody has said, men drop by the sunstroke as if the Day of Fire had dawned. They are fraught with danger to people whose systems are poorly sustained; and this leads us to say, in the interest of the less robust of our readers, that the full effect of Hood's Sarsaparilla is such as to suggest the propriety of calling this medicine something besides a blood purifier and tonic,—say, a sustaining diet. It makes it much easier to bear the heat, assures refreshing sleep, and will without any doubt avert much sickness at this time of year.

These are the enervating days, when, as somebody has said, men drop by the sunstroke as if the Day of Fire had dawned. They are fraught with danger to people whose systems are poorly sustained; and this leads us to say, in the interest of the less robust of our readers, that the full effect of Hood's Sarsaparilla is such as to suggest the propriety of calling this medicine something besides a blood purifier and tonic,—say, a sustaining diet. It makes it much easier to bear the heat, assures refreshing sleep, and will without any doubt avert much sickness at this time of year.

These are the enervating days, when, as somebody has said, men drop by the sunstroke as if the Day of Fire had dawned. They are fraught with danger to people whose systems are poorly sustained; and this leads us to say, in the interest of the less robust of our readers, that the full effect of Hood's Sarsaparilla is such as to suggest the propriety of calling this medicine something besides a blood purifier and tonic,—say, a sustaining diet. It makes it much easier to bear the heat, assures refreshing sleep, and will without any doubt avert much sickness at this time of year.

These are the enervating days, when, as somebody has said, men drop by the sunstroke as if the Day of Fire had dawned. They are fraught with danger to people whose systems are poorly sustained; and this leads us to say, in the interest of the less robust of our readers, that the full effect of Hood's Sarsaparilla is such as to suggest the propriety of calling this medicine something besides a blood purifier and tonic,—say, a sustaining diet. It makes it much easier to bear the heat, assures refreshing sleep, and will without any doubt avert much sickness at this time of year.

These are the enervating days, when, as somebody has said, men drop by the sunstroke as if the Day of Fire had dawned. They are fraught with danger to people whose systems are poorly sustained; and this leads us to say, in the interest of the less robust of our readers, that the full effect of Hood's Sarsaparilla is such as to suggest the propriety of calling this medicine something besides a blood purifier and tonic,—say, a sustaining diet. It makes it much easier to bear the heat, assures refreshing sleep, and will without any doubt avert much sickness at this time of year.

These are the enervating days, when, as somebody has said, men drop by the sunstroke as if the Day of Fire had dawned. They are fraught with danger to people whose systems are poorly sustained; and this leads us to say, in the interest of the less robust of our readers, that the full effect of Hood's Sarsaparilla is such as to suggest the propriety of calling this medicine something besides a blood purifier and tonic,—say, a sustaining diet. It makes it much easier to bear the heat, assures refreshing sleep, and will without any doubt avert much sickness at this time of year.

These are the enervating days, when, as somebody has said, men drop by the sunstroke as if the Day of Fire had dawned. They are fraught with danger to people whose systems are poorly sustained; and this leads us to say, in the interest of the less robust of our readers, that the full effect of Hood's Sarsaparilla is such as to suggest the propriety of calling this medicine something besides a blood purifier and tonic,—say, a sustaining diet. It makes it much easier to bear the heat, assures refreshing sleep, and will without any doubt avert much sickness at this time of year.

These are the enervating days, when, as somebody has said, men drop by the sunstroke as if the Day of Fire had dawned. They are fraught with danger to people whose systems are poorly sustained; and this leads us to say, in the interest of the less robust of our readers, that the full effect of Hood's Sarsaparilla is such as to suggest the propriety of calling this medicine something besides a blood purifier and tonic,—say, a sustaining diet. It makes it much easier to bear the heat, assures refreshing sleep, and will without any doubt avert much sickness at this time of year.

These are the enervating days, when, as somebody has said, men drop by the sunstroke as if the Day of Fire had dawned. They are fraught with danger to people whose systems are poorly sustained; and this leads us to say, in the interest of the less robust of our readers, that the full effect of Hood's Sarsaparilla is such as to suggest the propriety of calling this medicine something besides a blood purifier and tonic,—say, a sustaining diet. It makes it much easier to bear the heat, assures refreshing