W. H. Goss transacted business in Tyrone Monday and Tuesday.

D. G. Meek, of State College's business men, spent Tuesday in town.

Mrs. Mary Homan and daughter Mary visited friends at Baileyville over Sunday.

John E. Reish is home for a week after which he will return to College at Selinsgrove.

H. B. Meek, of State College, autored to the Harry Koch home at Fairbrook Sunday.

Mrs. Bigler Meek, of Altoona, is visiting her sister, Mrs. G. H. Woods, on Main street.

Arthur Peters and wife, of Oak Hall, spent Sunday among their many friends in town.

Theodore Richie, of Altoona, is taking a week's rest among friends in and about Pine Hall.

Grandmother Elizabeth Thomas, after an all summer visit at Jersey Shore, is home again.

After a ten days visit in New York and Philadelphia the Ward sisters returned home on Labor day.

W. K. Cori is loading and shipping two car loads of choice hand picked apples from his orchard.

Mrs. H. M. Krebs and three interesting little girls have been visiting friends in the Mountain city.

Mrs. Mary Smith and little Eliza are down from Altoona for a few weeks among friends in town.

Miss Anna Gammo, teacher of the Peru school, was a welcome visitor at her parental home this week.

Mrs. Sadie Gardner is visiting friends in Bellefonte before leaving for her winter home in New Jersey.

Wilson P. Ard spent last week among his old chums, before the winter school term opens at Selinsgrove.

J. B. Hala, of Pittsburg, joined his family here for a five days outing at the foot hills of old Tussey mountain.

Rev. J. S. Shultz went to Altoona yesterday to be present today at the funeral of his nephew, Charles Shultz.

Mrs. Howard Musser, on her way home from Ocean Grove, stopped off among her many Centre county friends last week.

Last week Prof. Clarence Weaver flitted to Sandy Ridge, where he was recently chosen as teacher of the High school.

A. B. Lee and H. N. Hoy, who want to serve the dear people the next few years, were looking up their prospects here last week.

Mrs. Maggie Gates, who has been visiting friends at Latrobe, came home Friday. Her son, Lawrence C. accompanied her home.

W. W. Westbrook and bride spent their honeymoon at the home of J. B. Rocky last week. Mrs. Westbrook taught the Oak Grove school last winter, but is engaged in better business now.

While riding his bicycle last Friday Clayton Cori collided with a buggy in going around a sharp curve, was knocked off and run over. He was cut and bruised but not seriously hurt.

Robert Rossman will quit the farm next spring when he and Charley Cronmeyer will embark in the bakery business at Patton. They will succeed Curt Cronmeyer, who will locate at State College next season.

J. C. Smith, superintendent of the Bellefonte planing mill, was here between trains on Labor day and was in a jolly mood. He was one of the youngest soldiers in the Civil war and served under Gen. Butler.

Last Friday while the Burwell boys were cleaning up some rubbish about the barn yard they uncovered a lot of small eggs, and upon examination each one contained a fully developed snake of the rattler species.

Mrs. Anna Campbell, of Ohio, who has been with her aged parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. McCracken, the past month, returned home Friday. Her daughter Edna, who had been in the New England States, joined her and accompanied her home.

Last Friday W. E. Johnson, farmer on the General Beaver farm, had quite a tussle with a big bull. He had the animal out to water and while in the act of tying him in his stall after taking him back to the barn the brute attacked him. Not being able to get away Mr. Johnson lay down in the manger and called for assistance. His son Chester went to his rescue and with a pitch fork held the animal at bay until his father got out of the way. At that he sustained a broken collar bone and several ribs, and was badly bruised up.

New Altitude Record.

Roland G. Garros, the French aviator, broke the world's altitude record in an aeroplane at Parame, France.

He ascended 4250 meters (13,943 feet).

The previous world's altitude record for aeroplanes was held by Lincoln Beachey, who on Aug. 20 last, at Chicago, reached a height of 11,578 feet. The flight was made during the International Aviation meet. He used a Curtiss biplane.

Alabama to Support Taft.

Alabama is the first state to elect delegates to the national Republican convention next year instructed for Taft.

Six delegates were chosen at a well attended state convention. The balance of the delegates will be chosen at district conventions to be held later. Pope M. Long was elected as state chairman.

Ate 58 Ears of Corn at Meal.

A world corn eating record is now claimed by Charles W. Glidden, of Lawrence, Mass., who at a Boston restaurant devoured fifty-eight ears in 1 hour and 55 minutes. Previously the record was held by one Dugan, of New York, who ate fifty-one ears at one sitting. Glidden is ready to meet all comers.

Arrest Witness in Lynching Probe.

Youth Accused of Perjury Before Grand Jury.

Parker Foss, seventeen years old, one of the witnesses summoned before the grand jury at West Chester, Pa., investigating the lynching of Zack Walker, in Coatesville, on Aug. 13, was arrested soon after he had given his testimony. The warrant charged him with perjury.

Foss is a teststamper in the Worth mill. He was arrested by Andrew Wright, a special policeman of the Philadelphia & Reading railway.

He was admitted to bail before Justice of the Peace Paxson. The sum was fixed at $300. The specific charge on the perjury warrant is "swearing falsely before the grand jury."

Richard D. Gibboney, a member of the Coatesville council, was summoned before the probers, but was examined for a short space of time only. Leon Lipkin, David Wright and W. L. W. Jones were other witnesses called.

Foss had been called before the grand jury. Oliver Crompton, colored, employed in the same mill as Foss, was called into the jury room, and while he was there Foss was again summoned. The boy was sent outside and recalled no less than three times.

Finally the district attorney came out into the corridor and beckoning to Foss asked him his full name. "Parker Foss" was the answer. Gawthrop then called Wright and despatched him to a magistrate's office for a warrant. While Foss sat in the corridor awaiting the officer's return he was visibly worried.

"I don't know whether they have gotten a warrant for me or not," he said. "They told me inside that I had told Crompton how the lynching occurred, and Crompton also said I had. I did tell Crompton about it, but it was simply what somebody else had told me. I got to the scene of the lynching after Walker was dead."

"I didn't tell Crompton that somebody had told me first, however, and the grand jury evidently thought I was lying when I explained the circumstances."

Additional witnesses were called before the grand jury, among them being four women—the superintendent of the Coatesville hospital, a nurse, a cook at the hospital and a telephone operator.

The summoning of Miss Bessie Eby, of Parkersburg, the telephone operator, carries out the belief that the inquiry is drawing closer around Chief of Police Umstead. It is understood that Miss Eby was on duty at the Coatesville exchange upon the night of the lynching, and that she overheard a conversation between somebody at the hospital and Umstead, asking for police protection from the mob, which at that time surrounded the building.

For some time there have been vague rumors that a telephone operator had overheard a conversation of this sort, but it could not be placed as more than a rumor. The arrival of Miss Eby would tend to establish the report as a fact. In no other way could a telephone operator on duty when Walker was burned to death be acquainted with any facts of value to the probers.

Miss Eby, with Miss Townsend, the superintendent of the hospital; Miss McMennamin, a nurse, and Mrs. Sheridan, at that time a cook in the hospital employ, arrived from Coatesville on a trolley car and at once went to the court house, where they awaited the board of inquiry.

Whether Miss Townsend, the first witness, could give the grand jury any names of those in the mob is not known, but her examination consumed fully a half hour.

Following Miss Townsend came Miss McMennamin. She is one of the nurses who had charge of the ward in which the self-wounded colored man was placed after his arrest.

The shortest life is long enough if it lead to a better, and the longest life is too short if it do not—Colton.

Bellefonte Academy

The Bellefonte Academy will open its fall session on Wednesday, September 13th, at 2 p. m. There will be a large attendance of pupils. The prospects are very bright, not only for continued great triumphs in scholarship, but in athletics as well.

Last June thirty-five students completed their preparation for college—a brilliant record indeed. Even greater achievements in scholarship are promised for the coming year. The rates for day pupils in the Intermediate and Academic departments are only $52.00 per year, payable quarterly. The rates for the Primary department are only $42.00 per year, payable quarterly. Two or three familiar faces will be missed in the faculty this year, but very strong men have been secured to take their places.

The faculty will assume charge as follows:

- Rev. James P. Hughes, A. M. Emeritus Principal, (Princeton University.) Mathematics.
 - James R. Hughes A. M. Headmaster, (Princeton University.) Latin, Greek and Oratory.
 - Arthur H. Sloop, A. M. Assistant Headmaster, (Dickinson College and University of Michigan.) Physics, Chemistry and Higher Mathematics.

Fertilizers.

Lime and Other Fertilizers.

The regular application of a high grade LIME on land, is as important as a fertilizer as that made from animal matter, and the most convenient way of applying lime to land is in the form of HYDRATED LIME, which can be sown through any fertilizer drill, like any other fertilizer.

We have HYDRATED LIME, which is a prepared lime, put up in 40 lb. paper sacks. We also have all other kinds and grades of Fertilizers. Our prices the lowest, and quality the best.
