An Inconvenient Piano.

Leopold de Meyer of Dresden, a brilliant and popular pianist of his day. was once summoned to play before the sultan of Constantinople. Going thither, he borrowed a grand piano from one of the Austrian secretaries of legation and had it set up in a large 1 ception room at the palace. There he awaited the coming of the sultan, but when that intelligent monarch entered the room he started back in alarm and demanded of his attendants what that monster was standing there on three legs. Explanations followed, but were in vain. The legs had to be taken off and the body of the instrument laid flat on the floor, and Leopold de Meyer, squatting cross legged on a mat, went through his program as best he could in that awkward attitude and without pedals. But the commander of the faithful was delighted, and when the last piece was played gave the artist over $5.000 as backsheesh.

An Achievement.

"I don't see why you should be so proud of winning that case," said the intimate friend. "You were plainly in. the wrong."

"You don't understand these things at all," answered the lawyer. "That's the very thing that makes me so proud."-Exchange.

Faith and Works.

Faith without works is like a bird without wings, who, though she may hop with her companions here on earth. yet, if she live till the world's end, she will never fly to heaven .-- Owen Feltham clesiastical circles, a toy watch-just a gentle reminder of the length of his sermons. The mother's early days had been spent on a farm. Occasionally she had been known to grow homesick for a familiar sight of something re sembling farm life, and she had recently purchased a few chickens, which she housed in the extreme end of the back yard. much to the disgust of the daughter of the house. To her was given a toy rooster with a real "crow." The son-in-law received a dime bank. to indicate that his responsibilities and increased, and the other and younger brother rose colored glasses, to remind him of his visionary ideas. To the single sister who had been "out" several seasons a ring with a solitairc stone of real glass was given. After these had been distributed the handsome and real gifts of the day were exchanged, and it was a jolly, happy crowd which filed into the dining room to enjoy the feast which had been in course of preparation During the following year the father departed this life. followed within a short space of time by the married son. The surviving members have the memory of that delightful Christman when they were all together.

On Christmas Morn.

They fared across the lonely plains, They dared the desert way. Above them moved the starry trains That rest not night or day. One star from out the splendor shone A rift of heaven's own light. In fearless faith they followed on. Their eager faces bright.

Three kings were they of great renown. And from the east afar Until it stood o'er Bethlehem town They journeyed by the star It stood above a cattle shed. And there its light grew din: To heaven's own Child the star had led Its glory paled for him.

Immanuel! A little Child That very day newborn. They knelt before the undefiled That earliest Christmas morn Each head was bent to give him praise Their incense, gold and myrrh They offered him in glad amaze h humble worship

What gifts have we for Christ today? We, too, have seen the star, And we have found the happy way To Bethlehem afar. Our gold, our myrrh, our incense sweet. Shall we not hither bring? Ah, let us haste to kiss his feet. The little Christ, our King! -Margaret E. Sangster.

Salutation. O night, O star, O land afar. In sweet surprise of glory Let shepherd train and angel strain Sing new your Christmas story

O dawn, O gift, O heaven arift, O Mary, mystic mother Of newborn Christ, keep ye my tryst With every human broth

O door flung wide, O full floodtide Of light and kindness meeting. Unto my friend this day outsend A joyous Christmas greeting! -J. B. E. in Lippincete's.
