Tried to Poison His Family.

A suicide pact in Terre Haute, Ind., contrived by the father and by which he intended to wipe out a family consisting of father, mother and three children, was said by Gertrude Mc-Vey, aged twenty, to explain the death of William E. McVey, Mrs. McVey and their five-months-old child.

The bodies of the three were found in a two-room shack by neighbors who were attracted by the frantic screams of Gertrude, the daughter of the dead couple.

The girl said her father had poured the poison from a bottle and deliberately gave the child and her mother the poison and then swallowed what was left in the vial.

Boy Frozen and Crazed.

With both feet and hands frozen, half starved and semi-insane from his hardships, James Fry, a seventeenyear-old boy, was found in a freight car in Cincinnati, O.

He had been locked in the car last Tuesday at Peru, Ind., by practical jokers. When the patrolman who found him tried to feed him a roll Fry endeavored to swallow it whole, and it was only with the combined effort of four men that he could be held long enough to allow nourishment to be given him. He was taken to the City hospital, and the physicians there hold out little hope for his recovery.
