BIBLE SCHOOL MEMORIAL SERVICES.

The Birthdays of Lincoln and Washington were appropriately observed by our three suburban Bible schools last Sunday afternoon. The damp, drizzly weather had no apparent effect to diminish the attendance. About all had a neat little flag on the left lapel. The singing of patriotic songs added inspiration to the occasion. The Nittany furnace school had an attendance of eighty-one and all greatly enjoyed Prof. James R. Hughes' timely address. At Pleasant View there were seventy-six present, addressed by Missioner Crittenden, who expressed himself greatly delighted with the good management and deportment of the school.

A good punctual attendance, as usual, in the Olive Branch chapel. All young and old, thoroughly appreciated Dr. Weston's interesting address. Evidently these Bible schools are putting forth "leaves for the healing" of the little children and some older ones; best of all, bearing fruit, precious and enduring, for the Master's ingathering.

The subjects which will be treated by Dr. George E. Hawes, D. D., at the Presbyterian church are as follows: Morning: "Religion a thing for this world" Evening: "The soul's anchor."

THE NOONAN CASE SETTLED.

The case of Mrs. James Noonan against the Borough of Bellefonte for injuries sustained when she fell into an unguarded hole at the corner of Bishop and Allegheny streets in November 1910 was settled on Wednesday evening. The amount finally agreed upon was $500. Of this the Bellefonte Electric Co. will pay one-third because it had been a party to the negligence that left the hole open and unguarded.

PINE GROVE MENTION.

Harold E., son of L. C. Sunday, is seriously ill. Mrs. Harris Bloom is visiting her many friends at Centre Hall.
The late copious showers replenished the streams and cisterns.
Prof. E. C. Musser, of Bellefonte, was an over Sunday visitor on the Branch.
Merchant N. T. Krebs is locomoting on crutches, having cut his leg with an ax.
Andy J. Tate went to Jersey Shore Monday, to engage in the furniture business.
Mr. and Mrs. Pierce Gray spent Tuesday at the N. C. Neidigh home at White Hall.
Mrs. Calvin Bailey was an over Sunday visitor with her mother, at State College.
G. W. McWilliams is arranging to build a large straw shed to his barn next season.
Mark Fry with his friend, Hamill Glenn, were Bellefonte visitors Saturday, eight seeing.
Elmer E. Royer was a sick man last Saturday night, with an attack of acute indigestion.
Wilson P. Ard, of the Susquehanna University, was here to attend the High school dance.
Ann Sunday and May Homan spent the Sabbath at the J. C. Sunday home, on Tadpole.
Prof. Clarence Weaver, of Sandy Ridge, spent several days in town greeting old school mates.
Charles Stamm is getting ready to build a new barn next spring, as soon as the weather permits.
Hon. J. T. McCormick is taking out timber for an addition to his barn. Alex Brown has the job.
Ray Albert is nursing the index finger on his left hand, which he got mashed between two logs on Friday.
The Reed sisters entertained Rev. Harnish at dinner on Sunday, while en route to his flock at Boolsburg.
E. B. Houser and wife and George Gingerich and wife spent Thursday at the W. E. Stover home, at Pine Hall.
Ardie Laird has been housed up with a bad arm which was almost torn from the shoulder by being caught in a belt.
Royer Hoover, formerly of this place, was a fire victim in Altoona last week when his home with nearly all the contents went in smoke.
Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Sunday are mourning the death of their baby girl, who died Monday night at their home at Houserville. Burial was made at Shiloh at 10 a. m. Monday.
Mrs. James Spangler and friend, Mrs. H. C. Rossmann, of Tusseyville, spent Tuesday at the James Kimbert home with aunt Lizzie, whose health is very much improved.
Last Saturday the H. A. Elder home on the Branch was the scene of a pleasant gathering of friends and neighbors, who were bidden to the reception of Ralph Walker and bride.
Rev. Horn, of Hublerburg, ably filled the pulpit in the Reformed church at State College last Sunday, morning and evening. He is an applicant for the place and from present indications will be given a call.
Mrs. George Bell, of Spruce Creek, came down Sunday to see her sister, Mrs. Paul Musser, who just returned from the Lock Haven hospital and is in a critical condition so that there is little or no hope of her recovery.
The entertainment given by the High school last Friday evening was a decided success, three hundred persons being present. The decorations were fine, representing the school and class colors. The program consisted of recitations, Miss Bertha Smith gave several songs. The "Yankee Peddler" was well performed and loudly applauded. Wm. Jennings Bryan Smith gave the address of welcome and Miss Mary Woods presided at the piano. Covers were laid for two hundred and sixty and all taken at the banquet feast. Every one present thoroughly enjoyed themselves and it was a 2 a. m. when most of the older folks took their leave and the younger set enjoyed a dance until the early hours.

Big Fire Sweeps Houston, Texas.

Scores of Residences, Stores and Industrial Plants Burned—Loss May Reach $10,000,000.

Impelled by a gale that swept in with one of the coldest "northerners" of the winter, flames swept through the eastern section of Houston, Tex. At least twenty-five blocks of the city have been destroyed. More than 250 residences and stores are in ruins. Several big manufacturing plants were burned. Thousands of persons are now homeless.

The losses are conservatively estimated at from $6,000,000 to $10,000,000. The greater part of this is confined to the lumber and cotton industries. Fifty thousand bales of cotton stored in warehouses and compresses were burned. This item alone means a loss of $2,000,000.

The fire started in a cottage near the Southern Pacific railroad tracks. Its origin has not been definitely established. A roaring wind picked up the flames and hurried them to neighboring cottages and boarding houses. In a flash these ignited, spouting great columns of sparks. Seizing those the forty-mile gale carried them two and three blocks. Within half an hour after the fire started a great area of small residences was in flames.

The fire spread rapidly to manufacturing plants that bordered on cottages and working houses where hundreds of workmen lived. It spread so rapidly that firemen for the time abandoned attempts to check the flames, devoting their energies to warning householders. Possible loss of life was thus averted.

At the big manufacturing plants and cotton compresses city firemen and volunteers had organized to fight the onrushing flames. Walls and roofs of the plants were water-soaked. This water was lipped up in the flash of an eye by the advance guard of sparks; however, and when the great columns of flames reached the factories they succumbed as easily and with less resistance than rows of cottages. An hour after the flames began their advance the firemen organized for a final stand at Buffalo Bayou, a small stream that divides the eastern part of the city from the main section. Every piece of fire fighting apparatus was stationed along the banks of this stream, which, if passed by the fire meant the destruction of the entire city. As the advancing columns of fire began to hiss toward the bayou banks hundreds of streams of water were hurled into them, checking little by little their progress.

At some of the narrower portions of the stream the flames leaped across but the more substantial buildings they reached did not afford the tinder-like fuel heretofore encountered. The fire was checked after seven hours. The thousands of persons who were driven from their homes in the cold of the north suffered slightly from exposure. Relief work was immediately set under way, however, and food and clothing provided for the refugees. Many persons were hurt during the fire, but so far as can be determined there were no serious casualties.

The burned area is at least a mile and a half long, and at points a quarter of a mile wide. It embraced long rows of cottages and solid streets of manufacturing plants. It was swept clean by the flames. Nothing was saved.

LEMONY.

Sunday brought rain and Monday was warm, slushy and muggy.
Mrs. Sallie Ruble, of Centre Hall, visited among friends in this vicinity this week.
Rev. G. Elmer Smith spent the latter part of last week visiting among his parishioners.
Prof. David O. Ertter visited some of the schools in College township last Thursday.
Milton Curves and family spent Sunday at the home of Charles Kustalober, of Reepsburg.
Mrs. Daniel Keller made a turn for the better on Monday, and it is hoped that she will soon be well again.
John Shifers, of Wisconsin, visited at the home of his brothers near town, the latter part of last week, and on Monday went to the eastern part of the State.
Mrs. Isaac Armstrong and her grand-daughter, Ethel Evey, had the misfortune to fall down stairs, last Thursday, both receiving slight bruises but neither one was seriously hurt.
Sunday, March 25, Rev. Samuel Snyder will preach his last sermon at this place for the conference year, and in the evening will hold a reading and song service, to which all are heartily invited.

There are many people sick in these parts at present with grip, and it is reported that two of Frank Whitehill's children have typhoid fever. Trust that all will soon be enjoying good health again.
Mrs. Linn S. Bortoff and children and Miss Elia Bortoff came up from Ashville, N. C., the latter part of last week. Mrs. Bortoff and children will stay with her mother, Mrs. Georgianna Dale, while Mr. Bortoff is in a sanatorium for his health.

Gallows Voids Life Insurance.

Execution on the gallows annuls the criminal's life insurance policies, according to the United States supreme court.
The court held that the four infant children of James S. McCue, once mayor of Charlottesville, Va., who was executed in 1905 for wife murder, were not entitled to $15,000 insurance from the Northwestern Mutual Life, of Milwaukee, Wis.

Leaps From Brooklyn Bridge.

Frank Law, the aeronaut, who a week ago leaped from the apex of the Statue of Liberty, aided by a parachute, leaped from the middle span of the Brooklyn bridge at New York. The wind carried the parachute about 3000 feet down the river before it struck the water. Law, apparently uninjured, was picked up by a tug.

The President and Brother Masons to Lay Wreath on Grave.

President Taft on Thursday went to Mount Vernon, where he placed a wreath upon the tomb of Washington. A committee of Masons from the Alexandria-Washington lodge accompanied him.

BOOKS, MAGAZINES, ETC.

PHILA. NORTH AMERICAN.—In order that North American readers may be kept in touch with the spring training of the Phillies and Athletics, the North American is sending its two strongest sporting writers with the teams, and their daily stories will record the preparation of the two teams, with special reference to the work of the youngsters.
With the Phillies will go James C. Isaminger, the North American's noted baseball humorist, who is famed for his "Spotlight" and "Tops from the Sporting Ticker," appearing on the Magazine page of the North American every Sunday, and the "Inside Stuff" column, which is a daily feature.
The Athletics will be accompanied by The North American's sporting editor, George M. Graham, well known throughout the State for his relation to the Tri-State, Susquehanna, New York State and other leagues.
If you want the best accounts of the preliminary contenders for National and American League honors, order The North American now. You are then sure to stick to it the whole season through.

NEWSPAPER TO BE ISSUED BY WOMEN.

February 29th will be a red letter day on the calendar of the Pittsburgh Sun. On that, a once-in-four-years-day, The Sun will turn over its publication to the Women's Equal Franchise Association of Pittsburgh.
This organization of active, progressive, militant women who are fighting for the ballot will have a perfectly organized newspaper staff. This force of women will have entire charge of that issue of The Sun. The public will be given an idea of what they think a modern daily newspaper should be. They will have a large number of articles with illustrations in addition to the regular news. They will be given full authority over the paper for one day, and you may be sure it will be a mighty interesting publication. There is bound to be a large demand for The Pittsburgh Sun on February 29. You can't afford to miss it. Put your order in early with your newsdealer. Remember, Feb. 29, February 29. Remember the cause that the women are urging upon the country.
Remember the paper, The Pittsburgh Sun.

BASEBALL STORIES FROM SOUTH.

James C. Isaminger with the Phillies, George M. Graham with the Athletics.
No other Philadelphia newspaper is able to offer such an excellent service from the training camps of the big league clubs that are going to try next season to give Philadelphia an entire world's series within its own borders.
Mr. Isaminger's "Spotlight" and "Inside Stuff" columns of the North American are famous features, and Mr. Graham is well known throughout the State because of his important services to amateur and professional and semi-professional baseball.
Their stories appear in The North American daily and Sunday. Order now.

How To Make Currant Bread

Housewives who have heard about the wholesomeness of Currant Bread and know that it is as nourishing as it is "good to eat" will appreciate these two new recipes:

No. 1.—Scald 2½ cups milk. When cool add three tablespoonful sugar, a little salt, and butter the size of an egg. Dissolve ½ compressed yeast cake in half cup warm water and add to milk. Stir in flour enough to make a batter and add one pound of currants washed and dried. Add flour. When raised knead again and place in pans for baking. Be sure to allow enough time for bread to raise in the pans.

No. 2.—Scald (do not boil) 1½ cups sweet milk and one cup water. When tepid add ½ cake compressed yeast, two tablespoonful of sugar and a teaspoonful of salt. Stir in enough whole-wheat flour to make a stiff batter. Allow to rise. When light add one egg, one tablespoonful of melted butter, ½ cup of cleaned and dried currants. Beat well, then add whole-wheat flour to make a soft dough. Work well, mould into two loaves, let rise until light, and bake thoroughly.

There is nothing so good as Currant Bread for growing children. It makes ideal school lunches. That no butter is needed is also worth considering. —57-7-4t
