State Convention Adopts Platform and Names Ticket. Penrose Not There.

The Roosevelt-Flinn program was swept through the Pennsylvania Republican state convention at the majestic theater in Harrisburg. The demoralized Penrose organization neither vigorously nor consistently opposed it. The convention adjourned after a six-hour session.

The Roosevelt-Flinn forces not only nominated their slate candidates for state treasurer and auditor general, but their four congressmen-at-large. Twelve Roosevelt delegates-at-large were also elected.

The following ticket was nominated:

State Treasurer.
Robert K. Young, Wellsboro.

Auditor General.
A. W. Powell, Pittsburgh.

Congressmen-at-Large.
Fred E. Lewis, Allentown.
Arthur R. Rupley, Carlisle.
John M. Morin, Pittsburgh.
Anderson H. Walters, Johnstown.

Delegates-at-Large.
Robert D. Towne, George Flinn, Pittsburgh; Ziba T. Moore, Philadelphia; E. H. Gilkyson, Phoenixville; W. R. Young, Pottsville; W. S. Tompkins, Luzerne county; W. H. Hackenbush, Sunbury; George R. Scull, Somerset; W. W. Kinkaid, Headville; Lex Mitchell, Punxsutawney; Fred W. Brown, Elk county; Reynolds Louchlin, Westmoreland; Owen Underwood, Beaver.

Alternates.
Virgil D. Acker, Harry B. Meyers, Lewistown; R. A. Orblison, Huntingdon; Fred S. Drake, Philadelphia; B. F. Madore, P. E. Womelsdorf, C. O. McClain, Oscar J. Denny, W. L. McCullough, Thomas M. H. Hay, W. R. Schmucker.

Presidential Electors-at-Large.
William Wilhelm, William F. Remppis, Charles Van Scotter, J. P. McNamey, H. D. W. English, C. H. English.

Permanent Chairman.
Congressman Stephen G. Porter, of Pittsburgh.

Chairman State Committee.
Henry G. Wasson, of Pittsburgh.

The Republican organization delegates, outnumbered two to one and lacking the leadership of Senator Penrose, who remained away from the convention, offered only perfunctory resistance to Flinn and the new-found allies of the Pittsburgh political contractor.

Not one plank in the Roosevelt-Flinn platform was disturbed by the organization. The platform, with all its so-called Roosevelt political "heresies" was adopted by the convention just as it came from the hands of Flinn and his associates.

The injection of the woman suffrage question into the convention also helped to enliven a convention that was at many points "dragged" and was dull.

The convention side-stepped the issue by adopting a resolution embodying the hope that the next legislature would give the suffragists' demands "serious consideration." The convention made amends for its at least partial failure to champion women's right to the ballot by giving Miss Mary Bakewell, of Pittsburgh, who is president of the Equal Franchise Federation of Western Pennsylvania, a more than respectful hearing.

Miss Bakewell was escorted to the stage by Frank B. McClain, former speaker of the house of representatives. Her address which was snappy and witty was generously applauded.

Penrose Stays Away.

Senator Penrose, deposed leader of the "state organization," did not occupy the seat reserved for him when the convention met. He remained in his room at the hotel.

State Chairman Walton called the convention to order. After the tedious roll call had been completed Congressman Stephen C. Porter, of Pittsburgh, was elected temporary chairman. The convention was put into good humor when Chairman Walton appointed Senator McNichol as one of the committee of two to escort the temporary chairman to the platform.

A resolution presented by Flinn, that Henry G. Wasson, of Pittsburgh, be named state chairman and A. Nevin Dietrich, Franklin county, secretary of the state committee, was referred to the resolutions committee; as was also a resolution favoring woman's suffrage.

A resolution putting the convention on record as favoring a woman's suffrage amendment in the state constitution was negatively reported and in its place the following adopted:

"Whereas, this convention deems it inexpedient at this time to commit the Republican party of Pennsylvania to an endorsement of woman suffrage, yet we must recognize the growing general sentiment in its favor; therefore, be it

"Resolved, That we request the next legislature to give this great question of woman suffrage careful consideration, with the view of submitting the proposition to a referendum vote when a reasonable public sentiment demands it."

"Lifer" Proves He is Honest.

There is one honest man among the "lifers" who are serving time in the Marquette, Mich., prison. At least Mrs. A. J. Straus, of Cincinnati, believes so. Neil Sinclair, of Chippewa county, is the prisoner. After Mrs. Straus visited the prison she missed two diamond rings, which she valued at $1000. Sinclair found the jewels in the prison yard and they were at once returned to the owner.

Duel With Shotguns Fatal.

One man is dead and another is in a dying condition in a Philadelphia hospital, following a duel with shotguns, caused, it is thought, by the infatuation of both men over the same girl. John Larkins, twenty-one years old, and Frank Roddy, thirty years old, met in a field at Martin's Village, a suburb, and fired at each other at a distance of fifty yards.

Larkins fell at the first volley mortally wounded, but he crawled to his knees and fired before he lost consciousness, the charge of buckshot tearing a hole in his rival's jaw.

For half an hour the two men lay in the field, nearby residents fearing to approach them. Larkins died after being taken to a hospital. Roddy, it is thought, cannot live.

The two men had some words about a girl engaged in a fist fight. The result was unsatisfactory and they agreed to fight it out with shotguns. Accompanied by two friends they took their guns to a field, measured off fifty paces and began firing. Roddy's first shot tore a terrible hole in Larkins' abdomen, and only by a painful exertion was the latter able to get to his knees and fire the shot that laid Roddy low.

The seconds disappeared after the first shot. The police have not yet found out who they were, nor have they been able to locate the girl over whom the fight is said to occurred. Both men were popular in the village.

Jersey Banker Held as Embezzler.

Robert M. Petty, president of the Washington National bank, in Warren county, New Jersey, was placed under arrest by United States Marshal Snowden on a bench warrant following his indictment, and was held in the United States Court in $1,000 bail on a charge of embezzlement.

Petty is specifically accused of embezzlement of $30,295 of the funds of the bank. The charge is made that he obtained this money by virtue of his position as president of the bank, and applied it to his own uses.

The comptroller of the currency at Washington, became suspicious of the bank when he went over the official report of the institution. He made an investigation and then ordered the bank closed. A further investigation resulted in the indictment of Petty.
