The Grange festival on the evening of Memorial day was an immense affair. The hall was crowded from its opening until midnight, and everything so conveniently arranged that notwithstanding the throng there was little or no confusion. The managers had provided large quantities of ice cream, cake, fruits, etc.; all of which was entirely disposed of and the demand was for more. The festival was a success, finan cially and otherwise

Memorial day was duly observed here. Flags and the Natioal colors were displayed everywhere. The postoffice was particularly attractive with flags and bunting, all very artistically arranged. All places of business with one or two exceptions, were closed from noon until 7.30 o'clock. The parade, consisting of a large number of boys and girls carrying flags, preceded by the Coburn band, was quite a pretty sight. Arriving at the cemetery they executed the flag drill in good style, after which they assisted the few old veterans we still have with us, in decorating the graves of their deceased comrades. That ceremony over the vast throng entered and soon filled the Presbyterian church to hear the singing and address to be delivered by Dr. Schmidt, of Bellefonte. The day was clear and cool and our town was thronged with people from the country.

-Robert F. Hunter was up Spring creek on Tuesday evening and landed a brook trout wheih measured sixteen inches and weighed two and a quarter pounds. A few evenings prior to that he caught a fifteen-inch trout at the same place and both fish were caught on a fly that has a marked resemblance to a yellow jacket. Such being the case it might be a good idea for fishermen to hunt up a swarm of the real article and try their luck with them. We have no doubt the little insects would at least keep them busy. One of the largest trout caught hereabouts this season was taken from Spring creek, just below the falls on Tuesday, by Henry Montgomery, son of R. B. Montgomery. Many Others Injured When Women Attack Railroad Laborers.

At least six persons were shot and many others wounded by missiles in a street battle in Newark, N. J., between 150 striking laborers and the police.

Five strikers, a policeman and a citizen are at the City hospital, most of them suffering from gunshot wounds.

A group of Italian woemn, armed with knives and stones, attacked a gang of laborers at work on the Lackawanna railroad and continued the fight with policemen who came to the laborers' rescue. One of the women was arrested.

The policeman while taking her to the station house encountered a body of marching strikers. They set upon him, released his prisoner, knocked him down and were pelting him with stones when a passerby came to his assistance.

The policeman emptied his pistol into the crowd, which returned the fire. At this moment he was reinforced by a squad of reserves, and the strikers, after bombarding them with stones, fied, leaving five of their number lying in the street. During the fight a citizen was shot in the shoul der. Many arrests were made.
