Chairman Root called the third days session of the Republican national convention to order in Chicago. The first business is the report of the cre dentials committee or contested seats The Taft forces won the initial vic tory in the Republican national convention at Chicago by electing Senator Elihu Root, of New York, temporary chairman over Francis G. McGovern of Wisconsin, after a tumultuous ses sion, in which the Roosevelt forces lost every point they attempted tc make, preceding the first test vote of strength.

The vote stood Root 558, McGovern 502, with thriteen votes scattering, a on the table, by a vote of 564 to 510. few absentees and two delegates-Root and McGovern-not voting.

Prior to the election of Senator Root, Governor Hadley, of Missouri, the Roosevelt floor leader, attempted to have a substitute roll of Roosevelt delegates seated in the place of the contested Taft delegates, but Chair man Rosewater ruled the motion out of order, and after a short argument the election of Senator Root was carried.

The vote, called by individual delegates, bore out the prediction of the Taft men, who declared that Senator Root would win, and also showed that there had been few if any desertions from the Taft ranks. The LaFollette men divided their vote, thirteen going to McGovern, their home governor, and the others were cast for Walter L. Houser, manager of the LaFollette campaign; Frank Lauder, of North Dakota, and Senator Gronna, of North Dakota.

During the arguments on the motion of Governor Hadley there were tu-t multuous scenes, the Taft delegates point for their side, while the Roosevelt forces were equally noisy when the argument was to their advantage At one point in the argument Senator Bradley, of Kentucky, answered an interrogator with the word "liar," repeated three times.

Francis J. Heney, of California, a staunch Roosevelt supporter, also was on his feet frequently, attacking the seating of the contested Taft delegates, and the action of the national | yelled through a megaphone: convention, and was cheered and jeered intermittently.

Governor Johnson, of California, another Reosevelt leader, announced that he would cast the solid vote of the California delegation for Roose velt, but his protests were unavailing.

Chairman Rosewater rapped for order several times during the arguments, and at one time threatened to have all the noisemakers ejected from the hall if quiet were not restored, and in this he was successful, for the delegates were less vociferous in their cheers and yells thereafter.

Following his election, Temporary Chairman Root was escorted to the platform and in an address of welcome thanked the delegates and predicted a Republican victory at the fall election. During his address Chairman Root was interrupted with jeers, started and led by the Pennsylvania delegation, who were joined later by other Roosevelt adherents.

Then followed the second motion of Governor Hadley to have the substitute roll call for the Roosevelt delegates to take the place of the contested Taft delegates.

Policemen at every corner, at every door and in every aisle were the distinguishing feature of the scene at the Coliseum in the early hours before the doors were opened to the ticket

The nervous tension due to general expectation of tumultuous scenes "from the drop of the hat" at the opening of the convention was apparent on all sides. The police were as nervous as anybody else. It was difficult even for persons with proper tickets, including newspaper men, to get into the hall.

Assistant sergeants-at-arms, door. kepers, ushers and other subordinate officials were so keenly alive to the possibilities that their hands trembled as they took tickets, and the ushers showed persons to their seats with furtive glances about them, as if there were something explosive just under their feet.

No kind of eloquence, no argument. no plausible story of imperative business on that side of the street was of any avail. Every policeman had to and Governor Deneen, of Illinois, a Roosevelt follower, offered the amendment that no contested delegate be allowed to vote.

The motion to table, by Mr. Watson came next, and then the vote by states, loudly cheering at each mention of a showing the Taft victory and gain over Tuesday. Preceding the vote there were three hours' debate and almost an hour of demonstration.

The cheering took the form of an ovation to Governor Hadley and added his name to the list of dark horse candidates for the nomination for the presidency. The demonstration was started by W. H. Coleman, a Roosevelt delegate from western Pennsylvania. who had leaped upon the platform and

"Three cheers for Hadley, the next president of the United States."

Then followed the demonstration, led by the Roosevelt delegates, who were aided by a few of the Taft men.

Before the official announcement o. the tabling of the Deneen amendment was made upon a point of order of Governor Hadley, Chairman Root ruled that while a contested delegate could not vote upon his own right to a seat, he could vote on other identical cases. Otherwise, Chairman Root said, a mi nority could control the convention by bringing a sufficient number of con-

The ruling was greeted with applause by the Taft forces and the convention adjourned.

Notwithstanding personal utterances on the part of Colonel Roosevelt, William Flinn and others in Colonel Roosevelt's camp, and notwithstanding the remarks to the contrary of a num ber of President Taft's chieftains Theer are well grounded reports, bas-ed on substantial evidences of efforts to bring about the nomination of a compromise or harmony candidate for president.

A number of President Taft's friends are to continue their efforts to nominate him on the first ballot. But according to the best figures the president has no more than a majority of ten over the necessary 540 votes to nominate him on the first ballot. In other words, the president's friends claim 550 votes. Others in the president's camp claim 562 votes. Colonel Roosevelt has but 470 votes. Senator LaFollette has 36, the votes of Wisconsin and North Dakota, and Senator Cummins has 10 from the state of Director McKinley, of the Taft bureau, issued a statement, saying, among other things:

"President Taft will be renominated by the Republican national convention, now in session in Chicago. Theodore Roosevelt has been eiminated as a candidate before the convention. The two test votes forced by his eaders have demonstrated that he cannot be nominated.'

The debate was intensely bitter, frequently interrupted by hoots and court.

Seward, and Andrew, and Morton, and Grant, and Hayes, and Garfield, and Arthur, and Harrison, and Blaine, and Hoar, and McKinley.'

"We claim that we are entitled to a popular vote of confidence at the coming election because we have demonstrated that we are the party of affirmative, constructive policies for the betterment and progress of our country in all the fields upon which the activity and influence of govern ment can rightly enter.

"We claim it because we have shown ourselves a party of honest, efficient and economical administra tion, in which public moneys are fait's fully applied, appointments are made on grounds of merit, efficient service is rigorously exacted, graft is reduced to a minimum, derelictions from offi cial duty are sternly punished and a Progressive maintained.

"We challenge the judgment of the American people on the policies of Mc Kinley and Roosevelt and Taft. The Republican party stands now, as Mc Kinley stood, for a protective tariff. while the Democratic party stands QUALITY GOODS against the principles of protection and for a tariff for revenue only. We stand not for the abuses of the tariff. but for the beneficent uses. No tariff can be devised so moderate, so reasonable. that it will not be rejected by the Dem ocratic party, provided its duties be adjusted with reference to labor cost so as to protect American products against being driven out of the market by foreign underselling made possible through the lower rate of wages in other countries.

"The American foreign merchant service has been driven off the face of the waters because with American sailors' wages and the American standard of living it could not compete with foreign shipping. The Democratic party proposes to put American mills and factories and mines in the same position, and the American people have now to say whether they wish that to be done.

"I have said that we do not stand for the abuses of the tariff. The chief cause of abuse has been that we have outgrown our old method of tarifi making. Our productive industries have become too vast and complicated, our commercial relations too extensive. for any committee of congress of itself to get at the facts to which the principle of protection may be prop erly applied."

Mr. Root then praised the tariff board and declared that now that the house is Democratic the tariff commission is dead. He pointed out the country's need of currency reform and defended the Republican party and President Taft's administration in the prosecution of the trusts. He declared the gove-nment had done its duty to the wage earners of the country by passing an employers' liability act that
