The Pennsylvania Democrats say, give us any candidate for President but Bryan. We are tired and sick of him.

The high speed that the autos are driven up and down our main road is outrageous. There will be an accident one of these days just from this folly and recklessness.

The Republicans in this neighborhood, and about everywhere else, are highly pleased with the nomination of Taft, and delighted at the defeat of the third-term. This, however, is only an illustration of vaulting ambition overleaping itself.

The interior of the church was brilliantly illuminated and the platform for the speakers was artistically decorated with a profusion of flowers and plants, presenting quite a fairy scene. The program was quite lengthy, and the exercises were of a beautiful and diversified character. All the children did remarkably well. Some of the recitations and dialogues were decidedly well executed, the speakers evidently having been carefully trained by skillful teachers. The music and singing was also of a high order of excellence. The entertainment was largely attended, the church being crowded to its utmost capacity.

IT LOOKS LIKE WILSON FOR PRESIDENT

Bryan Wins Important Victory.

UNIT RULE DEFEATED

Convention Votes 555 I-2 to 495 I-2 Against It.

GOV. WILSON IS GAINING

Clark in Opposing Bryan May Lose Delegates.

The Democratic national convention was called to order in Baltimore, Md., by Temporary Chairman Alton B. Parker, of New York.

The committee of credentials will report and the platform may be received from the committee on resolutions.

Mr. Parker in his address showed the friendly feeling of the temporary presiding officer when he complimented Mr. Bryan, asked the indulgence of the convention for his late adversary and urged the convention to honor Mr. Bryan with the chairmanship of the committee on resolutions.

William Jennings Bryan met defeat in the convention in the contest over the temporary chairmanship. Bryan pitted himself against former Judge Parker for the chairmanship, and after a lively skirmish the roll was ordered called.

The vote on the chairmanship was as follows: Parker, 579; Bryan, 510; O'Gorman, 3; Kern, 1; not voting, 1.

After Bryan had made a speech nominating Senator Kern, of Indiana, and attacking Alton B. Parker, Kern took the floor. He made a plea for harmony, asked Parker to join him in withdrawing from the contest for temporary chairman and substituting any one of a list of several men.

After waiting in vain for a reply from Parker, Kern himself withdrew and nominated Bryan. Again Bryan took the platform. He accepted the nomination and the line-up for the struggle was complete.

The struggle waved most bitter at times, particularly when Mr. Bryan exoriated Wall street and the "predatory interests," made satirical references to Parker's brand of Democracy, intimating at the time that Parker had been financed by corrupt funds from Wall street eight years ago, and that Wall street, after pledging support, had "thrown the Democratic party down."

Ollie James, of Kentucky, was elected permanent chairman at Wednesday evening's session.

The conservatives lost control of the convention. Governor Woodrow Wilson's friends received a great boost and Governor Harmon suffered a setback.

By a vote of 555 1/2 to 495 1/2 the convention rejected the report of the committee on rules, declared the unit rule imposed by the Ohio convention did not bind the nineteen Wilson delegates and they are free to vote for Governor Wilson.

Mr. James, an ardent friend of William J. Bryan, was named for permanent chairman by the committee on permanent organization and promptly elected by the convention.

William Jennings Bryan scored his first victory in the convention when the convention, without dissent, adopted the rules committee's report, which was in favor of the Commoner's plan to postpone presentation of the platform until after the nomination is made.

The report, much to the surprise of the convention, was adopted by a viva voce vote, without opposition.

A flood of oratory buried the delegates under rhetorical waves. The convention marked time through the entire day session, because the committee on credentials had not prepared its report.

Senator Gore, of Oklahoma, was led to the platform. He was warmly applauded. Gore was the only speaker who managed to hold the attention of the crowd from the first to last. He told them that the Republican party was a goner, that it was half alive and half dead and that only Democratic suicide could save it.

At the evening session immediately after the prayer by Rev. Mr. Crouse, Representative Covington, of Maryland, chairman of the committee on rules, was recognized to present the committee's report.

The report as read by Mr. Covington would place the nominations of president and vice president on the program of the convention immediately after the report of the committee on credentials and before the adoption of the platform.

"This is contrary to the usual custom," said Mr. Covington, "but while the committee on rules was in session three distinguished members of the present Democratic situation made it wise to have this convention proceed to the nomination before the adoption of the platform. In recognition of the distinguished members of the resolutions committee on resolutions, Senator Rayner, Governor Vandaman and another distinguished member of the resolutions committee came into our conference. They informed the rules committee that the resolutions committee, by a vote of 41 to 11, had determined that the exigencies of the resolutions committee, the committee on rules has embodied in the report of rules committee. I now move the adoption of that report."

The report, much to the surprise of the convention generally, was adopted by a viva voce vote, without opposition.

Mr. Covington then presented the majority supplemental report of the rules committee, making the unit rule a rule of the convention. As reported, the rule would make a unit instruction by a state convention binding on a delegation, if a majority of the delegation favored any particular candidate.

Representative Henry, of Texas, presented a minority report, which would except from the operations of this rule such delegations as are elected under state primary rules by congressional districts.

After a two-hour's debate a vote was ordered and the unit rule was defeated by a vote of 555 1/2 to 495 1/2.

By this action Wilson gains nineteen votes in Ohio.

The close of the second day of the Democratic national convention found Speaker Champ Clark losing strength, with Woodrow Wilson gaining and with United States Senator John W. Kern, of Indiana, and Mayor Gaynor, of New York, as possibilities for a compromise.

Speaker Clark's action in throwing his strength to Judge Parker for temporary chairman is the cause of the trouble and it may result in his undoing as a candidate. Rumblings were heard among many of the Clark delegates, and the men who are engineering the Clark boom were plainly on the anxious seat.

Notwithstanding the anxiety expressed by many of the speaker's friends, he will go into the convention when the balloting begins with many more votes than any other candidate. His supporters contend that he will have 512 votes on the first ballot, but more conservative estimates give him about 450.

The Woodrow Wilson men were elated over the turn affairs had taken within the last twenty-four hours and they were predicting that Governor Wilson, when the balloting begins, will have a sufficient number of votes to prevent the selection of a candidate who does not bear his approval.

Mitchell Palmer, of Pennsylvania, figures that Wilson will have 323 delegates, but it is figured that Wilson, in order to exercise this veto power, will have to have 365 delegates.

The New York leaders are still sticking to their plan to present Mayor Gaynor's name on the first ballot.

All of yesterday's sessions were taken up in completing the permanent organization until late last night when the various candidates were being placed in nomination as this paper goes to press.

The turn of the tide from Clark to Wilson was most noticeable yesterday, Thursday afternoon, and some of the wise ones were even going so far as to predict his nomination on the first ballot. That is not probable, however, unless there is a stampede to him. It may take balloting until Saturday before any one of the candidates secures the necessary two-thirds vote.

Votes to Impeach Judge Archbald.

The house judiciary committee has voted unanimously to report articles of impeachment against Judge Archbald, of the commerce court, who has been under investigation for alleged misbehavior in office in connection with a "culm bank" transaction with the Erie railroad.

The report will be made to the house during the week of July 1.

The Marlon Coal company's case against the Lackawanna railroad, which figured prominently in the Archbald impeachment hearings, was decided by the interstate commerce commission in favor of the coal company. W. P. Boland, the coal company's president, is the author of the impeachment charges against Judge Archbald.

The commission held that the rates charged by the Lackawanna for anthracite coal from Taylor, Pa., to tide-water at Hoboken, N. J., were unreasonable and too high and ordered reductions all along the line on rates for the various grades of anthracite.

At the Archbald hearings Boland made sensational charges that the Lackawanna was discriminating against his company.

Burns Herself to Death.

Saturating her clothing with coal oil at her home in Lewisburg, Pa., Mrs. Harry Dieffenderfer, aged thirty years, set fire to them and then ran screaming into the yard.

Members of a fire company next door to her home ran over and rolled her in blankets, but not before she was literally roasted alive. She was dead when carried into the house.

Temporary insanity is given as the cause of the terrible act. Four years ago her father, Brady Marsh, committed suicide by jumping into the Susquehanna river.

General Edward Stuyvesant Bragg, soldier, diplomat and once a national figure in politics, died at his home in Pond du Lac, Mich., aged eighty-five years. He had been in feeble health for some time.
