BOROUGH COUNCIL DOINGS.—Seven members were present at the regular meeting of borough council on Monday evening, the absentees being Brockerhoff and Yergler. A petition was presented from residents of east Curtin street setting forth the fact that F. W. Crider had put down a new pavement in front of his property on that thoroughfare and that the pavements along the S. D. Ray, H. R. Curtin estate and Gen. James A. Beaver properties were about eighteen inches above grade, which made an offset at each end which was dangerous to life and limb, and they asked council to take some action in the matter. A motion was passed instructing the secretary to notify the several property owners to bring their pavements down to grade.

The Special committee reported that a written notice had been served Homer Carr to vacate the Green mill property within thirty days.

The Finance committee reported a balance of $756.26 in the treasury on November first.

Under the head of old business the Street committee presented the request of the Bell Telephone company of Pennsylvania for permission to make a number of changes in their service pole lines. Blue prints of the proposed changes were presented and the committee reported favorably on the matter. On motion council authorized the changes requested.

At this point in the proceedings borough solicitor J. Thomas Mitchell was asked regarding the borough's rights in demanding the removal of the splash board from the dam of Gamble, Gheen & Co., in Spring creek. The solicitor stated that in his opinion the borough had the right to remove same after the owners had failed to comply with the notice to remove it themselves. Mr. Judge then made a motion that the borough engineer be instructed to remove the splash board. The motion was seconded by Mr. Daggett and carried, though one or two members of council refrained from voting. It might here be stated that the splash board was removed the same night.—Ed.

The Water committee reported that William Rine's request for an increase of 2 1/2 cents an hour in his pay had been granted.

The Finance committee asked for the renewal of a note for $5,000 for six months and one for $8,000 for four months, both at five per cent. The same were authorized.

Bills to the amount of $1,236.06 were approved after which council adjourned.

OPENING OF HUNTING SEASON.—The hard rain of last Friday morning did not deter the army of nimrods who went out to the woods for the opening of the hunting season, and while they all got wet a good many of them were successful in getting game of some kind. Owing to the bad weather it was hard for hunters to decide as to whether game is very plentiful or not, but the general verdict seems to be that it is about on a par with former years. Wild turkeys were found fairly plentiful in the mountainous regions of Bald Eagle valley, while some were killed on Nittany and Tussey mountains. There are some pheasants in the woods but the man who bagged two or three considered himself quite lucky. Squirrels appear to be more plentiful than usual, one hunter averring that he saw lots of them but refrained from shooting them because he was after a wild turkey. Rabbits were found to be quite plentiful and most every hunter who went after that kind of game came home with one or more cottontails. All in all game is about as plentiful this year as in former years but no more so.

Among the successful hunters were Earl Musser, of Pleasant Gap, who brought in a 22 1/2 pound turkey from off Nittany mountain, and a State College student got a 17 1/2 pound gobbler in the same section. Milan Walker got a fourteen pounder on Bald Eagle mountain and J. Linn Musser got a nice one on Tussey mountain. Five or more turkeys were killed in the neighborhood of Unionville, one at Julian and several in the neighborhood of Snow Shoe Intersection, while a few were killed down Bald Eagle valley. Milt Kern celebrated election day by going up Buffalo Run and coming home at nine o'clock with a nice turkey.

The home of Jacob Kast, up Buffalo Run, was entirely destroyed by fire last Thursday evening, with most of its contents. In attempting to save some money and other valuables from upstairs Mr. Kast was frightfully burned about the head and face and on his hands and arms. He was in town on election day but his head was swathed in bandages and his face looked as if he had been in the thick of a battle. He was very fortunate, however, in escaping with his life.

The election is now a thing of the past. The result will not give any man a living unless he works for it, but the scenic view give you just as good an evening's entertainment now as it did before the election. The battle of the ballots did not effect it in the least. Good pictures are shown every evening and the good attendance shows that the people appreciate manager Brown's efforts to make his moving picture show one of the best in the State.

REPORTED DEAD, NOW A DESERTER.—On September 19th John H. Raymond, of Buffalo, N. Y., stating that his son, Edward A. Raymond, a soldier in the regular army and stationed at Fort Niagara, had been killed in Rochester. It took several days for Mr. Raymond to secure information that the telegram was a hoax, but by whom it was sent or for what purpose could not be learned. It is now believed it was sent by young Raymond himself, as a blind to cover up his desertion from the army, for about the same time he disappeared from his command, the Twenty-ninth infantry.

When his desertion was discovered the War Department sent out a circular giving a complete description of Raymond with the customary offer of fifty dollars reward for his capture. On Saturday Raymond appeared in Lock Haven and the officers being apprised of the fact two of them went to the home of Mrs. Raymond's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elijah Meyers, about nine o'clock on Saturday night, and found Raymond at the home. He submitted to arrest without any protest and was taken to the Clinton county jail to await instructions from the War Department.

Raymond has served several enlistments in the regular army and while home in May, 1911, he was married to Miss Meyers, of Lock Haven. On the 26th of that month he re-enlisted in the Twenty-ninth infantry, which was then and has ever since been located at Fort Niagara, near Buffalo, N. Y. Continued separation from his wife is probably the reason that prompted the young man to desert. The punishment for the offense of desertion will be at the discretion of the court martial before which he is given a trial.

THE FORTUNE HUNTER.—The success of "The Fortune Hunter," Winchell Smith's comedy, which comes to Garman's, Thursday evening, November 14th, has been instantaneous and the indications are that it will continue to attract theatergoers who find enjoyment in the most healthful of all exercises—laughter, when excited by a play that is absolutely clean in theme and presentation. Fortune, that fickle jade, has been seen in divers ways; but seldom more amusingly than in Mr. Smith's comedy. The entertaining scheme is conceived in the comfortable bachelor quarters of a Wall Street broker and reaches its denouement under an umbrella sheltering from a summer shower a couple of young lovers in a country garden. The bitterness in life is suggested more than once in the spinning out of Matt Duncan's destiny, but the sweets of existence more than make up for any acid drop in his experience, while they promote gaiety for onlookers and tend to show that any honest and manly chap may get on in this world after repeated set-backs, if only he will steer his course by a right sense of conduct and believe that much of a man's happiness is to be found in daily toil.

STATE COLLEGE ANNUAL FRUIT SHOW.—The department of horticulture, in cooperation with the Penn State Crab Apple club (a student organization), will hold the annual fruit show Nov. 21, 22, 23, Plates of five specimens, boxes or barrels will be entered in competition for first prize ribbons. The State pays transportation charges on all plate exhibits and takes the fruit for class work afterward. An effort will be made to sell all box and barrel entries if requested, and after deducting transportation charges, the returns will be forwarded to the exhibitor. If no such request is made, the fruit will be used for class work. The college has invited the foremost outside competition. State growers must compete on the open market with such producers. The fruit should be sent to the department of horticulture, State College, early enough to reach them by Nov. 17.

STATE COLLEGE SCHOOL LOAN AGAIN DEFEATED.—At the election on Tuesday residents of State College again voted on the proposition of negotiating a loan of $30,000 for the purpose of erecting a new High school building, and for the third time the proposition was defeated by the vote of 130 for and 145 against the loan. From the above it is evident that the majority of the voters do not favor the loan, notwithstanding the fact that the school board is hard put to find proper accommodations and school facilities for the large number of pupils.

The Penn state football team scored another triumph on Saturday when they defeated the University of Pennsylvania eleven by the score of 14 to 0. Many State supporters expected a larger score but Penn had specially prepared for this game and the fact that she was unable to score was a great deal of satisfaction to Bill Hollenback's proteges. State will play her last game of the season on Beaver field tomorrow, when Villa Nova will be the opposing team. The team deserves the encouragement of a good crowd at this game.

In moving pictures one reflection of the camera is a little less than an inch in length. This would mean that there are not less than a dozen distinct camera impressions to the foot. In three reels, three thousand feet, there are thirty-six thousand of these miniature pictures, and this represents just one night's program at the Lyric. Open every night in the week and a change in program every evening. Five cents will admit you to see it all.

POWLEY.—John Powley, a well known farmer of Ferguson township, was found dead in bed at his home near Fairbrook on Monday morning. He had been in poor health for some time as the result of dropsy and heart trouble and the complication caused his death.

Deceased was born at Pennsylvania Furnace and was sixty-five years old last September. His young manhood days were spent as a furnaceman but after Pennsylvania furnace closed down he went to Altoona where he worked in the Pennsylvania railroad shops until about fifteen years ago when he returned to Centre county and bought the old Crane farm on Tadpole where he engaged in farming with his son Cyrus and where he had lived ever since. He was an industrious man, a good neighbor and friend and a loving husband and father.

Surviving him are his wife and five children, namely: Calvin, of Altoona; Cyrus, at home; Mrs. William Irvin, of Juniata; Mrs. McCormick, of Washington, Pa., and Miss Lizzie, of Pittsburgh. He also leaves four brothers and two sisters, Samuel and Joseph, of Altoona; David, of Guyer; Ira, of West Virginia; Mrs. Sadie Shugert, of Altoona, and Mrs. Caroline Messenger, of Maryland.

Rev. S. J. Pittinger officiated at the funeral which was held at ten o'clock on Wednesday morning, burial being made in the Graysville cemetery.

SHAFER.—Charles E. Shaffer, a native Centre county and head of the firm of Charles E. Shaffer & Sons, merchant tailors and importers, of Philadelphia, died in that city on Wednesday of last week. He was eighty years old and was born in Pennsylvania. He learned the tailoring trade when a young man and went into business at Boalsburg. Later he located at State College and carried on tailoring there until about twenty years ago when he moved to Philadelphia and continued in the same business. Though he was the head of the firm his health had been such for some time past that the business was managed by his sons, John and Frank. He also leaves two daughters, one of whom is an invalid. The remains were brought to Leont on the Lewisburg and Tyrone R. R. last Saturday morning and taken to Sinkin Creek Presbyterian church, of which he was a member for many years, where funeral services were held by Rev. W. K. Harnish, after which burial was made in the Branch cemetery.

BECK.—Martin L. Beck, a well known resident of Warriorsmark township, Huntingdon county, died very suddenly on Saturday afternoon of apoplexy. He was working in the barn when he fell over and expired instantly. He was a son of David and Hettie Beck and was born near Centre Line on April 24th, 1837. During the Civil war he served in Company B, Thirtieth regiment Pennsylvania cavalry. He followed farming all his life and was a good citizen in every way. When a young man he married Miss Mary E. Buck who survives with the following children: Mrs. W. A. Neff, Mrs. P. J. Cox, Mrs. B. F. Nearhoff, Miss Grace, Clarence and Miss Zada, all of Warriorsmark. He also leaves two brothers and two sisters, namely: Miles Beck, of Illinois; Lloyd, of Warriorsmark; Mrs. Spangole, of Philipsburg, and Mrs. Ellenberger, of Meringo. The funeral was held on Tuesday morning, burial being made in the Warriorsmark cemetery.

MCLAUGHLIN.—Charles A. McLaughlin, a well known resident of Boggs township, died at his home at Snow Shoe Intersection on Monday night of congestion of the bowels, after a brief illness. He was aged seventy-five years and was a veteran of the Civil war. For the past thirty years he had been employed by the late James L. Sommerville, at Winburne, twenty years of that time as a tanner and the past ten years as a checkweighman. He was a life-long Democrat and was a reader of the WATCHMAN most his life. His wife died eight years ago but surviving him are one son and four daughters. The funeral was held on Wednesday morning, burial being made in the Stover cemetery near Unionville.

The Bull Moose have all taken to the woods but notwithstanding that fact the Panther hunting club will leave on the early train over the Central Railroad of Pennsylvania next Wednesday morning, November 13th, for their two weeks deer hunt in the Alleghenies, out in the neighborhood of the Big Branch. At least eight men will go out for the opening of the season while several others will go out the week following. Other hunting parties throughout the county will go out next week in plenty of time for the opening on Friday and if there are any buck deer in the mountains they will doubtless get their share of them.

Centre county farmers are complaining about the scarcity of help. Very few, if any, have their corn all in and the trouble is in getting men to husk and handle it. Ferguson township farmers have united and purchased a corn husker and shredder as a solution of the difficulty, but the probabilities are that many a farmer in other sections of the county will get cold fingers before he has his crop all in.

The ladies of United Brethren church will hold an exchange for the sale of bread, rolls, pies, ice cream and cake, on Saturday evening, November 9th, 1912.

—Edward Rine, a son of the late Charles Rine, of this place, has been transferred from Greensburg to Tyrone as agent for the Adams Express company, to take the place of Robert S. Pierson, who was transferred to Annapolis, Md. Rine, who is a comparatively young man, began work for the Adams Express company as a driver in Bellefonte and because of his strict attention to business and his interest for the company he was given charge of an office inside of a year. Since then he has been transferred from one office to another until now he has been sent to Tyrone, which is considered a very good location by express agents generally.

—After having scored one touchdown and kicked the goal the Bellefonte Academy was awarded a forfeited game against the Penn State Freshmen, on Saturday afternoon by the score of 7 to 0. The forfeit came in the fourth quarter when the Academy attempted a forward pass and one of the State players caught the ball on a bounce and ran over the Academy's goal line. Referee John J. Bower would not allow the play on the grounds of an incomplete forward pass. The State men kicked and finally walked off the field, when the Academy was awarded the game on a forfeit.

—The first snow flurry of the season occurred last Saturday and although it melted as soon as it struck the ground there was plenty of snow in the air for a half hour or so. Since then it has been cold with heavy frosts every morning. Deer hunters are hoping the cold weather will continue and that there will be a fall of snow in the mountains by next Friday, the opening of the hunting season, but the men who foot the coal bills would prefer warmer weather.

—Members of the W. C. T. U. served a lunch at the Y. M. C. A., from ten until two o'clock Tuesday night, for the accommodation of all those who were abroad getting the election returns.

CHESTNUT TREE BLIGHT WORK IN CENTRE COUNTY.

Representatives of the Pennsylvania Chestnut Tree Blight Commission have been inspecting chestnut trees in various parts of Centre county, but recently the force of men has been increased by bringing in men from other counties in the western and far eastern parts of the State. In addition to those trained men, a number of local men have been hired by the day in each locality. These men have been hired for their knowledge of the woods in the locality where they work, and their efficiency in the work has been the sole requirement. Politics or other influences have nothing to do with this work, or the hiring of men, and the force includes men from all parties.

While most people are somewhat familiar with the Chestnut Tree Blight disease (diaporthe parasitica), a full explanation of it at this time will be appreciated by many, as it is the purpose of the employees of the Commission to inspect by December 15 the chestnut trees in all parts of the county, and have infected trees destroyed, so as to prevent further spread of the disease to trees not yet infected.

The chestnut tree blight is a fungus disease, and is not an insect or worm, as is erroneously supposed by some. Some of the trees which are killed by the blight are also attacked by worms or insects like any other tree, but in all infected areas most of the trees have no worms or insects at work on them to any serious extent. The worms or insects are not the disease but in many cases they carry the spores or germs of the fungus disease from one tree to another. On every tree infected with blight all or some of the bark is covered with small orange colored pustules about the size of a pin-head. These are the fruiting bodies of the disease and they discharge thousands of tiny spores or germs which are sticky and are carried to other trees by the wind, insects, birds, squirrels, etc. Disinfected specimens of blighted bark will shortly be displayed in each postoffice to acquaint the public with the characteristics of the disease.

The disease spreads very rapidly, one tree infecting many others in a short time. In one case in Elk county infection spread from one tree to 142 others in about 3 1/2 years. In a spot of infection recently located on Brush mountain near Rebersburg, the disease had spread from one clump which appears to have been killed about three years ago to about 150 trees near it. These are only two instances taken from among countless similar cases, and go to show how necessary it is for every owner of chestnut timber to wake up to the serious situation and get familiar with this disease which threatens to kill and destroy all the chestnut trees. It means dollars saved to every owner of chestnut timber to locate and destroy all infected trees immediately, so as to save other healthy chestnut trees not yet infected with the disease. In fact the law requires that all infected trees must be destroyed within twenty days from date of notice to the owner of such trees, and it repeats any other acts conflicting therewith.

It would seem that anyone would be glad to have their chestnut timber inspected, and to destroy all infected trees for the protection of his other healthy trees. But the law goes a bit farther and compels this destruction of infected trees, so that all chestnut trees on adjoining woodland will be protected from infection that might spread to these from infected trees belonging to parties who might be too short-sighted to see the necessity of destroying blighted trees for the benefit of their own and other trees. The law has been passed on by some of the most eminent lawyers in the State; it will hold and should be complied with.

In Centre county the infections in the western part are only isolated cases of a few trees each, often many miles apart. Such infections have been found near Phillipsburg, Snow Shoe, Unionville, Howard, Stormtown, Pine Grove Mills, Boalsburg, etc., and other small lots of infection will no doubt be found scattered throughout all parts of the county. In the far eastern part of this county the disease has become more prevalent, and it is fortunate that the infected trees are now being located and destroyed, as the disease has made considerable headway in that part of Centre county and if left to continue spreading it would soon destroy all the chestnut trees in that section and continue the spread of the disease westward.

Even in this section where the infection is the most serious in Centre county only a small percentage of the trees are infected up to this time, and the infections are usually found in groups of a few trees, and in some cases cover an acre or two, while in others there are only a dozen or more trees close together. In some cases of recent infection, only one tree is infected. Therefore it is a comparatively easy matter to check the disease now, by destroying the few trees infected.

The representatives of the Chestnut Tree Blight Commission will inspect chestnut trees in all parts of the county, blazing and tagging those infected with blight, explain to owners the method of destroying infected trees, and supervise the work. The work must be done properly so as to destroy all bark of infected trees. The trunk of the tree may be used if sufficiently large to be of value, the bark having been carefully peeled off, and any infected spots on the outer layers of wood having been cut out and burned.

This fungus disease was probably brought into this country from Japan and was first noticed near New York city, in 1905. It has since that time spread westward to this part of Pennsylvania. The oldest infections in this county appear to have killed the trees about four years ago. The disease attacks chestnut trees only, affecting trees of all sizes, killing small sprouts or saplings in one to six months, and large trees in less than two years from the time it started, depending on the size of tree.

On many places in the eastern part of Pennsylvania, where the disease has gained greater headway, there are many woodlots where the disease has infected 75 per cent. to 90 per cent. of the chestnut trees and there is hardly a single woodlot in that part of the State which has not a large number of infected trees. To prevent such a state of affairs in this part of the State will require the hearty co-operation of all timber owners and public spirited citizens with the work of the Commission. The work is non-partisan and everyone should help it along by their co-operation and influence.

—The large hay barn of George Downing, at Hannah Furnace, was entirely destroyed by fire on Saturday night. On the Monday previous a big barn at Dix was burned to the ground and in the general belief of the farmers up Bald Eagle valley that both barns were set on fire. Just what has prompted the incendiary acts, if such they are, is not known but there is considerable feeling over the matter and an investigation will likely be made, with dire punishment for the offender if caught.

PINE GROVE MENTION.

We have met the enemy and they are ours. The venerable James Kimport is suffering a stroke of paralysis.

A. W. Oliver, of Graysville, was a Glades visitor Monday afternoon.

Harry Sunday's thrasher is broken down at the G. Woods Miller farm.

Mrs. Fred Krumrine, of State College, was a visitor at the G. Mc. Fry home.

Arthur Cummings is all aglow over the arrival of a sweet little Miss at his home.

Mrs. Calvin Weiland has been visiting friends at Newton Hamilton the past week.

The Houch hunting crew came in with twenty-five bunnies for the first day's hunt.

Mrs. Arthur Miller and daughter, of Oak Hill, spent Tuesday at the Wm. J. Dale home.

Clem Dale, one of Bellefonte's legal lights, spent Sunday with friends on the Branch.

Mr. and Mrs. Orin Grove were welcome visitors at the John J. Tressler home the past week.

J. H. and E. A. Dick were home to vote. Horner continued his journey to Latrobe, on business.

N. T. Krebs is the richer by twenty dollars, the price he got from Dr. Robison for his beagle hound.

I. I. Markle, Howard Wright, Samuel Markle, Richard Markle and E. S. Tressler were home to vote for Wilson.

Ira Hess, one of Penn's trusted engineers, at Altoona, was here for the first day's sport and bagged a big gobbler.

James H. Ross and wife are spending several weeks down in Dixie land with their son-in-law, P. B. Meyers, near Kenbridge, Va.

Mrs. Annie Campbell, of Ohio, and Rev. J. C. McCracken, of Johnstown, are here on account of the illness of their father, H. W. McCracken.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wagner, of Warriorsmark, enjoyed an early Sunday morning drive and spent the day at Henry Houch's at Fairbrook.

Rev. James J. Glenn, wife and son Samuel, of Hunsdale, have been making their annual visit among their old Centre county friends, before the snow flakes fly.

J. H. Weber, who has been seriously ill the most of the summer, was a Boalsburg visitor last week, able to see after his extensive grain and implement business.

The Ladies Circle, of the Lutheran church, will hold the autumn bazaar in the I. O. O. F. hall, Friday and Saturday evening, November 15th and 16th. Oysters, ice cream and cake will be served.

Among the nimrods who brought down game the first days hunt were the four Holmes and their friend from Harrisburg, each bagged a turkey. Clyde Thomas one, A. B. Tenyer one, Wm. Gammon one, John Dreiblebs one, Blair Miller M. Cindfelter one, and the boy nimrods, Johnnie Moore, I. Robert Tressler one. But five bunnies came to town. Judge Dunlop and sons came in from old Tussey with twenty-three bunnies—Samuel M. Hess bagged the limit, six gray squirrels.

An English Author Writes:

"No shade, no shine, no fruit, no flowers, no leaves.—November!" Many Americans would add no freedom from catarrh, which is so aggravated during this month that it becomes constantly troublesome. There is abundant proof that catarrh is a constitutional disease. It is related to scrofula and consumption, being one of the wasting diseases. Hood's Sarsaparilla has shown that what is capable of eradicating scrofula, completely cures catarrh, and taken in time prevents consumption. We cannot see how any sufferer can put off taking this medicine, in view of the widely published record of its radical and permanent cures. It is undoubtedly America's Greatest Medicine for America's Greatest Disease—Catarrh.

The drains and losses, the pains and torments suffered by so many women are unnatural. They are against Nature and she is their uncompromising foe. Let a woman realize this and she must also realize that Nature is her friend, and stands ready to help her when she will put herself in a position where Nature's help can be given. It is at this place that the supreme worth of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is demonstrated. It is the means by which Nature can work with women for the restoration of health. Begin to use "Favorite Prescription" and you begin to be cured of ulceration, inflammation, female weakness and kindred ailments, because you begin to cooperate with Nature on Nature's plan. Of half a million women who have used "Favorite Prescription" ninety-eight per cent. have been perfectly and permanently cured.
