

Turkey Beaten Quits Fighting

Bulgarian Peace Envoy in Constantinople—Turkey Admits Struggle is Hopeless.

A dispatch from Constantinople says the supply of war stores by contractors has been officially suspended. The Bulgarian envoy arrived to negotiate a final settlement.

A provisional arrangement for an armistice has already been signed, and the only remaining question is whether or not the Bulgarians shall make a formal entry, which is practically unarrangeable unless the sultan agrees to Brussels, pro tem.

Twenty fresh cases of cholera were removed to a special camp.

The Turkish council of war has considered the position of the Ottoman army defending Constantinople and decided that it is hopeless. The decision was reached after a message had been received from the Turkish commander-in-chief. This view is said to be endorsed by the representative of the Red Crescent society.

The danger of war between Austria and Serbia is practically over. Serbia, whose demands for an Adriatic port and the partition of Albania will not be enforced by any government, is preparing to yield to Austria, who is ready to allow her an outlet at Salonika and possibly the commercial use of an Adriatic port over the Bosnian railways.

Albania will become an autonomous principality, under the nominal suzerainty of the sultan of Turkey.

Salonika will be internationalized.

The Serbian army will probably abandon its march to Durazzo, on the Adriatic.

Bulgaria appears disposed to accord Rumania's unexpressed wish for Silistria and the territory enclosed by a straight line drawn from the Danube, north of Kustchuk, to the Black sea, north of Starna.

The main Bulgarian attack on the Turkish forts along the line of Tchalja, in front of Constantinople, is now progressing favorably, after being delayed for two days because of the difficulty of transport after the heavy rain, according to the correspondent of the Vienna Reichspost at Bulgarian headquarters, in a dispatch dated Tuesday. The Turks, he says, have been driven from their advance posts.

In another dispatch the correspondent says that the Turkish officers captured during the sorties made by the garrison of Adrianople declare that the Bulgarian artillery fire was unbearable. The Turkish troops engaged in the sorties had only biscuits to eat. They treated their officers' commands to advance with indifference and only stirred when the Mussulman priests intervened.

The duel between the Turkish warships and the Bulgarian artillery appears still to be in progress at Rostoto, on the Sea of Marmora.

Hide Prisoners Years Illegally.

Discovery has been made of the plight of four penitentiary prisoners in Columbus, Ohio, who, because they were insane and were transferred from the state prison to the hospital, have been unlawfully held for years.

John H. Whaier, sent to the penitentiary in 1874, has been confined for thirty-three years after his term expired. L. B. Christie, a forger, received in 1878, should have been released in 1884. Jerry Cartes, sentenced for arson, has been detained twenty-four years. Charles Willis should have been released twenty-seven years ago.

The prisoners will be transferred immediately to their respective counties to be probated. Their plight was discovered when the state hospital authorities submitted a bill for their keep.

Thanksgiving Proclamation.

President Taft issued the time-honored Thanksgiving proclamation calling on the nation to render thanks for past blessings and setting aside Nov. 28 for the observance.

Washington, Nov. 8.—President Taft issued the time-honored Thanksgiving proclamation calling on the nation to render thanks for past blessings and setting aside Nov. 28 for the observance.

The president departed from the usual text to write in a little paragraph, which might refer to the election, and which specified how strong and steadfast the people were in the "conservation of the heritage of self-government bequeathed to us by the wisdom of our fathers and their firm resolve to transmit that heritage unimpaired."

Carnegie Swears Off Taxes.

Andrew Carnegie will pay no personal property tax to the city of New York.

The iron master's personal property was assessed at $10,000,000, but he appeared before the president of the New York tax department and made affidavit that this was erroneous.

Mr. Carnegie swore that the value of his effects in the city did not exceed $3,500,000, while his debts aggregated $3,400,000. Accordingly, the assessment against him was canceled.

Kills Baby For Revenge.

To take revenge on his wife, with whom he had quarreled, Charles Rose, of Chicago, killed his two-year-old daughter. The child was smothered to death. A note pinned to the pillow on which the child lay was signed by the father, who admitted his deed. The police were unable to find Rose.

Miss Gladys Myers Thought Parent Climbing Into Her Berth Was a Robber and Fired.

Mrs. J. Rappe Myers, wife of the proprietor of the Rappe hotel, Greensburg, Pa., was shot by her daughter, Gladys E. Myers, in mistake for a burglar in a sleeping car on a Pennsylvania railroad train, bound for New York.

Mrs. Myers died a short time later in a Trenton, N. J., hospital. The shooting took place when the train was passing Croysden, near Bristol, Pa. Miss Myers and W. R. Cuthbert, sixty years old, of Lynchburg, Va., were arrested by the Trenton police. It was thought at first that Cuthbert was concerned in some way with the shooting, as he was found with Miss Myers a few seconds after the sound of the shot aroused the other passengers in the car and brought the porter and conductor. Later he explained that he had been standing on the front platform of the car next in the rear, and had run in when he heard the shot.

After the details of the shooting became known Miss Myers was released from custody. The police decided that the shooting was an accident and the district attorney decided to drop the case. There will be no coroner's inquest. Cuthbert, who was held as a material witness, was also discharged. Miss Myers, in company with her father, brother and J. Blair Dillard, her fiancée, left Trenton immediately in an automobile for Philadelphia.

Miss Myers, who is about twenty years old and exceedingly pretty, was on the way to New York to purchase a trousseau for her coming wedding to J. Blair Dillard, of Salem, Va., a druggist. She had a casket of jewels, which she was taking to New York to have repaired and matched, and when she heard her mother re-entering their section, after Mrs. Myers had gone for a few minutes to the dressing room, she took her revolver from under her pillow and fired, thinking a burglar was after the gems. She was half awake at the time.

After recovering from a fit of hysteria at the Trenton police station, Miss Myers said:

"I am Miss Gladys Elizabeth Myers, of the Rappe hotel, corner of West Otterman and Pennsylvania avenues, Greensburg, Pa. My mother and I left our home in Greensburg, Pa., to visit my fiancée, T. Blair Dillard, for a short time; then went to see my brother, J. Rappe Myers, Jr., at Salem, Va., where he is in the lumber business. My mother and I took a train from Salem, Va., engaging a lower berth.

"I was awakened by my mother, who informed me that she was going to the washroom, and while she was absent I dozed off to sleep. I was suddenly awakened from my sleep by seeing the curtains parted and some one crawling into the berth. I always sleep with a revolver under my pillow, and knowing that the porter had seen my jewelry, I pulled the revolver from under my pillow and fired, and was horrified to hear my mother scream and stagger into the smoker, where I found her.

"There I shouted for some one to get a doctor and some whisky. A gentleman came forward, who I afterward learned was William R. Cuthbert, of Lynchburg, Va., and offered his services.

"My mother and I were always on good terms, and I considered her my best friend. We were on our way to New York to do some shopping in anticipation of my brother's wedding on Christmas eve and my own, in June, to Mr. Dillard."

President of Pennsylvania Railroad to Quit Jan. 1.

Unheralded by the usual crop of rumors, the resignation of James McCrea, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad company, was presented to the board of directors in Philadelphia. It was accepted, effective Jan. 1.

Immediately afterwards the board received the resignation of Samuel Rea, vice president, as a "company director," re-elected him to the directorate as a "shareholders' director," to succeed Clement A. Griscom, who died on Sunday, and then elected him president of the company to succeed Mr. McCrea at the first of the year.

In his letter of resignation, read to the board and accepted by it with "great reluctance," Mr. McCrea said he desired a rest. He pointed out that he is sixty-five years old, that he had been in the company's service nearly fifty years, and that it is his wish to rest from active labors and conserve his health.

Mr. Rea, the president-elect, is fifty-seven years old. He had been with the company since 1871, rising from chairman to president. He was the right-hand man of A. J. Cassatt, whom Mr. McCrea succeeded six years ago, and won fame through his planning and building of the Pennsylvania's New York tunnels and the great new station.

Disappointed Because Infant Wasn't a Girl, They Toss Child Into River.

Disappointed because their ten-day-old baby was a boy when they wanted a girl, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kipp, each twenty-two years old, of Cincinnati, O., wrapped the child in a shawl and tossed him into the Ohio river.

They were arrested and the husband confessed, blaming his wife for wanting to dispose of the child. When arraigned in court their cases were continued to Nov. 27. The body was not recovered.

B. & O. Orders Rails.

The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad is about to place contracts for rails, amounting to between 50,000 and 60,000 tons.

BOOKS, MAGAZINES, ETC.

THE CENTURY'S "AFTER-THE-WAR" SERIES.—

One of the leading features of The Century for its new year, which began with November number, now on sale, will be the "After-the-War" series, by famous American editors—a series that promises to be to the history since the Civil War what The Century's famous Civil War Series was to the history of the Great Conflict itself. Most of the editors who are contributing to the new series were actors in the great dramas they describe.

Colonel Watterston, Editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal, describes in the November number "The Honor and Tragedy of the Greeley Campaign"—an article of which the New York Sun said editorially on October 25th: "Words that all political history could be written with the verve, the wit, the straightforward devil-may-care candor and the Washington veracity which distinguish Colonel Watterston's reminiscences in The Century Magazine. It would then be a true delight to look backward, instead of being a bore."

Brief extracts are printed by The Sun mainly as an incentive to the discriminating to procure and enjoy the entire text of this work of genius. In the near future Colonel Watterston will contribute more of his reminiscences, his second article having to do with the Hayes-Tilden campaign of 1876. Other articles in this series will include: "The Cause of the Spanish Invasion," by Joseph E. Stone, of the Associated Press; "The Resurrection of the Monroe Doctrine," by Charles R. Miller; "The Return of Hard Money," by Charles A. Conant; and "Recollections of Four Conventions," by William Jennings Bryan. Other articles are in preparation. The "After-the-War" series will do much to justify its unofficial title—the Secret History of Fifty Years of American Progress.

THE NEW YEAR OF ST. NICHOLAS.—

A notable feature of the new volume of St. Nicholas, which begins with the November number, will be a series of drawings, in color and black, by the famous English artist, Arthur Rackham, picturing some of the favorite verses and characters of Mother Goose.

Serial features of the volume will include the story of an American lad's adventures in Egypt, "The Land of Mystery," by Cleveland Moffett; "Beatrice of Denevood," a sequel to "The Lucky Sixpence," by Emilie Benson Knipe; a series of inspiring biographical articles entitled "More Than Conquerors," a series of articles covering the history of architecture, and serial articles under the heading of "With Men Who Do Things," giving much information about the wonderful devices involved in some of the great constructive engineering enterprises under way in and around New York.

The St. Nicholas departments—Hildegard Hawthorne's "Books and Reading," Professor Bigelow's inspiring "Nature and Science," and the St. Nicholas League—will be continued, with a number of new features. The work of the St. Nicholas League will be broadened to offer contests to readers of St. Nicholas who have passed the eighteen-year-old limit of the League membership.

THE YOUTH'S COMPANION WINDOW TRANSPARENCY AND CALENDAR FOR 1913.—

The publication of The Youth's Companion will, as always, this season, present to every subscriber whose subscription ($2.00) is paid for 1913, a beautiful souvenir. This year it takes the unique form of a Window Transparency, to be hung in the window or in front of a lighted lamp. Through it the light shines as through the stained glass of a cathedral window, softly illuminating the design.
