

War will Stop Pending Parley.

Ottoman Nation Faces Loss of Nearly All European Empires as Cost of War.

The fighting has ceased for the moment between the Turkish and Bulgarian armies struggling for the possession of the key to the gates of Constantinople, and the opposing commanders-in-chief are engaged in negotiating terms of an armistice.

If these negotiations prove successful they will be preparatory to a meeting of plenipotentiaries who will discuss conditions of peace.

In accordance with the suggestion contained in the Bulgarian note that the allied Balkan nations are prepared to meet the Turkish commander-in-chief with a view to arranging an armistice, the Ottoman government has appointed Nazim Pasha to confer with General Savoff, the Bulgarian leader.

The Turkish general, who has been putting up such an excellent defense of the ramparts of the capital, now has thrown on him the additional burden of deciding whether or not a further display of tenacity behind the fortifications of Tchatalja may bring easier terms and save to the Ottoman empire more than Constantinople and a strip of Thrace along the shores of the Sea of Marmora, which, seemingly, is all that the conquerors are at present disposed to leave to the vanquished.

In the meantime the two armies hold their respective positions. How long this armed truce will be maintained, however, will depend on the terms of peace offered by the League of the Balkan nations and on whether the hitherto futile attacks by the Bulgarians on the Tchatalja lines have inspired the Turks with hopes that the fortunes of war may yet turn in their favor.

Reports regarding the conditions proposed by the allies are conflicting. It is officially stated in Constantinople that the agreement of the allies to discuss the terms of an armistice and the preliminaries of peace does not stipulate any conditions.

Simultaneously with the lull on the battlefield comes news of a diminution of tension in the Austro-Serbian dispute by the compliance of Serbia with the demand of the Austrian government for an investigation on the spot of the complaint made by the Austrian consul at Pristina that he had been hindered by the Servians in the performance of his duties.

On the other hand, there is nothing yet to indicate a solution of the question of Serbia's demand for ports on the Adriatic sea. If, as is threatened, she diverts her army, released by the fall of Monastir, to the country of the Arnavat tribesmen, her relations with Austria-Hungary will, it is thought, be further imperiled.

The Bulgarian premier, M. Gueshoff, has telegraphed to Kiamil Pasha, the Turkish grand vizier, the conditions under which the Bulgars will consent to an armistice. The allies previously had announced their readiness to consider the proposition made to them by Turkey for an armistice, with peace in view, and this is their answer.

The allies will not enter Constantinople if the forts of Tchatalja are evacuated and four important Turkish towns are surrendered, according to reports of the peace conditions.

Adrianople, which has stood out against Bulgaria and Serbia since first the Bulgarians came across the border at Mustapha Pasha, and where so many Turks have lost their lives in desperate sallies in the face of galling artillery fire, where cholera and famine have been as bitter an enemy of the Turk as the foe outside his walls.

Scutari, which the Montenegrins are besieging and have been besieging since shortly after they started the war, must be given up by the Turk if he seeks an armistice.

Janina, beleaguered by the Greeks, and Dibra, in Albania, must also be given up by the Turks.

Constantinople and the Dardanelles are to be left to Turkey.

Opinion in London is not so optimistic as it is in Paris. It is pointed out that Turkey's acceptance of the terms laid down by Bulgaria and her allies for an armistice is by no means certain, especially in view of the successes which Nazim Pasha claims in the defense of the Tchatalja lines.

On the other hand, the demand of the allies strictly follows precedent. The Russo-Turkish armistice in 1878 provided for the surrender of several fortresses which were still uncapitulated. The Russians signed an armistice at Adrianople, and did not have to fight their way across Southern Thrace, yet they claimed and received possession of the Tchatalja lines.

Beard Burns; Man Dies.
A spark from the pipe John E. Gillson, a farmer of near Middletown, N. Y., was smoking, ignited his long whiskers. The flames spread to his clothing and he was burned to death.

Twenty Japanese Sailors Killed.
Twenty men were killed by a boiler explosion on the Japanese cruiser Nishin. The cruiser brought the dead to Yokosuka, Japan.

Graft Dog Skin on Woman.
The announcement was made at a South Side hospital in Chicago of the successful outcome of a case of skin grafting in which a large piece of the skin of a skye terrier was placed over a wound on the arm of Mrs. H. W. Johnson, of Menominee, Wis.

The operation, said to be the first of its kind ever performed, took place ten days ago, and Tuesday Mrs. Johnson returned to her home, taking with her the dog which had contributed to her convalescence.

Homes Have Been Wrecked and Crops Greatly Damaged—Forty-two Dead in Montego Bay.

A great tidal wave is reported in Kingston, Jamaica, to have practically wiped out the town of Savanna la Mar, on the southwest coast, and Lucoa, on the northwest coast of Jamaica.

Lucoa is a town of 2000 inhabitants on an inlet on the northwest coast of Jamaica, while Savanna la Mar is a seaport with about the same population on the southwest coast, almost directly across the island.

It is reported in Kingston that the entire population of both towns was killed by the wave.

Forty-two persons were killed by the hurricane in Montego Bay, according to a report brought by a fruit vessel which arrived at Port Antonio. Later reports say the entire wharf frontage at Montego Bay has been wrecked.

Confirmation has now come to hand of the great destruction caused by the hurricane in the western end of the island. Floods which accompanied the storm caused immense damage, a hundred houses being blown down. Telegraphic communication is still suspended.

The governor of Jamaica has left on a special train accompanied by a detachment of artillerymen, who have taken with them 300 tents and foodstuffs, as in certain sections the survivors are homeless and destitute.

The gale began on Nov. 15 and continued in increasing fury for several days. Vessels arriving in port reported that the wind was blowing more than 100 miles an hour.

The observer in the meteorological station in the western part of the island sent the following report:

"The full force of the hurricane struck here Monday. The observatory was partly wrecked."

Wilson Will Call Extra Session.
President-elect Wilson announced that he will call congress together in extraordinary session not later than April 15 of next year to revise the tariff.

In his statement, made public in New York on the eve of his departure for a four weeks' vacation in Bermuda, he says that he has determined upon this course not only because he was elected on a platform which declared for an immediate downward revision of the tariff schedules, but also because he feels it is due to the business interests of the country that they should be relieved of all uncertainty as to what the general purpose of the incoming administration at Washington is.

Beyond his bald statement that he will call an extraordinary session the president-elect has made no comment on the situation other than that so far as he was concerned the pledges of his party and its platform would be carried out.

Governor Wilson sailed for Bermuda on the steamship Bermudian and will rest there until Dec. 16. One of his first acts on arriving in Bermuda will be to call upon the governor of Bermuda and to request him that he be permitted to spend his time there without recognition of his official status, either as governor of New Jersey or as president-elect of the United States.

Capitol Chandelier Falls.
A 3000-pound chandelier in the hall of the house of representatives at Harpersburg, Pa., fell twenty feet, but did little damage, as the floor of the big room is made of heavy concrete.

The chandelier was being taken down because it obstructed the view of the Abe paintings. It is to be stored away in the cellar, notwithstanding the fact that it cost the state about $15,000.

This was one of the lighting fixtures manufactured by the late John Sanderson and sold to the state at $4.80 a pound.

Kills Wife, Baby and Himself.
John Wood, a grocer, of Worcester, Mass., killed his wife and their baby boy at his home, 11 Lake street, and then committed suicide. He smothered his wife and child to death with chloroform saturated cloths and then ended his own life with the same drug.

Schrank, Who Shot T. R., Is Insane.
John Schrank, the New York man, who shot Colonel Roosevelt in Milwaukee, Wis., on the night of Oct. 14, was found to be insane by the commission of five alienists appointed to inquire into his mental state, according to a report circulated in Milwaukee.

Insanity Is Bachelor's Lot.
Insanity seizes upon the bachelor with greater ease than upon the benedict, despite the worry the latter is supposed to undergo, according to the report of the government hospital for the insane.

Man Killed by Casket.
Caught in the collapse of a casket display case, George Newton, seventy years old, was killed in an undertaking establishment in Raleigh, N. C., where he had gone to buy a coffin for the burial of his wife.

Mrs. Fickham, of Manorville, is here visiting relatives and friends, a guest of William Pealer.

The Y. M. C. A. is having prayer meetings every evening this week in the Lutheran church.

The Democratic majority in the lower House of Congress is considerably like the handle of a jug—all on one side.

Miss Ethel Gettinger was on a visit to her aunt, Mrs. Wilbur Burkholder, at Bellefonte, for a few days last week.

Revs. James Runkle, of Newport, and William McClellan, son and son-in-law of Mrs. Lucinda Runkle, are here on a hunting expedition.

Miss Marian and Victor, daughter and son of George Rachau, of Sunbury, Friday and Saturday last at the home of their father, George W. Wolfe.

How about Thanksgiving day turkeys? They seem—as a farmer remarked a day or two since—"all fired" scarce. No doubt many of us, will have the turkey served a la sausage.

Ira Bartley moved into the property he recently purchased from Mrs. Susan Barre, on Monday last. Mrs. Barre went to Centre Hall, and will make her home with her daughter, Mrs. Koons.

As yet we have no tidings of the Penn. Hall Hunting Club. A few of our hunters make short jaunts up along Sinking Creek and Egg hill, but return in the evening generally with long faces.

C. Lawrence Abbott, inspector and lecturer, entertained quite a large audience at the Grange hall on Friday evening last. Over one hundred and fifty course tickets have been disposed of.

The latter part of the summer huge stones were dumped close to the foot bridge over Penns Creek, to be used for a crossing to the cement walk opposite, but so far the dumping of the stones seems to be the end of it. So I suppose the mud and slush crossing will be continued as usual.

Boy of Ten Admits Killing.
Earl Murrell, ten years of age, has confessed that he shot and killed Daniel Miller, an eighty-year-old hermit, in Anderson county, near Lawrenceburg, Ky. William Murrell, the boy's father, and two of his brothers were arrested, charged with the crime, when the boy admitted to Sheriff Johnson that Miller attacked his father and then that he had shot him.

Thought Gun Unloaded; Kills Brother.
Telling him that it was not loaded, Henry Wolf, nine years of age, handed a revolver to his brother, Martin, aged twelve, at the home of the boys in Toledo, Ohio. Almost immediately after Martin took the revolver it was discharged, the ball entering Henry's breast and killing him instantly.

Books, Magazines, Etc.
POPULAR MECHANICS MAGAZINE FOR DECEMBER.—Every issue of Popular Mechanics magazine brims with tidings of what we are doing, for one another; of the mistakes that have been made and the disasters which have followed; of the successes won and the activity incited by them, and of yet more wonderful discoveries and achievements which must certainly come. In the December number there are 310 articles and 252 illustrations, every story tersely "written so you can understand it," and every picture vividly portraying more than can be told in type.

"Our National Sin," by which food sufficient for millions of the poor is wasted daily, is discussed. The smoke problem is discussed by William D. Harkins, who describes the great damage which is caused annually by the soot and other ingredients of smoke.

Other features for December are noted as follows: "Electricity Supplants the Auctioneer;" "Tons for Handling Live Wires With Safety;" "Two Points of View of Buildings Designed for the Panama-Pacific Exposition;" "Remarkable Lion Hunt Proposed for London;" "Funeral of Japan's Emperor;" "Balkan War Cloud at Last Thunders;" "The Zone System of the New Parcel Post;" "Illuminated Aeroplanes Destroy Battleships;" "Playing Golf Indoors;" "Is Your Home Well Heated?" "U. S. Submarine Breaks All Diving Records;" "Woman Tours Rockies in Motor Camp Wagon." The illustrations accompanying these articles, and many others, are worthy of special mention, being both attractive and instructive, and displaying no tendency to exaggerate the facts.

WOMAN'S HOME COMPANION.—The December issue of this magazine contains a remarkable account of the birth of Christ, written by Washington Gladden. It is a simple, straight forward narrative—interesting and full of an extraordinary sense of wonder. Reading it is like reading about Lincoln or any other great real figure in history.

In the same number there is an intimate personal account of the little Princess Mary, who is the only daughter of the King and Queen of England. Princess Mary is fifteen years old and has five brothers. The photographs that accompany the article make an unusual feature.

The magazine contains six or eight special contributions that have to do with Christmas—particularly articles showing how to make various kinds of Christmas presents. The fiction is especially adapted to a Christmas number, and a special point is made of the art features. Many of the illustrations are in color.

The regular departments devoted to dress-making, cookery, and the household, are filled with good reading and suggestions of money value to those who will take them up and make use of them.
