

General European War Feared.

Emperor William Proposes Dispute Between Austria and Serbia Be Arbitrated.

Emperor William of Germany has asked the Austrian government to submit to an arbitration conference the dispute between that country and Serbia.

No answer has yet been received from Vienna, but the German emperor is hopeful that Austria will acquiesce in the hope of arbitration.

No Change in Situation.

No change for the worse in the international political situation brought about by the war in the Balkans is visible except insofar as the continued tension decreases the ability of diplomacy to resist a rupture.

Great Britain, France and Germany all are giving counsels of moderation both at Vienna and St. Petersburg. There also is reason to believe that Great Britain has given Serbia as well as Russia and France to understand that she has no interest in Serbia's demand for a port on the Adriatic sea. She also has told them she has no intention of supporting Serbia's claim by force or arms nor of aiding any other power to do so.

The fact that the Austro-Hungarian consul at Pristina has arrived at Uckup, thus disposing of the reports of his murder, ought to be helpful, in the opinion of diplomats, in bringing about a general improvement of the situation.

But this is offset by a report that Serbian troops have occupied Durazzo, the principal Albanian port on the Adriatic.

Dispatches from the Continent say that nearly 5,000,000 men are under arms in Russia, Germany and Austria, and that Serbia is dispatching all her available troops to the Hungarian border to repel a possible attack from Austria. One ray of hope observed by diplomats in London was a dispatch from Paris stating that conservatives there had started a counter movement against what they term "exaggerated reports" of a possible European war.

Another report was that Italy also was preparing for war.

The progress of the negotiations between the delegates of Turkey and of the Balkan allies at Tchatalja is still a sealed book. In diplomatic circles in London it is stated that Turkey has presented the following as an acceptable basis for an agreement:

First, no war indemnity.

Second, the retention by Turkey of the territory bounded by the Maritza river, the fortress of Adrianople to be included.

Third, the maintenance of the sovereignty of the sultan of Turkey in Albania.

As soon as Trukey shows that she really wishes for peace, Bulgaria will, it is authoritatively declared, demonstrate her willingness to spare as much as possible Turkish susceptibilities by still further moderating her demands.

In addition to not insisting on the evacuation of the Tchatalja lines in front of Constantinople by the Turkish troops and allowing the garrison of Adrianople to march out, provided guarantees are given that the troops will not engage in further hostilities, Bulgaria probably will consent to Turkey withdrawing the artillery from that fortress. In other ways also the Bulgarian government will be prepared to do everything possible to aid in establishing a permanent peace.

The danger in the general situation arises not alone from the conflicting interests of Austria, Serbia and other powers, but from the possibility that Turkey, following the traditional policy of profiting by the embroilment of the great powers, may adopt an irreconcilable attitude in the peace negotiations.

Reports from Belgrade state that the Serbian officers, who now have the upper hand, are absolutely against any compromise, and that King Peter and his cabinet, whose intimate adviser is the Russian minister, will obey their dictates.

Murders of Rosenthal to Die Week of Jan. 6.

The door of the death house at Sing Sing prison in Ossining, N. Y., has closed upon the four gunmen convicted as the actual assassins of Herman Rosenthal.

Within this structure they will remain, presumably, until they march in rapid succession to the electric chair—to which they were sentenced by Justice Goff, who fixed the week of Jan. 6 as the time for the payment of the murder penalty.

A mob of more than a thousand excited persons swooped down upon "Lefty Louie" Rosenberg, "Gib the Blood" Horowitz, "Whitey Louis" Muller and "Dago Frank" Cirofici as they left the train, and the prison guards had to be called out to conduct the prisoners safely to the prison.

When the four men disembarked, handcuffed together and closely guarded by a dozen deputy sheriffs, they were being hurried along by their guard, while the crowd howled—when suddenly the tightly packed ranks of curiosity seekers broke in on the line of the sheriffs, nearly knocking the prisoners from their feet in their mad struggle to see the faces of the doomed quartet.

10,000 Men Idle at Steel Plants.

Of the 6000 men employed at the Edgar Thomson plant of the Carnegie Steel company at Braddock, near Pittsburgh, Pa., 5000 men are idle as a result of the strike of engineers and firemen, while at Homestead 5000 others are idle for the same cause.

Senator Rayner Dies.

Senator Isidor Rayner, of Maryland, one of the leading Democratic members of the United States senate and a man whose name was offered to the Baltimore convention by William J. Bryan as a suitable compromise candidate for the presidential nomination, died in Washington of neuritis.

Senator Rayner had been in a serious condition for about six weeks and had been in a comatose condition for the most part since last Wednesday.

The control of the United States senate after March 4 may hinge on the death of Senator Rayner. The Republican whom it is expected Governor Goldsborough, of Maryland, will appoint in his place will hold office at least until the Maryland legislature meets in January, 1914, when a Democrat probably will be elected.

Mr. Rayner's death removes one of the Democrats on whom the control of the senate depended in the new congress. With his vote the Democratic leaders counted on mustering forty-nine, or one more than a majority of the total membership of ninety-six. In any event, forty-eight votes, with the vote of the vice president in case of a tie, was looked upon as sufficient strength to insure control. While the Democrats still have an apparent strength of forty-eight, the death of the Maryland senator reduces the supposed majority to a point very near the vanishing point.

Senator Rayner's illness from neuritis covered a period of nearly five years. He attempted to enter actively into the recent presidential Democratic campaign and met Bourke Cockran in joint debate at Baltimore late in September. The effort exhausted him and he became seriously ill immediately afterward.

Carnegie to Pension Ex-Presidents.

An annual pension of $25,000 for each future ex-president of the United States is the latest form which the beneficence of Andrew Carnegie is to take.

This announcement of Mr. Carnegie's intention was made by the eight trustees of the Carnegie Corporation of New York at the close of their second annual meeting in his residence on Fifth avenue.

"Provision has been made through this corporation for a pension for each future ex-president and his widow, unmarried, of $25,000 per year, as long as these remain unprovided for by the nation, that they may be able to spend the latter part of their lives devoting their unique knowledge gained of public affairs to the public good, free from pecuniary cares.

"These pensions will be promptly offered to the ex-presidents or their widows, so that no application will be required from them."

Weds Chauffeur Instead of Rich Man.

Mrs. Aimee Givins, formerly of Detroit, and divorced wife of Robert S. Givins, a member of Chicago's fashionable set, discovered that she was the central figure in a strange matrimonial tangle.

After eloping to Crown Point, Ind., Wednesday and marrying at 2 a. m. a man whom she believed to be a son of Marshall M. Kirkman, former vice president of the Chicago & North-western railroad, she was told that the man was William Boehm, Mr. Kirkman's chauffeur until recently. Detectives are searching for Boehm, who is said to have gone to Danville, Ill.

Fiend Mutilates Girl.

The horribly mutilated body of the seventeen-year-old daughter of George Barham, a farmer living near Pleasant Ridge, Boone county, Ark., was found.

The girl rode horseback to the post-office at Pleasant Ridge, but failed to return. Searchers found her dismembered body. She had been dragged from her horse and attacked. Her head was cut off, both legs were severed from the body and the trunk was cut in two.

Armed posses are searching for the murderer. A lynching is expected if he is caught.

Sidna Allen Escapes Death.

Sidna Allen, leader of the Allen clan which shot up the Carroll county court at Hillsville last March, resulting in the death of five people, was found guilty of murder in the second degree at Wytheville, Va., for killing Judge Massie. The jury fixed the penalty at fifteen years in the penitentiary.

Pups and Pigs Mothered by Dog.

A hunting dog on the farm of James Lbrandt, near Elizabethtown, Pa., which recently gave birth to a litter of pups, is also mothering four little pigs, whose mother died.
