—Many turkeys were brought to Bellefonte by farmers on Monday and Tuesday and offered for sale at 18 and 20 cents a pound, although the latter price was the one most frequently asked. Quite a number of the birds were taken by Bellefonte dealers who were virtually compelled to have turkey for their Thanksgiving trade, but some farmers were compelled to take their turkeys back home, because buyers could not be found willing to pay the price demanded. Western turkeys have recently been shipped to Bellefonte at 25¢ cents a pound, dressed, the above price including express and all incidental expenses, and they are larger and finer turkeys than the average grown in this section.

BELLEFONTE MAN COMMITS SUICIDE.

—George Gault, a well known carpenter of this place, committed suicide at the Haag hotel on Monday evening by drinking strychnine in ginger ale and his lifeless body was not found until between nine and ten o'clock on Tuesday morning. Gault, who lived with his mother on Curtin street, was a man addicted to drink and when indulging rather freely he would spend the nights most anywhere instead of at home, though he had always before been denied a room at the Haag house. On Monday evening he was drinking and going to the Haag house after seven o'clock he asked for a room. Landlord Henry Kline was at supper and the only one in the office was his son Harrison. Without making any inquiry he showed Gault up to a room.

About nine o'clock Gault went downstairs to the bar room and asked for both whiskey and beer. He was refused both by the bartender, Barney Bilger, as nothing intoxicating had been sold him at that hotel for months. He then asked for a bottle of ginger ale, which was given him. Paying for the bottle he took it and went upstairs to his room. No further attention was paid to the matter until about nine o'clock on Tuesday morning when the chambermaid went to the room and found it locked. She knocked and getting no response called Mr. Kline. He knocked loud and long and failing to get an answer went out on the veranda and climbed in at the window. At first he thought the man was merely sleeping soundly, as he was in bed and undressed, but an examination showed that he was dead and had been so for many hours.

From appearances Gault on going to his room had undressed, carefully placed his clothes over a chair and his shoes and stockings on the floor. A partly emptied bottle of strychnine standing on the dresser told the tale. The poison had been poured into a glass and the latter filled with ginger ale which the man drank then went to bed and his death. Dr. Dale was summoned and he declared that the man had been dead for hours, so that the deed was probably committed Monday evening. After carefully examining everything the doctor authorized the removal of the body to Nagney's morgue, and coroner P. S. Fisher being notified of the circumstances decided that an inquest was unnecessary.

On Wednesday morning, however, an inquest was held and the empty bottle on which was written "Sulphate of Strychnine," which is strychnine, was offered as evidence and after hearing all the details the jury returned a verdict of suicide from strychnine poisoning, self-administered.

Deceased was a son of Samuel (deceased) and Catharine Gault and was born in Bellefonte thirty-four years ago. He was a carpenter by occupation and a good workman. He was twice married, his first wife having been divorced, and whether it was marital troubles that caused him to take his life or not will never be known.

His second wife was Miss Dora Sellers, of Milesburg, to whom he was married early last December. They have not lived together for some time and at present she is making her home in Lock Haven. He leaves no children but is survived by his mother, Mrs. Catharine Gault, of Curtin street, and the following brothers and sisters: Henry and James, of Howard township; Mrs. C. M. Showers and Mrs. A. F. Showers, of Bellefonte; Mrs. W. A. Knapp, of Huntingdon; Mrs. George H. Barnes and Mrs. H. E. Stover, of Altoona.

The funeral was held at two o'clock yesterday afternoon, services conducted by Dr. G. E. Hawes, of the Presbyterian church, burial being made in the Union cemetery.

BELLEFONTE FOUNDRY TO BE PUT IN OPERATION.

—On Saturday of last week the papers were signed in the lease of the Bellefonte foundry and machine shops to R. T. White, of Philadelphia, and Henry Johnson, of Oil City, and the plant will be put in operation at once under the firm name of the R. T. White Company, foundrymen and machinists. Mr. Johnson came to Bellefonte on Monday and this week has had a half dozen or more men at work cleaning up about the plant and getting things in readiness to begin operations. Mr. White will move his belongings here next week and will be in direct charge of the company's business.

It need not be supposed that the plant will be started in full force right away, as that will be impossible after lying idle as long as it has. The new proprietors have some work that they can start in on just as soon as the plant can be gotten in shape. It is the intention to begin on a small and conservative basis and build the plant up as the increase of the business may demand. Both Mr. White and Mr. Johnson are practical foundrymen and machinists and while the former will have general supervision over the plant and look after the business part of the company's affairs, Mr. Johnson will be the general manager in charge of the work. Both gentlemen come to Bellefonte well recommended and it is the hope of everybody in the community that their undertaking may prove a good thing for Bellefonte as well as profitable to themselves.

—A regular session of the December term of court will begin next Monday. Neither the quarter sessions nor common pleas list is long and there is not much indication that the attorneys will be overworked.

—The Index and F. P. Blair & Son have new holiday adds in this issue. Read them over and see the bargains offered.

—The Tau chapter of the Delta Tau Delta fraternity was organized at State College last Friday afternoon and in the evening the members and guests, numbering fifty-eight in all, banquetted at the Brokerhoff house in this place. The Germania orchestra, of Lock Haven, furnished the music and it was almost daylight Saturday when the last toast was responded to and the banquet hall deserted for the bed. This is the second national chapter instituted at the College this year.

—The Red Cross Christmas seals which sell for one cent each, can again be gotten from Miss Overton, who so generously gave her time to this aid in this world's work a year ago. The receipts from the sale of these stamps are used in the fight against the white plague, which benefits the great army of tuberculosis sufferers throughout our country. Everyone who buys a stamp, is contributing to a cause in which all the charitable people of our civilized world are interested.

—When you feel weary and depressed, do of sorts with yourself and all the world, don't gorge yourself with quack medicines but go to the scenic. One hour there every evening will help you to forget your troubles and give you a pleasant and interesting time. No better moving picture show in the State. Always among the first to show special features while the regular program is new and up-to-date. These are details that manager Brown never overlooks. Five cents will admit you any evening during the week.

—The dancing class and school which for several years has been so successfully conducted by Miss Eva Crissman in the Bush Arcade, and who gave her farewell dance last night, on account of her approaching marriage, will be continued under the management of Mrs. Harry Garber. A class for children will be held Saturday afternoon from two until four o'clock, beginning December 7th, while the class and dance for older people will be as usual, on Friday night, the class beginning at seven o'clock followed immediately by a general dance.

REUNION OF THE FORTY-FIFTH.—Between forty and fifty survivors of the old Forty-fifth regiment held their annual reunion in Williamsport last Thursday. The business meeting was held in the afternoon at which the following officers were elected: President, Reese G. Richards; vice president, E. E. Meyers; secretary, Allen D. Albert; treasurer, William Robert. Mr. Albert is the man who compiled and edited the very complete history of the regiment which was published during the past year. A very interesting campfire on Thursday evening completed the program of the reunion. The regiment had quite a number of Centre countians in its ranks during the war.

—R. J. Eisenhauer, who gave his home as Millmont, Centre county, is in the Blair county jail in default of three hundred dollars bail on the charge of forgery. It is alleged that Eisenhauer bought a railroad ticket in Pittsburgh last Thursday for Millmont via Bellefonte, and that he scratched out the latter name and made the ticket read by way of Harrisburg. The conductor noticed the change and had the man arrested when the train reached Altoona. He was given a hearing in that place on Friday morning and in default of three hundred dollars bail was committed to jail. On Tuesday he pleaded guilty in open court, when sentence was suspended pending good behavior.

—The receipts from the Harvest dance as reported at the regular meeting Monday night, were $140.00 from the sale of tickets less $70.00 expenses. This dance was the third annual Charity Ball given under the auspices of the Woman's club of Bellefonte, and the proceeds were given directly to its treasury to be used in the different departments of its work, which are civics, educational and charity. The work of the women through this organization has become a powerful factor for the betterment of conditions and the uplift of humanity; co-operation with these women in this struggle to put Bellefonte where all progressive towns at home and abroad have been for years, is asked from the property owners and borough officials of our town in doing the work so much needed.

—There is considerable complaint among the farmers of Centre county about the potato rot and because of this fact the price is going up. The potato yield in Centre county this season was unusually large and if the tubers escape the rot the price will no doubt be very reasonable. At least some of this waste by rot is due to the way the potatoes are handled. On Tuesday a certain farmer brought a load of potatoes to Bellefonte and at the time the writer saw him he had not disposed of the load. We personally inspected the potatoes and without exaggeration one-tenth of them, at least, were cut or damaged in some way, probably in raising, and rot had set in on a number of them. They were unusually large tubers and had they been handled properly would no doubt have commanded a good price, but no merchant nor individual was willing to pay the price asked for potatoes marketed as those were.

CHICKEN THIEF SENT TO REFORMATORY.

—Alfred Heaton, who during the summer and fall months robbed hen roosts by the dozen in Unionville and vicinity, was arrested in Tyrone last Friday while trying to dispose of a bag of six chickens, brought to Bellefonte on the 9:32 train Saturday morning, arraigned before Judge Orvis an hour later, pleaded guilty, was sentenced to the Huntingdon reformatory and taken to that institution the same afternoon.

For weeks and months the people of Unionville and Union township have been missing their chickens. Hardly a hen house in that locality escaped a visit but all efforts to catch the thief proved futile until Friday. That morning a young man passed the home of Carson Smith, at Northwood, near Tyrone, and from the fact that he had a bag of chickens over his shoulder caused Mr. Smith to telephone policeman A. R. Barr, at Tyrone, to look him up. That gentleman started on the trail and caught the man on Pennsylvania avenue. He showed fight but being a smaller man than the officer was soon overpowered and taken into custody.

When he realized he was up against the law he gave his name as Alfred Heaton, of Unionville, and confessed to being the thief who had been robbing the hen roosts in Bald Eagle valley. In fact he rather boasted of his prowess in that respect. He stated that most of the chickens he had taken to Tyrone and sold to different parties at considerable below the market price. In order to avoid paying railroad fare he generally bummed his way on a freight train. When asked whose chickens he had with him when he was arrested Heaton replied: "Well, when I go to rob a chicken coop, I don't make it a practice to go around to the front door of the house and ask who lives there." Upon his own confession the young man, who is only twenty years old, was brought to Bellefonte and after being sentenced was taken by Captain Barr to the reformatory.

NITTANY LIGHT, HEAT AND POWER PLANT SOLD.

—A deal was closed on Monday whereby the Nittany Light, Heat and Power plant, of State College, will become the property of Asbury M. Lee, A. J. Musser and J. W. Wrigley, of Clearfield, and others associated with them. The consideration has not been made public. It will be remembered that last spring the above three gentlemen were granted charters for electric light and power companies in Howard, Milesburg and Unionville boroughs; Benner, Boggs, Potter, Spring and Union townships, and at the time they declared that they had in view the building of a stupendous electric system to cover practically all of the above territory for the purpose of furnishing light and power at a cost considerably less than the average cost. At the same time an application was made for a charter for a similar company in State College borough but as the granting of same would be an infringement upon the rights of the Nittany Light, Heat and Power company, this charter was not granted. The present purchase of the latter company by Messrs. Lee, Musser and Wrigley gives them the right to operate in State College, and it is asserted on good authority that some big developments will be made in the near future.

Just what this will be has not been made public but the original intention of the projectors was the erection of an immense power plant at some convenient and economical point from which electric current for all purposes can be supplied to any place within the above named territory. The purchase of the State College company and franchise would indicate that the original purpose is now to be carried out; and this may result in having a lot to do in the erection of a trolley line between Bellefonte and State College.

YOUNG HUNTER BREAKS NECK.

—James DeHaas, of Ford City, while on a crossing watching for deer Wednesday morning fell from the stump of an old tree and broke his neck, dying instantly. The young man, who was only fourteen years old, was out in the Big Run district in the Alleghenies with a party of hunters among whom were his father, Jacob DeHaas, of Ford City, and Edwin S. Mobley, of Beech Creek. Early Wednesday morning the hunters went out on a drive and after the boy was placed on a crossing he climbed on a high stump in order to get a better view of the surrounding country. How he came to fall is not known.

The accident occurred at a point about twelve miles from Beech Creek and quite a distance from habitation. The nearest place, in fact, is the farm of Clarence Shank, on the top of the Alleghenies, and one of the hunting party walked there and telephoned the unfortunate news to Bianchand and immediately after dinner undertaker Edward Bechdel started to the mountains to bring in the remains.
