

Gives Dynamiters Jail Sentence.

One Prisoner Given Seven Years Eight Get Six Years Each, Two Four Years, Twelve Three Years, Four Two Years and Six One Year and One Day.

The thirty-eight labor union leaders convicted in the federal court on Saturday of conspiracy in connection with the interstate transportation of dynamite, were called up for sentence in Indianapolis, Ind.

One prisoner received seven years, eight six years each, two four years each, twelve three years each, four two years each, six one year and one day each. Five prisoners were given their liberty through suspended sentences. One, though he pleaded guilty, was given a suspended sentence, making a total of thirty-nine prisoners disposed of.

Frank M. Ryan, head of the Ironworkers' union, was given the heaviest sentence, a prison term of seven years. Others were given terms ranging from one to six years.

Olaf Tveitmo, of San Francisco, convicted on charges of aiding in plotting the destruction of the Los Angeles Times building, and Eugene A. Clancy, also of San Francisco, were given six years each, as was also Herbert S. Hockin, once secretary of the International Union.

Terms of imprisonment were imposed as follows:

Seven years—Frank M. Ryan, president of the Ironworkers' union.

Six years—John T. Butler, Buffalo, vice president; Herbert S. Hockin, former secretary and formerly of Detroit; Olaf A. Tveitmo, San Francisco, secretary of the California Building Trades Council; Eugene A. Clancy, San Francisco; Philip A. Cooley, New Orleans; Michael J. Young, Boston; J. E. Munsey, Salt Lake City, Utah; Frank C. Webb, New York.

Four years—John H. Barry, St. Louis; Peter J. Smith, Cleveland.

Three years—Paul J. Morris, St. Louis; Henry W. Legleitner, Denver; Charles N. Baum, Minneapolis, Minn.; Michael J. Cunnane, Philadelphia; Edward Smythe, Peoria, Ill.; Murray L. Pennell, of Springfield, Ill.; Wilford Bert Brown, of Kansas City, Mo.; George Anderson, of Cleveland, O.; Michael J. Hannan, Scranton, Pa.; Ernest G. W. Baise, Indianapolis; William J. McCain, Kansas City; William E. Reddin, Milwaukee.

Two years—Fred Sherman, Indianapolis; Richard P. Houlihan, Chicago; Frank J. Higgins, Boston; Frank K. Painter, Omaha.

One year and one day—Edward E. Phillips, New York; Charles Wachtmeister, Detroit; Fred J. Mooney, Duluth; James E. Ray, Peoria, Ill.; William C. Bernhardt, Cincinnati; William Shupe, Chicago.

Sentences on the following were suspended: Patrick F. Farrell, New York; James Cooney, Chicago; James Coughlin, Chicago; Hiram R. Kline, Muncie, Ind.; Frank J. Murphy, Detroit.

On motion of the government, Edward Clark, Cincinnati, confessed dynamiter, who testified for the government, was given a suspended sentence.

One of the six men who were given their liberty by suspended sentences, Clark, confessed to blowing up a bridge with the help of Hockin. He appeared as a witness for the government. Ortie E. McManigal, another confessed dynamiter, was not sentenced at this time.

A remarkable scene in the struggle by the wives of the prisoners to reach their husbands attended the sentences. It was ordered that all the spectators be cleared from the room and the prisoners be allowed to talk with the members of their families.

The sentences of one year and one day were imposed so that these men might be confined in a federal prison. Prisoners with terms of less than one year are kept in the county jail.

Federal Judge Albert B. Anderson had many of the prisoners whom he said, he considered less guilty than the rest, brought before him to make statements. Thus for an hour and a half the judge in a conversational way asked them whether they believed in dynamiting as a method of promoting a strike. All of them professed innocence.

All the prisoners who received prison sentences were taken to the federal prison at Leavenworth, Kan.

Boy Shoots Sister Dead.

While examining a new shotgun given him for a Christmas present, Verne Lawrence, of Lookout, near Scranton, Pa., accidentally pulled the trigger.

The charge struck his seven-year-old sister Mary, who was standing a few feet from him. The child's head was literally blown from her body by the heavy charge.

It is believed that the shell was left in the gun by the dealer who sold the weapon. Both the boy's parents are prostrated over the affair, and it is feared that his mother will not recover.

Congressman McHenry Dies.

John G. McHenry, of Benton, Columbia county, Pa., who represented the Sixteenth district in congress, died at his home from apoplexy, aged fifty-four years.

McHenry had not been in good health for over a year. For years he was a power in the Democratic party in his section of the state.

He was elected to congress in 1906 from the Sixteenth district and was re-elected in 1908 and 1910. He was manager of a distillery and head of the Farmers Grange banks in several counties.

Former Dictator of Venezuela Cut Short Hearing on Ellis Island by Announcing His Intention to Leave For Hamburg.

After three departments of the government had individually and collectively told him that if there was any way on earth of keeping him from landing it would be employed, General Cipriano Castro, whilom president and dictator of Venezuela, who got as far as quarantine at New York on the French line steamship La Touraine, became convinced that this government did not want him here.

As a consequence, just after a special board of inquiry had begun to ask him questions he announced that he will return to Hamburg on the first liner he can catch and there need be no more trouble about it.

His announcement was received with favor on Ellis Island and in Washington, and so until Saturday, when the Amerika is to sail for the German port, General Castro will have the best of the immigration bureau on the island can supply.

Commissioner William Williams made the announcement for the general in the following brief way:

"After a preliminary hearing at Ellis Island, General Cipriano Castro informed Commissioner Williams that he desired to return to Europe forthwith."

Although Mr. Williams would not amplify his statement, it was generally known that the resolution had not been extracted from the man who once prided himself on being the Diaz of the Andes, until the state department at Washington had made certain little representations that, no matter what the case might be, General Castro was not going to land on our otherwise hospitable shores.

The treasury department, operating through the United States public health service, had made very close examination as to the man's physical condition and had failed to discover anything which would warrant it in saying that he was suffering from a disease which is a bar to entrance for an alien.

Then the department of commerce and labor had tried it and failed, for the general could show sufficient money to prove that he was not likely to become a public charge.

That left only the state department, which has more leeway, particularly where a neighboring friendly nation or the ruler of it has lost its taste for a former citizen.

When he understood it, General Castro, who has had some little experience along the same general line, bowed to the inevitable and sent for steamship agents, through whom he booked his passage.

Broke Through Thin Ice and Plunged to Death in Water.

Four little boys while playing on the ice near their homes in Boardmanville, near Olean, N. Y., ventured out upon some thin ice and three of them were plunged to death in the water.

Charles Fitch, the lone survivor of the quartette, ran frantically up and down the bank while his companions struggled for life in the stream. Before assistance could be obtained the water had claimed all three boys.

The bodies were subsequently recovered and taken to their homes. The drowned are: Raymond Fath, aged eleven; Homer and Milo Williams, twelve and fourteen years old respectively.

Throat Slashed Apparently After a Struggle With Assailant.

A young woman, whose identity has not been disclosed, richly dressed and wearing rings, one of which was a diamond, was found slain on the marshes in the rear of Holy Cross cemetery, Malden, near Boston.

The woman's throat had been cut with a dull instrument apparently, judging from the ragged appearance of the wound and her head had been crushed in.

The woman's body was found in a slump of bushes, and it was apparent that she had made a terrific struggle against her assailant. The woman was apparently between thirty and thirty-two years old.

Find $15,000 In Debris.

While cleaning out the cellar of Centennial hall, in Pottsville, Pa., occupied by several business places, a box was taken from the debris containing $15,000 in gold and bills. It had been hidden by Henry P. Slater, an eccentric character and owner of the building, who died recently.

Jumps From Train to Death.

Alonzo Kerr jumped from a passenger train near DuBois, Pa., while he was being taken to the Warren Insane hospital by County Commissioner Richards and was instantly killed. He was thirty-six years old.

Another Reason for Busting the Rubber Trust.

From the Pittsburgh Dispatch. Gen. Wood's startling discovery that the nation spent more money this year for automobile tires than it did for the navy is likely to convince many people that automobile tires are too costly for common folk to buy.

SPRING MILLS.

All our merchants report a very excellent holiday trade.

Samuel Brown, emergency agent of the P. R. R., spent the holidays here with his parents.

B. H. Donachy, of Lewisburg, spent the holidays here with his mother, Mrs. Maggie Donachy.

During the past week we had very fair sleighing, but the midwinter of late has played havoc with it.

W. O. Gramley, of the Continental Condensed Milk Co., made a business trip to Lock Haven last week.

Miss Anna M. Cummings, after an absence of over three weeks, returned home on Tuesday of last week.

Robert Neese, of Albany, formerly of this place, spent the holidays here with his sisters, Misses Elvina and Alice Neese.

New Year's day was the day of new resolutions, to turn over a new leaf. But unfortunately many of us in our efforts to be "good," turn over leaf, cover and all.

The Christmas edition of the WATCHMAN was a very handsome and attractive newspaper, and so expressed by every one who saw it. Of course we missed the paper last week, it was like losing an old friend.

Some of our young folks were complaining of not feeling very first-rate a day or two after Christmas. Some thought it was a slight attack of the grip, but no doubt the only grip they had was too much grip of turkey. At all events all are about again.

The sudden death of W. B. Mingle, of Centre Hall, last week, was a shock to this community. Mr. Mingle was well known here and highly respected, being cashier of the Pennsylvania Banking Co. Was also well known throughout the county. Centre Hall has lost a very popular and useful citizen.

Christmas and New Year's day were observed here about as usual. Some of our folks entertained quite largely on both holidays, of course on Christmas day presents were exchanged and all the little people were happy with their toys and candies. Allisona flooring mill, H. I. Brian & Co., tinney and coal yards, and the railroad station, after the arrival and departure of passenger trains, were the only business places closed.

BOOK'S MAGAZINE ETC.

SECRETS OF THE UNDERWORLD.—For the first time the country is going to have a clear view of the "seamy side" of New York life—the vast ramifications of graft and crime of which a glimpse was seen in the trial of Police Lieutenant Becker and the four gunmen who killed Rosenthal.

These revelations will be made in a series of articles, entitled "My Life in the Underworld," which will appear in the Philadelphia North American on successive Sundays, beginning Sunday, December 29.

The author is Jack Rose—"Bald" Jack Rose, the gambler, who for twenty years has been familiar with every noted inhabitant of the strange world of which he writes. It was his astounding testimony that sent Becker and the assassins to the death house in Sing Sing.

Rose will "take the lid off" the underworld of New York, and reveal the astonishing life led by its denizens, the thousands who live by crime or by their wits.

You can almost hear the bell ring in the beautiful picture of child life "The Dinner Bell," that is the subject of Hood's Calendar for 1913. The calendar certainly is beautiful and must prove useful. Ask your druggist for a copy.

THE GAZETTE TIMES 1913 ALMANAC.—The Pittsburgh Gazette Times will mark the advent of the new year by issuing its 1913 Almanac, a 500 page book whose every page is packed to the brim with useful information and data of everyday value. The Almanac is well printed, substantially bound, and contained within handsome colored covers. The scope of the book is almost encyclopedic. Beginning with a calendar, specially prepared by the Allegheny Observatory and based on mean Pittsburgh time and intended for use within a radius of 150 miles of Pittsburgh, the Almanac contains a series of interesting surprises as compared to stock publications of this nature.

The book was prepared and printed by The Gazette Times in Pittsburgh. Every line in it is original matter, compiled at great expense and with minute care. Its data will be found of extraordinary value to the residents of Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia.

The book will be on sale by all agents of The Gazette Times at 25 cents a copy, or may be ordered by mail for 35 cents. The Almanac will be ready in a few days.

LITERARY NOTES.—It is not easy for the Youth's Companion to surpass its previous achievements, but every possible effort has been made by the editors to do so during the coming year. Those who write for it will include: Col. G. W. Goethals, Chief Engineer of the Panama Canal; Judson Harmon, Governor of Ohio; Champ Clark, Speaker of the House of Representatives; Arnold Bennett, Mrs. Burton Harrison; "Charles Egbert Craddock," the novelist of the Tennessee mountains; Mrs. Maurice Huplett, the woman aviator; Egerton Castle, author of famous historical stories; Bishop Lawrence, of Massachusetts; Arthur T.
