An Academy student was arrested on Saturday for tearing down a quarantine card for measles. He was given a hearing before Burgess Bower the same evening and fined ten dollars and costs, a total of $12.75. His excuse for tearing down the card was that he thought the house was unoccupied and he was going to tack it on another house as a joke.

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Miss Louisa Draper and Frank M. Curtin, both of San Bernardino. Mr. Curtin, who is the only son of James Curtin, of Bellefonte, went to California several years ago on account of ill health, which has been so greatly benefited by the climate that he has made San Bernardino his home. Although no date has been set for the wedding, it is expected to take place during the summer.

After defeating the resident hunters' license bill last week by a vote of 145 to 29, the House of Representatives took it up for re-consideration on Monday evening and after some debate passed it by a vote of 112 to 77. It now goes to the Senate for concurrence or rejection and what that body will do with it is hard to predict. In the meantime Centre county hunters might as well begin to save their pennies as the probability is they will need them to pay for a license.

At a congregational meeting of the Lutheran church on Sunday it was decided to build a parsonage on the lot alongside of the church on Linn street. While no definite plans have been prepared so far it is altogether likely there soon will be, as the parsonage is to be erected during the coming summer. The Lutheran church has never had a parsonage in Bellefonte, its ministers living wherever they could secure a suitable residence, so that a parsonage right alongside of the church will be a great convenience for future pastors.

Scott Lambert, the janitor at the Y. M. C. A. building who has been housed up under quarantine the past month on account of smallpox, has entirely recovered and next Monday the time will be up for lifting the quarantine. Mr. Lambert's recovery wipes out the disease in this section as he was the last to become infected and that is a month ago. Next week the Y. M. C. A. building will be thoroughly fumigated and disinfected and will again be opened to the members and public as usual. Now that the smallpox has been entirely wiped out in this locality those people who two months ago so assiduously spread the report that Bellefonte was in the throes of an epidemic and it wasn't safe to come to town should be just as earnest in circulating the fact that the danger is all past.

The numberless benefits and most generous money contributions throughout the country should arouse great enthusiasm in the Bellefonte people over the Monday night benefit, to be given in Garman's opera house by Miss Bradley and the Bellefonte Choral society. Although the response to the appeal for clothing was all that could be asked, yet as much more can be done by this twenty-five cent contribution which everyone should feel as a personal obligation. Miss Bradley and the Choral society consisting of forty voices, assisted by Miss Dorothy Bible, of Philadelphia, as violinist, can be heard in the opera house Monday evening, April 7th, for twenty-five cents to any part of the house. The proceeds go to aid in alleviating the sufferings of the flood victims of the State of Ohio.

In addition to the many whom we have mentioned from time to time having been caught this spring with the moving contagion are Benjamin Brown, of Howard street, and Clayton Brown, of Burnsie street, who with their families will go to Niagara Falls; a family of Otts, at the Forge, will go to Williamsport to make their home, and a family of Rays, from the same place, to North Tonawanda, N. Y.; Mrs. Sara Fulton has gone from Pine street to Phoenix street; Charles Hughes and family from Bishop street to the Lynn house on Pine street; William Daley and family, from the McGinley house to one of the new Crider houses on Lamb street; Solomon Bartlett, from Dr. Kirk's chicken farm just out of town, to the John Woods farm at Nigh Bank, Harry Houser of Pleasant Gap to take his place; Edward Gehret and family, from Bishop street to their new house on east Allegheny street; James Shorter and wife from St. Paul street where they have lived for twenty-two years to east Pike alley; Christ Young, from Thomas to Howard street, Rex Bartlett to occupy the Thomas street house; George Johnson from Penn street to Mertie Cunningham's house on Bishop street, both sides of the double house on Penn street from which he moves will be occupied by Stover families; Lyman Corman the drayman to State College and Irvin Gettig from the Harper house on west High street out to the new penitentiary grounds.

Critchfield, of Lock Haven; two sisters, Misses Anna and Katharine McCaffrey, of Bellefonte; and also one brother, Larry McCaffrey, of Pittsburgh. The funeral was held from the church of the Immaculate Conception, Lock Haven, at nine o'clock on Wednesday morning, and was very largely attended. LEMONT.

William Mayes, of Bellefonte, visited relatives in town last week.

There has been lots of rain and cold weather the last few weeks.

Prof. Thomas C. Houtz, of Selinsgrove, visited among his friends in these parts last week.

The farmers are busy plowing and getting ready to put out their spring crops as soon as the weather settles.

The cold weather that we have been having will be hard on the early fruit, and it is feared that some of it has been frozen.

Rev. Foss preached his first sermon, Sunday, in the United Evangelical church, at this place, and all the congregation seemed pleased. May it be a pleasant year for both minister and congregation.

The Centre Furnace Sunday school will hold a box social at the school house on Saturday evening, for the purpose of building up the school, and as it is doing a good work we bespeak for all a pleasant evening.

George Fikis moved to William Thompson's tenant house; Cornelius Musser from the E. W. Evey house to his home at State College; Walter Houtz from Pleasant Gap to Jesse Klinger's house, and Robert Bailey from Lemont to Boalsburg.

THE NEEDLE WORK GUILD.—The needle word guild of America owes its origin to an English woman of nobility who was foster-mother to hundreds of orphans in an institution which she had founded and conceived this unique and practical way of providing for her wards. In 1885 a lady traveling in England learned of this charity and brought the idea home to Philadelphia, where her nieces interested a few young women in the work and from this little band the national body governing the branches throughout the United States.

There are now over three hundred branches and each controls its own work. The Bellefonte branch was organized October, 1911, with a president, vice president, secretary and treasurer, and twelve directors who collect annually new garments and the clothing is distributed to those in need in the town and contributions to the hospital. There are no fines, fees or dues—only each member donates two new articles of plain, suitable garments of wearing apparel or household linen, such as sheets, towels, etc., annually.

There were over four hundred contributions in 1911 and more in 1912. This acts also in connection with the charity committee of the Civic club. The needs are great and everyone should feel it a duty and pleasure to help on this great work to give those "who have a chance" in a way to help those who have not.

The Guild must not be introduced under the patronage of any one church, or confined to the limits of any one interest. It is always best that preliminary meetings be held in the parlor of a house whose hostess is popular and capable, and whose name is a guarantee of the worthiness of the cause. If possible to avoid it, never hold meetings in a church, or in any room connected with a church, because, in spite of all protestations, some will persist in believing that the organization has a denominational bias, and non-church-goers will think it distinctly under religious patronage. The Guild should be representative of the broad spirit and best energy of the town in which it is established.

It is estimated that a quarter of a million dollars will be spent in building operations at State College during the coming summer. This will include the new seventy-five thousand dollar federal post-office building; a new twenty-five thousand dollar University club house; an addition to Nittany Inn; two business blocks; several large buildings to be used as residential flats and anywhere from thirty to fifty new residences. Seven thousand dollars have been raised by the undergraduates toward a college hospital but ten thousand more is needed before the institution can be built.

Kentucky Towns Are Inundated and People Camping on Hills—5000 Barrels of Whisky Goes Adrift.

Cairo, Ill., had a little respite from its flood scare, due to the fact that the Ohio river waters were at a standstill from midnight on Wednesday. The reading at that hour was 54. The crest of the Ohio river flood is yet to come.

One cause for the standstill was said to be the vast volume of water now flowing into the lowlands of the drainage district following a levee break there.

It was reported that the water is flowing over the Big Four tracks in that section for a distance of three-fourths of a mile. Hope is held out that the waters may continue to recede, that the city may be better prepared for the high water's coming.

The south levee at Shawneetown was blown out with dynamite to reduce the pressure of the water and save lives at Cairo and other river points. No lives were lost. The damage is about $100,000.

Shawneetown was twelve feet deep in water, and the levee was awash in places. As soon as the water in the levee had equalled the stage of the Ohio outside, the militia permitted the telephone girls and the citizens' committee, consisting largely of business men, to enter. The telephone exchange was built taking floods into account, and the girls in the exchange are above any possible water. They keep Shawneetown, the oldest existing city in Illinois, in touch with the rest of the world.

Of the 2000 inhabitants of the town 600 are in tents on the ridge a mile back from the city. A detachment of the militia is in charge. The rest of the people have gone elsewhere. This is the first time the water has been inside the Shawneetown levee since the dike broke April 3, 1898, and thirty lives were lost.

Kentucky Towns Submerged.

Louisville, Ky., April 3.—A large warehouse of the Rugby Distillery company, in the western end of the city, weakened by the flood, collapsed, releasing to the river about 5000 barrels of whisky, valued at a quarter of a million dollars.

The threatened collapse of weakened buildings was the only source of anxiety, as the vest of the flood had passed Louisville with a stage of slightly more than forty-five feet.

Lower river points continued to experience rising water. At Paducah the water is standing more than two feet deep in the lower sections. Henderson and Owensboro were taxed with the care of hourly increasing refugees. At Wickliffe, where there are more than 3000 refugees, the shelter situation was becoming acute.

Refugees are rushing to the hills back of Hickman in large numbers, while hundreds of laborers are at work sand-bagging the levee to keep out the threatening Mississippi. Water stands three to four feet deep in the deserted residences and business houses of Columbus.

A great deal of difficulty is being experienced in keeping negro laborers at work at the levees. In many instances it has been necessary to keep them in Hickman at the point of a rifle. "Rube" Waddell, the base ball player, here with his team, kept several negro prisoners in a poolroom all night.

Luzerne County, Pa., Man Flees When Thefts Are Discovered.

W. M. Calver, a United States post-office inspector, said that the accounts of Charles Brightaupt, postmaster at Drums, a fourth class office near Berwick, Pa., is short $200 in his accounts. Brightaupt is missing and is said to be in Canada. Other alleged shortages charged to Brightaupt are $10,000, said to have been raised on false notes, and an alleged shortage in his accounts as collector of Luzerne county taxes.

Surgeons Hope Thus to Cure Cancer of the Liver.

A silver tube containing twenty milligrams of radium, worth $2500, which has been inserted in a cancer on the liver of Malcolm Watson in the Methodist hospital in Philadelphia, is expected gradually to kill the growth.
