COST OF LIVING GOES HIGHER

During the latter part of 1912 the cost of living in the United States was higher than at any other time during the past twenty-three years.

The bureau of labor statistics has just issued a report on retail prices from 1890 to 1913. The lowest cost was reached in each of the geographical divisions and in the United States, as a whole, in 1896. From that date to 1912 the total increase in the cost of living a year for a workingman's family by geographical divisions was:

North Atlantic, $166; South Atlantic, $152; North Central, $187; South Central, $186, and Western, $152.
