

May Check Law By Referendum

The Assembly Passes Measure by Big Majority—Secretary Bryan Heading Home.

The opponents of anti-Japanese legislation in Sacramento, Cal., are now banking strongly on the referendum to delay a crisis and give time for an amicable adjustment with Japan.

The Webb bill, passed by the assembly with a big majority, is in Governor Johnson's hands. He will probably sign it.

A referendum petition would require 20,000 signatures before the law could be temporarily nullified, pending an election. The matter could not be submitted to the people until the fall of 1914, a delay of nineteen months, in case the proposed referendum petition gained enough signatures.

Representatives of the board of directors of the Panama-Pacific exposition at San Francisco have intimated that the board might foster a movement to allow the referendum against any anti-alien bill that might be passed. Recently the exposition company has been joined by several commercial and trade bodies in the larger cities, who fear Japan will levy reprisals upon California by abrogating present business relations.

As Secretary Bryan concluded his mission with a message of farewell to the joint session of the two houses, he gave renewed assurance of the friendly interest and co-operative attitude of the national administration toward the peculiar problems of California, transmitting the president's latest criticism of the bill and rehearsing against those objections already made public. In reply Senator Gates, speaking for the state, said:

"This legislature appreciates the honor that has been done to this state by the visit of the secretary of state. We realize that his coming to co-operate with us marks an era in American politics. It brings the federal government into close touch with the individual states.

"On the part of the legislature I wish to express our profound appreciation and gratitude for the interest taken by the national government in a problem confronting the state of California, and to assure the president that, even if we may differ with him, we do it with the profoundest respect for his opinions and those of the secretary of state. And if we feel impelled to depart from that advice, we do it with respect for that advice.

"I propose and desire on the part of this legislature to thank the president and his secretary for their assistance, and I express the hope that this visit may be a forerunner of further activity by the national government in assisting the states in their work."

Secretary Bryan in his address voiced the president's opinion that the words "eligible to citizenship" substituted in the California attorney general's redraft of the alien land measure for the words "ineligible to citizenship" were equally discriminatory and, therefore, objectionable to Japan. If a law must pass, he urged that it be limited in its operation to two years, in order that meanwhile diplomacy might so improve the international situation that re-enactment by the next legislature would be unnecessary.

This suggestion, which had not yet reached the president, he said, was made "for the consideration of those who have yet to act upon the subject."

U. S. Recognizes China.
The new Chinese republic was formally recognized by the United States. Mr. Williams, the charge d'affaires at Peking, cabled that he had delivered the formal recognition, as he was authorized to do, upon complete organization of the new government.

This action by the United States government has brought about a most interesting international situation and brings to the fore the intentions of the five other powers, in the loan negotiation, from which the United States recently withdrew, announcing its purpose to recognize China and urging the other powers to do the same.

It is known that some of them required more than a mere organization of a national legislature, between which and the provisional executive serious friction already had developed, and that they were disposed to await the installation of a president chosen by constitutional methods and with evident adequate support to maintain himself.

On the other hand the recent action of Yuan Shi Kai in concluding the $125,000,000 loan with the five-power group is expected to prove a powerful incentive to those governments to join the United States in the recognition of China.

"Squire's" House Dynamited.
The home of E. J. Dalley, of McAdoo, near Hazleton, Pa., a justice of the peace, was dynamited and damaged to the extent of $1500. Part of the property was shattered and much of the furniture destroyed, but the family escaped uninjured. It is believed the dynamiting was the work of persons who had a grievance against the justice because of adverse decisions in litigation.

G. A. R. Would Meet in Chattanooga.
The Grand Army of the Republic will have its 1913 reunion in Chattanooga, Tenn. An invitation is extended to them, according to a statement given out in Chattanooga by General Alfred B. Beers, commander-in-chief of the Union Veterans' organization.

Managers of Eastern Lines Declare Demands of Conductors and Others Would Cost $17,000,000 a Year.

Simultaneously the railroads of the east refused to grant the demands of their conductors and trainmen for an increase in pay and announced that they would ask the interstate commerce commission to permit an increase of 5 per cent on all freight rates.

The refusal to grant higher wages to the conductors and trainmen, the demands of the engineers and firemen having been settled by arbitration, was made public by the conference committee of the managers of the eastern roads in New York.

"The wages and working conditions which you request," says the reply, "would increase the pay of the 100,000 conductors and trainmen of the railroads in the eastern district by approximately $17,000,000, or 20 per cent per annum.

"The increase would be equivalent to placing on those properties a lien of $425,000,000 of 4 per cent securities which would have a preference over first mortgage bonds.

"If the railroads are forced to pay extravagant wages to men in train service, the burden must fall on the public. You will readily see, therefore, why, in considering your demands, we hold the public interest paramount.

"Already the traffic of a growing country has overtaken the existing facilities; and the heavy burdens incurred through ill-considered legislation, such as extra crew bills—for which the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen is alone responsible—have forced on the public, needless expenditures of millions of dollars annually. All of these factors are making it impossible for many of the roads to provide those facilities which prudent foresight demands, and which the interests of the public require.

"In making demands for extravagant wages—wages entirely out of accord with the railroads' obligations as a whole—railway employees apparently act on the assumption that a strike that would tie up traffic would never be permitted by the public. They seem to think that if a strike is to be avoided the railroads must give way—that the public will force them to give way, believing that arbitration must take place, and that in the end the splitting of differences between what they demand and the wages they receive will result in their favor.

"In other words, the employees have everything to gain and nothing to lose."

Labor Leaders' Sentences Reduced.
The contempt of court judgments against Samuel Gompers, Frank Morrison and John Mitchell, officials of the American Federation of Labor, were sustained by the court of appeals of the District of Columbia in Washington.

The court revised the sentences so as to give Gompers thirty days' imprisonment and fine Mitchell and Morrison $500 each, with no jail term.

The chief justice, dissenting, held that the entire judgment should be reversed. The lower court gave Gompers one year, Mitchell nine months and Morrison six months, without options of fines. All were convicted of violating a court injunction in the noted Bucks Stove and Range case.

An appeal from the decision will be taken to the supreme court of the United States if attorneys for the labor leaders can find ground upon which to ask the highest court to review the judgment.

On a previous appeal to the supreme court the judgment was effectually dismissed and the contempt proceedings were brought all over again.

In the previous action the decision of the court below holding the men in contempt was unanimous. The dissenting opinion of the chief justice probably will present one avenue of further appeal. The case has been a hard-fought one and attracted wide attention because of the prominence of the men involved.

The contempt was alleged to have been the publication of the name of the Bucks Stove and Range company in a so-called "boycott list" in the American Federation of Labor's official magazine after it had been forbidden by the court.

Cow Beats Horse in Race.
To settle a controversy of long standing as to their racing ability, a contest between a cow and a pacing mare owned by rival hotelkeepers in New Richmond, Wis., drew a big crowd to the fair grounds.

The cow is the property of Anthony Meath, proprietor of the Commercial house, and the horse is owned by George Cranston, of the National hotel. The horse either was to trot or pace, the cow to go as she pleased. It was to be once around the half-mile track, standing start. The cow was a safe winner. Colonel Meath's winnings aggregated $24.

Woman Must Return $40,000.
Mrs. Laura B. Cramer, a state department clerk in Washington, who is charged with having used "spook influences" upon Penton J. Hurd, a Greenwich, Conn., millionaire, to obtain $40,000, will have to turn the money back to his estate.

Mrs. Cramer admitted having obtained $40,000 "because Hurd was grateful for her care of him," and a lower court left her in possession of the money. The court of appeals reversed that decision.

Congressman Drops Dead.
Representative Lewis J. Martin, of Newton, N. J., dropped dead in the Union station in Washington.

Mr. Martin was a Democrat and was one of the new members of the house, going in on the Democratic wave last November. He was born near Deckertown, Sussex county, N. J., on Feb. 22, 1844. He was a member of the house of assembly in 1875, 1880 and 1881 and later was law judge of Sussex county. He served two terms in the New Jersey state senate.

Two Go Over Dam to Death.
Two men were drowned and a third had a narrow escape when a rowboat containing three fishermen was swept over the breast of a dam in the Schuylkill river near Klappertal, below Reading, Pa.

The dead are: Matthew Pawling, aged forty years; Anthony Lemmer, forty-five years old.

Harry Luebka, thirty-five years old, saved himself by clinging to the projecting limb of a tree until he was rescued by other fishermen.

Dr. Patton Resigns from Princeton.
Dr. Francis Tandy Patton, D. D., LL. D., who for the past eleven years has been president of the Princeton Theological seminary, tendered his resignation to the board of directors of the institution at the annual commencement in Princeton, N. J. Old age and failing eyesight were Dr. Patton's reasons for his action. He is seventy years of age.

A packet of upwards of 500 love letters of Robert and Elizabeth Barrett Browning was bought at auction in London for $32,750 by a New York dealer. The bidding started at $3000 and rose rapidly by bids of $250 each.

Takes Four Poisons to Die.

Ohio Aviator Killed.

Keep the Balance Up.
It has been truthfully said that any disturbance of the even balance of health causes serious trouble. Nobody can be too careful to keep this balance up. When people begin to lose appetite, or get tired easily, the least imprudence brings on sickness, weakness, or debility. The system needs a tonic, craves it, and should not be denied it; and the best tonic of which we have any knowledge is Hood's Sarsaparilla. What this medicine has done in keeping healthy people healthy, in keeping up the even balance of health, gives it the same distinction as a preventive that it enjoys as a cure. Its early use has illustrated the wisdom of the old saying that a stitch in time saves nine. Take Hood's for appetite, strength, and endurance.
