SINGER.—William J. Singer Esq., a former resident of Bellefonte and for six years district attorney of Centre county, died very suddenly and unexpectedly of heart failure at the Hotel Hastings, Brooklyn, on Wednesday of last week. The first word of his death was received in Bellefonte on Saturday when postmaster Harry C. Valentine received a letter from William B. Reeves, landlord of the Hotel Hastings, apprising him of Mr. Singer's death and asking regarding his relatives.

Deceased was a son of Conrad and Margaret Singer and was born in Curtin township on April 21st, 1862, hence at his death was 51 years and 23 days old. He attended the public school of Romola until fifteen years old when he went to the grammar school at Howard and then one year at the Spring Mills Academy. He taught school one term when seventeen years old then took a year at the Lock Haven Normal. He taught school four years after which he spent a year at State College and in 1886 entered the law office of Orvis, Bower & Orvis for the study of law. He was admitted to the Centre county bar in April, 1889, and in the fall of 1892 was elected district attorney of Centre county. He was re-elected in 1895, serving out his two full terms. After his retirement from the office he continued the practice of law until his health failed about ten years ago when for a time he was compelled to abandon his practice. He had a bad case of Bright's disease and the doctors had practically given him up, when he took a turn for the better and recovered. After his recovery, or about eight years ago he left Bellefonte and located in New York where he had been ever since.

During his residence in Bellefonte Mr. Singer became connected with the National Guard as a member of the Fifth regiment and for a year or two served as commissary sergeant of the Second brigade. He had charge of the commissary during the Homestead riots. Mr. Singer was a member of the Reformed church and was well known throughout the central part of the State.

On November 20th, 1890, he was united in marriage to Miss Edna Clark Trafford, of Huntingdon county, who died about ten years ago. Two sons survive, Edward L., and John Trafford Singer, who are at Asheville, N. C., in charge of Miss Minnie Moore. He also leaves three sisters, Mrs. William Beck, of Nittany; Mrs. John Robb, of Howard; and Mrs. John Royhorn, of Clearfield county; and one brother, Benjamin, whose whereabouts are unknown. Mr. Singer's remains were buried in one of the cemeteries of Brooklyn on Saturday.

He was born in Ireland on November 19th, 1824, hence was 88 years, 5 months and 28 days old. He came to this country when a young man and forty years ago he built a home and cleared a little farm on the top of Nittany mountain, where he lived until the first of April when he was compelled to vacate on account of having sold his farm to the State as part of the new penitentiary site. He was always a hard-working, upright man, and had the respect of all who knew him.

His wife, who bore her marriage was Lena Devine, preceded him to the grave fifteen years ago but surviving him are the following children: Mrs. John Raymond, of Bellefonte; Mrs. Otto Forsell, Dagus Mines; Mrs. Hannah Burke, Altoona; Mrs. John Whiteman, Snow Shoe; John, James and Daniel Callahan, all of Centre Hall.

She was a daughter of John and Maria Green and was born in Elk county on February 13th, 1830, hence was 83 years, 3 months and 7 days old. She had been a resident of Unionville for many years and had many friends in that town and community. She was a life-long member of the Methodist church and until her late illness three weeks ago was always one of the first to enter the church for divine services. Surviving her are two sons, R. T. Comley, of Union township, and W. H. Comley, Tyrone. She also leaves two brothers and one sister living in Elk county. The funeral was held at two o'clock yesterday afternoon. Rev. H. K. From there he went to Karthaus and engaged in the hotel business but about six years ago he returned to Munson and took charge of the Moshannon house. He was unmarried but is survived by three brothers and six sisters. Burial was made at Snow Shoe on Saturday morning.

HAFFER.—Dr. Aaron W. Hafer, a well known dentist of this place, died at the Bellefonte hospital at eleven o'clock Thursday night, May 15th. He had been ailing for six weeks or more and last week his condition became so serious that an operation was decided upon as the only possible means of prolonging his life. This was performed on Thursday morning, when it was discovered that he was suffering with an incurable carcinoma of the bowels. He never fully regained consciousness but died from the shock of the operation, his daughter Alpha being with him to the end.

Deceased was a son of Moses and Katherine Gramley Hafer and was born in Miles township on July 29th, 1845, hence at his death was 67 years, 9 months and 16 days old. His early life was spent in the vicinity of his birth but later he took a course in dentistry at the Pennsylvania College of Dental Surgery, graduating in the class of 1884. Very shortly thereafter he located in Bellefonte and lived here the balance of his life. Forty-three years ago he was united in marriage to Martha Jane Beck, of Covode, Pa., who died twenty years ago leaving four young children. Bereaved of his wife Dr. Hafer assumed the double burden of raising his little family and was both father and mother to his children, and in this respect no man deserves more credit than he.

He was a member of the Methodist church and always earnestly strove to worship his Master in accordance with the dictates of his own conscience. He was also a member of the Pennsylvania Dental Society, the Bellefonte Lodge of Odd Fellows, and the Royal Arcanum. His surviving children are Laura K., wife of Francis S. S. S. Clark, assisted by Revs. A. L. Lathrop, of Mt. Union, and F. L. Barton, of Turbotville. Burial was made in the Advent cemetery.

Announcements have been received of the marriage of Miss Helen Modisette Fuller, of Uniontown, and Alfred Barker, of Atlantic City. Miss Fuller, who years ago visited in Bellefonte quite frequently, was married Tuesday of this week at Atlantic City, where she has made her home for some time. Mr. and Mrs. Barker will live at Haddon Hall, Atlantic City.

The Harmonic club, an orchestra composed of five young ladies of the town, made its first public appearance last night when it furnished the music for the usher's association reception and entertainment at the Methodist church. While they have now broken into publicity they have not as yet signed up for any extensive tour next season, but of course, there is no telling what may happen in the future. It might be apropos to state that the reception last night was a success in every way.

Among those in Bellefonte who have entertained within the past week were Mrs. Ben Bradley, who gave a thimble party at her home on North Spring street, Wednesday afternoon, in honor of Miss Adaline Olewine and her guest, Miss Harriett Ray, who was hostess at a party Wednesday evening, at which Miss Smith of Shoemakersville, was the honor guest. MAJOR HASTINGS SHOTS ROSS HICKOK.—Shortly after six o'clock last Friday evening Major William H. Hastings entered the home of Ross A. Hickok, in Harrisburg, and when ordered from the house by the latter pulled an automatic revolver and opened fire. Three shots were fired before Mr. Hickok succeeded in putting him out of the house and closing the door after which four shots were fired through the door, one of which hit Hickok in the right abdomen but instead of penetrating the abdominal walls the ball was deflected and lodged in the fleshy part of the hip. The Hickoks were at dinner when there was a ring at the door bell and it was answered by Miss Sarah Hastings. As soon as she opened the door her uncle stepped in and pushing her aside demanded to see Hickok. The latter, hearing and recognizing the voice, at once went from the dining room into the hall when Hastings opened fire. While Mr. Hickok was engaged in putting Hastings out of the house his nine year old daughter, Jane Hickok, telephoned for the police and a squad was at once detailed for the work of capturing the Major.

When the latter tired of shooting through the door of the Hickok residence he went north on Second street to his lodging house and out the back way. The police got upon his trail and in a short time located him standing on Verbeke street near Penn, watching some children at play. He made no attempt to run but when the police got within thirty feet of him he opened fire upon them, at the same time taking refuge behind a big tree. The policemen returned the shot and a revolver fight followed, in which half a hundred shots were fired. A thousand people were within range during the fight.

The policemen soon retreated to sheltering trees and house corners. Hastings shot his 32-calibre Colt with deadly aim, each shot taking off a bit of bark from the hiding places of the policemen. He reloaded his first revolver and continued his fight, the policemen all the time keeping up a fusillade of bullets to keep him from reloading.

After the chamber was emptied the second time Hastings threw it away and stepped from behind his tree throwing up his hands as if to surrender. The policemen rushed at him and when they were within thirty feet of him he ripped out the automatic pistol with which he shot Hickok and continued the fight. Hastings here had the advantage for the policemen momentarily in the open were easy marks for the veteran's aim. Policeman Lyne narrowly escaped serious injury.

One of the bullets struck Hastings in the right arm, inflicting a flesh wound, which is not serious. He doubled up as if he was hit in a vital spot and was rushed by the policemen. He was taken to the Harrisburg hospital in a cab which was pressed into service.

The street fight lasted for about ten minutes. Bullets whistled past children as they scampered to safety, women fainted in doorways, some of the braver ones standing within range watching the progress of the fight. Louisa Knisely, daughter of Daniel Knisely, 206 Verbeke street, was shot in the leg, a painful flesh wound. Her father, seeing that she was injured, ran out in the midst of the fight and carried her to the house. She was later treated at the Harrisburg hospital. After having his wound dressed Hastings was locked up in jail on a charge of felonious assault with intent to kill. Hickok's wound is not considered at all dangerous and he will be around in a few days.

Major Hastings spent the latter part of last summer and early part of the winter in Bellefonte, a guest at the Brockerhoff house. At that time he appeared to be liberally supplied with money and always met his obligations promptly. Shortly after Mrs. Hastings and her daughter Sarah went to Harrisburg for the winter Mr. Hastings left Bellefonte and went to Harrisburg where he undertook to open up a school of languages. Major Hastings is a brother of the late Governor Daniel H. Hastings and Mr. Hickok is his nephew by marriage. For years the Major has claimed that the Governor and later his estate owed him money and it was doubtless in brooding over what he contended as his wrongs that led him into a state of mind where he did the shooting, although he maintains that he had no intention of killing anyone.

Young Buffalo's Wild West.

Dwarfing all previous efforts The Young Buffalo Wild West, Vernon C. Seaver's Hippodrome and Col. Cummins' Far East which will exhibit in Bellefonte, on Saturday, May 24th, for two performances, is an amusement enterprise that takes the palm for novelty and originality.

From start to finish the numbers are new, different and original, the Hippodrome, which has never been under canvas before, brings with it many spectacular scenes that are truly wonderful to behold. With only the star lit-sky overhead, and all seats protected from inclement weather, the scenes become all the more realistic when one realizes the closeness of nature to the scenes enacted.

In the Wild West contingent this year will be seen hundreds of cowboys, cowgirls and plainsmen, emblematic to the life led by the early western pioneers and of the hardships endured by them. The ever present menace, the Indian, is represented with this big show by several tribes, many of whom are veterans of the Custer Massacre. They give daily exhibitions of their riding and shooting, descriptive of their life.

From the Far East comes the Cosacks, the Arabs, the Cingalese, the Moari, and representatives from all foreign countries in wonderful feats of strength and endurance.

Annie Oakley, the champion rifle shot of the world, will twice demonstrate her right to the title. Among the numerous co-edu features this year is "The Bounding Hayrack," "The Taximetre," "The Dance in the Jungle" and others, all of them European laugh creators that are sure to please.
