THE DUCKING STOOL

Betsy Didn't Think It a "Pleasant Mode" of Punishment.

In colonial days hog stealing was considered one of the most serious of crimes. At the first offense the thief's ears were slit, at the second his ears were nailed to a pillory, and at the third he suffered death "without benefit of clergy."

Deceitful bakers and careless fish dealers had to "lose their ears," while he who spoke detracting words had his tongue bored by a bodkin.

A Frenchman traveling in America in 1700 describes the ducking stool as a "pleasant mode" of punishing a scolding woman.

In 1635 Thomas Hartley of Virginia wrote of his witnessing the execution of a ducking stool sentence:

"Day before yesterday at 2 of ye Clock, I saw this punishment given to one Betsy Walker, who by ye violence of her tongue made her house and her neighborhood uncomfortable. They had a machine for ye purpose, yt belong to ye Parish. It had already been used three times this summer.

"Ye Woman was allowed to go under ye water for ye space of 1/2 minute. Betsy had a stout stomache and would not yield until she had been under five times. Then she cried piteously. Then they drew back ye Machine, untied ye Ropes and let her walk home a hopefully penitent woman."

You Saw Me.

A tramp stopped at a prosperous looking country house and asked for food.

"Certainly you may have it," replied the owner, whom he happened to address, "and if you will saw some wood I will give you, besides, 50 cents. You might be at it while the breakfast is being prepared." And he led the tramp to the wood pile.

Presently, when the meal was ready, he went to call the tramp, but found he had disappeared. Near the wood pile fluttered a little white paper. He picked it up and read the scrawled words:

"Just tell them that you saw me, but you didn't see me saw."—New York Times.

Entertaining Him.

Daughter of the House—Is it right what mother says, that you are a self made man? Visitor—Yes, my dear child. But what makes you ask? Daughter of the House—I was only wondering what made you give your self such a funny face.—London Telegraph.

The story of Taintains mocked by the food he could not touch, the fountain he could not taste, is the story of every dyspeptic. Life to him must be an endless fast, a ceaseless mortification of the flesh. Dyspepsia can be cured. It is being cured every day by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Cases of the most complicated character and of long standing have yielded to this medicine, when every other means had been tried in vain. "Golden Medical Discovery" cures 98 per cent. of all those who give it a fair and faithful trial.
