Curious Expenses of Government.

Some of the reports made by heads of departments of government at Harrisburg, made in response to a resolution requiring detailed statements of how appropriations are used, are both curious and interesting. For example the Department of Agriculture reports that of $30,000 it asked for "feedstuffs," $25,885.75 will be used in the payment of salaries; $1895 for "supplies, chemicals and apparatus," and $1,425 for postage stamps. This leaves exactly $795 for "feedstuffs." The item of $7,000 "for paris green," goes $6,400 "for salaries and expenses of agents," which leaves only $600 for paris green. Of the $57,000 asked "for the enforcement of the commercial fertilizer act," $45,182 goes for salaries and expenses.

The law creating the Department of Agriculture designates the officials and fixes the salaries and provision is made for the payment of them in the General Appropriation bill. It is not easy to figure out, therefore, why so much other money should be appropriated for salaries. There has been a good deal of talk about duplicating salaries and bunched offices during the present session of the Legislature but even that doesn't account for salaries under the head of "feedstuffs," "paris green" and "enforcing the commercial fertilizer act." Possibly this goes to recompensing lame duck politicians for party service performed or expected, as most of the patronage of all the departments is used for that purpose.

The Attorney General wants $50,000 "for special attorneys' fees," because he has bills for $850 for such services now and expects others which will aggregate $500. But what reason is there for so many special attorneys? Only a few years ago the Attorney General's office was manned by the Attorney General, one deputy and a clerk. Now in addition to the Attorney General there are three deputies and an army of clerks. Under the old regime the office took care of the legal work of the State entirely and no special attorneys were employed or required. Now the Attorney General estimates that it will be necessary to employ $50,000 worth of them within the next two years and that ought to get a good many.

The Progressive National committee of Kansas—WILLIAM ALLEN WHITE—has endorsed President WILSON'S policies, and hereafter expects to act with, and work to strengthen, the Democratic party. A matter proving that at least one man claiming to be a "progressive" has the good of the country at heart, and is not snorting around about a new party simply to be recognized as one of its leaders and be sure of an office if it ever has any to give.

Senator Oliver Balks at the Quiz.

Senator OLIVER, of Pennsylvania, was the first to balk under the lobby quiz. He freely told the committee how many shares of Steel trust stock he owns and as cheerfully confessed that he owns a considerable block of stock in a coal corporation. He admitted the ownership of Pittsburgh newspaper property to an aggregate value of a million and a half dollars. But when he was asked to tell about his investments in copper mines he protested that he was not prepared "to give an inventory of all his property." In this he was supported by the Republican members of the committee and the subject was dropped for the time. The committee may call him again and insist and it may not.

The UNDERWOOD tariff bill changes the tariff schedule on iron and steel and affects the rates on coal. Senator OLIVER expressed the belief that the new rates on iron and steel is a matter of little or no importance and the only point upon which it touches his newspaper investments is in the schedule on white paper. But his refusal to tell about his copper interests opens up a wide field for conjecture. A Senator is expected to refrain from voting upon questions in which he has pecuniary interests and the natural inference is that Mr. OLIVER wants to vote on the copper schedule and is afraid that he will be challenged.

Conditions have changed in Washington since the inauguration of a Democratic President and the reversal of the political complexion in Congress. Heretofore Senator OLIVER has voted on all sorts of measures regardless of his pecuniary interests and while the PAYNE-ALDRICH bill was pending he participated in the discussion on the floor. He thinks now, however, that his vote on the iron, steel and coal schedules will make no difference, but that with respect to copper it might be important. Be that as it may he has already revealed enough of his connection with the copper industry to disqualify him from voting upon it and if he attempts to do so he should be challenged.

How to Get a Post Office.

Hon. CLYDE H. TAVENNER, for a long time one of the best and most reliable newspaper correspondents at Washington, now representing his home District in Missouri, in Congress, sends us the following synopsis of the requirements necessary to prepare one for the position of post-master. We know it will be read with interest, at least by those who are now, or expect to become candidates for these positions:

Civil Service examinations will be held for the filling of each fourth-class office, and these examinations will be open to all, including the present postmasters. It would not appear from the copy of the Civil Service Commissioner's instructions to applicants for the fourth-class postmaster examinations that the tests are very severe, and yet, experience shows that there are not a few who fail to pass. The subjects covered by the examination and the credits given are:

- (1) Elementary arithmetic and accounts (simple tests in addition, subtraction, multiplication, and division of whole numbers and common and decimal fractions and statements of a postmaster's accounts,) 40 credits.
(2) Penmanship (the legibility, neatness, and general appearance of the competitor's handwriting in the subject of letter writing,) 10 credits.
(3) Letter writing (a letter of not less than 125 words on one of two subjects furnished,) 10 credits.
(4) Copying manuscript addresses (a simple test in copying accurately addresses given,) 10 credits.
(5) Facilities for transacting postal business (based on the location of office, the convenience of office arrangements, etc.,) 30 credits; total 100 credits.

The examination in the first subject consists of five questions along the following lines:

In question 1 the competitor is given eight whole numbers to add and from their sum he is required to subtract another given whole number. In question 2 the competitor is given the value of the stamps canceled at a certain postoffice; the amount of money received for newspaper and periodical postage, and from the sale of waste paper, twine, etc.; also the box rents collected. He is required to enter the figures in a given form, and to compute the salary of the postmaster for the quarter in accordance with the directions given in the form. Question 3 consists of multiplication and division of decimals, and also the reduction of a fraction to a decimal. Question 4 is a practical application of measurements, such as finding how many postoffice boxes of a given size can be put in a certain space, or how many yards of linoleum of a given width are required to cover a floor of a given size, etc.

In question 5 the competitor is given the amount and fee of each money order issued and the amount of each money order paid at a given postoffice for a certain month. From this data he is to make a statement of the postmaster's account with the government in a prescribed form and to balance the statement.

All persons securing an average of 70 will get their names on the eligible list, and from the three highest the Postmaster General will select the postmaster. In the case of persons honorably discharged from the military or naval service by reason of disability from wounds received or sickness incurred in the line of duty, an average of 65 will be sufficient and such applicant will be given preference over all others in appointment.

Where the office pays more than $500 persons over 65 years are made ineligible. Where women are declared by statute of full age for all purposes at 18, they are eligible to examination and appointment. The examination in each case will be held at the most convenient place and will be conducted when possible, by local examining boards. Marking of the papers will be done by the Commission.

It will be necessary for every applicant to fill out an application blank which may be obtained from the postmaster, and notice of time of the examination will be served a few days before it is held. In every case the character and record of the applicant must be good and the applicant be vouched for by at least five persons.

Is Fixed Himself, Others Can Lookout for Themselves.

Centre county's recognized representative of its new kind of Democracy—the kind that takes a pride in boasting that it has been "re-organized"—was sworn in to his $5,000 office on Monday last. Immediately after getting his own name upon the government pay roll, his first official act was to appoint two Republican deputies at salaries of $2,500 each, and to announce, through the Evening Bulletin, that HE HAD IN CONTEMPLATION NO FURTHER CHANGES IN THE STAFF. This first official act as well as his announcement that additional changes in his staff were "not contemplated" may suit the new Surveyor, considerin' the salary that the party has secured for him, but what in the world will our friends, Mr. ARTHUR KIMPORT, Mr. MILES WALKER, Col. JOHN A. WOODWARD and the host of other re-organizers in the county, every mother's son of whom expected a fat place in the custom's service, think of the first official act and announcement that comes from the individual whom they and a couple of inter-meddling State bosses have made and constituted the autocrat of the Centre county Democracy?

—It looks very much as if the tariff mongers in and out of Wall Street are trying to organize a panic. They imagine that an industrial and commercial disturbance would check the progress of tariff legislation for a time and restore the Republican majority in Congress at the next election. But there will be no panic and no restoration.

—The Attorney General is about to test the constitutionality of the law for providing for the five new Judges in Philadelphia but it's a safe bet that he won't exert himself in the matter.

ADDITIONAL LOCAL NEWS.

WILKES.—Rev. James S. Wilkes, pastor of the Milesburg Presbyterian church, died at the Bellefonte hospital at 4:50 o'clock on Monday morning of acute Bright's disease. He was taken sick shortly after the Holidays and had been in the hospital undergoing treatment for about thirteen weeks.

At the Altoona conference in March he was assigned to Curwensville but became ill shortly afterwards and had since been unable to do any ministerial work. BECK.—A letter from Everett, Washington, received on Monday, tells us that Mr. O. C. Beck, formerly of this county, and well known to many of the older residents of Nittany and Halfmoon valleys, passed away at the sanitarium at that place a "few days ago." It gives no particulars and as a consequence we are unable to inform his many friends who read the WATCHMAN either as to the cause or date of his death. Mr. Beck was born and grew to manhood in Marion township, this county. He married Mrs. Rebecca Dorsey, nee Gray, of Halfmoon valley, and after a short residence in Bellefonte, with a number of Centre county people formed a small colony and went to Dakota purposing to make that State their future home. After a short stay in that State, a number of them returned to Pennsylvania but he determined to go farther west and with his family located at Miles City, Montana, where he resided for years. About eight or ten years ago, after the death of his wife and oldest son, he moved to the Pacific coast, locating at Everett, Washington, and has since made that his residence.

Burial was made at Philipsburg yesterday afternoon.

McCarthy, Mount Union, Pa., who will have a headquarters tent on the ground and who is arranging to have tents reserved for all who notify him that they are coming. Don't look for a reply. —Bellefonte fans who visited Hughes field last Friday afternoon to see the ball game between the Bellefonte Academy and University of Pittsburgh got full value for their ticket of admission. It took thirteen innings to decide the game and the Academy came out of the fray victors by the score of 7 to 6. The game throughout was full of thrills and although a little loose at times was quite interesting for the large crowd of spectators. The University of Pittsburgh was defeated on Saturday by State College by the score of 5 to 4. On Saturday the Academy went to Bloomsburg and in a six inning game defeated the Normal team 6 to 1, the Academy having two home runs.

THAT SEWING CLASS EXHIBIT.—The exhibit of the work done by the sewing class in the Bellefonte public schools, (a brief description of which was given in last week's WATCHMAN) was a revelation to the crowd of visitors. The girls and teachers justly deserve the words of praise and expressions of amazement given them by those who closely examined the many garments. The twenty dresses designed, cut and made since Christmas by the eighth grade girls were the admiration of everybody. The girls furnished their own material and used the sewing machine. The work of the other three grades was entirely hand sewing.

The course in sewing is four years, beginning with the fifth grade. About thirty-five girls in the fifth grade made sewing aprons which are to be worn during the four years. They also made doll kimonos, doll dresses and doll underwear. The twenty-five girls in the sixth grade have stitched flannel petticoats some for the use of the Civic club and some for themselves. They made white aprons and night dresses. Twenty girls in the seventh grade made waists for baby skirts, also darned and patched. Two prizes each were given to every class, the judges finding it difficult to decide upon a prize winner as the work was all so excellent.

BURNED TO DEATH.—Frances Hale, the nine year old daughter of Mrs. Norah Hale, of Port Matilda, was burned so badly in the fire which destroyed the home of Joseph Hanley, at Monument, on Sunday night that she died on Monday afternoon. Mrs. Hanley and children were away from home at the time and her sister, Mrs. Norah Hale, a widow with two children, was keeping house for her. One of the latter's children is a boy four years old who was the first one awakened by the smoke. He aroused his mother and she awoke her daughter Frances. They ran into the next room and found Mr. Hanley almost suffocated by the smoke, so that it was with difficulty they succeeded in arousing him. When they did so he rushed for the window and in trying to get it open fell against it and tumbled through taking sash and all. Mrs. Hale succeeded in getting her little boy through safely but the daughter stumbled and fell into the flames. She was dragged out by the agonized mother but not before she was terribly burned, the mother herself being painfully scorched. The girl lingered in agony until three o'clock Monday afternoon when she expired. The remains were taken to Port Matilda where they were buried yesterday.

JOSEPH J. RHOADS PROMOTED.—Nine promotions were announced by the Pennsylvania railroad company on Wednesday and among the number was that of Joseph J. Rhoads, of Altoona, from division engineer of the Middle division to superintendent of the central division with headquarters at Media. Mr. Rhoads is a native of Bellefonte, a son of the late Judge Daniel Rhoads, and his many friends here will hear with pleasure of his promotion. He entered the employ of the Pennsylvania railroad company in March, 1889, as a rodman at Harrisburg. He filled several positions along the system in a manner that met with the favor of higher officials and won him promotion until he was made division engineer at Altoona on January 15, 1910. In this position he has had the opportunity to display his ability and now it has been recognized by promotion to the superintendency of the central division.

ANOTHER BIG EXCURSION TO THE COLLEGE.—The State Grange has arranged for a "Grange Day" at State College, for the young people belonging to families connected with that organization, and has also secured special low rates over the railroads for those who desire to attend on the day fixed Wednesday, June 18. At that meeting we expect to see a much larger crowd than attended the "Farmers Day Meet" last Thursday, when over two thousand people were shown over the college farms, through its laboratories, engineering department, classrooms, etc.

—Have your Job Work done here.

—Last Thursday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Martin Brennan, of Altoona, made a motorcycle run from that city down Bald Eagle valley and on to Williamsport. They left Milesburg about 1:30 o'clock and had not proceeded far when the flyer came along. They raced with the train for some distance then came to a bad piece of road which compelled them to slacken their speed and in attempting to get around a bad hole in the road their motorcycle struck a stone, swerved and collided with the fence. Both Mr. and Mrs. Brennan were thrown some distance but at the time neither one seemed badly injured and they pluckily continued to Lock Haven where they consulted a physician. Mr. Brennan had a bad contusion of the leg and a number of bruises while Mrs. Brennan's worst injury appeared to be a severe sprain of the left ankle. The couple completed the journey to Williamsport and just as they reached the hotel and dismounted from the machine Mrs. Brennan fell fainting in her husband's arms. A physician was summoned and a close examination showed that one of the bones in her left leg was broken.

CHINAMEN PLAY GOOD BALL.—Flushed with their victory over State College on Tuesday the Chinese baseball team came to Bellefonte and on Wednesday afternoon defeated the Bellefonte Academy team 4 to 1, the same score made at Penn State. Fully one thousand people, the largest crowd ever seen on Hughes field, went out to see the game, just for the novelty of seeing Chinamen play ball, and they saw a very fast team, so far as fielding and base running was concerned, though they were not very strong at the bat. Symes, who pitched for the Academy, was a little unsteady in the beginning of the game, walking four men and forcing in a run, otherwise the score would have been a little different.

Many people went to the game expecting to see Chinamen with pigtails and wooden-soled shoes appear upon the Diamond but instead they saw a team of good ball players, not unlike any ordinary team except their swarthy complexions. And so far as being Chinese is concerned they are that in race only, as every one of them is a natural born citizen on the Island of Hawaii, and avowed loyal subjects of the United States. In fact they admit that all they know about China is what they learn from history and the newspapers.

Every man on the team is a bonafide student of the Chinese University of Hawaii, located at Honolulu. They were away ahead in their studies and in order to learn more about the United States conceived the idea of a baseball trip. The matter was taken up with a sporting writer on the New York World and he became their booking agent. They have been in the States over two months and their trip so far has been a success in every way. From Bellefonte they go east and play semi-professional ball until September, when they have twenty-one games booked to play in Michigan. When their tour of that State is completed they will back-track to the Pacific coast and sail for Honolulu where they are due at college some time in October.

Prof. James R. Hughes wishes through the columns of the WATCHMAN to thank the business men of Bellefonte for closing for the above game, and the people of Bellefonte generally for their liberal patronage, which made the last game on Hughes field such a big success.

MEADE—KEPLER.—Miss Florence Kepler, of Pine Grove Mills, and Mr. De Voe Meade, of Clyde, New York, were united in marriage at Williamsport on June 11th, 1913. This was a culmination of a romance which began while Mr. Meade was a student at The Pennsylvania State College, where he graduated in the course of Agriculture. In his Sophomore year in college he was awarded the Carnegie Scholarship and in his Junior year the John W. White Scholarship. He is a member of the Alpha Geta Fraternity and was elected to the Honorary Fraternity of Phi Kappa Phi of The Pennsylvania State College. Immediately after graduation Prof. Meade accepted a position as Agriculturist at Hector, Minnesota. From this position he went to the New York State School of Agriculture at Alfred University as head of the departments of Dairy and Animal Husbandry, which position he holds at the present time. After the wedding ceremony the happy couple left for an extended trip on the Great Lakes and St. Lawrence river during which they will visit at Niagara Falls, Canada, the Thousand Islands and other points of interest along the route. Mr. and Mrs. Meade will be at home to their friends at Alfred, New York, after August 1st, 1913.

HARPSTER—WAGNER.—On Wednesday of last week Alfred Harpster and Miss Viola Wagner, both of Ferguson township, went over to Huntingdon where they were quietly married at the M. E. church. The bridegroom is employed on the Lewisburg and Tyrone railroad and the young couple will take up their residence at Warriorsmark.

PACKER—HOUTZ.—Charles E. Packer and Miss Hannah R. Houtz, two well known young people of Waddle, were married at the United Brethren parsonage on Wednesday morning by the pastor, Rev. C. W. Winey.

DROWNED ON NIAGARA RIVER.—Miss Violet Swift, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Swift, of Philipsburg, was drowned on the Niagara river, near Niagara Falls, on Tuesday evening. Miss Swift was a teacher of mathematics in the High school at Niagara Falls, and as an entertainment for her sister Bella, a teacher in the Philipsburg schools, who went to the Falls last Saturday on a visit, accepted an invitation from a gentleman friend to go rowing on the river. They had not been on the water long when a motor boat passed very close to them and the swell upset their canoe. Miss Violet was thrown into the water and never came up. Miss Bella and the gentleman were thrown into the river but were rescued by those in the motor boat. Miss Violet's body was recovered next morning.

—The young ladies' bible class of the U. B. church will hold a bake sale on Saturday afternoon and evening, in the room adjoining the church. Home-made bread, pies, cakes, ice cream and candies will be for sale. Your patronage is solicited.

—Now that Colonel WATTERSON of the Louisville Courier-Journal, has indicated his approval of President WILSON we can't see any good reason for delaying the procession.
