

Dr. N. McGee Waters

Pastor Tompkins Avenue Congregational Church, Brooklyn. The Largest Congregational Church in the World.

Large of head and shoulder, kindly of face, Dr. Waters on the platform radiates the vigor and sturdy optimism that is characteristic of the man. He is a master of telling word-craft, and, of course, appeals irresistibly to the educated. At the same time his startling vividness of expression and his sympathetic familiarity with common things make him the friend of the man with calloused hands. Dr. Waters lectures to an audience with the tremendous earnestness of a speaker who is satisfied with nothing short of the everlasting awakening of every listener on the benches. That is the spirit that packs his church pews and crowds the tents of the Chautauqua Association in every town.

PINE GROVE MENTION.

To everybody a glorious Fourth. The Baileyville picnic is billed for August 16th. James Hoover is in bed threatened with an attack of fever. But little grass has been cut for hay so far, and it will be a short crop. 'Squire Keller transacted business at the county clerk Wednesday. Dr. C. T. Aikens filled the pulpit in the Lutheran church last Sunday evening. Mrs. Charles and Mrs. E. M. Kuhn are visiting friends in the Lumber city this week. John Sausseman and wife attended the funeral of Wm. Ripka, in Georges valley, Wednesday. Shird Moore, the veteran cow buyer, was here last week and bought some good cows for his yard. Gertie Keichline is arranging for a month's visit with her sister, Mrs. Sadie Felding, on Long Island. On account of a rock falling on Charley Gumbo's right foot he is quite lame, but no bones broken. The farmers institute managers have decided on a two day's meeting in our town—date not yet fixed. Mrs. Nellie Davis, after a brief visit to her father, who is some better, returned to her home at Tionesta on Monday. Frank Smith was awarded the contract for carrying the mail from here to State College, and will take charge of the job July 1st. Prof. Claude Aikens, of the Susquehanna University, autoed here on Friday and greeted old chums in and out of town several days. Theodore Ritchie, an employee on the Pennsylv, is having a little outing among friends in north Ferguson, sampling strawberries, cherries and such. C. C. Johnstonbaugh and wife enjoyed a drive through the valley Tuesday morning passing through Pine Grove and Fairbrook to State College. Mrs. Mary Bailey Hewitt, of Kansas City, Mo., and her sister, Mrs. Esther Gregory, of Nef's Mills, are visiting the home of their childhood here. Grandmother Cronemiller, who has been visiting her children in the far west the past year, returned home last week perfectly contented with old Centre county. Griffith Lytle, of Downs, Kan., en route for Gettysburg, is greeting old friends here. He was a member of the fighting 49th P. V., and saw service under Col. Wm. Irvin. Allen Burwell and family took their leave for their first home near Beaver Creek, Minn., on Thursday. Their many friends hope for them a safe journey and a profitable exchange. A birthday surprise party was given to Miss Ruth Borest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Struble, at Pine Hall, on Wednesday night, which proved a very happy little gathering. Dr. J. E. Ward and wife and daughter, of Bellefonte, were welcome guests at the old Ward home over Sunday. Mrs. Ward and daughter are prolonging their stay with friends at Baileyville, the doctor returning home Monday. Wm. Glenn and wife, John Shuey and wife, Mat Armstrong, Wm. Houtz and wife, Jesse Klingler, wife and daughter and John C. Houtz and lady composed an auto party to Penns Cave, taking dinner at the Cave and supper at the Old Fort. Last Wednesday evening fifteen couples enjoyed the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Goheen, in dedicating their new pianola player piano. Refreshments were served with a lavish hand by Mrs. Goheen and her assistants and every one present thoroughly enjoyed themselves. A reunion of the well known Bailey family was held at the home of Mr. Scott Bailey, at State College yesterday, in honor of Mrs. Mary Bailey Hewitt, of Kansas City, Mo., who is back for an old home visit after an absence of thirty years. The Bailey family is one of the oldest and best known in this part of the county, and yesterday's gathering was quite a large one. The laying of the corner stone of the new Lutheran church at Gatesburg took place last Sunday morning in the presence of a large gathering of people. The services were in charge of the pastor, Rev. L. S. Spangler, assisted by Dr. C. T. Aikens, of Selinsgrove. The contents placed in the box were a testament, list of church officers and building committee, some old coins, a copy of the International Sunday school lesson, and a WATCHMAN. There was no passing around of the hat as sufficient funds have been provided for the last two weeks. On the plan of the new Lutheran church at Pine Hall, and will be pushed to a finish. McElwain Bros, and J. H. Barr are the builders. At a recent meeting of the Ferguson township school board the following teachers were elected for the winter term: Pine Grove, Geo. R. Dunlap; primary and High school not elected; Branch, H. F. Reed; Pine Hall, Gertie Keichline; Krumrine, Edith Dunlap; Oak, Mary Grace Elder; White Hall, Ed Martz; Glades, Viola Burwell; Baileyville grammar, Clarence Weaver; primary, Helen Ward; Gatesburg, Fred B. Tate; Center, Tadpole and Marengo, not elected. The old vets who go to Gettysburg from this section, to attend the big rally of the blue and gray next week are, Jacob Barto, W. C. Goodwin, Jacob Ayres, Richard Gates, Thomas Burns, John Hook, Henry Sauters, Geo. C. Williams, George Marle, John Williams, Phillip Dale, John Murray, Wm. Rider, J. R. Lemon, Isaiah Beck, C. B. Hess, J. H. Miller, C. H. Martz, John Lighter, J. W. Sunday, Israel Young, D. P. Henderson, W. H. Fry and Prof. Garber.

SPRING MILLS.

Mrs. W. T. Steely, of Sunbury, was here for a few days last week, a guest of her sister, Mrs. C. C. Cummings. Wm. Pealer has been on the sick list for the last two weeks. His present condition is not very encouraging. The sudden death of the Hon. W. C. Heinle, last week, was a great shock to his many friends in this community. The celebration of the Fourth of July in our town has been postponed until Sunday comes in the middle of the week. C. P. Long is fitting up the old building on the "Hill," formerly the Bibby hotel, and it will be occupied by several families. Quite a number of our fishermen were so thoroughly disgusted with their ill luck in bass fishing that they threw their fishing tackle into the wood house, and went to the hay field. We had quite a severe wind storm here on Friday last, lasting only a short time, but nevertheless it demolished considerable rickety fencing and scattered loose boards in every direction. Hon. William M. Allison, who had about recovered from a very serious spell of sickness and was able to go on Friday last and is again confined to his bed. The large hog pen just erected by the Spring Mills Creamery Co., capable of housing over a hundred porkers, has been neatly painted which adds greatly to its appearance. His hogship may now be proud of his new habitation.

LEMON.

Bruce Mitchell came up from West Virginia to visit his brother here in town. The farmers think the heavy frost the first part of the month did not hurt the wheat. Rev. Thomas C. Houts is making his yearly visit in town, with his brother and sister. John Bohn had the misfortune to get hurt one day last week, when the horse that he was driving ran away. The directors of College township met Tuesday evening of last week and elected a corps of teachers for the term opening in September. Last Wednesday evening when Grant Houser returned home from helping a neighbor, he found that the following neighbors had gathered at his home to help him celebrate his forty-eighth birthday: Mr. and Mrs. Philip Dale; Mr. and Mrs. Luther Dale and two daughters; Mrs. Dale and son William; George Williams; Mrs. Mary R. Miller and daughter Ruth; Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Ribbel; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Benner and Elwin Benner; Edward Zong and son Carl; Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Klingler and children, Jesse and Helen; Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Kearns and children, Ralph and Margat; Mr. and Mrs. William Williams; Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Williams and daughter Sara; Mr. and Mrs. George D. Williams and son Guy, and Mr. Shirz. Each one spent a very pleasant evening and departing wished for him many happy returns of the day.

President Urges Money Reform

Change in the Currency System the Only Way to Benefit Revision, Congressmen and Senators Are Told.

President Wilson, for the second time since his inauguration, appeared before both houses of congress in joint session and addressed them in advocacy of legislation which he deemed of an imperative nature. The first occasion was last April at the opening of the special session of congress, when the president shattered the precedent of more than a century and appeared personally before congress, instead of sending a written message, to urge the immediate downward revision of the tariff. Monday's event was no less important and none the less interesting, the galleries of the house being crowded long before the entrance of Mr. Wilson. The purpose of the president was to urge the immediate enactment of the banking and currency bill, prepared by Representative Glass, chairman of the house banking and currency committee; Senator Owen, head of the similar committee of the senate, and Secretary of the treasury McAdoo. This Mr. Wilson did, emphatically but tersely, the delivery of his address from the speaker's rostrum where Speaker Clark presided with Vice President Marshall at his side, and the entire formal ceremony lasting less than half an hour. The president declared that congress, through the enactment of the pending tariff law, was about to set free the business men and industries of the nation and that this work must be supplemented by providing an elastic currency with safeguards to prevent the concentration and control of money in any one place. He asserted that this reform of the currency would be needed now more than ever, in view of the new tariff conditions, and that congress could not shirk the duty of providing a means for the opportunity presented to it in the Democratic revision of the tariff. He said further: "It is absolutely imperative that we should give the business men of this country a banking and currency system by means of which they can make use of the freedom of enterprise and of individual initiative which we are about to bestow upon them. We are about to set them free by removing the trammels of the protective tariff. "It is perfectly clear that it is our duty to supply the new banking and currency system that the country needs, and that it will immediately need it more than ever. "We must act now, at whatever sacrifice to ourselves. "We must have a currency readily and elastically responsive to sound credit, the expanding and contracting and credits of everyday transactions." The administration currency bill was not introduced in the house as expected. Representative Glass explained that until some details were changed he could not present it to the house. He expects to introduce the bill this week. The president's address was delivered to the joint session of congress. The members of the senate, led by Vice President Marshall and the Secretary of the senate, James M. Baker, marched into the hall of the house. The senators were seated on the Democratic side well to the front, while the vice president was received by the speaker and escorted to a seat on the platform.

Two Men Plunge 1200 Feet Down a Shaft Near Pottsville. Dropping 1200 feet down the shaft of the Kaska William colliery of the Atlantic Coal company, in the Schuylkill valley, near Middleport, Pa., Peter Musk and Michael Mero were dashed to death. The two men were working on a battery doing some blasting. The concussion loosened this platform of timbering and they plunged headlong to their doom. Tons of earth and debris were loosened and fell upon and about them at the bottom of the shaft. It took a rescue party fifteen hours to recover the bodies.

CURTIS GUILD ROBBED. Parisian Thief Gets $1000 in Cash and $50,000 Letter of Credit. Curtis Guild, who recently resigned his post as United States ambassador at St. Petersburg, was robbed of $1000 in cash and a letter of credit for $50,000. Mr. Guild is staying at a hotel in Paris. Xavier Guichard, head of the criminal investigation department, and a large force of detectives were at once sent out to search for the thief.

BOOKS, MAGAZINES, Etc. BIG PRIZES IN GOLD READY FOR SUCCESSFUL CONTESTANTS.—The solution of picture puzzles is always an interesting pastime, but it becomes more so when the added incentive is a prize in gold coin for those who are successful. "With a view to learning just how keen-witted its readers are the Pittsburgh Gazette Times has started a street puzzle contest in which $5,000 in gold will be distributed as follows: First prize, $1,000; second prize, $500; third prize, $250; five prizes each $100; 10 prizes, each $50; 20 prizes, each $25; 50 prizes, each $10; 250 prizes, each $5. This contest has none of the subscription-getting, vote-securing features of so many things of the kind, but is simply a test of the discerning powers of the reader. The pictures will conceal the names of Pittsburgh thoroughfares. There will be 90 puzzles in all and as a guide to their solution the Gazette Times will publish from time to time a list of streets in which are contained the winning names. The Gazette Times guarantees the genuineness of the contest; it always meets its promises and assures those who enter the contest as fair a deal as was ever given by any newspaper. Full particulars will be sent by addressing the Contest Manager, Gazette Times, Pittsburgh, Pa.
