The Penn State football team will open the season tomorrow on Beaver field in a game with Carnegie Tech. Six new men will be in State's line-up this year and naturally there is more or less curiosity as to the outlook for the team. Last year State was not defeated once and if Bill Hollenback can take five old players and build up a team equal to that of last year he will more firmly establish himself as one of the greatest football coaches in the country.

HOSPITAL RUMMAGE SALE.—The Ladies Auxiliary of the Bellefonte hospital will hold a rummage sale in the vacant store room in the Aiken block, beginning Wednesday evening, October 15th, 1913, at 7 p. m., and continuing all day Thursday and Thursday evening the 16th. All those having donations of any kind whatever will please call Mrs. Joseph Cedar on Bell phone. It is sincerely hoped that all citizens of Bellefonte as well as the surrounding community will do all they possibly can to make this sale a success.

A congregational meeting of the Presbyterian church was held after prayer meeting on Wednesday evening and after sanctioning the recommendation of the building committee that the plans of Miss Anna Keichline, architect, for the repairing of the front part of the church, which was damaged by the blowing down of the steeple, voted the board of trustees authority to have the work done. The only question now is whether to proceed with the work this fall, owing to the possibility of being overtaken by cold weather, or wait until spring.

Bellefonters are invited to spend an evening of mirth and music, at Garman's opera house Monday, October 6th, with John S. Marble and his talented company of singers, dancers and frasers, including Vera Velmar, Tom Corless, Edna B. Roberts, Frank McNeelis, Nella Gilbert, Joseph P. Daly an others, in "Dear Old Billy." Endorsed by the press and public for its speed, cleanliness and new fangled ideas. Said to be the best imported farce since "Charley's Aunt." The cast is garnished with pretty girls who know how to sing and dance and win the approbation of the audience. Prices, 25, 35, 50, 75 cents and $1.00.

There are few places in the heavens or earth or waters under the earth, that man who turns the crank of the motion picture camera has not invaded in his strenuous search for the original, the strange and the startling, but perhaps the top notch of all the achievements of his brother operators was capped when J. C. Hemment, who took the Paul J. Rainey African Hunt Pictures, which will be seen at Garman's tonight and tomorrow, afternoon matinee and evening, secured his water-hole film, which is the big feature, and was pronounced by Professor Henry Fairfield Osborne, of the American museum of natural history, as the greatest contribution to natural science of the past decade. It was weeks before a sufficient assemblage of animals was at the hole at once to make a good picture, but finally he secured a film, which took eight different species of animals at once. Friday matinee 3.30, Saturday matinee 2.30; evenings 8.30. Prices, 25, 35 and 50 cents.

He then entered the machine shops at Milesburg and after learning his trade went to the machine shops at Altoona. NEW PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH, STATE COLLEGE.

FACTS RELATIVE TO THE NEW PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH AT STATE COLLEGE.—On Sunday, October 5th, there will be dedicated a Presbyterian church in the borough of State College which will be of unique interest to the Presbyterians throughout the whole State.

Some years ago the churches throughout the country began to be aware that their young men, becoming students at State Universities, lacked close contact with their denominational church, and that however good the influences at their College, they came out as graduates having a four years' mental training with a consequent great change in mental outlook, and in the meantime had grown away from their church life.

It was determined by several denominations that this condition must be remedied by providing a church relationship for the student during his four years' course, so that his church life might grow along with his mental development. The idea reached Pennsylvania from the West some years ago, and has been slowly developing.

The Presbyterians began to consider the matter about eight years ago, and their plans are now consummated in the completion of this beautiful new church. State College had a Presbyterian church which was self supporting, thriving, a good giver to benevolences, and not in any sense an organization needing aid, but its building was too small to permit its taking up this new idea, and the congregation was numerically too small to undertake the erection of a suitable building. The scheme was therefore evolved of having the local church supply what funds it would naturally need to build for itself a building adequate for local needs, and to have the Presbyterians through the State, organized as the Synod of Pennsylvania, supply sufficient funds to make the building large enough to give church advantages to their sons and daughters attending State College.

The agent in collecting these State funds was to be the Board of Education of the Presbyterian church, which has supervision over the student life within this denomination through the United States.

A little more than a year ago sufficient financial support had been given to the scheme to justify the building committee in proceeding with the church. It was practically finished by the first day of September, and the dedication service next Sunday will find it complete throughout.

The building has been erected at a cost of about $50,000. It is of Gothic architecture and of stone construction. It is beautiful and commodious, without being expensively elaborate or too large for the work expected of it.

Even in the small building a considerable number of students attended the Sunday school and other services of the church, and now within three weeks after the completion of the building the students' attendance is greatly increased. Sunday morning chapel attendance is compulsory at the College, but students who wish to attend the church of their own denomination in the town are excused if a request is made by their parents.

A plan is about to be introduced in the Presbyterian church by which students being church members at home may bring such letters to the State College church as will admit them as associate members; thus giving them a church home without severing their connection with their home church.

Many prominent Presbyterians of Pennsylvania are interested in this new move. Mr. Alba B. Johnson, president of the Baldwin locomotive works and elder in the Presbyterian church at Bryn Mawr, is a member of the building committee. He has presented the church with a splendid bronze bell, weighing 2000 lbs. Mrs. Turner, of Philadelphia, whose husband was a former member of the board of education, gave the church a Haskell pipe organ. Professor John Hamilton, one of the founders of the church and an elder since its organization, has presented a beautiful art window with the inscription "To the Memory of the Founders of This Church." Other donors have given gifts of furniture and money.

The building stands on Beaver avenue in an offset in Frazier street, facing directly down the latter street, the massive Gothic tower commanding a view of the street below.

At the dedication on Sunday next, the sermon will be preached by Rev. Joseph W. Cochran, D.D., secretary of the board of education, and the dedication prayer will be offered by Rev. Walter K. Harnish, of Lemont. A very pleasant incident of the dedication week will be the fact that the Rev. R. P. Miller, of Philipsburg, who made the first motion in the Presbytery of Huntingdon, of which State College is a part, looking toward this movement, will preach on Friday evening, October 10th, a sermon preparatory to the first communion to be held in the church Sunday, October 12th.

The pastor is the Rev. Samuel Martin, a graduate of Lafayette College and Princeton Theological Seminary. He welcomes letters from parents and pastors of students in regard to their welfare, and the students themselves are always welcome at the manse.

GATES—SHUTT.—A quiet wedding at the Reformed church, at 8.30 o'clock yesterday morning, was that of Edward L. Gates and Miss Martha A. Shutt. Only a few friends were present to witness the ceremony which was performed by Dr. Ambrose M. Schmidt, the ring service being used. The young couple were attended by Miss Lucille Wetzel and Charles E. Gates. Immediately following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Gates were driven to Milesburg in an automobile whence they left by train for a brief wedding trip to the western part of the State.

The bride is a daughter of Mrs. Salinde Shutt and for some time past has been linotype operator in the Gazette office. The bridegroom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Gates and has been local editor of the Gazette the past five years. Immediately upon their return they will go to housekeeping at No. 211 east Lamb street.

Gilliland became the bride of Nelson R. McNaughton. About seventy-five guests were present to witness the ceremony which was performed by Rev. Stanley W. Jones. The bridegroom is a state forester and has been in charge of lands in the northeastern section of the county.

Report of Woman's Club, Bellefonte, for 1912-'13.

In June, at the time of the last meeting of the club, the membership was 100. More demands have been made this year than ever before on the Charity committee of the club. Each case has been investigated and help given as needed.

Through the influence of the Civic committee the street cleaning has been more thoroughly looked after than ever before by the borough council, and a portion of the business part of the town has been cared for by a committee of the club members. An effort has been made through the public schools to reach the children on the lines of "keep clean streets and pavements." This year, as formerly, there has been a clean-up week.

The sewing school which did such good work last year, reports even greater progress this year. The work of the smaller children showed marked improvement. The middle grades did excellent hand-sewing. The higher grades learned to sew on the sewing machine, they took measurements, cut out garments by patterns and measurements, and each made a dress for herself.

The publicity committee contributed many articles to the following weekly papers, and sent notices of the club meetings and study classes. Newspapers, as last year, have been collected and stored in rooms where they are tied ready for shipping when enough are gathered to fill a car. The proceeds from the sale of these are given to the Bellefonte hospital.

For the last four years a safe and sane Fourth of July has been conducted by a committee of the club. This year the street parade was especially successful. One of its divisions was for "Womans Suffrage," which elicited much favorable comment.

Two years ago the club succeeded in having two of its members elected to the school board; one has held the office of vice president the other of secretary. This summer there was no difficulty in having them both re-nominated by all three of the contending parties, so that their election is assured for at least six more years on the board.

A study class was held throughout the winter with an attendance of from fifty to one hundred, both men and women, a large percentage of which was not members of the club. The Chautauqua was brought to Bellefonte this summer, and the selling of seven hundred tickets needed to finance it was done by members of the club. This entertainment was enjoyed, and there was little difficulty in securing guarantors for its return next year.

Two new committees have been appointed, one to co-operate with the Juvenile court officers of the town, the other to support the police officer, who is also an officer of the State organization for the prevention of cruelty to animals.

In the first three days of this week the county commissioners paid out $1,091 on scalp certificates.

Bryan's Price.

From the Harrisburg Telegraph. It now develops that Secretary of State Bryan does not receive $250 per for his Chautauqua lectures, but that he gets only half the single admissions, which, in the case of his Phoenixville lecture, amounted to a paltry $135.

For this the Secretary of State talked for more than one hour and he was billed at supper time, which is a period of the day that none of the continuous performance stars who are in a position to dictate terms will accept.

We had derived some comfort from the fact that our Premier was at least making the management of the Chautauqua circuits pay him well for his service. There are any number of vaudeville performers who get $500 and $1,000 a turn and we felt that $250 was little enough for our Secretary of State, but "half the singles and no guarantee" is almost like stealing from the poor.

The Chautauqua circuit has always had a good name, and we do not like to think of it as taking advantage of a man who cannot live on $1,000 a month and who finds himself confronted with the painful necessity of making a trifle on the side, to keep the wolf from the door and grape juice in the decanters.

The American people have a right to demand that when anybody buys their Secretary of State they pay a proper price for him.
