Don't Fail to Vote "Yes" on Amendment No. 1.

The Adams Express company has offices and does business at over twenty-five different points in this county.

At a number of them it clears more money each year than any half dozen of the best farmers in the county does.

At all of them it has a clear profit on every dollar's worth of business it does.

It has horses and wagons, and possibly other property, but not a cent's worth of its property is represented on any tax duplicate in the county.

Not a penny of tax for either road, school, poor or other local purposes does it pay or has it ever paid.

If an assessor makes a mistake and values its horse or wagon as he does that of the farmer or drayman, application is at once made to have it stricken off the assessment on the ground that this property goes to make up the values of its capital stock that cannot be taxed for local purposes.

And if it comes, and you can't find the name of the Adams Express company on any tax duplicate in Centre county, or in the State of Pennsylvania.

And it's the same with the Pennsylvania railroad, the Telephone companies, the Electric Light concerns or any other corporation whose wealth is represented by "capital stock."

And yet when a proposition is before the people to amend the Constitution that these corporations can be required to help build our roads there are farmers and others, who are taxed on every dollar's worth of property they possess, who refuse to vote for such amendment, and by such refusal, assist in exonerating these corporations from the payment of local taxes of any kind.

Mr. Voter, are you one of these? Don't you think that these corporations ought to be taxed in some way that will help lessen the burden that is being imposed upon you?

If you do make a cross (X) in the square opposite the word "Yes" at amendment No. 1, on the ballot that you will vote on election day.

General Albert J. Logan, of the Second Brigade N. G. P., was in Bellefonte Monday evening inspecting the armory of Company L, with a view of having it remodeled. Capt. William H. Brown has on several occasions called the attention of the Armory Board to the fact that the armory is badly in need of repairs, and at the same time suggested that the interior be remodeled somewhat on the order of a club, so as to make it more of a social organization than it is possible for the company to be under present conditions. This would have a tendency to get the men together oftener and would probably result in much good in every way. Just what recommendations Gen. Logan will make to the Board, and what they will be willing to do is not yet known.

The water in Spring creek is now quite as low as it is likely to be this year, and now would be a good time for those in authority to have the refuse cleaned out from the falls to the bridge at the Central Railroad of Pennsylvania depot. There is a lot of stuff lodged in the bed of the stream which renders it very unsightly and which could be removed with little or no difficulty.

Surely the Kingdom of God is come nigh to us in this community. May it be to our joy and not to our condemnation. AT THE OPERA HOUSE.—The plot of the play, "A Royal Slave," is decidedly novel and interesting. The stage settings are grand and typify real Mexican scenery. In the drama, a true insight into Mexican and Indian character and modes of living is given; the greed of gold and gain, the dominant spirit of the Mexican; the true and loyal devotion of the Indian. In Aguilu is personified a high type of the Mexican American Indian, in him one sees the fidelity to friends and the vengeful hatred he bears to enemies. Aguilu is "A Royal Slave" in every sense of the word. At Garman's opera house, Wednesday, October 29th. Prices 25 to 75 cents.

Thomas A. While out hunting on Wednesday of last week P. B. Woodring, of Port Matilda, came across George Harpster, who had haled a gray squirrel in a rock oak tree. Mr. Woodring volunteered to climb the tree and scare the squirrel out. The two hunters secured axes, cut down the tree, smoked out the bees and got about forty pounds of honey.

Up to Wednesday evening county treasurer John D. Miller had issued 2761 hunter's licenses, and he confidently expects to reach the three thousand mark by the time the deer hunters have all secured their permit and leather tag. Among the above number are six women.

The Philippine Commission. From the Johnstown Democrat. President Wilson, without any fuss and feathers, has started in translating into acts his Philippine policy. For the first time since the islands passed under the control of this country there is to be a majority of natives on the Philippine commission. Self government and ultimate independence is the pledge the Democratic party has made to the Philippines. The commission is composed of nine members. The Filipinos now have a majority on that body. The appointments are an evidence of good faith. The administration has opened the way for the development of a national consciousness, a national pride. The Filipinos now have reason to feel that they have in a large measure become responsible for their own future welfare. They have an incentive for which to work. The leaders realize that they must make good, that they must come through. To a much larger degree than before their destiny is in their own hands. True it is that they are not yet walking alone. They are still in leading strings. The grip of this country has not been relaxed. But for all of that the Filipinos are given a chance to use their own legs. The natives are now in a majority upon the Philippine commission.
