CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SOCIETY.

Service Sunday 10:45 a. m. Wednesday 8 p. m., 9 1/2 E. High street.

PINE GROVE MENTION.

The mercury was 16 degrees below zero Tuesday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. George Swabb spent Sunday at the C. B. Mc Fry home.

Mrs. N. C. Neidigh is suffering an attack of inflammatory rheumatism.

J. D. Neidigh is loading several cars of 92 cent wheat at Struble station.

George Rossman, who has been sick in bed the past week, is now convalescing.

Mrs. Annie Miller closed her home for a two week's visit among friends at Lemont.

Miss Annie Dale and mother were entertained at dinner at the C. M. Dale home Sunday.

Miss Millan, of State College, was entertained at the Bathgate home at dinner on Sunday.

W. Cal. Meyers attended the big auto show at Pittsburgh last week, but made no purchase.

Sixteen members will be admitted into Washington Grange, (Pine Hall) Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Kimpert entertained a party of sledders at their home, Friday, to a sumptuous dinner.

Mildred Meyers was a very sick girl in the early part of the week, with membranous croup, but is now improving.

Miss Esther Osman is visiting friends at Centre Hall and enjoying the excellent sleighing down Pennsylvania this week.

W. E. McWilliams, our genial R. F. D. man, attended the Mall Carriers' district convention held in Altoona last week.

Our mutual friend, J. C. Homan, is roasting his shins behind the cook stove this zero weather, nursing a colony of Job's comforters, on his face.

Prof. W. E. Heberling came over from State College to celebrate Washington's birthday with his mother, at the old family home tree.

Mr. B. F. Homan was confined to bed last week with the grip. This week his wife is suffering with the same ailment and confined to bed.

Woods Bathgate, of Pittsburgh, and Hamill Bathgate, of Altoona, were home for the 22nd, and gladdened their old mother's heart by their coming.

The High school has a vacation. Prof. Goldsburg was called to Philadelphia, where his wife is critically ill, and it is feared he will be unable to return.

Mrs. Maude Harpster's many friends will be glad to learn that she is recovering nicely at the Bellefonte hospital, and will be able to return home by Friday.

Saturday evening, after the regular routine of lodge work was gone through with, the ladies, as guests, took part in the social part, when lunch and ice cream were served.

After April first Charley Snyder will tenant the Meek farm, on Buffalo Run. J. C. Martin will move to the Snyder farm at White Hall. Henry Wagner has leased the Marshall Musser farm to take possession April first.

A family dinner was served at the Nevin Meyer home Sunday, 22nd, when the Meyer clan were fully represented. The venerable J. Henry Meyer, who passed his eighty-fourth milestone the day previous, was the guest of honor.

On account of the bad weather and blocked roads the C. W. Lytle public sale was not well attended on Thursday, but stock of all kinds sold at fair prices. Mr. Lytle intends stocking up again to go to farming in Blair county in the spring.

Wednesday evening a jolly party of sledders from Warriorsmark swooped down upon the H. Wagner home at Fairbrook, as a birthday surprise to Miss Emma Wagner. Many beautiful presents were brought and refreshments served. It was well toward the wee small hours when the youngsters took their leave, wishing the young lady a long and happy life.

W. C. Ferree, the popular huckster of Oak Hall, was in this vicinity on Tuesday buying hogs. The price paid was 19 1/2 cents a pound, and what underprice paid to the farmers can be well understood by the fact that the hogs he bought from Milo B. Campbell brought over $500, C. H. Meyers $400, and J. H. Bailey $240. In this section beef is selling at 11 cents a pound by the side or 10 cents for a front quarter and 12 cents for a hind quarter. So much for Democratic times.

Eggs From China.

One hundred cases, containing 36,000 eggs, arrived in St. Louis from China.

They were imported by a St. Louis commission dealer, who said he could sell the eggs to retailers at 20 cents a dozen and still make a profit. Eggs for the past week have been quoted in St. Louis around 26 cents.

A member of the firm said he had bought the eggs at 10 cents a dozen, and that they were part of a shipment of $300,000 dozen consigned to various American dealers.

Pump Station Blown Up.

With a roar that was heard for miles, a pumping station of the Manufacturers' Light and Heat company, one mile from Waynesburg, Pa., was blown to pieces on Thursday.

John Spicer, in charge of the station, was hurled through the air fifty feet, and when found two hours later was in a dying condition. Three other men were seriously hurt.

Boy Eats Pills and Dies.

James Sullivan, nine years old, son of James Sullivan, of Coatesville, Pa., swallowed eight strychnine pills and died a few hours later. The pills were a prescription, filled for Mrs. Sullivan, who had left them on a bureau.

Negress Roasts Alone.

Martha Washington, a negress fortune teller, aged eighty years, was burned to death in the little frame house in the South End, near York, Pa., where she lived alone. It is supposed that sparks from the stove caused the fire.

Man Bitten by Horse May Die.

Richard Sherrod, of Swartswood, N. J., is in a critical condition, having been bitten on the arm by his pet horse while trying to put a bridle on the animal. Erysipelas has set in.

Five Children Burn to Death.

Five of the six children of Joseph Smart, a lumberman, were burned to death when their house at Eagle Lake, near Ashland, Me., was destroyed by fire.

LEMONT.

C. D. Houtz spent Saturday at the county seat. The ice put away this week was from 8 to 10 inches thick.

Many of the school children are off duty now with the mumps.

Mrs. George Shuey has been on the sick list for more than a week.

J. Harvey Shuey departed for New York last Saturday afternoon.

John R. Williams and wife spent last Friday and Saturday in Bellefonte.

We are having lots of snow this winter and many of the roads are drifted full.

The Young Men's Christian Association had a very interesting meeting in town Sunday afternoon, and they are trying to reach all the young men they can, and especially the ones who do not attend church, and persuade them to attend some church. It is hoped that they will meet with much success.

BOOKS MAGAZINES, Etc.

THE MARCH CENTURY—Is a good all around number. Fiction includes no less than nine short stories. The art in the number, besides the many illustrations in the text, consists of various insets. The frontispiece is a reproduction in full colors of a painting by George Inness, Jr.

There are four pages of the work of John S. Sargent, and eight pages of Leon Bakst, the eccentric Russian colorist. The non-fiction features of the number include "What Have Women Done With the Vote?" "The Golden Temple of Amritsar;" "Origins of the American People;" "The Next Step in Prison Reform;" "What About Russia?" "Dublin," an article full of interest, by Brand Whitlock, Minister to Belgium.

The editorial department is devoted to a tribute to the late S. Weir Mitchell, physician, novelist and poet.

In the March number of Popular Mechanics Magazine is an illustrated article written by Roy C. Andrews, assistant Curator of Mammals, of the American Museum of Natural History, in which the whaling industry as it is carried on at the present time is described and illustrated in the greatest detail and with authoritative knowledge of the subject.

It also contains an unusually large number of illustrations, many of which are full-page photographs that tell the story of interesting events and of customs in various parts of the world.

The continuation of the two series, "Curious Vehicles in Use the World Over" and "The Five Places of All the World," are particularly interesting, introducing the reader to such contrasts as that of the palanquin in which the high-caste Hindu girl is carried through the streets of Calcutta and the dog carts of the Netherlands, as well as that of the Turkish merchant squatting before his samovar in a crooked street of Baghdad, and the Navajo Indian cooking his meal over an open fire in a mountain valley.

The world's progress in many lines is reflected in the 318 articles and 359 illustrations of the March number of the magazine. The usual amount of good material, illustrated by sketches and diagrams, is included in the Shop Notes and Amateur Mechanics departments of the March magazine.

In the March American Magazine Mary Antin, a wonderfully gifted young Russian Jewess, begins a new series of articles entitled, "They Who Knock at Our Gates." In the same number Hugh S. Fullerton, writes an article entitled "American Gambling and Gamblers." Ray Stannard Baker, in his new department entitled "Seeing America," reports the new Chicago and its progressive people. Other notable contributions are "The Autobiography of a Stingy Man;" "The Soul's Winning Fight with Science," in which H. Addington Bruce shows that science has produced nothing that renders man's belief in immortality inconsistent; "How a Town Converted by Paths into Good Roads and Doubled Its Trade Territory" and "What Drink Did to One Man."

Fiction is written by Richard Washburn Child, Edgar Allan Forbes, James D. Corrothers, Rufus Steele and Maravene Thompson. Humorous selections are contributed by Stephen Leacock and James Montgomery Flagg. Interesting "Fables" and the Theatrical department are filled with good things, and prize-winning letters are published in the contest entitled "What I Am Most Afraid Of."

The amount of fat in the interior of cheese is not decreased during ripening. The superfluous fat is usually decomposed and the fatty acids set free.
