

NEW RECTOR FOR EPISCOPAL CHURCH.
—Rev. W. C. Charlton, of Shamokin, has accepted a call to become rector of St. John's Episcopal church in this place to succeed Rev. John Hewitt, resigned. He will move his family, consisting of his wife and four children, here this week and will officiate at all the services on Sunday. Rev. Charlton was in Bellefonte several weeks ago and preached for the congregation, and at the time created a very favorable impression.

Women Glued to Seats in Theater.
The intense heat caused an awkward situation at a theater in Pottsville, Pa., where a thousand women most of them in white dresses, attended an operatic performance.

When the play ended 200 of them were glued to their seats, the intense heat having melted the varnish on the chairs. Many were able to get away only after ruining their dresses.

Some of the women and girls as they walked home were made the object of much amusement. Some of the victims regarded the matter as a joke while others were very indignant.

Among those who suffered was the wife of the manager of the theater. After trying various ways to remove the varnish she finally succeeded with plain soap and water. This method has been communicated among the victims, and many of them grasp the suggestion and tried the same method.

The intense heat proved fatal to former School Director Krieg. Krieg received a sunstroke on Monday, but feeling better, got up and was immediately prostrated again, dying soon afterward.

Student Is Stabbed.

In a class fight between the juniors and seniors of the Nanticoke, Pa., high school, Edward Kitlowski, who was captured by the juniors and tied to a flag pole, was accidentally stabbed by Mrs. Josephine Parney, who rushed to his assistance with the hope of cutting the ropes that bound him.

Kitlowski was among the seniors who tried to raise their colors on the pole. He was tied to the pole, and later, when Mrs. Parney went to rescue him the juniors reappeared, and while she tried to cut the ropes they rushed on her and Kitlowski was seriously stabbed in the right arm and breast.

The police were called out to quiet the students and most of them fled.

McCarrick Boy's Body in River.

The long search for Warren McCarrick, seven years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. James McCarrick, of Philadelphia, who disappeared from his home on March 12, was ended on Tuesday.

Edward McCarrick, a police sergeant, identified the body of a boy taken from the Delaware river as that of his nephew.

The body had been in the river so long that identification could not be established from the features. The only things by which the police could make a positive identification were the underwear, stockings and a garter.

Sergeant McCarrick, who assisted for two months in the search for his nephew, examined the clothing in the morgue for a half hour before he could be certain. Warren's father was not permitted to see the body.

Recovery of the body so far from the McCarrick home has given the detectives a mystery to solve. They do not know whether the boy was drowned accidentally, perhaps by falling down an open sewer, or was thrown into the water.

U. S. Judge Impeached.

Impeachment proceedings against Judge Alston G. Dayton, of the northern district of West Virginia, charging "high crimes and misdemeanors," were started in the house by Representative M. M. Neely, of West Virginia. Neely's charges were referred to the judiciary committee.

It is alleged that Judge Dayton has shown marked favoritism to certain corporations having litigation in his court; that he conspired to bring about the removal of Judge John G. Jackson that he, Dayton, might succeed him; that he has put on grand and petit juries persons favorable to corporations having litigation in his court, and that he assisted his son, Arthur Dayton, an attorney, in preparing cases tried before him.

Thomas Dolan Dies in 80th Year.

Thomas Dolan, for many years the president of the United Gas Improvement company prior to 1912, and one of the wealthiest men in Philadelphia, died at his home in Torresdale, a suburb of Philadelphia.

Mr. Dolan was approaching his eightieth birthday. His fortune has been estimated at between $20,000,000 and $35,000,000.

With the financier at the time were Mrs. Dolan, his widow, and his three sons, Thomas, Jr., Yale, and Clarence, with the wives of the two former sons.

Want Wilson to Stump.

The possibility of President Wilson taking the stump for Democratic nominees in the fall congressional and senatorial elections was discussed with him by Representative Connolly, of Iowa, the Democratic nominee for the senate.

The president told Mr. Connolly he had not decided whether to make any speeches. Representative A. Mitchell Palmer, Democratic nominee for senator in Pennsylvania, also has made efforts to have the president speak in his state.

Gen. Villa Seizes Control in North.

Denies Break With Chief, But It Is Said He Resigned and Is Preparing to Turn Army Against Leader.

Acting in the name of General Francisco Villa, Constitutional army detachments seized the custom house, telegraph office, treasury department and information bureau in Juarez, just across the Rio Grande from El Paso, Tex.

The Carranza appointees who had charge of these offices were arrested. Similar action, it is reported, was taken at Chihuahua and Torreon, and probably other important points in the northern military zone.

Despite these dramatic and menacing happenings, General Villa, through his agents, issued a general denial of reports that there had been a split between him and General Venustiano Carranza, "first chief" of the Constitutionalists. He said the arrest of the Carranza officials at Juarez had been the result of a misunderstanding of orders on the part of Colonel Ornelas, in charge of the Juarez garrison.

It was learned, however, that from twenty to thirty employes of the Juarez offices were sent on a special train to Chihuahua City, the state capital, thence to be transported to Torreon, where Villa remained. These men, Carranza adherents, were arrested by Colonel Ornelas in his raids.

Partisans of Carranza and Villa at El Paso discussed hotly the future of the Constitutional movement. The question of the Niagara Falls conference played an important part in the argument, especially as regards the naming of provisional president.

Some of the Villa supporters even decried that General Felipe Angeles, secretary of war in Carranza's cabinet, had been selected by Villa for provisional president in place of Carranza, as some partisan publications had suggested.

Angeles, a former Federal general, has been commanding Villa's artillery since the battle of Torreon, and Tuesday departed for the front above Zacatecas, according to official notice.

It was asserted without qualification that General Villa had resigned as commander of the northern military zone and that it was final. To Villa's message offering his resignation, Carranza replied asking who would succeed him.

Following this, Villa's various military chiefs held a conference and sent a "round robin" to Carranza, declaring they would accept none other than Villa as a leader. The action in seizing the civil offices and arresting the Carranza adherents, it is said, came as a result.

MAY CHANGE U. S. POLICY

Expected to Result From Unsatisfactory Meeting With Carranza Men.
On word from the Washington government depends the next move in the mediation proceedings at Niagara Falls, Ont.

Justice Lamar and Frederick W. Lehmann telegraphed a 2000-word report of their conference at Buffalo with Rafael Zubaran and Luis Cabrera, authorized representatives of General Carranza.

The feeling is general that the United States may make a distinct change of policy as a result of the uncompromising attitude of Zubaran and Cabrera, dispatches telling of friction between General Carranza and Villa, reports of a rupture in Sonora between Governor Maytorena and General Obregon and news of Constitutionalists reverses both on land and sea.

Emilio Rabasa, head of the Huerta delegation, said that he and his associates would do everything in their power to prevent a break in negotiations. His suggestion was that a neutral be proposed for the provisional presidency and that the United States accord recognition to him. Rabasa declared that a person of capacity and honesty would be chosen and that as soon as the United States accorded the new president recognition, funds and arms could be obtained so that it would be conceded that there were two factions that must be considered.

Although generally termed unsatisfactory, it is learned that the American delegates in their conference with the Constitutionalists received the suggestion of one name which they have some hope may prove acceptable to the Huerta delegates.

The Constitutionalists explained to the Americans in detail and with emphasis that there could be no compromise in any shape or form with General Huerta or any of his party; that a prominent Constitutionalists alone would be accepted by them for the presidency, and that the military triumph of the revolution was inevitable.

Dressed For Gallows; Gets Respite.

Dressed and waiting to be taken to the gallows on which he was to be hanged for the murder of his wife, Silas Jones was notified by the warden of the Moundsville penitentiary, near Wheeling, W. Va., that Governor Hatfield had telephoned a respite of thirty days. Leading citizens of Huntington, W. Va., where Jones resided, interceded in his behalf, declaring that new evidence had been discovered.

Dynamite Diet Fatal to Cow.

Eating several sticks of dynamite did not agree with a cow on the farm of George Kilpatrick, at Kerr's Creek, near Middletown, N. Y., and the animal is dead.

Several other cows which tasted of the explosive were only slightly affected. The dynamite had been distributed in the pasture for use in blowing out holes for telephone poles.

The cows ate the dynamite with considerable relish, but it was some time before the unfortunate animal yielded to its effects, gradually suffering until death.

While the owner of the cow thinks the company which placed the dynamite in the pasture should pay for the cow, the company contends that the animal's death was not due directly to the dynamite.

Eugenics Bar Marriage.

Register of Wills Newman, of Reading, Pa., has refused a marriage license to Herbert Good and Miss Leona Helman, both of that city, on the ground that the would-be bridegroom did not measure up to the requirements of the new eugenic marriage law in some respects.

Miss Helman then had Good arrested on a misdemeanor charge. He was taken to jail, though willing to marry the prosecutrix. The problem was finally submitted to Judge Bushong, who directed that the license be refused on the ground that the young man is not mentally strong.

First Drink in Eight Years; Dies.

For eight years a great horned owl which was the pet of Mrs. Frank W. Flood, of Vineland, N. J., never had a drink. It was given water Saturday night, as its mistress felt sorry for it in the extreme hot weather. The owl immediately went into a violent convulsion and sank its long talons into the hand of Mrs. Flood. In this manner death came to the bird, and its death clutch was so strong that Dr. George Cunningham found it necessary to cut the sharp talon out of the wound. It had passed entirely through the hand.

Sun Digs For Dynamite.

A section of gutter and street on Second avenue in Bethlehem, Pa., was blown up as the result of an explosion of peculiar origin.

A year ago, when the street was being permanently improved, workmen used dynamite to blast away rocks and a stick is supposed to have been carelessly left behind when the dressing of amiesite was put on.

The hot rays of the sun penetrating the paving are believed to have caused the dynamite to explode.
