KITCHEN NOT WELL PLANNED

Generally Designed by Men, They Usually Are Most Unattractive Room in the House.

Have you ever been in a kitchen where the sink was jammed way off in a dark corner? asks a woman who goes in for making scientific kitchens to order. Have you worked in a kitchen where you walked 20 feet each time you hung up the egg-beater? Have you bumped your head against a closet over the sink as you washed dishes? Have you felt that the kitchen was the hottest, dingiest, most unattractive room in the house? That kitchen was planned by a mere man. The worst fate I could wish any architect is to prepare three meals a day for a week in a kitchen of his own designing. Then, and then only, would he realize the faults of inefficiently placed equipment. Tables and sinks of the wrong height, no light over one's workable, pantries that defy a giraffe to reach their top shelves, and pot-closets so low that they can hold their own against any other fat reducer. Then only would an architect know that it did make a difference if the sink drain were placed to the right or left; if the china shelves were wide or only eight inches; if the kitchen were painted emerald green or a shade of burnt umber and white.

RICH IN PALAEOLITHIC RELICS

Remarkable Find in Welsh Cave Has Thrown Much Light on Life of the Long Past Centuries,

In a recent lecture in the Old Country, Prof. W. J. Sollas, told of a cave rich in palaeolithic relics in human and animal skeletons and implements, situated near Rosali, in the Gower peninsula in South Wales, and is known by the name of Paviland cave. The discovery there, said the professor, of a painted skeleton, long known as the "Red Lady," had rendered it famous. Recent investigations showed that this skeleton was the remains of a member of the tall upper palaeolithic race. them extinct, were in agreement with many others before it reaches you, and this conclusion, the most abundant being the horse, cave bear, bison, rein- you. It is your right and you are not deer and rhinoceros. The mammoth grateful for it. But thanks are a free was less common. The implements ing ift and enrich the giver. There is no cluded objects carved out of mam- nobler art than the art of expressing moth's ivory, ivory rods, awls and one's gratitude in fresh, unhackneved. amulets, bone marrow scoops, and wolves' teeth, perforated for suspension as a necklace. The cave, which was an ideal hunting lodge for palaeolithic man, was the most westerly outpost of the race in Europe.

Wife's Allowance. The abysmal ignerance of a great majority of married American women concerning the simplest facts and forms of business is amazing and pathetic. Before showing a high school girl a cook-book and teaching her how to make pie we would show her a checkbook and teach her how to make a deposit. You have insured your life, we trust, in favor of your wife; but have you explained to her what she should do with the money if it should vestments to make; with whom to consult; how to check up a bank pass-book? The best beginning for such an education is to give your wife—at once— order to beat Sumatra at her own a fixed allowance, whatever portion of the family income reasonably belongs | fessor, inquiring what the ancient Roto her for her personal use. There is no more reason that a wife should ask dug up in Spain from Roman settleher husband whether she may have $2 with which to buy a pair of gloves than there is that he should ask her whether she will please see that the beds are made and the dinner cooked. If a wife cannot handle her own pin money intelligently, what is the use of leaving her life insurance?-Philadelphia Saturday Evening Post.

No Lack of Mustard. It was an inconvenient time to want mustard-Sunday at an hour when all the delicatessens in the neighborhood were closed.

"Still it is not so bad as if it were pepper or salt or vinegar we need," in the Popular Science Monthly. Docthe woman said, "because we can get mustard at the drug store."

When the man went out to see about it, sure enough she was right. Mustard in any quantity desired could be obtained at the corner drug store.

"We have to keep it for plasters," the clerk explained. "Notwithstanding the advance in medical science and new-fangled methods of treating disease, hosts of people still pin their faith to the homely mustard plaster as a panacea for all fleshly ills, and no druggist can afford to let the stock run out."

Economical Handling of Salt. The salt harvested in the Saline valley of California is now transported to Swansea, the nearest shipping point, 26 miles away, by means of an overhead tramway, which was recently completed at a cost of $500,000. The material is conveyed in buckets, and the hourly capacity of the line is 20 tons. A very interesting feature of the line is the fact that the downpull of amid a blaze of unearthly beauty the buckets as they make a descent of the mountain is utilized in rasing the buckets over the next grade. Salt has been mined there for years, but the amount of the product has been limited to the local consumption, as the expense of getting the salt to the sets to the volcanic dust projected by shipping point by mule power has been prohibitive.

WARNED OFF THE PREMISES

Picket Waxed Indignant at Carelesa Action of Scouting Party of the Enemy.

"Many a man goes to war without the slightest conception of what it really is," said a veteran of Gen. Robert E. Lee's army. "In 1864 I had command of a detail made up of a dozen or two recruits that had just come up from the gulf states. The first night we were near the enemy, I managed to find a deserted cabin, and, after placing my picket out in front. we flung ourselves down to sleep. In the middle of the night I changed the picket, selecting for duty a young fellow who had exhibited the most intense longing to exterminate the entire northern army.

"About dawn I was awakened by the well-known 'ping, ping!' of bullets against the logs of the cabin and the expostulating voice of my picket. Going to the door I saw that a small scouting party of federal soldiers had discovered signs of Confederates in the cabin and were trying to drive us out by firing from the opposite hill. I turned to my picket and gave is the condition of most young married a gasp of astonishment. The young people Their courage is magnificent, man stood in the midst of the clearing while the bullets whistled around him. There was no sign of fear about him, but he was tremendously excited. He had dropped his musket and was waving his arms, trying to attract the attention of the enemy, and shouting at the top of his voice in tones of remonstrance:

"Sa-a-y, you fellows over yonder! Don't you all be a-shootin' in here; thar's folks in here!"-New York Evening Post.

HARD TO EXPLAIN GRATITUDE Sweetest Reward That Can Be Given, and the One the Least Easy to Classify.

Gratitude given or received is one of the best things in the world. We need far more of it and far better quality. Yet I have never read any satisfactory account of what it so gloriously means, writes Richard C. Cabot in the Atlantic. Its value begins just where the value of pay ends. Thanks are personal and attempt to fit an adequate response to the particular service performed. Pay is an impersonal The bones of the animals, most of coin which has been handed out to will go to many others when it leaves unexaggerated terms which answer devotion with fresh devotion, fancy with new fancy, clarity with sincerity. Artists who get their reward only in money and in the stale plaudits of clapping hands are restless for something more individual. They want to intimately understood and beauti fully answered. For such gratitude they look to brother artists, to the few who really understand. There they find their best reward; but even this leaves something wanting.

Lavender as Tobacco Substitute. Sweet lavender is now on the market and on the side table and the smell of it is clean, sweet and delicious, says the London Chronicle "office window" man. "But did you ever smoke fall into her hands-what sort of in. it? This business of the tobacco trust worries the smoker who may have to pay more for his pipeful. Then comes the glad news that we are growing tobacco and even cigar coverings-in game. And also comes a Madrid promans smoked. Fine pipes have been ments, but they have no trace of tobacco or opium. Yet they are adorned with bas-reliefs picturing the lavender plant. And in 1276-before tobacco came to Europe—a Spanish writer said that "whoever smokes lavender feels active, ardent and vigorous.' But why is it that smoking never crept into Roman literature?"

> Taken From the Spanish. The origin of the American dollar mark in the abbreviation of the Spanish-American "pesos," with the p and the s wonogrammed, was described by Dr. Flerian Cajori of Colorado college tor Cajori gives more data on the history of the mark, showing that in Argentina $ usually follows the numerals in the short advertisements in newspapers, but usually precedes the numerals when they are arranged in columns. Mr. E. Tobitt of the Omaha public library says it contains an original ledger of George Washington, in which the $ is used frequently. The diary of Ezra L'Hommedieu, written Reckless Travelers.

Imagine two people starting off for a journey of years, in an entirely unknown country, full of perils and of pitfalls, and having no map to guide them, no knowledge to guard them in their travels. That but it avails nothing. Like the path of some desert caravan marked by bleaching bones, the path of life is covered with the memorials of human failure. Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is designed for such people. It garners in its thousand and odd pages, the wis-dom of centuries. It treats of the vital questions that affect parents and offspring. It treats plain truth in plain words. This book is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Do You Suffer From Backache?

When your kidneys are weak and torpid they do not properly perform their functions; your back aches and you do not feel like doing much of anything. You are likely to be despondent and to borrow trouble, just as if you hadn't enough already. Don't be a victim any longer.

The old reliable medicine, Hood's Sarsaparilla, gives strength and tone to the kidneys and builds up the whole system. Hood's Sarsaparilla is a peculiar combination of roots, barks and herbs. No other medicine acts like it, because no other medicine has the same formula or ingredients. Accept no substitute, but insist on having Hood's, and get it today.

"I suffered for years from weak kidneys," says Mrs. Mary Hull, of 223 S. Allegheny St., Bellefonte. "Not long ago the trouble became worse and I knew that if I didn't do something to check it, it would become serious. I had a dull pain across the small of my back and often sharp twinges darted through my body and nearly bent me double. I could hardly straighten after stooping. Dizzy spells were common and black spots often floated before my eyes. One of my family had taken Doan's Kidney Pills and she said they did her a lot of good, so I decided to try them. They greatly relieved the backache and removed the dizzy spells. I have had very little trouble since."
