> ---Complaints are heard in many parts of Centre county about low water. Wells and streams are almost dry and unless we soon get a hard, soaking rain farmers will be compelled to either haul water or drive their stock long distances to water. While the quantity of rain that fell this summer was sufficient to nourish the crops, there have been very few rains of sufficient duration to soak the ground and replenish the water supply in the wells and streams.

-The rummage sale, which the Auxiliary was unable to hold during the spring, on account of the impossibility of getting a desirable place, is being arranged for the first week of October.
