THINGS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY.

Y. M. C. A. night school for young men. One night last week dogs raided Franklin Conner's flock of sheep, in Howard township, killing three.

Up to this week county treasurer John D. Miller has issued between eight and nine hundred hunters' licenses.

The public schools at Spring Mills were closed on Tuesday evening owing to quite a number of cases of measles among the children.

Ex-sheriff Cyrus Brungart sold his farm near Tusseyville to George Horner, of Linden Hall, for $5,500, and a tract of mountain land for $200.

Just twenty years ago on Wednesday, October 7th, Centre county's War Governor, Andrew G. Curtin, passed peacefully away at his home on High street.

Gwin Wilson, who is now engaged in farming in College township, recently sold his small farm of about thirty acres near Donation, in Huntingdon county, to Clarence McCool for $1,500.

Gettysburg will be State's opponent on the gridiron tomorrow. Inasmuch as Gettysburg is showing up well this season the game should be one worth going to the College to see.

The insurance adjusters from eight different companies were in Bellefonte on Friday and adjusted the loss on the lumber recently destroyed by fire for the Pennsylvania Match company at approximately $68,000.

The Ladies Aid society of the U. B. church will serve their annual chicken and waffle supper in the basement of their church next Thursday evening, October 15th. First call for supper at five o'clock.

At a session of juvenile court last Saturday morning Judge Orvis sentenced Hazel Walter, a fourteen year old girl of Ferguson township, to the Glenn Mills reform school, to which place she was taken the same day by Mrs. Arthur B. Lee.

Two car loads of potatoes were received in Bellefonte this week which were retailed at sixty-five cents a bushel at the car and seventy cents delivered. This is cheaper than the home grown tubers were selling at when the importation was made.

The wheat crop in Centre county next year will be below the average in acreage, as many farmers were unable to put out all they intended on account of the drought, and now the season is so far advanced that it is too late to plant even if we should get a good soaking rain.

The Bellefonte postoffice Wednesday was literally flooded with Sears & Roebuck catalogues from Chicago, most of which went out on the rural deliveries. The carrier on Route No. 1, took out thirty-seven of the catalogues. Sears & Roebuck are persistent advertisers and that is the way they get their big business from all over the country.

Mrs. P. J. Smith, who lives on the A. C. Kepler farm near Pine Grove Mills, has proven herself a most successful pumpkin grower this year, as she has a sweet pumpkin which weighs just seventy-eight pounds. Think of the many delicious pies that pumpkin will make. If any other farmer's wife in Centre county has a bigger pumpkin than this we would like to hear of it.

The proprietors of Candy-land have been compelled to delay their opening from to-morrow until Saturday, October 17th, on account of their inability to get everything in perfect shape for a proper display of their products. A glimpse at their advertisement in this issue of the WATCHMAN will tell you what they expect to have, but the one way to find out just how good their candies, ice cream, etc., will be is to attend the opening on the 17th.

Five more prisoners were brought from Pittsburgh last Saturday and taken to the new penitentiary in Benner township, which makes close to one hundred and fifty housed there now. At present many of the prisoners are being utilized in picking the big apple crop in the orchards on the penitentiary farms. The apples are packed in baskets, hauled to Bellefonte and shipped by the car load to Pittsburgh markets. The penitentiary orchards will yield several thousand bushels.

The successful engagement of the Manhattan Players is rapidly drawing to a close. On Friday night the Manhattan Players will present Dumas' famous romance "Camille." The vivid story of this unfortunate woman has been a favorite for years. The Manhattan Players will produce "Camille" elaborately, scenery and costumes have been specially provided for the production. Saturday afternoon the Manhattan Players will give a big ten cent matinee. Free candy will be provided for all the children and refreshments for lady patrons. Two prizes will be awarded to the boy and girl writing the best short essay on Peace. Saturday night will mark the farewell of this popular company.

CENTRE COUNTY COURT NEWS.—In court last week the following cases were disposed of:

Commonwealth vs. B. L. Brown, indicted for defrauding a board bill. Prosecutor, W. H. Hindle, of the Central hotel, Philipsburg. Verdict of guilty and sentence suspended on defendant entering into his own recognizance to pay bill and costs.

Commonwealth Oscar Wert, desertion and non-support. Bill ignored and county to pay the costs.

Commonwealth vs. Lucy Rine, keeping a disorderly house. Defendant pleaded guilty and sentence was suspended on condition that she leave the county within a reasonable time.

Forest E. Harter vs. Thomas Scholl, an action to recover a book account for labor, approximately $100. Verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $21.17.

Court convened for the second week at ten o'clock on Monday morning and during the week the following cases were heard:

Mrs. Nancy Baker et al., vs. W. G. Runkle, executor of Catharine Harper, Dec'd. Verdict for plaintiff of $145.

Mary H. Denlinger, now Holt, vs. Mary Denlinger Holt and J. Kennedy Johnston, Exrs. of J. H. Holt deceased, an action to revive and continue a judgment. Verdict in favor of plaintiff for $750.54.

L. D. Herritt vs. Catharine Reese and James A. Reese, Admsrs. of Christian Reese, dec'd., an action to revive and continue a judgment. Owing to the pleadings not being in shape the case was continued.

The W. T. Raleigh Medical Co. vs. H. S. Taylor, A. E. Schad and E. T. Roan, guarantors of John Long Jr., an action to recover on the guarantor's bond. At the close of the plaintiff's testimony defendants moved for a compulsory nonsuit, which was granted.

J. M. and H. C. Bemis and W. M. Vosburg, co-partners trading as Bemis & Vosburg in their own right, and for the use of E. H. Stamm and H. T. Lincoln vs. T. E. Yothers, an action to recover back purchase money on the sale of timber, the claim being for $451.00. The jury returned a verdict in favor of the defendant.

Wagner vs. Finkle, an action brought to recover for the burning of a stable and barn. After hearing one witness the case was settled.

HUNTINGDON PRESBYTERY NOTES.—At the fall meeting of the Huntingdon Presbytery, held in the Presbyterian church at Clearfield on Tuesday, Rev. W. H. Schuyler, of Centre Hall, reported a minute on the death of the late Gen. James A. Beaver, who was one of the two most prominent laymen in the Presbytery. In seconding the adoption of the minute eulogistic addresses were made by Rev. H. H. Stiles, Rev. R. M. Campbell and James H. Potter.

Rev. Walter K. Harnish resigned as pastor at Lemont and neighboring churches, and accepted the calls of Sinking Valley and Lower Spruce Creek churches.

Rev. J. J. Wolf was received from the Presbytery of Wellsboro and accepted calls from the churches of Milesburg, Moshannon and Warriorsmark.

The Rev. Edward J. Lloyd was received by letter from the Presbytery of Nassau and accepted the call of the churches at Birmingham and Warriorsmark.

ARRESTED FOR DYNAMITING FISH, DISCHARGED FOR LACK OF EVIDENCE.—On Saturday Sergeant H. G. Mauck, a member of the State constabulary located at State College, arrested Harry Resides, C. E. Snyder and Harry Keller, three well known young men of the College, on the charge of dynamiting Spring creek at what is known as the iron bridge for the purpose of catching fish. The Sergeant claimed he had witnesses who saw and recognized the young men, heard the explosion and saw the stunned fish floating down stream. The trio were given a hearing before Squire Michael Woomer, at State College, on Tuesday afternoon at four o'clock, when Sergt. Mauck failed to produce the evidence he claimed he had, and as there was nothing incriminating in the evidence he did produce the men were discharged.

SMALL BARN BURNED.—The small barn on the Luther Lansbury property up Spring creek was destroyed by fire on Saturday afternoon. The fire was evidently started by Lansbury's little children, aged five and three years, who had a penchant for handling matches. Knowing this Mrs. Lansbury searched them on Saturday before they went to the barn but found nothing. However they were not in the barn many minutes when fire was discovered on the hay loft, where they were at play. Mr. Lansbury fortunately was at home at the time and he succeeded in getting the children out of the burning structure, but the barn could not be saved. There was little of value in the building so that the loss is confined to the structure itself.

RUMMAGE SALE A BIG SUCCESS.—The rummage sale held by the Ladies Auxiliary of the Bellefonte hospital in the room over M. I. Gardner's china store, from Monday evening until Wednesday evening inclusive, proved a big success, the sale netting the ladies $362. The money will be applied to the fund for equipping the laundry, which is now almost $2,000. It might here be added that the ladies entered into a contract last night for the installation of the laundry equipment, so that the work will be done within the next two months.

Y. M. C. A. night school for young men.

Eleanor Barnhart, youngest child of Mr. and Mrs. James K. Barnhart, contracted diphtheria the past week but through the prompt injection of anti-toxin the disease did not develop into an alarming condition and the child is now on a fair way to recovery. On account of the dangerous nature of the disease the Barnhart home is under quarantine.

This (Friday) is the evening when the Philipsburg railroad collision and other features of that town's big celebration will be shown at the Scenic in two or more reels of moving pictures, which are said to be very good. The exhibition will begin about 4.30 o'clock, or immediately after the conclusion of the world's series base ball game, and continue during the entire evening.

Miss Anna Keichline's paper on "Colonial Architecture," which she read at the monthly meeting of the D. A. R., at Mrs. Harry Kellers last Friday evening, was quite interesting, and showed much thought and study in preparation. Miss Keichline is probably the only woman in Pennsylvania who has chosen architecture as her vocation, and she is already meeting with considerable success and winning out in competition with men of old standing.

Ten days or two weeks ago Dr. George S. V. Howard, who makes his headquarters at the Brockerhoff house while traveling over the county, made a trip by auto down Pennsylvan. In the vicinity of Spring Mills the machine struck a deep thorn-e-mamm and the doctor was thrown with considerable violence against one of the arches in the top of the car, knocking two teeth loose and badly bruising the upper part of his face. The injury has proven very painful and has kept him confined pretty closely to the hotel.

The Scenic will be a big place of attraction during the coming week. Beginning this (Friday) afternoon the first of the world's series base ball games between the Athletics and Boston Nationals will be portrayed by plays on the electric score board. Nothing ever like it shown in Bellefonte before. Every play shown as made. These games will be shown every afternoon as long as the series last. In the evening there will be the usual big programs of moving pictures to interest the crowd. Base ball fans as well as the general public are invited to the motion pictures.

The Bellefonte Academy football team defeated the St. Francis Academy eleven, on Hughes field, by the score of 25 to 0. To-morrow the Academy will play the Hollidaysburg High school on Hughes field. Game will be called at 2.15 p. m. The Academy has started the season with a strong game and will no doubt give a good account of themselves to-morrow. Bellefonte lovers of football should take advantage of these early games to see the sport, as most of the Academy's home games will be played during the fore part of the season. Go out to-morrow and take your quarter with you.

Charles F. Blair, of Tyrone, a son of S. S. Blair, formerly superintendent of the Tyrone division of the Pennsylvania railroad, and himself a civil engineer and geologist in the employ of the railroad company, was arrested on Saturday on the charge of sending "Poisoned Pen" letters through the United States mail to various residents of Tyrone. He was held under $3,000 bail for trial before the United States court at Pittsburgh in November. It is said that the sending of these letters dated back for a period of nine or ten years. Blair is well known by a number of Bellefonte people and is the last man who would be suspected of doing anything of the kind.

The State-Centre Electric company has had a curiosity in their window on High street this week in a clock that is all face and hands, and with no insides. It consists of a large glass dial, similar to that of any ordinary clock, with bronze hands. There are no works—at least none that can be perceived—and a card attached states that it is not run by a magnet, by electricity or clock-works, and yet it runs and keeps correct time. Across the face is the question in large type "What Makes it Run?" and that's what everybody who has seen it would like to know, we suppose, so we will just drop the hint that the works and spring that make it go are concealed in the minute hand.

Arthur Grauer, son of Mrs. William Grauer, of Altoona, and a nephew of Lewis Grauer, of Bellefonte, had a narrow escape from death at Tyrone on Sunday evening when a trolley car crashed into an automobile in which he was sitting. Grauer was one of a party who had made a trip to Tyrone with J. W. Haines, in the latter's car, and returning home the machine stopped on a curve on the trolley tracks near Tyrone, one rear wheel of the auto being inside the car tracks. While Haines was trying to start the car Grauer sat in the rear seat. A trolley car came around the corner and crashed into the machine, badly wrecking it. Grauer was buried under the wreckage and was badly cut and bruised. He was taken to the Altoona hospital, where his condition is not considered critical.

CONTRACT GIVEN FOR ERECTION OF FLAGSTAFFS.

Arrangements have been practically completed for the erection and presentation of the flagstaffs which the state organization of the Patriotic Order Sons of America will present to State College. The subject was first brought before the order at the state convention held in Altoona in September of last year, and final action was taken at the convention this year at York, when the arrangements were placed in charge of a committee composed of Post State President Roy L. Schuyler, of Lock Haven, and Vice President C. L. None-maker, of Altoona.

This committee has signed a contract for the erection of the flagstaffs with Bernard McCurdy, of Philadelphia, a manufacturer, and it has been decided to present them to the College on Pennsylvania Day, November 13th. This is always a big day at the College. Governor John K. Tener and his staff will be present, together with many distinguished persons, while Pennsylvanians whose children are attending the College usually attend. It was thus thought appropriate to have the presentation on that date. Dr. E. E. Sparks and C. L. None-maker will have charge of the preparation of the presentation program.

There will be two flagstaffs, one for the national flag and the other for the flag of the State. Flags will also be presented, the national flag being 10 by 15 feet in size, while the State flag will be 9 by 15 feet in size.

CHECK KITER CAUGHT.—The police department received word last week from Cumberland, Md., to be on the watch for a man named T. C. Smith but who was traveling under the name of T. C. Kiser, as he was wanted in that place for check kiting. A description of the man was given and sure enough he turned up in Bellefonte on Saturday and was arrested the same evening by chief of police Harry Dukeman. The man wore a Shriner's badge and before he was arrested, however, he succeeded in passing a worthless check at A. C. Mingle's shoe store for $25, and getting a pair of shoes. The sheriff at Cumberland came here on Monday to get his man and before he was taken away he was searched and eleven dollars found in his pockets. This amount and the shoes were returned to Mr. Mingle. What the man did with the other fourteen dollars is not known.

NIGHT SCHOOL AT Y. M. C. A.—The Y. M. C. A. will conduct a night school beginning October 15th, 1914, for any one who desires to better his condition and improve his mind. Whatever your business is, it will be a good investment to study one of the subjects offered by this school. The classes will be taught by experts; Prof. Whiting will be principal, Prof. Hughes and Prof. Wagner will be the committee in charge of the school. Subjects Taught:—How to construct, care and manage an automobile; electricity, public speaking, short hand, type-writing, expert accounting, civil service, first aid, singing. For list of teachers and further information apply at Y. M. C. A. office.
