

With the Churches of the County.

Notes of Interest to Church People of all Denominations in all Parts of the County.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SOCIETY.
Service Sunday 10:45 a. m. Wednesday 8 p. m., 9 1/2 E. High street.

THREE YEARS OF CHURCH WORK.
Dr. Hawes gathered up some of the more easily tabulated events of his three years of service in the Presbyterian church, and gave them to the congregation last Sunday. Some of them are as follows: When he took charge of the congregation October 13th, 1911, there were 343 members. In these three years 105 have been added on confession and 39 on certificate. The losses have been, by death 24, by removal to other congregations 17, by having names placed on "side roll" 33. The present membership is 413. The pastor has preached to this congregation 311 times, and elsewhere 98 times. Total sermons and addresses 409. No record has been kept of prayer-meeting talks, talks to the Academy students, talks to the Men's Bible class, and funeral addresses. The pastor has conducted 47 funerals and assisted at 9 others. He has married 16 couples. The contributions of the church for the three years total, for missions, etc., $12,598, for local expenses $24,536. Total contributions $37,234.

The Holy Communion will be administered in St. John's Lutheran church next Sunday. On next Friday evening at 7:45 o'clock preparatory services will be held, when new members will be received and children will be baptized.

On Sunday at 3 o'clock p. m., there will be a men's meeting at the United Brethren church. Women and boys under thirteen years of age excluded. Subject, "Man." All men are invited.

Revival meetings are on at the United Brethren church. The interest is good and attendance increasing. The fearful and indifferent will wait until the fire is started and burning, then they will come in and rejoice with us. Any way so that souls are saved.

SENATOR HALL DANGEROUSLY ILL.
The Lock Haven Daily Democrat, of Wednesday evening furnished the following greatly regrettable news:
"Word has been passing over the wires that Senator J. K. P. Hall, who last week underwent a critical operation in a Cleveland hospital, where he is now, is in a very serious condition and the end is expected any time. Senator Hall's entire family is with him constantly."

British Seize Three U. S. Ships.

The President Declares Vigorous Steps Must Be Taken to Protect Vessels Carrying American Flag.

Following immediately upon the announcement that the United States had filed a protest with England, demanding the release of the Standard Oil tank steamship John D. Rockefeller, word was received that another tanker, the Platuria, also had been seized by a British warship.

The Standard Oil company has asked the state department to make a protest in the case of the Platuria, as well as that of the Rockefeller. This is the third oil-laden ship captured within eight days, the first being the Brindilla, now in Halifax harbor. The Platuria, which formerly was the German steamer Diamant, but which changed her flag shortly before leaving New York on Oct. 5, was captured off the coast of Scotland and taken into a port in the Lewis Islands.

Acting Secretary of State Lansing announced that the protest had been made. He discussed the general subject of neutral shipping with President Wilson, and it was understood that the president has taken the position that vigorous efforts must be made to protect vessels flying the American flag, in cases where international law does not give the right of seizure.

In cases where ships formerly under foreign registry, but transferred to American registry, are seized, the government will carefully inquire whether the transfer was bona fide, and once that is established, will do its utmost to protect American ship owners carrying on lawful trade.

As the Rockefeller was American-owned, and flew the American flag and no change of registry was involved, the American government considers the seizure unwarranted.

She had American officers and crew. The ship was bound from one neutral port to another, leaving Philadelphia on Sept. 2 for Copenhagen, carrying illuminating oil, which Secretary Lansing said had not been classed as contraband in any notification received from Great Britain. The vessel was taken to the Orkney Islands.

In this connection, it was learned that the British government has declared illuminating oil contraband, but notification has not yet been sent to neutral countries.

The British point of view is that illuminating oil can be used in the propelling of Zeppelins, submarines and destroyers, and it was pointed out that within the last month there has been a significant increase in the amount of oil shipped from the United States to neutral countries, as shown by the official reports.

EMDEN SINKS FIVE SHIPS

German Cruiser Still Ravaging British Commerce Near India.

The German cruiser Emden has again been sinking British steamers, this time 150 miles southwest of Cohn, British India, according to a report received by the admiralty from Colombo, Ceylon.

She has sent to the bottom the British steamers Chikana, Trollus, Benmohr and Clan Grant and the dredger Ponrable, bound for Tasmania. The British steamer Exford was captured by the Emden.

BOOKS, MAGAZINES, Etc.

Despite the fact that the European war has practically paralyzed scientific research and mechanical achievement and invention in the countries involved, the November Popular Mechanics magazine contains its full quota of new and interesting material. Fifty-four unusual war pictures, in a special section of the magazine, together with numerous short illustrated articles which pertain to the war make up for any lack of other foreign news.

The November number contains, in all, 301 articles and 363 illustrations, making a most valuable as well as interesting number of this always valuable publication.

The Woman's Home Companion for November is one of the most entertaining numbers of that always interesting and valuable publication. In this issue Anne Morgan, youngest daughter of the late J. Pierpont Morgan, begins a series of four talks to American girls. The subject of the first talk is the girl's education and the next article is to deal with the girl and her responsibilities. Miss Morgan is a woman of wide mental vision and warm sympathies whose conclusions are founded on the broadest travel and experience and on mature thought.

In the same issue a chapter is reproduced from Olive Schreiner's "Woman and Labor."

In the fashion department Grace Margaret Gould, the well-known fashion editor, writes an article showing the effect of the war on fashions. Many other articles are contributed that make the November number particularly useful as well as entertaining.

FIELD SPORTS.—When you keep a boy interested in football, baseball, tennis, and the like, you lessen the chances that he will get interested in things not so good for him.

The Youth's Companion, since its enlargement, gives generous space to this matter of athletic training, and gets the best coaches in the country to write for it.

How to practice to become a first-rate pitcher, how to train for a race, how to learn the newest strokes in swimming—these are only a small part of the service which the Companion renders in any home which it enters. It has points of contact with a hundred interests.

Every new subscriber who sends $2.00 for the fifty-two weekly issues of 1915 will receive free all the issues of the paper for the remaining weeks of 1914; also the Companion Home Calendar for 1915. The Youth's Companion, 144 Berkeley Street, Boston, Mass.

An Appeal

An Appeal to the People of Pennsylvania

It is in the interest of the public—whose chief concern is good service and safety—that the Extra Crew Law now on the Statute books of Pennsylvania and other States be repealed. This law causes a waste of $1,100,000 annually in the employment of unnecessary men on the Pennsylvania Railroad System alone.

No one is more concerned than the Pennsylvania Railroad Company in securing maximum safety on its lines. Every train on this railroad has a full crew, and this extra expenditure adds nothing to safety or public convenience. The same money had much better be spent to remove grade crossings, improve tracks, signals, and bridges, and buy steel cars. This extra crew law, which compels unnecessary expenditures, is one of the factors which menaces the ability of this Company to pay present rates of wages to that great body of employees whose activities are needed.

The Public Service Commission should see to it that all trains are properly manned. Such action would amply protect employees and the public. We appeal to the people in their own interest, we appeal to our employees in their best interest, to ask their representatives in the next Pennsylvania Legislature to repeal the Extra Crew Law.
