Mrs. Barbara Gross, of south Potter street, celebrated her eighty-third birthday anniversary on Sunday, February 21st. She is in fairly good health and occasionally indulges in little reminiscent talks to friends who call to see her. She came to this country seventy years ago and settled first at St. Mary's, Elk county, but a few years later her parents came to Centre county and settled at Axe Mann. She has been a resident of this county ever since. Her maiden name was Barbara Beezer, a sister of the elder Beezers who settled along Spring Creek and of the family only she and her sister, Mrs. Yetzberger, who is sixteen months older, and who resides at St. Mary's, are still living.

FEBRUARY COURT CULLINGS.—The February term of court convened on Monday morning with Judge Ellis L. Orvis presiding. George M. Harter, of Marion township, was appointed foreman of the grand jury.

The first case taken up was that of the Commonwealth vs. Sylvanus Moyer. At the December term of court defendant pleaded guilty to assault and battery on his wife and sentence was suspended. He was rearrested in January for making threats, etc., and after hearing the testimony Judge Orvis placed the defendant under a $500 bond to keep the peace, especially towards his wife.

Commonwealth vs. Arthur H. Hagyard, assault and battery. Prosecutor, George H. Baux. The case is from Rush township and was the outcome of an altercation between the defendant and the eleven year old son of the prosecutor. The jury returned a verdict of not guilty, placing three-fourths of the costs on the defendant and one-fourth on the prosecutor.

Commonwealth vs. John Hall, of Milesburg, indicted for larceny and receiving stolen goods. Prosecutor A. A. Schroyer. The testimony showed that on the night of September 30th, 1914, Mr. Schroyer was in Bellefonte and hitched his horse near the Bellefonte Trust company. When he was ready to start home at ten o'clock a lap robe and rain coat were missing from the buggy. Some time afterwards the defendant offered to trade a lap robe on a pig to a farmer near Hecla. A search warrant was sworn out and a freight caboose where Mr. Hall was employed, was searched, the robe and coat being found in a locker. The defendant offered testimony to prove that he was not in Bellefonte on the night of September 30th, and stated that he had found the articles at the spring near where the old ice house stood along the Central Railroad of Pennsylvania. The jury returned a verdict of not guilty but the defendant to pay the costs.

On Wednesday of last week Mr. Thaddeus R. Hamilton was seventy-nine years old and he celebrated the day by working in his planing mill as usual. Work is the tonic he has taken regularly all his life and to this he ascribes his remarkable vitality and longevity. Mr. Hamilton is one of Bellefonte's most substantial citizens and none that know him but wish he may be spared for many more birthdays.

There is some beautiful and varied scenery in Centre county but there is only one Scenic in Bellefonte, and it stands in the fore front of motion picture shows. In the few years that the Scenic has been under the management of T. Clayton Brown he has established for it a reputation second to none in this part of the State, that when you go to the Scenic you can feel assured of seeing all new pictures and as good a program as can be seen anywhere. Every night there's something interesting to see.

Waddle, who for a number of years has been clerk at the Bush house, left Bellefonte early Monday morning for Philadelphia, where he has accepted a position with the Weikel-Smith Spice company as a traveling salesman to sell the Pennsylvania Match company's product. Judge Kunkel handed down a decision in the Dauphin county court on Thursday of last week dismissing an appeal of the Bellefonte Lime company from the decision of the Auditor General. The defendant company claimed to be exempt from taxation on the ground that it is a manufacturer by reason of crushing limestone into crushed stone of marketable sizes. The court held that the company was not incorporated for manufacturing purposes and is not employing its capital stock actually and exclusively in manufacturing. This appeal was taken by the Bellefonte Lime company about four years ago and it took all this time to get a decision.

Mrs. Miller Stewart, of west Linn street, was eighty years old on Sunday and the day was duly celebrated by her family and friends. Dr. Walter Stewart came up from Wilkes-Barre to be present and the only absent members of the family were her daughter, Mrs. Miller, of Hagerstown, Md., and her son William, of Seattle. The latter remembered his mother with a big box of flowers sent from New York and with the flowers sent by other friends the interior of the Stewart home looked like a big conservatory. Of course there was a big dinner and scores of callers during the day to congratulate Mrs. Stewart on having reached her four-score milestone and being in such good health to enjoy the day.

MANY PUBLIC SALES THIS SPRING.—The season for public sales of farm stock and implements is now on and during the month of March there will be anywhere from one to a half a dozen sales every day in Centre county. Hundreds of horses, cattle and hogs will be sold and farm implements enough to equip many farms. A careful estimate places the number of sales to be held in Centre county this spring at one hundred or over. Most of these are being held by farmers who have accumulated a competence and are about to retire to private life. Some of the sales will be principally surplus stock that the farmer has accumulated and is making sale to get rid of it. In the end, however, the purchaser will pay the price, as so far at the few sales that have been held all kinds of stock have brought high prices and farming implements also sold to their full value. It is estimated that over a quarter of a million dollars worth of farm stock and equipment will change hands this spring.

TWENTY-SEVEN LICENSES GRANTED.—Judge Ellis L. Orvis on Saturday granted twenty-seven licenses and held six up for further consideration. The six held over are the Spring Mills hotel, Perry Krise proprietor; the Utah house at Sandy Ridge, J. B. Egan proprietor, and the following four in Philipsburg: The Potter house, J. R. Clifford landlord; the Passmore house, Albert Fasshauer proprietor; the Farmer's hotel, William Bowers proprietor, and the Central hotel, William H. Hindell proprietor.

Included in the licenses granted are the five hotels in Bellefonte, five hotels, three wholesale and a brewers license in Philipsburg, two hotels at Snow Hill and hotels at Clarence, Cassanova, Millheim, Coburn, Rebersburg, Centre Hall, Old Fort, Potters Mills and Howard. Also a wholesale license at Clarence and one at Cassanova. The court gave no intimation as to why the six licenses were held up or what disposition would be made of them.

BELLEFONTE ACADEMY ATHLETIC BANQUET.—The Bellefonte Academy athletic banquet at the Bush house last Friday evening proved a most successful and enjoyable affair. Covers were laid for ninety people and included among the guests were about forty or more residents of Bellefonte and the basket-ball team of the University of Pittsburgh, composed of former Academy players. At the basket-ball game prior to the banquet the Academy team defeated the visitors by the score of 43 to 33. The honor guest at the banquet was Rev. James P. Hughes, principal emeritus of the Academy, who is in his eighty-eighth year, having celebrated his eighty-seventh anniversary on December 15th, 1914.

The dining room at the Bush house had been resplendently decorated by the Academy students in their school colors of blue and gold, with a liberal mixture of the national colors. The menu served was elaborate enough to satisfy the appetites of all present.

At the conclusion of the repast James R. Hughes, headmaster of the Academy, acted as toastmaster and after dinner speeches were made by Dr. George E. Hawes, Judge Ellis L. Orvis, Andrew J. Cook, W. Harrison Walker Esq., John P. Harris, Rev. J. P. Hughes, Henry C. Quigley Esq., J. Linn Harris, James H. Potter and several of the athletes who were there.

One unusual and unexpected diversion was the presentation to Rev. James P. Hughes of a purse of fifty dollars in gold in commemoration of his fifty years' connection with the Academy. The presentation was made by J. Linn Harris in behalf of a number of Rev. Hughes' warm, personal friends. It was after one o'clock when the program of speeches was exhausted and guests and students retired to their homes.

HICCOUGHED HIS LIFE AWAY.—On Monday of last week Michael Staryak, a miner of Clarence, was taken to the Lock Haven hospital for treatment for the hiccoughs. He had been hiccupping then for over a week and notwithstanding the most strenuous treatment given him at the hospital he kept on hiccupping until Thursday of last week when the constant and intense strain resulted in a hemorrhage of the brain and he died that afternoon. Staryak was about forty years old and is survived by his wife and four children. The remains were taken to Clarence on Friday where funeral services were held on Saturday morning and burial made in the Catholic cemetery.
