

German Cruiser
in U. S. Harbor.

Commerce Raider Sank American Ship With Grain Cargo After Taking Captain and Crew Off.

The German auxiliary cruiser Prinz Eitel Friedrich, another of the elusive German sea rovers, which have been destroying commerce of the allies on the seven seas, slipped into port at Newport News, Va., presumably eluding the British and French cruisers along the coast.

She is in need of repairs, coal and provisions for her crew, and with over 300 prisoners, taken from prizes.

The captain of the American sailing ship William P. Frye, his wife and the members of the crew are aboard the Eitel Friedrich.

Dr. Knoneck, surgeon of the German cruiser, told W. R. Hamilton, customs collector at Norfolk, that the Frye was sunk in the South Atlantic on Jan. 27, after the Eitel had taken off Captain Kiehne and all others on board.

As nearly as can be learned, the Frye was sunk because she was alleged to have been carrying contraband of war. The collector has made a report to Washington on the subject.

The surgeon called on Collector Hamilton as the representative of Captain Thierichens. It is said that he told the collector that the chief reason for the cruiser's coming to port was to land those taken from the ships sent to the bottom by the cruiser. He is reported to have stated that the cruiser had enough fuel and provisions to last two months.

Within an hour after the Prinz Eitel Friedrich had arrived in Hampton Roads a request was made to the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock company for information whether the concern could at once begin work on repairs.

SURPRISE AT FRYE'S FATE

Had Non-Contraband Cargo Aboard and Sinking Called Unjustified.

The news of the sinking of the American ship William P. Frye in the South Atlantic on Jan. 27 by the Prinz Eitel Friedrich caused a sensation in official and diplomatic circles in Washington.

Without having a full report and some consideration of the subject, officials were reserving their comment. It is a well-established principle of international law, however, that the Prinz Eitel Friedrich had no right to destroy the Frye if she was carrying a non-contraband cargo, such as wheat, with which she sailed from Seattle.

If she were carrying contraband of war the Eitel had a right to seize her and probably, under certain circumstances, the law of military necessity warrants the destruction of such a ship and compels reparation to the owners.

The Frye carried a policy for $11,550 on her hull with the government war risk insurance bureau in addition to other insurance written by private companies. The figures at the government bureau give the value of the Frye at about $90,000.

The disposition of any prisoners of war the German ship may have on board will raise another question. It is possible that they may be paroled. American officials were awaiting official information before announcing any action.

ALLIES WRECK 30 GUNS

Turkish Cannon on Motor Trucks on Dardanelles Disabled.

A London Central News agency dispatch from Athens says that during the bombardment of the Dardanelles on Monday thirty guns mounted on motor trucks were destroyed by the fire of the warships.

A dispatch from Rome says that a steamer arriving at an Italian port reports having met twenty-two French transports near the Island of Malta, heading toward the Dardanelles.

Troops landed by the allies to attack the Dardanelles forts have been driven back to their ships by the Turks after suffering heavy losses, according to Constantinople dispatches received by the official German news agency.

The German press asserts that the British admiralty's announcement of success in the Dardanelles operations are untrue and are designed to influence the Balkan countries in favor of the allies.

British Air Scout Killed.

Flight Sub-Lieutenant Shepherd, of the British Royal Navy, fell into the sea with an aeroplane while scouting off Osborne. He was killed.

British Bombs on Civilians.

Three Belgian civilians were killed by English aviators, who threw bombs upon Ostend, the war office in Berlin announced.

Italian Fleet at Sea.

According to the Geneva Tribune an Italian squadron, consisting of two battleships and several cruisers, has put to sea, and is probably going to the Dardanelles. It says this information has come from a reliable source in Vienna.

MEXICAN CAPITAL ASKS U. S. FOR FOOD.

Wilson Fears Outbreaks of Mobs Made Desperate by Hunger and Urges Americans to Leave.

The Mexican Red Cross appealed to the American Red Cross, through Secretary of State Bryan, for food for the starving populace in Mexico City.

The appeal of the Mexican society stated that the famine in the Mexican capital was growing worse.

Miss Mabel T. Boardman, of the American Red Cross, consulted with Secretary Bryan and Counsellor Lansing, of the state department, in regard to the Mexican relief. It was decided to await further information from Mexico City before taking final steps.

The advisability of inviting some other American countries, especially Argentina, Brazil and Chile, to join the United States in the Mexican relief work, was suggested.

The greatest fear of government officials, as stated by President Wilson and Secretary Bryan, is of outbreaks of mobs driven desperate by hunger, and it is to escape these consequences that the state department is trying to get out all of the Americans still in Mexico City who desire to leave the capital.

There was a tendency on the part of the officials generally, however, to believe that the change in control of Mexico City would serve to improve the situation there.

Plans have been formulated, it is understood, to urge Carranza to reopen the railroad from Vera Cruz to Mexico City, which recently has been used only for military purposes, so that Americans can take ships for the United States.

Gibbons Confers on Mexico.

Cardinal Gibbons has been given a personal report on the conditions in Mexico as regards the Catholic church by Archbishop Mora y del Rio, head of the church in the southern republic, who recently came to New Orleans from Vera Cruz.

The cardinal said that the archbishop reported that all his clergy had been imprisoned and the situation was deplorable. Cardinal Gibbons said he was in correspondence with President Wilson and Secretary Bryan over the situation.

BOTTLE LAW REPEALER LOST

Delaware Senate Strikes Other Liquor Bills From Calendar.

By a vote of 9 to 8 the Delaware senate went on record on the liquor question for the first time by defeating a bill repealing the bottle law.

Both "wet" and "dry" in the house ordered struck from the calendar a group of liquor and temperance bills. One included a bill granting special licenses to clubs in New Castle county when holding picnics.

Mr. Downward withdrew his bill, which would have increased license fees slightly in that county.

THREE NEW ADMIRALS

Fletcher, Howard and Cowles Advanced to Full Rank.

Secretary of the Navy Daniels announced the appointment of Rear Admiral Fletcher, of the Atlantic fleet, to be a full admiral, in accordance with the law recently passed by congress reviving the ranks of admiral and vice admiral.

Rear Admirals Howard, of the Pacific fleet, and Cowles, of the Asiatic fleet, were raised to the same rank. No vice admirals will be appointed at this time.

THE AERIAL BATTLESHIPS OF THE FUTURE.—The difficulty of properly arming and protecting aircraft lies in the fact that we cannot yet obtain sufficiently powerful engines—even though, in the course of a few years, the engines have increased in horse power from about fifty to two hundred. But when we look ahead, and estimate what may be possible with a power plant, not of hundreds of horse power but of thousands, then we can imagine a perfected war machine of the future—a huge armored craft, that carries a crew of hundreds of men, and that is equipped with formidable guns and aerial torpedo and bombing tubes. Such a vessel will be able to reef its wing surface when traveling at high speed, and will rush through the air at a speed of several hundred miles an hour.

But even against such metal-built monsters of the air, flying at their amazing speeds, man will pit his ingenuity. It is clear that he cannot fight them from the earth; he must fight them high in their own element. So in the future, if wars continue, we may have fearful struggles of the air—not small and isolated combats, such as this campaign has shown us, but battles desperately waged, with death and destruction raining from the clouds. There are those, however, who argue that such a form of war, when pushed to its ruthless limit, will prove so ghastly that humanity will revolt, and that the science that revolutionizes war will also end it.—Claude Grahame-White, on "Aircraft in War," in the Youth's Companion.

J. Kennedy Johnston's Platform for the Office of Judge.

Dear Editor: After mature and conscientious deliberation I have decided to ask the considerate electors of Centre county to support me as a candidate for the office of Judge, and for the purpose of removing all uncertainty relative to my candidacy for said office, I take this opportunity to make the following announcement, to wit:

That if it be the will of the electors of our county to nominate and elect me upon a non-partisan ballot for their servant to preside as Judge over our county courts, I shall assume and discharge the duties thereof with fidelity to the trust imposed; and if this be the pleasure of the thoughtful people of our county, I desire my election to be on the following platform, namely:

First—I shall be strictly non-partisan in office.

Second—I shall dispose of all matters within my jurisdiction without fear or favor and without useless delays and expenses.

Third—I shall have no other business or alliances to prevent an entire impartial service.

Fourth—I shall in a regular, orderly and legal manner refuse to grant all liquor licenses upon the ground of no necessity, under the plain mandates of existing laws, and the laws regulating illegal sales of intoxicating liquors shall be strictly enforced, during my term of office.

Respectfully submitted to the electors of Centre county for their kindly consideration, influence and support.
