—We notice by the program of the Easter services conducted by Hobart Commandery, K. T., of Hobart, Oklahoma, that both Daniel McBride and his son William T., are members of the Commandery. Many of our older residents have pleasant recollections of the elder gentleman. And we middle-aged fellows remember "Eck" as one of the master mischief makers among the boys of Bellefonte when he lived here.

—In remitting for her subscription to the WATCHMAN Mrs. Susan Spangler, of Centre Hall, widow of the late John Spangler, at one time sheriff of Centre county, stated that the WATCHMAN had been a constant visitor at their home since 1861, a period of fifty-four years. Few papers published can boast of such steadfast friends as Mrs. Spangler and a number of other half-century readers that the WATCHMAN has in Centre county.

—Mr. and Mrs. J. Blair Miller moved last week from the Al. Rishel home in Bener township into the Mrs. C. M. Bower house on east Linn street. Mr. and Mrs. Miller came to Bellefonte about two months ago from Pittsburgh. Mr. Miller expecting a position as an inspector of concrete work at the new penitentiary as soon as work is begun there. Luther Jack, head farmer on the penitentiary farms, will make his home with Mr. and Mrs. Miller.

NOW PLANNING FOR A CENTRE COUNTY 'OLD HOME' WEEK.

Another meeting was held in the grand jury room in the court house on Wednesday evening to further the plans for a big celebration on the Fourth of July. After some discussion it was decided to change the character of the celebration into a Centre county "Old Home" week, to begin on Friday, July 2nd, and continue until Thursday evening, July 8th. All of Centre county will be asked to join with Bellefonte in making this one of the biggest and most interesting gatherings ever held in the county. The year 1915 is the 120th anniversary of the founding of Bellefonte and the 115th anniversary of the organization of Centre county. And in all that time there has never been a county Old Home week celebration, when the hundreds who have gone from Centre county to other parts of Pennsylvania and other States in the Union were invited back to renew old associations.

While the plans for an Old Home week celebration are as yet in the embryonic stage at Wednesday evening's meeting such things were discussed as a big circus for a day or two, if one can be secured; aviation meets, horse racing, baseball games and other sports; a prominent speaker for three or four days of the week, band concerts, special religious exercises on Sunday, July 4th, and a big, old-fashioned Fourth of July demonstration on Monday, July 5th, which will be celebrated as a legal holiday all over the United States.

The plans provide for an executive committee which will include one or more men from every borough and township in the county, and real active sub-committees who will push the good cause along. Another meeting will be held in the grand jury room next Tuesday evening, April 13th, and a general turnout is desired, as the time in which to get up an Old Home week is none too long.

MANY MORE PRISONERS TO BE BROUGHT TO NEW PENITENTIARY.

—Within the next week or ten days from 130 to 150 prisoners serving time in the western penitentiary will be brought from Allegheny to Rockview to aid in the construction of the new penal institution in course of erection there, according to an announcement made a few days ago by Warden John Francis. About 130 prisoners are working on the new buildings at present, having been taken there from the western penitentiary at various times during the past eighteen months.

The convicts, according to Warden Francis, will be housed in the large electric plant, one of the new buildings in the proposed group at Rockview that has been practically completed. Beds and other paraphernalia for their comfort are now being installed.

Warden Francis stated that it is the intention of the officials in charge of construction at the new institution to use as much convict labor during the coming summer as is deemed practicable. By following this plan few men other than skilled mechanics will have to be placed on the payroll. This may not be good news to the hundreds of men who are waiting for work to begin there in order to get a job, but it is in line with the proposed policy at the time the Act was passed providing for the new penitentiary. The convicts already at Rockview are now engaged in quarrying lime and sand stone, in preparation for a resumption of all work as soon as the weather permits.

ITALIAN ON A RAMPAGE.

—On Monday evening a young Italian from Pleasant Gap was arrested and confined to the Centre county jail on the charge of threatening to kill a young Italian girl, claimed to be his wife. It appears the young man and girl were married by Squire Brown some weeks ago but the girl's parents objected to the civil ceremony. Recently she decided to take a trip with her uncle to Connecticut. They left Pleasant Gap in a buggy on Monday evening to come to Bellefonte for the evening train. The infatuated suitor followed on foot and arrived here shortly after the girl and her uncle. The latter had not yet gone to the depot and the young Italian ran back and forth from the depot to the bridge creating quite a racket and attracting a number of his countrymen. Fortunately policeman Dunlap happened along about that time and upon being informed of the Italian's intention placed him under arrest. He was relieved of his razor and marched up street to jail. All the way up street he cried loudly, but whether it was because he had been arrested or over the loss of the girl is not known.

At an inquiry before Squire Brown on Tuesday the man gave his name as John Adams and denied contemplating harm to his wife. The razor belonged to another man and he brought it to town to be sharpened. He was discharged upon the payment of the costs.

ARRESTED ON A SERIOUS CHARGE.

—Howard Dixon, a young man living near Zion, was arrested on Monday evening on a statutory charge preferred by Miss Mary Sunday, of near Pleasant Gap. The warrant was sworn out by the girl's mother, Mrs. Annie Sunday, and the arrest was made by constable Horace Musser and chief of police Harry Dukeman. Dixon was given a hearing before Squire W. H. Musser on Tuesday morning and the evidence against him was of such a character that he was held in $500 bail for trial at court. At this writing the young man is still in jail.

—Walkover dress shoes for men at Fauble's. A new pair for every pair not satisfactory.

—It is stated on pretty reliable authority that during the winter and up to the present time there have been several thousand applications for work at the new penitentiary this summer. Every day brings in a large number of applicants. Most of this large number will of necessity be doomed to disappointment, as the State will not employ over two or three hundred men at the outside at any one time.

—Wild geese few northward over Bellefonte on Monday evening and from the loud, incessant honking a number of them must have gotten lost from the main flock. Wild geese have been flying to their nesting grounds in the north since the middle of March and this is a sure criterion that warm weather is coming, notwithstanding the fact that Philadelphia had a nineteen inch snow on Saturday.

—The weather this week has been more spring-like than any we have had since winter set in. The storm doors at the Bush house were taken down on Wednesday. Reports from the country tell of farmers plowing and harrowing and garden making being under way. The country schools have closed and the children romping o'er the fields and byways. The birds are chirping gaily and the lilac buds are bursting, all of which are sure harbingers of good old summer time.

—Drive away the blues by going to the Scenic. An hour spent there every evening will chase your troubles away and you'll go home feeling like a different person. Motion pictures attracts the undivided attention of the individual and everything else is forgotten in the interest of watching the motion pictures pass upon the screen. At the Scenic one can always see new and up-to-date pictures, the best that manager T. Clayton Brown can secure, and they are always worth the price of admission.

—In compliance with instructions sent out from the State Highway Department district superintendent of highways W. O. Bennett, of this place, is now making an inspection tour over all the state highway routes in Centre, Clearfield and Clinton counties. A report of the condition of these roads will be furnished to the chief engineer of the Department in Harrisburg and as soon afterwards as possible work will be started on putting the roads in as good condition as possible with the amount of money on hand to carry on the work. It is expected that one hundred or more men will be at work on the roads in Centre county before the first of May.

—As announced in last week's WATCHMAN, Chaplain Chas. E. Varney and his wife, Rev. Mecca Marie Varney, will be in Bellefonte the week of April 19th to 27th. Chaplain Varney served in the Spanish-American war and received from the late President McKinley special mention for his service. Mrs. Varney is an ordained minister, a woman of pleasing appearance and rare personal charms. Mr. and Mrs. Varney are coming to give us a week of welfare talks, at which general practical topics including the community life of Bellefonte will be discussed and suggestions given. The welfare week's program and place of meeting will be given next week. No admission will be charged but collections will be lifted at each meeting.

—Walkover dress shoes for men at Fauble's. A new pair for every pair not satisfactory.

—Some unknown person or persons attempted to force an entrance into A. I. Garbrick's smoke house at Valley View, on Tuesday night, but the barking of Mr. Garbrick's dog scared the would-be robbers away. Mr. Garbrick got to the window in time to see two men disappear in the darkness, and fired one or two shots after them as a warning. Later in the night a quantity of straw in his barn was discovered to be on fire, but as there was not much of it the heat did not become intense and with the help of neighbors the barn was saved from destruction. It is Mr. Garbrick's belief that the same men who tried to rob his smoke house returned and set fire to the straw in his barn. A pocket electric flashlight was found in the barn on which were the letters "J. R." This had evidently been dropped by one of the men and its loss not noticed at the time.

—Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Lonsberry, having shipped their household goods to Corning, N. Y., will leave today to make their home temporarily in that place. Mr. Lonsberry has been an engineer on the Central Railroad of Pennsylvania since it was opened for traffic about twenty-two years ago, and one of its most capable and trusted employees. During the past year or longer he has suffered with stomach trouble and his physician advised against his continuing his work as an engineer. Consequently the Central Railroad of Pennsylvania company has given him an indefinite leave of absence and he and Mrs. Lonsberry decided to go to Corning for a year, at least. Mr. Lonsberry's father is owner of a large vineyard near Corning and what work he does this summer will likely be among the grape vines in order to get the outdoor exercise and health-giving air.

CENTRE COUNTY COUPLE JAILED FOR ROBBERY.

—On Saturday of last week John P. DeHaas, a livyerman of Mill Hall, missed his wallet which contained $99 in cash and checks aggregating $88.45. On Monday county detective W. W. Pettigill, of Lock Haven, was put to work upon the case with the result that on Tuesday he arrested Seam and Bessie Royer on the charge of robbing Mr. DeHaas. The couple, who claim to be husband and wife, moved to Mill Hall only recently from Millheim and occupied rooms over a blacksmith shop in that place. They apparently had no means of support and suspicion was directed to them by the amount of money they spent on Monday. When the detective went to the Royer abode on Tuesday and charged the pair with having robbed DeHaas they both protested their innocence. The man was handcuffed and an hour's search made of their rooms without disclosing anything. Detective Pettigill then secured a hatchet and was on the point of breaking open a locked trunk, when Royer stopped him and said he would tell where the wallet was. He stated that it was hidden behind some heavy paper nailed to the rafters to keep the cold out. The detective made a search and soon brought forth the wallet. The checks were intact but the money all gone. Mrs. Royer then gave up $53 which she had tied in a roll and secreted on her person. The other $46 was not recovered, and it is probable that a good part of it was spent. The detective took Mr. and Mrs. Royer to the Clinton county jail and they will likely be tried at the regular session of court which begins on Monday, April 19th.
