PERERSBURG.

Fruit blossoms abundantly. Beware of the May and June frosts. Our merchants are merry -business

Allen Brungart's engine is puffing daily sawing wood.

Orvis Walker has nearly finished his hennery, modern and complete.

Mrs. Ethel Hubler and little daughter Frances are visiting at Selinsgrove.

Frank Waite is aiding in the building operations now humming at Millheim.

Mrs. Victor Walker is quite as handy at the lever of the gasoline transfer as the regular mail routist.

It is a question whether all this education pays its cost, when it is thrown away on the street after dusk.

The residence of Forest Ocker has been sided with a silvery glittering metal that gives a palatial glamour.

Tom Harter is scouting around for more woods to lay low in the dust. He was trying to get Jim Corman's, too.

George Corman is following his pro-fession of Veterinary Oophorectomist, as a noted horse surgeon termed himself.

Mrs. J. K. Moyer, having spent the spring months at Mont Alto, with her daughter, resumed her residence here. Miss Elsie Miller, of Lock Haven, helped her grandma Hackenberg to do her spring house cleaning this week, quite Sam Bierly shipped 100 bushels of apples to WilksBarre the forepart of the week. That is the best market in Pennsylvania for apples. It is laughable to see Brother Vance McCormick make grimaces because Dr. Brumbaugh is operating upon State College for appendicitis! Mrs. John Page gave a regular farmer's feast to some lady friends from Rebersburg, and they speak glowingly of it for variety and propriety. The whole minor judiciary is insulted by the new scalp law, which requires proof to be made before State game protectors. God save our scalps! Mr. and Mrs. Breon, of Coburn, and Mrs. James Harbaugh and Norman Douty attended the funeral of Walter Douty at Green Burr on Saturday.

The improvements on the George Miller home have been supplemented by a concrete walk all around and across the side way, laid by Hubler and Corman.

Cal. Weaver and his good wife have become quite citified in their tastes and the way they have had Wilbur Diehl decorate their new home is pleasing to

Who can furnish us a copy of "Song Garland," even though second hand? It was composed by W. J. Suffern and many of Emma Pitts' songs are in it. The book is out of print.

made his pile raising tobacco at Avis. When the work road tax was abolished this opened wide the field for graft, and now nobody will work on the public roads, unless sentenced to the stone pile by inconsiderate and stony-hearted

On Saturday night whilst all of W. J. Hackenbergs were away from the ice cream parlors, temporarily, some one not Billy Sundayistically inclined robbed the till. We will have to send for "Billy!"

Jake Gephart recently sold a car load of baled hay. If he had another he could readily dispose of it to good customers. But why do not our farmers club together as they used to do, and order a car load for the club?

The gall of the Governor! Our highly taxed farmers from whom the State highwaymen took their roads are asked to get out and donate a day and sweat on the roads May 26th, and pay their taxes too! They are no fools!

We did not expect Scotty to vote for submitting the liquor question or any other question to the electoral test. Scotty stood for whiskey at the polls.
Why should he stand for microbious water or "pop" in the "House of Hogs."

We have been watching the daily reports to see how the Grange road bill, which was intended to supplant the Jones jackass law of 1913, was faring at the hands of Brumbaugh's Legislature. Guess "Jordan am a hard road to trabble I b'leve," as the old minstrel sang.

An aged man presented himself at the State prison to see a person condemned to be executed. The warden asked him what relation he was to the prisoner. He replied: "Brothers and sisters have I none: this man's father was my father's son." What was the relation?

Word from the Misses Rilla and Flor-ence Diehl indicates that they are in love with their new homes near Lewisburg and Vicksburg. There is a place near Lewisburg called Red Top where the Blue mountain gazelle wades in clover knee-high, and the peonies bloom perenfenced. The law is all against the raiser of live stock. Hence Pennsylvania does not raise one-tenth as much as she consumes. This is because her Legislators are generally of the Mexican burro variety, nowadays.

Old miners in the region of precious metals knew auriferons signs, which are not written in the books. They maintained that there are gold, silver and lead in valuble quantities in these mountains between Rebersburg and Clinton-dale. John Ruhl located some about twenty years ago and sought to buy the mountain land, but the controlling interest in it was held in Great Britian and he could not get a lease nor deed. So the matter rests. But he lives and knows where the gold veins are.

Governor Names "Good Roads" Day.

HARRISBURG, May 5th.—The proclamation issued by Governor Brumbaugh designating Wednesday, May 26th, as "Good Roads" day throughout Pennsylvania has brought an immediate response. State Highway Commissioner Cunningham and chief engineer Uhler, together with first deputy State Highway Commissioner Hunter at the head of the bureau of township highways, have taken prompt steps to insure the hearty co operation of the forces of the State High fort will be made not only to enlist the forces of the State Highway Department on "Good Roads" day but also to urge and advise township supervisors' boards in the more than fifteen hundred town-ships throughout the State to do all that they can to make the "Good Roads" day red-lettered in the State's history. As showing the interest taken by the Department in the project, the statement cites the fact that Chief Engineer Uhler State Highway Commissioner Cunning-ham that they "make such arrangements as are necessary to give such advice and encouragement as is possible to the movement." operate.

Mr. Hunter calls attention to the fact that on "Good Roads" day in Washington county last year, about $12,000 worth of work was done at but little cost to the townships. Business men from adjacent boroughs and villages and students from the colleges turned out en masse, farmers stopped their usual work for the day and helped as best they could, the wom-en and children also helped in supplying food and refreshments to the other workers. What was done once can be done again, and the results obtained in Washington county last year can be duplicated all over the Commonwealth this

It is suggested that each supervisor take a leading part by organizing the work in his district; get together with the business men and all organizations in your township and effect an organization to direct the work.

So Bellefonte citizens testify. Mrs. Sara Miller, 210 E. I also had pains in my back and a dull ache across my loins. I couldn't do any lifting and if I sat down, I could hardly get up without help. I also had rheumatic twinges. After I had taken two boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills, the rheumatic pains disappeared and I was relieved of the other troubles. I have had very lit-
