WOMEN TAKE UP FARM WORK

War Has Made It More or Less Necessary in England-Use Special Costume.

Farm work for women has become fashionable. College girls from Newnham. Oxford and almost the entire enrollment from Sheffield university are among the volunteers for war work in the fields, and girls who had previously devoted all their energies to sport and fashion are making a fad of it. A special costume for women farmers has been designed and exhib-The suit is made of tough brown linen fashioned into a long coat buttoned down the front. Knickerbockers of the same material are worn underneath, buttoning below the knee. This costume is not only cheap, but allows as much freedom of movement as man's dress. Because of the knickers the women farmers can climb trees for pruning or picking fruit. Some prejudice is encountered on the part of the old-fashioned farmers. When they receive an application for work from a girl who looks like the dairymaid of a comic opera, they are inclined to give a refusal on the spot. Most of the applicants have little idea of what real farm work is like. They think of a rose-covered cottage, with tea served in the garden among the flowers, and an arcadian existence. But they are willing to learn about pigs, chickens and stock, and generally do well at fruit picking and hay raking.-London Mail.

FUTURE OF FISHERS ISLAND

Possibility of Great Doings at Place Which Is Key to Long Island Sound.

Almost off the entrance to the Thames estuary, whose mouth makes New London's wonderful harbor, perhaps a sort of delta cast up in some former day by the sediment which the estuary brought down, Fishers island is a remarkable bit of land. It is withal a key to the entrance of Long Island sound and bears an important fort whose unseen guns would, if effectively served, pour terrible hail on any above surface craft which should seek to enter for improper purposes the approach to New York and the Connecticut coast. Aside from this Fishers island has at its western end a hotel or two and a few summer cottages and for the rest it is a great poultry range, where are raised in astonishing quantities chickens and ducks and turkeys and geese, says the New Haven Register.

If the now rumored plans are carried out the poultry will have to move before long to some spot that has less strategic military value. Young John Hays Hammond has invented a wireless controlled torpedo which, it is anticipated, has wonderful possibilities if it will do what is claimed for it.

Use for Soapweed. Settlers in western Kansas are finding that there is money in the despised soapweed that they have been burning to get it out of the way. Soap manufacturers are now paying $8 a ton for the plant at the railway stations. Since a man can ordinarily get out a ton a day, the gathering of the soap weed gives the settler a chance to make good wages at a time when there is nothing to do on the farm or ranch. Besides, every plant means just that much more pasture ground. After cutting, the soapweed is allowed to dry from 60 to 90 days and is then baled in ordinary broom-corn machines. This species of Spanish bayonet gathered by the Kansas farmers is technically known as bacata and has exceptionally large fruit. For a long time this weed has been made into a soapy decoction which the Indian and Mexican women have used, particularly for washing their hair. It is well suited for this purpose, as it contains no alkali. Present-day manufacturers use it for toilet and wool soaps.

Enormous Biplane. The Russian Sikorsky biplane, is the largest heavier-than-air machine yet invented. It has a wing-surface at least five times greater than that of the commodious Farman biplane. Its steel frame is 22 yards long. Its dead weight is over three and a half tons, and it can carry a "useful load" of over a ton. At least a quarter of a ton would consist of explosives. Nearly half a ton of fuel and oil is carried. The space between the planes is nine feet deep. The forepart of the machine consists of steel-walled cabins, extending over a length of about 30 feet. These cabins have large windows on each side, like those of an omnibus. The cabins are electrically lit at night. In cold weather they are heated through the exhaust.

Fact Versus Theory. Certain theorists maintain that men and the so-called lower animals are what they eat. But Queenie, a yearold Bronx pet, entirely disproves the theory in person. Argentine Wines. Production of wine in Argentina is one of the most important industries of the country. In 1913 the record production of 110,000,000 gallons was reached. Practically all of the wine produced in Argentina is of a common variety, and for table use only. The exportation of Argentine wines is very

The bodily process known as assimilation is well explained in these words: "As the blood, in its circulation, approaches any organ, the portions that are appropriate for this organ feel its active force, obey it, and leaving the others, mingle with the substance of its tissue and are changed into its own true and proper nature." How important it is that the blood should be pure and rich, not loaded with worn-out and useless matters! Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies and enriches the blood, and does all it is possible for medicine to do in the way of perfecting assimilation and building up the whole system. When you have made up your mind to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, insist on having it—don't accept a substitute that acts like it.
