As an evidence of our progressiveness two of our three stores installed auto-delivery trucks for the speedy delivery of their wares, and the third is negotiating for a similar convenience.

The venerable Mr. Kreps, residing near the fish hatchery, worked in the forenoon on Friday last, ate a hearty dinner, became ill, and expired almost instantly. Heart failure, it is supposed, caused the sudden death.

I notice Victor Murdock says the Progressive party has every reason for plunging into the campaign "with vim, vigor and determination." But why plunge? Why not just let go its hold Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Wise attended and go down without struggling?

Since Congress is in session it is to be expected that one of the leading topics for discussion will be preparedness. England relied upon its fleet and scorned the policy of preparedness for its army. And England is now paying the price.

Oscar Shuey, tenant farmer for Benjamin Kauffman, has purchased what is known as the old Gibson Larimer farm this week, after spending several weeks here and at Centre Hall. from Ephriam Keller, and will take possession of the premises on April 1st, next. Oscar will succeed, without doubt, in his new venture.

On Monday morning as guard J. D. Herman was on his way to the postoffice he found a well filled purse and was quite a while trying to find the owner, but failed until some time later when Wm. Emmel, of Gilltown, was seen hunting for his treasure. Mr. Herman asked him what he was looking for and on bepurse contained some twenty dollars.

Pleasant Gap has quite a bunch of extreme fanatical advocates of female sufize at the recent election. They even go so far as to say that the President was half-hearted in supporting their cause. Well, come to think of it, he voted for it, which is more than the majority of men did in Pennsylvania. Better "pick your flint" and try it again some time later.

Samuel and Claire Horner, sons of Mr. and Mrs. George Horner, who two years ago left their home for the west, locating in Stevenson county, Illinois, returned to the home of their parents a few days ago, expecting to remain here during the winter, after which they will return to their newly adopted home. Like Horace Greeley, they think the west is the ideal place for young men who are ambitious to reach the highest rung in the ladder of progressiveness.

The Centre county farmers' institute to convene at Noll's hall, Pleasant Gap, beginning today and closing with Saturday night's session, will be quite liberally attended. The local committee is composed of Elmer D. Swartz, W. W. Kerestetter, Harry V. Hile and W. H. Noll, mostly practical as well as theoretical farmers. If we don't have a record session it will not be the fault of the com-mittee, as they are doing all in their power to make it a howling success.

Pleasant Gap is noted as a most healthy locality. To the pure, refreshing mountain air may be attributed the reason for the longevity of so many of our popula-tion. In the past six years, with a mor-tality of twenty-two lives, the average ages aggregated sixty-seven years, and quite a number exceeded the three score and ten years alluded to in Holy Writ. In connection with the claim of longevi-ty in this community, I have only to re-fer to the family of the late John and Mary Ann Swaney, who were life-long residents of Pleasant Gap. Mrs. Swaney was lost in the Johnstown flood, while her husband died a few years later, both nearing their 80th milestone at the time of their passing away. Six children survive, two sons and four daughters; their ages running from sixty-three to seventy-eight years, and their average ages aggregating seventy-two years. All reside at the Gap, excepting one daughter, who has been a resident of Kansas City, Kan., for some years. It occurs to the writer that this instance verifies the belief that we are a long-lived people.

One of the clerks at the new store of Steinburg Bros. had an experience on Friday night last that he will not soon forget. As he was about to close the store, and after having taken the day's receipts out of the cash register, a stranger fully six feet tall and proportionately built, entered the store and priced some working coats. The clerk asked $4.89 for the coat the newcomer wanted. The would be purchaser said the coat was for a few day's visit with her parents, at just what he wanted—but the price asked did not appeal to him, saying he could buy the identical coat in Bellefonte for four dollars. The clerk then said, "I thought you were from Bellefonte-that is why I gave you a reduced quotation." As quick as a flash the purchaser remarked, "I am not from Bellefonte, I will show you where I am from," at the same time flashing a monster revolver with the inscription "Pittsburgh" engraved on the side. That was sufficient for the son of Israel, who rushed out of the store few frightened customers in possession. He speedily notified Miss Dunzik, of the Switzerland restaurant, to lock up her establishment, as a vicious highwayman just endeavored to hold him up. Miss Dunzik speedily complied with the re-quest, locked her doors just soon enough keep out the unwelcome intruder, who tried in vain to gain admitttance. A Christmas Custom That Should be Revived.

"Old, very old in England, is the custom of setting lighted candles in the win-dows on Christmas eve to give holiday greeting to the passer-by, but little use has been made of this charming idea in Mrs. Oscar Meyer spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Weaver.

A number of the voung people from

"Weeks before Christmas, when plans were being made for the Community Tree, it was suggested that each household set lighted candles in the parlor windows to wish "Merry Christmas" to their fellow townspeople, not even the most enthusiastic supporter of the Candle Greeting expected to see half the number of windows that were so lighted when Christmas eve came.

"Scarcely a city block in any section of the city was without at least one illumination, and it was not rare to see every house in a row brightened by this evidence of "Peace on Earth, good will to men." It warmed the very cockles of one's heart to walk through street after street with these silent Christmas greetings everywhere, and no one who has gone through such experiences could ever want to know another Christmas eve without them."

Dickens and Christmas.

It has been remarked that if Charles Dickens had not written his famous Christmas stories the Christmas celebra tion as known in England and America today would never have been. This is probably an exaggerated statement, though the fact remains that it was not until the beginning of the nineteenth century that the Christmas season was so greatly regarded as a season of giving and cheering and general expression of

The Christ Child's Manger.

All through the Italian and Hungarian quarters in New York city may be found traces of the manger at Christmas time. The Italians call it the "presepio," which means manger; the Hungarians the "Bethlehem."

The manger is an exceedingly old and interesting devotion in the Catholic countries of south Europe. St. Francis of Assisi, who was born in 1182, introduced it into Italy, and it is still the sign of Christmas in south Italy, as much as holly in the windows is the sign of it in New York. It is not many years since a carpenter could not be had for weeks before Christmas in Naples or Rome. They Charles Crouse and family are now snugly located in the tenant house on the Johnson farm at Pine Hall.

Were all busy putting up mangers in the houses of the quality, while the poorer folk were busy fabricating their own.

This quaint old devotion is fall.

This quaint old devotion is fading out of the cities of the mainland, but in conservative Sicily it remains in full force. Every family there still erects its presepio some time from the 1st to the 15th of December. It is not a manger alone, but a whole mountain side, made of the rough, flexible bark of the cork tree. Peaks and crags and precipices abound, with winding trails, houses and castles of colored cardboards, forests of evergreen twigs and sometimes tiny pipes to furnish brooks and lakes. In the center is the grotto, with the holy family within, surrounded by the cattle. A sky of blue paper is stretched above, with the star of Bethlehem upon it. Over the hills come shepherds bearing gifts to the infant, and, though they

Sicilian cheese and wine upon their donkeys, they are all the more interesting for that. Sometimes the presepio fills only a corner, sometimes the whole side of a room, according to the means of the family. It is kept year after year until worn out, but it needs to be freshened up each year, always a welcome task to the mother and daughters of the house.

A custom at one time prevalent in all England, but latterly observed only in certain sections of the north is that of placing an immense log of wood—sometimes the root of a great tree—in the wide chimney place. This is often called the Vullelage and its and in the started the day with a backache, stiff legs, arms and muscles, and an aching head (worn out before the day began because they were in and out of bed half a dozen times at night) are appreciating the perfect rest, comfort the Yule log, and it was on Christmas eve that it was put on the wide hearth. Around it would gather the entire family, and its entrance was the occasion of a great deal of ceremony. There were music and rejoicing while the one authorized to light it was obliged to have clean

It was always lighted with a brand left over from the log of the previous year, which had been carefully preserved for the purpose. A poet sings:

With the last year's brand Light the new block, and For good success in his spending On your psaltries play That sweet luck may Come while the log is a-tending.

The Yule log was supposed to be protection against evil spirits, and it was considered a bad omen if the fire went out before the evening was over. The family and guests sat in front of the fire and many a story and merry jest went round the group.

SUGGESS OF A NEW REMEDY FOR BACKACHE, KIDNEYS, RHEUMATISM.

Dear Mr. Editor-I suffered for years with backache. Last March I tried "Anuric" and have used this new kidney medicine recently discovered by Dr. Pierce, and it was wonderful the way it eased the pain and gave me relief in such a short time. I have are in Sicilian costume and carry good tried several medicines, but "Anuric" is the only one that gave satisfaction. I feel it my duty to recommend "Anuric Tablets" to any one who suffers as I did. (Signed) Mrs. MARGARET E. SNIDER.

NOTE: Folks in town and adjoining counties are delighted with the results they have obtained by using "ANURIC," the newest discovery of Dr. Pierce, who is head of the INVALIDS' HOTEL and SURGICAL INSTITUTE, in Buffalo, N. Y. appreciating the perfect rest, comfort and new strength they obtained from Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets. To prove that this is a certain uric acid solvent and conquers headache, kidney and bladder diseases and rheumatism, you've never used the "Anuric," this out and send ten cents to Doctor Pierce for a large sample package. This will prove to you that "Anuric" is thirty-seven times more active than lithia in eliminating uric acid—and the most perfect kidney and bladder cormost perfect kidney and bladder corrector. If you are a sufferer, go to your best druggist and ask for a 50-cent box of "Anuric." Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Pure Blood Makes Healthy People

Hood's Sarsaparilla surely and effectvely removes scrofula, boils and other blood diseases because it drives out of the blood all the humors that cause these diseases. They cannot be successfully treated in any other way. External applications for their removal have proven almost useless, because they cannot drive out the impurities that are in the blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla makes pure rich birth at about midnight, and this led to the celebration of a midnight mass in all blood, perfects the digestion, and builds up the whole system. The skin becomes smooth, clean and healthy. This great blood remedy has stood the test of forty years. Insist on having Hood's, for noth ing else acts like it. There is no real substitute. Get it today. Sold by all druggists.
