Humility is a great virtue, and it always associates itself with plain things.

An intelligent woman does not need to change her wearing apparel with every fashion to be attractive.

Frank Weaver, our energetic turnpike repairer, has shifted positions and is now an employee of the Whiterock lime quarries.

Some people have so little a knack of making money and saving money, that they think those who possess it get it dishonestly.

There is no question now that the country's business is swinging strongly toward a new level. The war and the foreign demand for war material started this. But what we face now is a genuine revival of business in all the varied departments.

Those who are so prodigal of time as to consume it in fruitless altercation or slothful indifference, should, when they complain of the slowness of others, be compelled to take a dose of their own medicine, and then they may learn the lesson of setting the better example of making more haste themselves.

Owing to the partial suspension of building activities at the new penitentiary, the Whiterock quarries are fortunate in securing a number of men who were laid off at the new state institution. The quarries are still short one hundred men, but the recent substantial increase in salaries will no doubt produce more men from time to time.

Humanity has all along taught their youth the necessity of prudence, industry and frugality as necessary to success; and when some of them act upon it and become wealthy they are denounced as enemies of the race; and despicable characters themselves, and possessions fit objects of destruction, while paupers are applauded as proper subjects for heaven. Consistency, surely thou art a doubled-plated thing.

The liberality of the good people of Pleasant Gap was again demonstrated on Saturday evening when the young ladies of our High school held a box social, the proceeds of which will go toward defraying the expenses of their graduating exercises at the close of their school session. The youngsters are quite jubilant since the net proceeds are ample to defray all necessary expenses for this commendable occasion.

It is now mid-winter and the snow and ice prevailing over a large part of the country means a great hardship for the birds which stay with us during the winter instead of flying to the southlands. Let everyone who can show their appreciation of their feathered neighbors by supplying food for them where it can be readily secured. The birds will readily repay your labor a thousand fold by relieving the trees of insect pests and the fields and roadsides of weed seeds. This feeding of the birds during the winter season is not, strictly speaking, an act of charity, but rather a duty in part payment for the benefits you have derived from them in many ways. As bird lovers you may call it an act of friendship. Boys and girls, start in now in this commendable work, and keep it up all winter.

Arthur Riddle, formerly of Pleasant

Gap, who some fourteen years ago left for the west, and was rarely ever heard from, returned a few days ago, to visit his mother, the late Mrs. Matthew Riddle. On arriving in Bellefonte he forthwith phoned to Mr. Abner Noll, of Noll's store, inquiring after his mother's health, as he wanted to surprise her with an unexpected visit. Mr. Noll then apprised him of the sad intelligence that his mother had departed this life several months ago, so that it was Arthur instead of his mother who was surprised. This was surely a very sad incident. The great mistake so many young men make when they start out on the voyage of life is, they are liable to forget, or they ignore their parents, and in many instances cut off all communications. They forget to write so that their whereabouts are unknown to their friends at home. This is very wrong, unkind and ungrateful. They don't seem to realize the unbounded love and affection the mother has for her offspring. We should remember that the claims of friendship may be joined together by years of long-tried experience, and the ties of natural love be tested by the strong gales of adversity; yet, when contrasted with that self-evident, all-enduring emotion of a mother's love, they with all other mortal affections, shrink into comparative insignificance before the fervent devotion of this imperishable sentiment. Nights of watchfulness, days of unwearying fatigue, and a lifetime of numberless deprivations, will all be patiently borne by a mother. When all consolations have sunk back into chaos—when our youthful friends and school companions have forsaken us; when shame and poverty have descended heavily upon our names and fortunes, and even when a father's voice has exclaimed, "away, I know you not," then it is that a dear mother's love like an imperishable sun, cannot go out; its nature is coequal with her life, and one is extinguished only with the other. She will say: "You are my child; and though the hard-hearted world spurn thee; though thou art friendless and covered with shame; yet thy dear mother cannot forsake thee." In a mother's love there is no insincerity; there is no modulation by fortune; but it lives and is nourished as intensely in the humble cottage as in the palace of kings. Its residence is in the center of her heart, whence it flows through every essence of feeling. Then how can we repay all the faithful tenderness of mother's devoted affection? Sympathy, devotion, peace, are always found in the affection and embrace of a devoted, earnest, and good mother. It is not a feeling of yesterday or today. It is from the beginning, the same and unchangeable. Nothing can be compared to the love of a devoted mother. The child who turns a deaf ear to the entreaties of a mother will surely live to regret it.

Bellefonte has always been thought to be located over Hades but by last week's stock. Only pure-bred stock has that distinction. But why have the subterranean forces never been tapped to solve the steam heat problem in Bellefonte. —[Got devils enough here now without opening a direct channel to their underground world.—Ed.]

Advanced Registry Tests Increase Dairy Products.

Advanced registry tests afford the breeder of dairy cattle an almost infallible basis for the improvement of his stock. Only pure-bred stock is eligible to advanced registry, so that the test can be used to select animals with a marked capacity for milk production, a method forming the basis for future breeding operations.

Advanced registry raises the general standard of a breed and offers the breeder who wishes to purchase, foundation animals for a herd an accurate standard for judging their real value. By proving the productive powers of individual animals the breeder increases the value of each by an amount proportionate to the size of the record made. Several good records made in a herd reflect credit upon both breeder and herd and provide the farmer with the very best means of advertising and establishing a record for his stock.

When conducted in a proper manner the extra feeding and care necessary in advanced registry work stimulate and develop the productive power of cows and heifers as well as make them more valuable producers all their lives. Indirectly the dairyman benefits by what he learns in attempting to bring his cows up to a better standard of production. In no better way can he learn the individual animals or study the effects of varying amounts and kinds of feed for milk production.

Information concerning advanced registry testing may be secured by addressing the dairy husbandry department of the Pennsylvania State College.

Substitute Medicines.

The Pharmacological institute of Vienna is striving to find substitutes for some of the drugs and medicines of which there is now a serious shortage in Germany and Austria. It announces a few of these in the Wiener Klinische Wochenschrift. Among these are: a synthetic form of morphia, called papaverin; phenolphthalein and cascara, to take the place of castor oil, aloes, senna and jalap; bromine, to take the place of iodine as a skin disinfectant. Professor Unna says also that there is likely to be a shortage of glycerine and suggests that its properties can be imitated by simple sirup or by four per cent calcium chloride or a mixture of the two.

Liberty Bell of Coal.

Senator C. A. Snyder has had replicas of the Liberty Bell made from anthracite and will send to friends these unique souvenirs of the bell's trip to San Francisco.

The bells have been carved out of solid coal by James Cunningham of Summit Hill, writes a Pottsville correspondent of the Philadelphia North American, and upon the top is the initial letter of the surname of the recipient, set in sulphur gems, from the mines, which have the beautiful mellow color of old gold.

Nothing has been omitted to make the souvenir a perfect copy of the bell, the famous crack being reproduced with fidelity.

Largest Skating Rink.

The largest skating rink in Europe, measuring about 35,000 square yards, is at Davos, in the canton of the Grisons, Switzerland, where all the great international skating competitions take place. It is generally open from the third week in November until the middle of March, and the climatic conditions prevailing at that altitude of 5,200 feet are so excellent that it is indeed an exception when the rink has ever to be closed during this period. A considerable staff of men is employed to maintain the rink in order. The ice is flooded every night, and is scraped and polished in the morning with almost the same care that glass workers bestow upon plate glass.

Developing English Industry.

Glass-making research is a new feature at Sheffield university. The war cut off many kinds of glass products from England, but the investigations have been so effective that 8,000 Yorkshire glassworkers, formerly turning out only cheap glass bottles, are reported to be now making a varied lot of materials in fine glass.

The Color of the Seals.

Little seals are snow-white at first—the better to hide on the white ice on which they are born. Only their eyes and the tips of their noses are black, and at the first alarm they close their eyes and lie very still, so that it is almost impossible to see them. Even when you stand over them they look like a rough lump of snow-ice. If they have time, they even hide the black tips of their noses in their white fur coats; and if you appear suddenly, they simply close their eyes, and the black nose tip looks like a stray pebble, or a tiny bit of bark left by the uneasy winds that sweep over the ice-floes. As they grow larger and begin to fish for themselves, they gradually turn dark and sleek like their mothers.—The Lutheran.

Medical.

All Wrong THE MISTAKE IS MADE BY MANY BELLEFONTE CITIZENS.

Look for the cause of backache. To be cured you must know the cause.

If it's weak kidneys you must get the kidneys working right.

A Bellefonte resident tells you how.

Mrs. J. T. Gordon, 130 E. Beaver St., Bellefonte, says: "I had backache and a dull, constant ache across my loins. I was in misery at times and in the morning was sore and lame. I dreaded to begin my household work. Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Parrish's Drug Store, made my kidneys normal and relieved the backache. I have had no return of the trouble. Another in my family has also found great benefit from Doan's Kidney Pills."

rang Fire Alarm for Baby.

The fire department of New York has been called upon to respond to most all sorts of calls, but one recently is considered the limit.

Fire headquarters received a "still alarm" over the telephone from Quinny court, in the north end, and when Ladder 1 from Friend street and Acting Chief Hines arrived they found a baby had convulsions from the whooping cough and the excited mother had summoned help from the fire department.

Prophets of Self-Sacrifice.

The bishop of Hereford is in the field again, this time with a beautifully-worded demand that we should all be self-sacrificing and give up smoking. The appeal, I confess, arrested the after-breakfast match on its way to my after-breakfast pipe—ill I discovered that the bishop is not himself a smoker. How grateful we ought to be to our vicarious prophets of self-sacrifice!—London Evening Standard.

Backache Just Like a Toothache!

Dear Mr. Editor—Sometime ago I had backache very bad; it would ache just like a toothache. I tried a new discovery of Doctor Pierce's, called "Anuric." This is for kidneys and backache. I soon felt relieved of all backache and had no more pain, and I hope others troubled in the same way will try this wonderful new remedy.

Yours, Mrs. LINCOLN STEARNS, Route 1, Meadville, Pa.

NOTE: It is now asserted with confidence that these painful effects due to uric acid in the system are entirely eradicated. A new remedy, called "Anuric" has been discovered by Dr. Pierce, and is the cause of a drainage outward of the uric acid with which it comes in contact within the body. It will ward off backache, headache, and the darting pains and aches of articular or muscular rheumatism—of those diseases which are caused by too much uric acid, such as gout, asthma, sciatica, renal calculus. "Anuric" prolongs life because old people suffer from hardening and thickening of the walls of the arteries, due to the excess of uric acid in the blood and tissues. Dr. Pierce, who is director and chief physician at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., has been testing this wonderful medicine for the relief of over-worked and weakened kidneys. The relief obtained by sufferers has been so satisfactory that he determined to place "Anuric" with the principal druggists in town where people could get this ready-to-use medicine. "Anuric" is not harmful or poisonous, but aids nature in throwing off those poisons within the body which cause so much suffering, pain and misery. Scientists assert this remedy is 37 times more potent than lithia.

For Diabetes and Bright's Disease this remedy is building up a reputation as good as Dr. Pierce's other well-known medicines which have been proven reliable during nearly fifty years, such as Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription for the ills of women, Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, the liver regulator, and Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for red blood.
