THINGS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY.

—The Lenten season began with Ash Wednesday this week.

—The annual convention of the road supervisors of Centre county will be held on Friday, March 17th.

—A little daughter arrived in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Garis, of Lamb street, on Monday.

—Hyman Garfinkle was taken to the western penitentiary on Monday by deputy sheriff Harrison Kiene.

—Today at the Scenic, matinee and evening, "The Christian," Hall Caine's superb love story in eight big acts.

—At their regular meeting on Wednesday the County Commissioners fixed the millage at the same as last year, 4 mills.

—J. Frank Smith has accepted a position as traveling salesman for G. R. Danenhower & Son and will go to work on Monday.

—The residence of Mrs. Carrie D. Armstrong, on Water street, was sold at orphan's court sale on Monday to J. M. Cunningham.

—Dr. C. F. Hennig fell on the ice at the Titan Metal company plant on Monday and fractured one of the bones in his right ankle.

—George Chambers, the tailor, fell on the icy pavement on Monday morning and injured himself so badly that he has not been able to get around since.

—A teacher's social will be held at the home of Mrs. E. J. Ward, on Curtin street, this (Friday) evening. All members of the W. C. T. U. are also invited.

—The Penn State glee club won big honors in the intercollegiate glee club contest at New York on Saturday. All the leading colleges in the east had clubs entered and State ranked second in the award of honors, Princeton being first.

—About as disagreeable a day as we have had this winter was Monday when from four to five inches of snow and sleet fell during the day. During the night it rained and froze and Tuesday morning the streets were like a glacier.

—The Study Course will begin in the High school auditorium Tuesday evening, March 14th, at 8 o'clock p. m. Mr. J. Thomas Mitchell will read a paper entitled "The Swiss Military System and Its Application to Our National Defense."

—The opportunity for hearing a concert given by such artists as will be here Tuesday night, is so unusual that there is not one person in the community who can afford to deny themselves this great pleasure. Any number on the program, which can be found elsewhere in the paper, is worth the price of admission.

—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kustaborder, of Roopsburg, are receiving congratulations on the arrival of a little son, last Thursday night. When the fact is taken into consideration that this is the first child in eighteen years there is little wonder that the good wishes of their friends are being showered upon them. Mr. Kustaborder, by the way, is head miller at the C. Y. Wagner mill at Roopsburg.

—The annual conference of the United Evangelical church closed its sessions at York on Tuesday with the announcement of the appointments. Rev. E. Fulcomer was returned to the Bellefonte church but among the new appointments are Milesburg mission, L. Dice; Nittany, J. F. D. Bowerson; Rebersburg, J. W. Oneldorf, and Spring Mills, L. A. Miller. Rev. C. L. Sones is the presiding elder of the Centre district.

—On Saturday evening George E. Lentz, as conductor, and Theodore Cherry, engineer, brought the first all-steel train to Bellefonte on the Lewisburg and Tyrone railroad. Monday morning the other train came in as an all-steel train, and hereafter both trains will be of this substantial equipment. The cars, just new ones, right out of the shops, are neat in appearance, elegantly upholstered and comfortable to ride in.

—On Wednesday the construction crew of the Pennsylvania railroad company erected a new bridge over the creek a short distance east of Linden Hall, on the Lewisburg and Tyrone railroad. Of course the concrete abutments had been built and everything was in readiness for the superstructure, and from the time the crew started to work until the bridge was in place with the last spike driven and ready for the passage of trains was just forty-five minutes.

—The big Wilson Chemical plant, located just south of the Pennsylvania railroad station at Tyrone, was entirely destroyed by fire at noon on Saturday. The plant was owned and operated by Mr. George C. Wilson, and was one of the leading industries of Tyrone. It employed in the neighborhood of one hundred men and women, mostly the latter. The loss is estimated at $50,000, with only a partial insurance. The cause of the fire is thought to have been a short-circuit wire in the boiler or chemical room. Mr. Wilson will rebuild the plant at once, in a larger and more substantial manner than the old one.

'SQUIRE HAYES SCHENCK CONVICTED OF FORGERY.—After being out almost seven hours the jury in the second case against Hayes Schenck, justice of the peace at Howard for twenty years, just before midnight on Saturday night returned a verdict of guilty on the charge of forgery, as specified in the indictment. The case was the result of charges brought against Mr. Schenck by game warden E. W. Kelly, of Clearfield county, that he had on a number of occasions certified fraudulent bounty certificates to the Centre county commissioners for payment, and by so doing had been the instrument of robbing the county of considerable money.

The case being one of the State against Mr. Schenck, assistant Deputy Attorney General Frederick A. Shoyer was sent here to conduct the case. While the action as originally brought consisted of two cases eleven presentments were made last week and a bill of indictment returned for each. The first case was called for trial on Thursday afternoon. District Attorney James C. Furst and Mr. Shoyer represented the Commonwealth and Mr. Schenck's interests were very carefully looked after by W. Groh Runkle and S. D. Gettig Esqs.

The indictment in the first case was made on the sworn testimony of Ralph Weaver, who testified that in the fall of 1913 he took one weasel skin to Mr. Schenck who issued a probate for three skins. That he brought the probate to the commissioner's office and received therefor six dollars, two of which he kept and the other four he gave to his cousin, Henry S. Weaver. The witnesses' testimony could not be corroborated by the latter because he is now an inmate of the Danville asylum. The case was brief and after being out only about a half hour the jury returned a verdict of "not guilty."

The second case taken up was on the indictment made out from the sworn testimony of Paul B. Wagner, a son of Mr. and Mrs. John Wagner, of Howard. The young man testified to a probate he received from Schenck on November 23rd, 1913, for three weasels when in reality he had taken but two weasels to the 'Squire's office. That he brought the probate to the commissioner's office the same day, went back to Howard on the evening train and divided the money with Schenck on the porch of the hotel at that place. Wagner testified that at various times thereafter he took one or more weasel skins to Mr. Schenck's office and most of them were raised in the probates. Merrill Long, of Howard, who was generally a witness for Wagner's probates, corroborated the latter's testimony.

Harry N. Meyer, clerk to the county commissioners, was called to the stand and after repeated objections on the part of defendant's counsel, all of which were over-ruled by the court, he was allowed to testify on the part of the Commonwealth. Reading from the probate docket he stated that under the Bounty Act of 1913, the county had paid out for bounties from July 1st, 1913, to January 1st, 1914, the sum of $1,431.50; during the year 1914 the sum of $5,009.50, and from January 1st, 1915, to April 15th, 1915, the sum of $1,616.00, a total of $8,057.00. He stated that he had no record of the amount paid out on probates from Mr. Schenck. Questioned regarding the amounts paid individuals he submitted a record which showed that Paul Wagner had drawn from the county from November 23rd, 1913, to January 25th, 1915, inclusive, a total of $124.50, being bounties on 52 weasels, three grey foxes, 5 great horned owls and a wild cat.

On being recalled Wagner stated that he had never taken a gray fox to the 'Squire's office, had never killed one or had one in his possession, and that he never had a wild cat. Of the above amount Wagner testified that he had given 'Squire Schenck about $30.

Considerable controversy arose between counsel when the Commonwealth attempted to introduce as evidence fourteen different probates, eleven of which had been made a party to the various indictments. The court finally decided to admit the probates, all of which went in as exhibits for the Commonwealth.

In the additional evidence submitted David L. Welsh testified to having witnessed a probate for James Briggs which turned up for six weasels when in reality he only saw one. Mr. Welsh also testified to having signed the probate as a witness.

J. W. Hepburn, constable, testified that on April 26th, 1915, he had witnessed a probate for Fred Strawcutter, of Blanchard, which turned up for five weasels—one old and four young, when in reality he had only seen one.

Curtis Butler testified that he had witnessed a probate for two gray foxes which later turned up for three gray foxes and a wild cat.

That Mr. Welsh was mistaken when he said he had signed the probate, because that one had been issued under the old law when it wasn't necessary for the witness to sign it, and Welsh's name as it appeared on the paper had been written by him. To prove it he went to a table and wrote the name, an almost exact duplicate of the one in the probate. Later the Commonwealth had Mr. Welsh go on the stand and admit he was mistaken as to having signed that probate. In further support of the Briggs probate Mr. Briggs, himself, was called and he testified that he had five weasels, as represented. He was further corroborated by Mrs. Schenck, who signed the probate as a witness.

John Kelley, of Howard, testified that he had seen Paul Wagner on the streets of Howard with a gray fox under his arm, notwithstanding the fact that Wagner had testified that he never killed a fox in his life or had one in his possession.

The testimony closed at noon on Saturday. Attorney W. G. Runkle argued the case for Mr. Schenck and Frederick A. Shoyer summed up for the Commonwealth. Judge Quigley reviewed the evidence quite fully in his charge to the jury and they retired at 4:45 o'clock Saturday afternoon. It was about 11:30 o'clock when they reached a verdict and notified Judge Quigley who went to the court house and received the verdict of guilty in the grand jury room. The jury which sat on the case was composed as follows:

W. M. Shuey, farmer, Benner. Thos. B. McClellan, laborer, Unionville.

John Burkholder, farmer, Potter. M. P. Walker, reporter, Bellefonte. B. F. Swartz, student, Walker.

Owen Underwood, farmer, Union. J. H. Crouse, barber, Haines. J. H. Weaver, laborer, Boggs.

Frank Clevenstine, salesman, Bellefonte. Clyde Beck, farmer, Halfmoon.

Geo. H. Kline, plasterer, State College. L. M. Decker, sawyer, Potter. On the first ballot the jury stood 9 to 3 for conviction; the second ballot 10 to 2; the third 11 to 1 and the final ballot was unanimous. This week the attorneys for the defendant made a motion for a new trial and the same will be argued and disposed of later.

While the fact was not brought out at the trial the records at Harrisburg show that from July 25th, 1913, to April 15th, 1915, probates issued by 'Squire Hayes Schenck were for 121 gray foxes, 779 weasels, 34 wild cats, 18 goshawks, 92 sharp shinned hawks and 80 great horned owls, quite a collection of noxious animals, the total bounty on which was $3,053.

A card supper was given by Mrs. Harry N. Meyer and Mrs. Joseph Runkle at the home of Mrs. Runkle, Thursday evening of last week. Forty of Mrs. Meyer's and Mrs. Runkle's friends were their guests.

The opinion of a few people might not meet with popular approval, but when the judgment of the masses that the Scenic is now showing nightly programs of motion pictures superior to anything ever seen in Bellefonte, is taken into consideration, it must be so. Special features every night by the best film manufacturers in the country, portraying unusual dramatic situations. Good comedies and everything that the lover of motion pictures enjoys.

Last Saturday evening a knight of the road, who had evidently imbibed too freely of the glass that cheers, made his bed between the tracks of the Central Railroad of Pennsylvania, down where R. B. Taylor's ice house used to be located. He used the end of a tie for a pillow and so deeply was he wrapped in the arms of Morpheus that the night passenger train pulled into the station without awakening him, though the wheels passed within a half inch of his head. The man was gotten out of his perilous position before the train backed down to the round-house.

Rev. J. R. Wylie, State secretary of the National Reform association, was in Bellefonte this week arranging for a public meeting to be held in the court house on Thursday, March 16th, in the interest of the nation wide campaign in opposition to polygamy and other crimes of the Mormon kingdom. This meeting will be addressed by attorney Vernon J. Danielson, a converted Mormon, a man who passed through the endowment house and taken the endowment oaths, and who has labored three years as a Mormon reformed missionary. He will tell what he knows of the system and also his own experience. The public should not fail to hear this address.

Last week's WATCHMAN contained a brief announcement of the injury of John Guisewhite, at Meadville, on Tuesday. Mr. Guisewhite is foreman of the Phoenix iron works and his injuries were caused by an explosion in the moulding department. Mr. Guisewhite was severely burned about the face and hips and might have been burned to death had it not been for his brother-in-law, Edward Houser, who threw him down and extinguished the flames with sand. As it was all the hair was burned off of his head and it was feared his sight was destroyed, but after several days treatment in the Spencer hospital it developed that his eyes are not seriously affected. Houser was burned on the arms and hands and two foreingers were also badly burned.

CELEBRATED GOLDEN WEDDING.—On March 1st, 1866, John Henry Neidigh and Miss Sarah Ann Kustaborder, both of Ferguson township, were united in marriage and so happy and satisfied have they been with a half century of life together that on Wednesday of last week they celebrated their golden wedding. The occasion was planned as a family reunion but it elaborated into a gathering of relatives and near friends as well.

At eleven o'clock a. m., a repetition of the marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. S. C. Stover, of Boalsburg, the ring service being used. It was a unique as well as touching ceremony, the happy couple being surrounded by their children and grand children. Following the ceremony the reverend gentleman made a brief speech in which he congratulated Mr. and Mrs. Neidigh on having lived to enjoy their fiftieth anniversary and in enjoying such splendid health that they give promise of spending many more anniversaries together.

At high noon the entire party filed into the spacious dining room where a bountiful wedding repast was served. A delicious wedding cake graced the table as a centre piece. It was the gift of a baker at Patton and contained fifty colored candles which were lighted by the bride and later snuffed out by the grandchildren. Following the repast an inspection of the presents received by Mr. and Mrs. Neidigh was made. They included among other things a purse of gold and a victrola. The afternoon was spent in reminiscing of olden times, and in the enjoyment of social chat and music.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Neidigh came of ancient lineage. The first Neidigh to come to this country was John Henry Neidigh, born in North Prussia about the year 1700. When a young man he emigrated to America and located in Berks county. His son Solomon was born August 17th, 1744, and he moved to Centre county in 1791. The next in the line of descent was John, a son of Solomon, born in 1776. John's son Jacob was born in Haines township in 1820, and his son, John Henry, the subject of this article was born at the same place in 1845. The family, however, moved to Ferguson township in 1848, where the elder Neidigh died on September 9th, 1900. John Henry is one of a family of ten children.

Mrs. Neidigh's ancestors also came from northern Prussia in 1750 and settled in Northampton county. The first of the family to arrive in America was Joseph and Kathryn Kustaborder. Their son George and his wife Kathryn came to Centre county shortly after the Revolutionary war and located near what is now Pine Hall. The parents of Mrs. Neidigh were George and Mary A. Kustaborder.

Shortly after the marriage of Mr. Neidigh and Miss Kustaborder in 1856 they went to Michigan where they lived four years. The climate, however, did not agree with them and they returned to Centre county, locating on a farm near Struble where they lived until ten years ago when they retired to a beautiful country home nearby.

Mr. and Mrs. Neidigh were blessed with ten children, eight of whom are living as follows: N. C. and J. D. Neidigh, Mrs. Anna Garner and Mrs. Clyde Fishburn, all of State College R. F. D.; J. Calvin Neidigh and Mrs. John Lytle, of Juniata; Mrs. Curtis Crommiller, of Patton, and Miss Blanche at home. George died in youth and William S. died in 1908 as the result of injuries sustained in a railroad accident. They also have twenty-three grand-children and two great-grand-children. Mr. Neidigh is but seventy-one years old and Mrs. Neidigh one year his junior. Both are ardent members and zealous workers in the Reformed church and Sunday school, and are among the most esteemed residents of Ferguson township.

For last Wednesday's auspicious event their beautiful home was quite lavishly decorated, the color scheme being yellow and white.

A NEW CAPTAIN FOR TROOP L.—Rescorder William H. Brown having resigned as captain of Troop L, N. G. P. of this place, Governor Brumbaugh on Tuesday appointed First Lieut. H. Laird Curtin, quartermaster and commissary, as his successor. Capt. Curtin is chuck full of military instinct, in fact must have imbibed it from his illustrious ancestors because as a boy he cavorted with military organizations on every opportunity. As he grew to manhood his patriotism increased and even before he became connected with the National Guard he had the correct dignified bearing of a regular West Pointer. He has been connected with the Guard for some years in various capacities and his enthusiasm for the work is as great now as ever. In fact, he has frequently been commended by his superior officers for his true military ability. Bellefonte's National Guard organization has had some able commanders during its forty years or more of existence, and without disparagement to any one of them we predict that Captain Curtin, as commander of Troop L, will make a beau ideal of an officer. He is thorough in his manual, a strict but not severe disciplinarian, rides his horse like a centaur and has a commanding appearance equal to the best of them in the Guard. The WATCHMAN congratulates him upon his appointment and anticipates seeing Troop L brought into the fore front of military efficiency in the National Guard.
