Miss Hester Smull's argument was by many regarded as the best in favor of woman suffrage because it was based on psychological, historical and sociological facts which cannot bé upset by any arguments, also by Miss Page and the others. It seems that the High school room has been strongly charged with a negative atmosphere towards woman's suffrage ever since last summer. The Woman's Suf-frage club should hold more meetings in it and change the atmosphere by a series of positive charges. Professor Gramley, the principal of the school, would appreciate more favorable decisions in behalf of woman's suffrage.

CITIZENSHIP IN BRUSHVALLEY. - Just at present when a great moral question -temperance- is an issue, and calls for a solution, it seems the conception of the duties of the present day citizenship has suffered what educators call "arrested development." The remonstrance, which was signed by almost everybody, has been a sort of "acid test" of some of shown up some few of our citizens who have hitherto been rather regarded by others and by themselves as leaders, to be after all no leaders but merely office seekers. Some of them happily a few, merely seem to be happily a few, merely seem to be prominent men in their respective churches, "great" temperance advocates at public meetings, side walks, etc., but when it comes to the point of really doing something, then their so-called politics has entirely overshadowed and complete-ly buried the religion they imagined themselves to possess. Any person that cannot make a stand with the great ma-jority of citizens in a community for the most elementary principles of morality, such as temperance, is not a fit person to be a church official or hold any town-ship, county or State office. Neither a public teacher in a community which entertains a high regard of him or her. Rebersburg. We have a class of people in our com-munity that set bad examples to our

There are several names very conspicothers who have some real moral and tery at Rebersburg. others who have some real moral and temperance stamina. This class of town-ship or county residents is a great draw-back to any community as their idea of citizenship is merely of selfishness, re-minding one of primitive society. We are glad that these are no longer regard-ed as leaders by our community, but considered as only small and selfish pol-ticians. Brushvalley is in need of the iticians. Brushvalley is in need of the very best citizenship a Democracy can produce, and we see a better day coming for our little valley.

Last Sunday afternoon Rev. Samuel Martin very ably filled the pulpit of the Presbyterian church here. Following the regular services a congregational meeting was held and a call extended to Rev. L.
