German Campaign for Peace.

Berlin, July 19 .- via London, July 20.—A campaign of oratory designed servatives and the right wing of the National Liberals is being organized by the so-called German national committee, whose chairman is Prince von sace-Lorraine and now general adjutant to the Emperor. The speaking campaign includes many of the most prominent names in German science, industry, trade and agriculture.

One of the executive officers said that the committee was without fixed program, but that the guiding principle was the Bismarkian one of achieving the attainable.

"We frankly want an honorable peace," he said, "but not at any price. We do not want peace delayed through the efforts of those who demand that we take all we can get and hold fast to everything our military power enables us to without regard to future consequences.

'Our desire is heartily to support the chancellor's policies, but we disagree with the government's prohibition of public discussion of the aims of the war.'

The campaign will begin August 1, when prblic addresses will be made

Do not think of the amount of money that will go out of the town but rather consider the amount of true enjoyment, good and profit that will be left in the town. The town is the gainer, as past years have proven, and the program this year exceeds in quality any that has ever been given. The work of the Junior Chautauqua alone is worth more than the price of the ticket, as many parents have testified at the close of the Chautauqua.
