Those Mexican Names.

When you pronounce the name of the illusive, now dead, now living, ever-sure-to-be-captured Villa pronounce this bandit's name (I have most excellent authority for it;) and when in the next breath you must read the name of Andreas Garcia, yawn with a bored air and pronounce it Ahn-dray-ahs, Gahr-thee-ah —accenting all but the first and last syllables. By this time you ought to make an impression upon any listen-er intersted in the Mexican situation and hopelessly helpless regarding the pronunciation of names in the Big Bend district. In a blase manner ex-press the opinion that "Vee-ah" is very much alive, and pronounce the puzzling names as follows: Arriba, Ah-ree-bah (accenting second syllable;) Carrizal, Cah-ree-sol (accenting second syllable;) Cienega, See-ain-ay-gah (accenting the third syllable;) Cuchillo Parado, Koo-chee-lyo (accent on second) Pah-rah-do (on the second of this also;) Chihuahua, Shee-wah-wah (accent on second;) Guerrero, Gay-ray-ro (rool the "r" in this, putting emphasis on second syllable;) Jaboncillas, Hay-bon-see-yahs, (accent on third syllable;) Jiminez, Hee-mee-nays (accent on second;) Marfa, Mahr-fuh, (accent on first;) Nogales, No-gah-lays, (accent on second syllable;) Ojinaga, Oh-he-na-gah, (accent on third syllable;) Opo del Aguas, O-ho-dell Ah-wahs, accent on fourth syllable;) Car Elization of the syllable; fourth syllable;) San Elisario, Sahn, Ay-lee-sah-ree-o, (accent on fourth, i. e., sah;) San Ignacio, Sahn Ig-nahthee-o, (accent on third;) Saltillo, Sahl-tee-o, (accent on second syllable) and Terlingua, Tayr-leen-gwah, (accent on second.) These are but the most conspicuous points-enough. however, to make you appear quite erudite if you enunciate them non-chalantly. General Gavira's name is a simple matter-Gah-vee-rah, the accent on the "vee"—and who could suspect, after "Vee-ah," that anythis species was watched at different birds; and 4 were of frogs. The bulk thing so easily mastered could come out of Mexico?

A French Boy's Pluck.

A patient in the American Ambulance hospital at Neuilly-sur-Seine tells the following story of one of his comrades: "We had been living in the trenches for days with the water above our ankles. At that time our trenches were only thirty-six yards away from the German trenches, so that we could hear the enemy talking and whist-ling, and, indeed, we often called across to them. "One day, young P., who was a hot-tempered chap about twenty-one years of age, threw down his shovel and said that he wouldn't work in such a nasty hole another moment, and that he had rather die at once from a German bullet than live anothstop him.

CHIPPING SPARROW Spizella passarina

Length, about five and one-fourth Inches. Distinguished by the chestnut crown, black line through eye, and black bill.

Range: Breeds throughout the Unitec States, south to Nicaragua, and north to southern Canada; winters in the southern United States and south-

Habits and economic status: The chipping sparrow is very friendly and domestic, and often builds its nest in gardens and orchards or in the shrubbery close to dwellings. Its gentle and confiding ways endear it to all bird lovers. It is one of the most insectivorous of all the sparrows. Its diet consists of about 42 per cent of insects and spiders and 58 per cent of vegetable matter. The animal food consists largely of caterpillars, of which it feeds a great many to its young. Besides these, it eats beetles, includhours on four days. In the seven would give for a day of 14 hours at tire range. least 238 insects eaten by the brood.
